Social Problems

The problem the Japanese people in relocation centers face.

This paper is my own opinion of the problems that face us Japanese in Manzanar and other relocation centers. I wish that his paper would be kept personal between the teacher who read it and myself.

I think that the Japanese people in Manzanar and other relocation centers should think of the future rather than the past. There is going to be a time when we Japanese are going to be standing on our own two feet again. We should think of what kind of work or job are we going to do? Is there going to be any jobs opened to the Japanese again? In my opinion I think that farming is going to be the best job for the Japanese people. After this war, I have received letter from friend who say that it is hard to get fresh food. This is because everyone has left the farms and other jobs and gone to national defense factory and joined the series. Lots of the farming in this country was done by Japanese and I think they did a good job. After this war I think that everyone will receive their old jobs back.
