

Fort Missoula Internment Camp to Close

The Department of Justice announced today that it is closing Fort Missoula, Mont., as a detention center for alien enemies and is returning the property to the custody of the Army.

Fort Missoula has been under the jurisdiction of the Immigration and Naturalization service since April, 1941. The first group of internees quartered there were the 483 crew members of the "Conte Biancamano", an Italian vessel which was seized shortly after the outbreak of war in the Canal Zone. It has been used exclusively for the quartering of these and other Italian seamen and for a smaller group of Japanese civilians while awaiting hearings before Alien enemy hearing boards. Its peak population was 2,003, reached in April, 1942.

The number of civilian internees throughout the country has declined during the last year, and the present population at Fort Missoula is only 550. These are now in process of being transferred to other detention stations.

Re-registration Being Held at Night School

To bring present files up to date, re-registration of all persons interested in the various divisions of the vocational training and retraining program is being held now in the night school office, according to Walter C. Schlosser, director.

Persons who expect to stay here during the summer for a period of more than eight weeks are welcome to register for opportunity in securing both center and outside employment, he said.

Selectees Must Notify Selective Service Office Before Leaving Center

Since local selective service officials have been notified by the Powell draft board that the following persons are to be called soon to report for their pre-induction physical examinations, any individual listed below leaving the center on seasonal, short term or indefinite leave, is requested to contact the selective service office in the Sentinel building first;
