Make Plans for Self-Gevermoent System

preparations were started this waek for the naming of an organization commis. sion which will draw up plans for the self-government system under which Heart Mountain colonists will live. Jerry Housel, WRA regional attorney, will assist in the organization of these plans.

Philip V. Berber, chief of community services, declared it was desired to finish as much of the work as possible while Housel, who expects to remain about a week, is here.

Housel explained that the commission should be as representative as possible of the entire community, including representatives of block administrators, the temporary council, mess employees, workers out on temporary leave and any other group in the project.

Stressing the need for speed, Housel declared that it was desirable to see at least the plan of government submitted to the public for approval on Nov. 3, the date of the Wyoming state general election. The election of public officers under the government plan will proceed as quickly as possible.

"In forming a permanent government the residents of the center should take into consideration the visdom and counsel of the issei group," Housel declared. "Al-(Continued on Page 3)

Checks to Be Issued for Clothing Allowances

Clothing allowances for the months of August and September will be by government checks, Philip W. Barber, chief of community services, announced. Youchers to cover clothing allowances due each family are being prepared by the social welfare section, under the supervision of R. O. Griffin, internal security head. These vouchers will be submitted to the Treasury Disbursing officerin Denver who will issue checks.

Persons 16 years of age or over are entitled to $3.75 monthly, 8 to 16 years, $3.25, and 8 years and under, $2.25. The allowance for an entire family will be paid to the head of the family.

The checks may be used at the community dry goods store or through the mail order houses. As soon as the first checks are received from the Treasury office a special announcement will be carried by the bulletin. Families in greatest need will be handled first, Barber said.

Heart Mountain (Franted Priority on School Materials

The War Production Board has granted Heart Mountain a priority on critical school materials, announced WRA regional director Joseph H. Smart at the two-day educational conference. Actual construction will get under way as soon as materials are purchased.

Dr. lester K. Ade, of the U.S. Office of Education who has been assigned to the WRA as education adviser stressed that American citizens of Japanese ancestry should be assimilated into the post-war world. "It is a pioneering challenge to American education," he declared. He went on to say that an agreement is being worked out between WRA and the state of Wyoming covering the operation of the Heart Mountain school system.

Dr. Charles Irwin of the hospital spoke on the need of public murses for school children and the problem of immunization. Ray E. Robertson, commissioner of education, spoke on the Wyoming curriculum. Other speakers were J.D. Andes, elementary principal of Greybull, Wyoming; Dr. O.C. Schwiering, dean of the College of Education, University of Myoming; Dr. Louis R. Kilzer, and Dr. J.R. Mac-Neel, both of the University of Timing.

though the issei will not hold elective office under TPA regulations, they can serve on committees, commissions and boards and materially help the community government to function more effectively."

Both Housel and Barber asserted the need for co-operation and harmony in taking the first long step toward democratic government here. "It will be up to the residents themselves to evolve an efficient, harmonious government utilizing all the leadership ability they have among their number under the broad terms of the WRA administrative instructions." Housel declared.

WRA Administrative instruction No. 34 provides for a community council which will prescribe regulations for the community and provide penalties for their violation. It will present to the project director resolutions on questions affecting the welfare of the regidents.

The plan of government also calls for the formation of a judicial commission, and for orderly methods of arbitration for sottling civil disputes between residents of the project. The project director may at any time set aside any regulation made by the council which he finds to be in excess of the functions of the council as defined in the administrative instruction.
