To Project Directors

This report, on Evacuee Resistances to Relocation, first presented at the May Project Directors' Meeting in Washington, is in the nature of an "estimate of the situation." Constructive measures for overcoming resistances can best be worked out on the basis of a knowledge of just what lies behind the reluctance of people in the centers to relocate. The relocation guidance committees have as their primary function the finding of feasible ways and means of encouraging and making practical the relocation of center residents. The description of basic causes of residents' reluctance to relocate given in this report should assist the members of these committees as well as other members of the project staffs in their work. To this end 150 copies of this report are being sent herewith.
