Civil War Vets Talk In Patriotic Meeting

Commander Frazier Recalls War Experiences; Comrades Aggers and Underwood Introduced By Howe; Bond Tells of Washington.

Three elderly survivors of the Civil war were presented to the high school student body last Friday afternoon during a special patriotic program. Commander R. F. Frazier of Hood River, Comrades Aggers and Underwood of White Salmon were introduced by Henry L. Howe, past department commander of the Sons of Union Veterans.

Commander Frazier, in strong steady voice, recalled his experiences in the war which he joined when he was 16 years of age.

Rev. Lester E. Bond pointed out incidents in the life of George Washington to prove that he owed his success to the fact that he was a devout man who feared God.

"Most men who are nationally famous are such because they have had strong religious convictions," said Mr. Bond. "In everyday life, no matter what they were doing, these men were first honorable to religion. Such a man was Washington."

For the first time this year the high school glee club was presented by Miss Frances Sherwood, director. They sang two numbers, "Susan Anne Marie," a sea song, and "Hush Thee, Rest Thee," a lullaby.

Virginia Catherwood, junior, told interesting and little-known facts concerning Washngton's life. W. C. Anderson, faculty member, gave the famous Gettysburg Address, and Miss Lorine Blackwell, English teacher, read "Oh Captain, My Captain."

Indians Down Local Five In Furious Tussle, 26-21

In a fast and furious hoop battle the locals were downed by The Dalles Indians last night on the Redskin's floor by a score of 26-21.

Peck, the lanky Crimson and Grey center, scored just after the tip-off.

Breckenridge tied the score by sinking two consecutive free throws. Then Hoover and Hammers looped in one each and more scores for the Apple Saucers followed but the Indians were also tossing wicked baskets. The quarter ended with the locals barely leading. Score 11-9.

After another quarter of hard playing for both teams, the Indians held the lead at the end of the half. Score 18-15.

Breckenridge opened the half with a score for Hood River. This was the only score for Carr's boys during the third quarter but their defense was not to be broken either and the Indians only scores came with two free throws made by French and Peck. The score board read 20-17 in favor of the Redskins at the close of the third period.

Hoover sank two foul shots and a neat field basket on a long throw while Breckenridge also scored once for the Blue and White in the fourth quarter. Dick, French and Peck tallied for The Dalles in the same period. The score stood 26-21 at the close of the game.

Peck, The Dalles center, scored the most points by chalking up nine points for the Indians. Dick, their midget forward scored eight.

Breckenridge and Hoover divided scoring honors for the Blue and While by scoring eight each.

The Dalles Scrubs defeated the Hood River Junior high in the preliminary.

MID-COLUMBIA CASABA TOURNAMENT TO BE IN HOOD RIVER MARCH 6, 7

The district tournament to determine the mid-Columbia basketball champion will be held in Hood River, March 6 and 7. Two teams will be entered from each county and Hood River and The Dalles will be conceded places making a total of eight teams entered in the tournament.

Four games will be played on Friday, the semi-finals will be played Saturday afternoon and Saturday night at 8:30 will be the final game for the championship.

Hood River students will not be admitted on their student body ticket, but may buy a season ticket for the tournament for 50 cents. Adult season tickets will be one dollar.

Nate Lakefish of Portland will referee all the games.

GIRLS' KICK-BALL BEGUN LAST THURSDAY INDOORS

Girls' soccer began last Thursday when the first indoor practice was held under direction of Miss Irene Hollenbeck, gym instructor. The turnout was very large and there will be enough girls for three full teams if three more senior girls will turn out to complete their team. Practices will be held indoors until the girls learn the fundamentals of the game as it is a new sport to this school and few girls have played it before.

The girls practice Mondays and Thursdays but are planning, if possible, to have practices every day.

GILDED DAGGERITES TO PRESENT WHITE COLLARS FRI., MARCH THIRTEENTH

Friday the thirteenth is the night of the Gilded Dagger Dramatic club play, "White Collars."

What a date but what a play! Under the excellent supervision of W. C. Anderson, dramatic club coach, and with the splendid cast picked for the play, it is sure to be a production well worth seeing.

"White Collars" is a three act comedy about a rich young man who has married a girl of a poor family and their problems offer some very amusing incidents.

Those who make up the cast are: Anne Hounsell, Nell Young, Dorothy Anderson, Alison McLucas, Marion McCauley, Arnold Turnbull, Harry Gross, Clarence Swanson and Charles Lage.

