

Kyoko Uyesaka
Period 8 Room 7-5-2
February 1, 1943

Passion

Sufferings of sickness are only understood by a people of who have had a experienced. Sadness of losing a best friend is only could understand by a people, who have had a experienced.

My own sorrow is there for should kept secret in a own heart. That is by not to be polluted one's sorrow by heartless people. However if one can not kept sorrow by all to herself, bring the sufferings to those who can really understand it.

By writing these things because lately I have attention to one's actual truth of sensibility.