Mr. Luther A. Townsley

Dear Mr. Townsley:

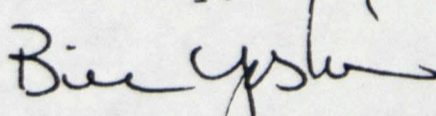

Thank you kindly for your recent letter and your words of support.

It is all too apparent that constitutional guarantees can dissolve in a moment of crisis and that no President, Congress, or Supreme Court is immune to the sometimes misguided pressures of public and political attitude. If the ideal of our effort lies in an assurance that past errors of our government will never again be repeated, a public awareness and attitude must be created which, in itself, will become vigilant over the rights of individuals and groups.

I thank you for your sentiments.

With regards,

Sincerely,

William J. Yoshino
