

DEVENS MEN FLANK THE SUPREME COMMANDER

AT EISENHOWER RECEPTION . . . Brig. Gen. William C. Crane, Ft. Devens CG; Governor Maurice J. Tobin of Massachusetts; Mrs. Eisenhower; General Dwight D. Eisenhower; and Mayor John E. Kerrigan of Boston, quondam sergeant at Ft. Devens.

AT . . . DANCE DAY MEETING . . . T/Sgt. Jake Lindsay, Congressional Medal of Honor winner; General Eisenhower; Mrs. Eisenhower; Mrs. Crane, Brig. Gen. Crane.

Not at all to be outdone by the male element of the Fort, a contingent of Wacs from the Headquarters Co., SCU 1111 stepped out smartly in the big parade of the day in Boston. Lt. Margaret Lyons was in command of the Wac contingent which put on a very fine performance throughout the entire line of march.

The girls received the applause of the crowds all the way and, we might add, were on the receiving end of some beautiful admiration who did their stamp of strode by. From up by this scribe sed the thrill of a got their initial "Ike".

General's whirl through the city of Boston. The dinner given at the Hotel Statler. Guests of the world it was warmest welcomes ever a figure of world re- f the General's extem- speech at the dinner so rapid demobilization the peace for which we ought and paid for with ives. That we must not cks on the job we have d, but should see the through to the end.

General was still wearing alarm smile as his train out of South Station late at as he headed for Wash- D. C. and conferences on and navy merger plans.