Parkdale, Stevenson To Be Met Fri., Sat.

Team Goes To City-Nearest-Mountain H. R. Holds 29-10 Win Over Berry Men; Stevenson Lads Are Clark-Skamania League Champs.

Friday night the basketball team travels to Parkdale where they will tangle with the Parkdale team again. Last Saturday when Parkdale came down here the Blue and White team won in an easy manner 29-10 and unless there is a big upset they should come out on the long end of the score again this week though Parkdale always puts up a stiff fight and might get the jump on Hood River.

Saturday night Hood River will entertain Stevenson in what promises to be a fast game as Stevenson has just won the Clark-Skamania league championship and has an excellent team this year according to reports. In the first tilt of the season Hood River beat Stevenson 20-15 but both teams have improved greatly and this game should be a good one.

The line-up will be the usual one. Breckenridge, F; Vaughn, F; Hammers, C; Hoover, G; Knoll, G.

GAME POSTPONED BECAUSE DEATH OF DALLES STUDENT

The basketball game with The Dalles which was scheduled for Wednesday night, February 18, was postponed until last night, because of the death of Ruth Elizabeth Anthony, a Dalles high school student who died of diphtheria.

The stages which were chartered to take Hood River students to the game Wednesday were used Tuesday.

ATHLETICS MANAGER FOR JUNIOR HIGH APPOINTED

The executive council of junior high appointed athletics managers last week. James Beck is manager with Frank Clemmons and Joe Wendling as his assistants. Frank Clemmons is to have charge of the 9th grade tennis court, James Beck, the 8th grade, and Joe Wendling the 7th grade. The courts will be ready for use within a few days. The council also voted to order two new nets and a tape for the courts.

STRAWBERRY AND CREAM KIDS LOSE TO APPLERS

Coach Carr's quintet took the Parkdale five for a ride Saturday night by checking up a 29-10 victory on the local court.

The game was characterized by the clean, sportsmanlike playing of both teams.

Hammers opened the game with a score for the locals. Hoover and Breckenridge also scored twice each during the first quarter while Parkdale's only score came on a free throw made by Aubert who made the only scores for the visitors during the first half. Score at end of half 14-3.

Moller, Kresse and Ray played a large part of the game, substituting for Hammers, Hoover and Vaughn.

The locals had little trouble in intercepting the Parkdale passes and checked the invaders successfully. As the final gong sounded the score board read 29-10 for the locals.

OUR SCHOLARSHIP

A visiting educator recently asked what recognition of scholarship is made in our high school. When told he exclaimed, "Unusual! Little emphasis must be put on it's importance to give so small a reward."

We hasten to assure the gentleman that no small amount of attention is called to the good of scholarship. numerous speeches direct our attention to its value, and these editorial columns often remind us what it means.

It is possible to make more public recognition of scholarship, we realize, and we do feel, considering the effort involved in scholarship and its demand of certain sacrifices on the part of the student, that those who attain a high average during the school year are entitled to something besides a letter.

Therefore, may we offer a suggestion? A number of progressive schools in the northwest have initiated a plan whereby honor students are entertained and dined by those most interested in scholarship; namely, the school board, the faculty or others of the community. One large Seattle high has a waffle breakfast. The best scholars in Portland are given a banquet and show. Such moves stimulate scholarship and are regarded as something to be honored.

It is difficult for a few to feel that honor students are not necessarily, unusually bright. They cannot realize that good grades may be merely the product of hard work and application. It seems to them utterly impossible that any person can enjoy studying. Nevertheless, it is true. But because they work for the knowledge gained, and actually expend real effort, they deserve some merit. If such a plan should ever be given a chance in Hood River high school, we feel confident that it would be accepted whole-heartedly and seriously by the student body. At least, it could do no harm.

SPRING IS COME

Spring is at hand! Rosebuds are out, boidies tweeting, and—well, spring is here, that's all.

What is so wonderful? Why, spring is the bloom of the world's youth. It is a festival , an awakening, a celebration. Words won't say it all adequately.

We hope spring's within us all. We think maybe we can get through the school year safely, with spring in sight and summer just around the corner. What a joy!

We extend to The Dalles student body our deepest sympathy in the loss of one of its members.

DOGS

Periodically the Guide includes in its pages a dog story-feature or news. And you all read them.

