Opportunities Available in Cleveland to Learn Skilled Trades

Four to five boys interested in learning various skilled trades are invited to go out to Cleveland each week by Harold S. Fistere, Ohio relocation supervisor. Employment opportunities for both skilled and unskilled workers are plentiful in that area, he said. Unskilled laborers will have an opportunity to go into trades as body and fender learners, tire recapping learners, spray painter learners, mechanic learners, bakery machine operator learners, sheet metal machine operator learners, laundrymen, restaurant bus boys and warehouse workers.

Skilled mechanics ($1-1.25 per hour with own tools), skilled body and fender repair men, maintenance mechanics (85 cents to $1 per hour), coal truck drivers (92½ cents per hour, union initiation fee $25 payable after first 30 days work) are needed. Pay for unskilled workers ranges from 70-75 cents per hour at the start. Due to the housing shortage, Fistere advises that only single men apply. Workers should weigh from 140-160 pounds, be at least 5'6" tall and be able to do moderately heavy work. The men should have enough money to sustain themselves for a week to 10 days when they are looking for work. Housing will be available in dormitories or hotel-type residences.

Later pay will be increased to 69 cents per hour. Housing conditions are said to be satisfactory.
