Hiya Stuff -

What's the matter - afraid of barking dogs? Come a little closer Stuff and give a gander - we carry no firearms, black jacks, booby traps, or land mines. It's only after the sun goes down that you must guard your flanks for possible surprise attacks (You know, Pincer movements where the objective is enveloped by a crushing arm movement.) For detailed demonstrations call 479 for appointments.

Let's see now - going back to the subject of who's misinforming who...my deductions are that either you're too modest to admit certain things or that you may be completely unaware of some of these silent affections developing some of the more timid GI's. I'm referring to your so called invention of mine. Of course, I'll admit my imagination is super, but my observation is also up to par. Let's save that one for open discussion.

Time is getting short - stomach growling...so must sign off Red leader calling base field ... coming in on 456 .. over