Something about a dog appeals to the average human. High brow, low brow, just and unjust, we all like dogs. A few abnormals are so thick-skinned that they can't see any appeal in a dog, but, then, they don't like anyone or anything.

We just wonder why we like dogs. Because they are always friends, once one has gained their confidence, or just because we like to know that someone loves us?

Whatever the ponit, it is assured that we will always have them around us. Though the wheat crop fails, or the banks have a run, or we flunk in every subject, our dog doesn't care. He is the same good sport, hopeful and helpful, loving, and, above all things, not critical.

Here's to more dog days.

THIS BOOING

The much discussed topic of booing was discussed lately in an Oreg Emerald editorial. The writer of the article implores the students to show good sportsmanship even if the team goes down in defeat.

We have had little show of this here in Hood River high school and we are proud of the fact but we can never be too careful. Watch yourself to see that you don't do it and shame the person who does.

Catherine Jones

The trouble with many people in this world is that, when especially talented in some line, they make it so apparent that it becomes a detriment. So, when we find one with a fit for some line of endeavor who hasn't broadcasted the facts, we want to do it for him. He deserves it.

Some 16 or 18 years ago there lived a baby whose idea of Paradise was paper and pencil on which to mark and scrawl and make lines. At first the lines were merely lines; gradually they took on form and became bow wows or trees or people. That was Catherine Jones at a very early age.

As a result of persistent effort the drawing improved. Now this same Catherine designs amazing sketches, whose lines seem professional, so symmetrical and exact they are. She does oil paintings too, which seem well nigh perfect to the amateur eye.

Some day soon Catherine is going to study commercial art in a regular art school. Illustration appeals to her right now.

If she works as hard at that as she does now on her sketching we know she will get a long ways.

Betty Peters Likes Games

Betty Peters, who goes to the Catlin school in Portland, has been coming up to the basketball games here every week-end and declares that she certainly enjoys them very much.

"Everyone shows so much school spirit and the yelling is much better than it was last year," she said.

Evelyn Derby spent the week-end with Dorothy Brock.

How They Happened

Did you know that "Bill" Kelly's father used to call her "William," then it was shortened to Bill and she's been called that ever since?

Pauline Nelson acquired the nickname "Pat" in junior high and it stuck. "I've been called lots of things," Pat declared, "but that's the only one that ever stayed with me."

On the way to the University of Oregon high school conference "Teachur" was tacked on to Miss Marion Anderson's name.

Everyone calls Mr. Knight "Stormy" because—(the rest has been censored)!

"Woman" Nance earned his handle by hanging around a certain fair one's locker on the second floor hall and "Speed" Allen's cognomen appeared with the basketball season.

"Tickic" Banks can't explain where hers came from and "Sonny" Nelson has just always been called that. What's in a nickname!

Hi, Delegate

All lights were out. Every one was sleeping peacefully when suddenly a loud clanging broke out. "Brr, Brrr," a few drowsy sounds and then, "What's that, the fire bell?" Sleepy boys rolled or fell out of bed. The smell of smoke was in the air, in fact it was getting thicker every moment. Everyone began talking and going for the door at the same time but someone held them back.

"Go down the fire escape, all the stairs are on fire."

Douglas Button was the first one out and when he got to what he thought was the bottom of the fire escape he stepped off. He says, "I fell about 10 feet to the ground. It was pretty cold running around in pajamas in the early morning hours but the worst of it was that it was all a joke for the delegates special benefit."

The thing that kills reporters of the Guide outright is to see news of some high school student in the local society columns which was not in the Guide. Then is when they do their worst writing.

Where's The Ash Can?

Determination was written all over her face; she would make it keep its place if she had to stay there all night. Why did it want to always slip just as she got ready to close the door? Maybe if she didn't lose her temper it would stay where she put it. Anyway she would try once more, and this time she would whistle. She wondered what would be an appropriate tune to whistle. There—she puckered up her lips and began the tantalizing tune of "Fool me some more," unaware of the fact that there was a reporter not far away smiling at her. "Umm!" she remarked to her victim as she gave it a final shove, "That ought to hold you for a while."

But just as she slammed the door it slipped again, and with a look of utter defeat on her face Elma Lafferty went down the hall and returned with the waste paper basket, muttering something about having to clean out her locker every time she tried to close the door.

Now we know times are hard—the girls didn't stage a leap night this month.

The Blue and White hoopsters added another game to their victory list by defeating a strong team from Rainier Friday night on the home floor by a score of 31-24.

