

Mr. High

In reference to Masao Isago who was given a twenty-six detention period punishment, it is believed that he has learned his lesson and will cause no future difficulties.

The following things should be taken into consideration in this case.

1. The purpose of any disciplinary action is to prevent delinquency rather than to punish the delinquent after he has transgressed the law.
2. In order to attend the detention, it is necessary for Masao Isago to leave his farm management class early each day.

In reference to the above statement that it is recommended that the following steps be taken.

1. After Masao Isago has served ten detentions (four more days) that he be provisionally released from serving the remainder.
2. That he be instructed that with the least infraction of school rules, he will be forced to finish his detentions.
3. That he be passed to me and must report to me before 3:45 each detention night until the remaining sixteen days are up (time put at 3:45 so that it will not be necessary for him to leave farm management early)

W. Bentley