The game was fast and of the rough-and-tumble type.

The visitors continued to run up their score in the second quarter and the half ended with a score of 15-7 in their favor.

The locals came back on to the court after the intermission with a determination which brought them within one point of the invaders' score at the close of the third quarter. Score 21-20.

The fourth quarter scoring attack then began for the locals and they emerged victorious by a score of 31-24 when the gun banged.

Knoll was high scorer for the event with 10 points while Hoover and Breckenridge tied for second honor with 9 each. Clark and Lovelace were high pointers for the visitors with 8 scores each.

GLENN ALLEN. NET MANAGER ARRANGING TENNIS MATCHES

Glenn Allen, tennis manager, recently wrote The Dalles high school requesting three tennis matches between the two schools. Two matches would be played at Hood River on April 24 and May 12 and one at The Dalles if it can be arranged.

The Dalles high school has not had a tennis team since 1928 and therefore would be placed at a disadvantage, according to the Tillicum, school newspaper. Hood River high school has taken a great deal of interest in tennis and has some good prospects for this season.

Dr. Bassing To Speak

Every year it is the custom of the different colleges to send one of their instructors on a tour of the high schools of the state to speak on the advantages of colleges. Dr. Nelson L. Bassing from the University of Oregon will be the main speaker in the assembly Friday.

The delegates to the Oregon State college conference will also give their reports on the convocations and exhibits which they attended.

Several of the students who have not appeared in an assembly before will present musical numbers in both piano and vocal.

CHEMISTRY CLUB ELECTS CHARLES LAGE PRESIDENT

The first meeting of the Chemistry club this year was held last Wednesday. Officers were elected and Jesse Crenshaw, science instructor and club adviser, gave a brief talk outlining the purpose of the organization and the work to be performed.

Charles Lage was elected as president, Howard Walters as vice president and Margaret Shurtleff, secretary.

Meetings are to be held once a week on Wednesday. At these metings a program will put on by a group of members of the club, selected by a program committee, or by an outside person talented in scientific ines.

At the meeting last Wednesday Howard Walters took charge of the meeting in absence of Charles Lage.

A one-act burlesque entitled "The Fraternity Initiation" was read.

There were 27 students who signed for membership in the club.

Those who signed for the club are: Marvin Wilbur, Margaret Shurtleff, Nell Young, Carlisle Smith, Harold Miller, Norval Shurtleff, Ivan Woods, Howard Walters, Ralph Perry, Howard Kruse, Stanley Rand, Clarence Swanson, Arthur Steele, George Jacobson, Kenneth Folck, Melvin Lingren, Donald Nelson, Lawrence Hoover, Merle Markley, Douglas Button, Ann Keller, Charles Lage, Alice Bingaman, Joyce Spencer, Harold Hammers, Sam Banks and Ellen Annala.

Girls Up and Coming

Plans for the Girls' league stunt show which is to be held March 20, are rapidly materializing and the class committees are working hard on the class stunt.

The senior girls have a wild and wooly pirate idea in the form of a one act musical play which will prove interesting.

The juniors are laying the plot for their stunt in a modiste's shop while the sophomores are contrasting today with the olden times.

Each class will introduce their stunt with some songs or dances and the show is expected to go over big.

COUNTY PLAY-DAY BEING PLANNED FOR COUNTY FEMS

The newly organized Girls' H club is sponsoring a County play day for girls. Betty Coulter, secretary, has written to all the high schools of the county for cooperation in making this plan a success.

Dorothy Huggins, president, states that the club may also take part in the Girls' league stunt show which is to be held March 20.

Annual Trouble In Newberg

The N. H. S. Echoes, Newberg, Oregon—(by exchange)—Chehalem sales close at noon February 17, at which time 200 annuals must be sold to assure the 1931 yearbook. To date 125 annuals have ben purchased.

A last minute rush is necessary to prevent the "Chehalem" from becoming a thing of the past. Numerous high schools are refunding money to yearbook purchasers and annuals are being dropped because of the general business depression. McMinnville is among neighboring schools planning to discontinue their annuals. Richmond high school, Richmond, California, received only half of the 600 subscriptions necessary for the publication of its book.

Last count on annual drive shows the Varsity "N" has supported the 1931 Chehalem 100 per cent. This record has been repeated three consecutive years.

"It is my sincere wish that the Chehalem will not be dropped during my administration and I hope that every student may have an annual," says Joe Wilson, student body president.
