Public Opinion Change Due to Record of 442nd

Nisei Born in Relocation Centers
Have Same Views of Democracy
At Outset As Puritans
MYER SPEAKS AT L. A.

Dillon S. Myer, national director of the WRA, who spoke in the interests of the Japanese Americans at an inter-faith meeting at the Friday Morning Club last week pointed out that "the temper of public opinion on the nisei problem has been changing due to the magnificent combat record of Japanese American boys in the uniform of the United States Army," according to the Los Angeles Times.

Nisei Fighters In India Front Made Known Sgts. Hirabayashi, Gosho Fighting In Burma

WITH U. S. ARMED FORCES IN THE CHINA-BURMA-INDIA THEATRE—Official censorship regarding the participation of American volunteers of Japanese ancestry in the war against Japanese enemy in the China-Burma-India theatre has been lifted by the publication of an article "Nisei," by S/Sgt. Edgar Laytha in the Sept. 14 issue of the "CBI Round-up," according to the Pacific Citizen.

Official secrecy had been heretofore enforced to blanket the contributions of these Nisei in Brig. General Frank Merrill's Marauders, as well as with the British and other Allied forces in this theatre.

Among the 14 Nisei soldiers who participated in Merrill's Marauders are Sgt. Henry H. Gosho, formerly of Seattle, and Sgt. Grant Hirabayashi of Kent, Washington.

The Japanese Americans in the Marauders participated in all of the unit's campaigns, and later stayed behind at the front during mopping up operations.

All of the Japanese Americans in the Marauders wear the sky blue citation ribbons of their unit, while three of the group were also cited individually. They are S/Sgt. Russell Kono, S/Sgt. Roy Matsumoto and Sgt. Henry Gosho.

Another Japanese American, Sgt. Eddie Sakawa, who was on loan to a British unit, saved the life of an English captain under fire and was also cited.

Firemen Answer 3 Calls Last Week

Hunt volunteer fire fighters were among the men who fought the three fires which occurred last week in the Halley area, another around the Hagerman area and one at the southeast section of the project near Eden, according to Verne Campbell, fire protection officer. The fire which was reported near Eden last Friday was believed to have been started by some careless fisherman. The fire department sent some men to extinguish the flames, but when it was almost out, a strong east wind arose and spread the fire toward the project to the Eden ditch. The project grain was threatened because it still lay in the fields.

Topaz Councilman Studies Problems

Masaji Fujii, executive secretary of the Topaz Community Council, arrived here last week to exchange information between Minidoka and Topaz centers, according to the Community Council.

According to Fujii, evacuee workers in Topaz were paid for overtime accumulated during January, February and March of this year. The local Council is at present negotiating plans on getting the overtime pay for the residents here during those months.

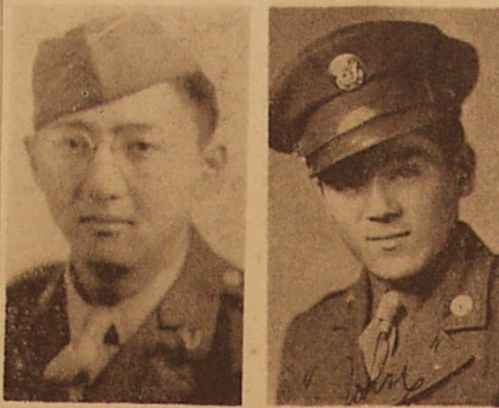

It was also learned that in Topaz, Japanese Language courses were considered a regular subject. Labor shortage problems also exist in Topaz.

PRE-INDUCTION LIST

Al Ono, Tom Torao Kuranishi, Masato Morimoto and Francis Nishimoto were added to the pre-induction physical list which will take place next Wednesday at the project hospital, according to the leaves Office.

A baby boy was born to the Kenneth Barclay's Thursday morning. Barclay is the Internal Security officer here.

Project Directors Confer In Denver To Discuss Problems

Lawyers Ask Rescinding of Exclusion Act Korematsu, Endo Case Now Before Supreme Court

WASHINGTON D. C.—Attorneys of California, Oregon and Washington petitioned the supreme court today to lift, as soon as national security permits, civilian exclusion orders against persons of Japanese ancestry, issued by military authorities in the west coast area after Pearl Harbor, according to a recent Associated Press report.

The attorneys, filing a joint petition as friends of the court in the case of Fred T. Korematsu, said the high tribunal has emphasized in decisions handed down previously that except in most unusual circumstances racial discriminations are prohibited.

The petition states that "it was reasonable for the military commanders to meet the danger threatened (after Pearl Harbor) from the unidentified disloyal members of the group (of persons of Japanese ancestry) by excluding the group as a whole."

The attorneys concluded, however, that "the restrictions placed upon this group of our citizens must be removed as soon as the military authority determines and the national security permits."

The court will hear arguments on Korematsu's petition protesting his removal from California to a camp in another state.

MALCOLM PITTS

Malcolm Pitts, assistant national WRA director, accompanied by his wife, visited the project this week.

Seattleites Plead for Fair Program Toward Japanese

Formation of a group, with the announced purpose of preventing the return of Japanese to the White River and Puyallup Valleys, encountered stiff opposition this week as pleas were made for "unity and sanity," in dealing with the controversial situation, according to the Seattle Times.

Benjamin Smith of Kent, announced that the "Remember Pearl Harbor League," of which he is president, is mapping an "orderly program" to bar Japanese from the farming areas.

Smith declared matter-of-factly that feeling against the return of the Japanese to the farms they operated prior to removal by the Army has remained strong in the area, and represents an attitude which cannot be ignored.

"A great many people believe the Japanese should not be permitted to return, feeling very definitely that the best interests of the communities involved will be served by such a solution," Smith said. "We have made plans to achieve this result in an orderly way, and the plans will be announced soon."

"They can form whatever groups they please," declared Sheriff Harlan S. Callahan, "but the law still stands. If these returning Japanese have been okayed by the federal government, and checked out as loyal citizens, they are entitled to the same protection as anyone else, and they are going to get it."

Arthur G. Barnett, Seattle attorney, described the move as a "violation of the rules of fair play. The Army has classified these people as acceptable and loyal." Barnett (Continued On Page Two)

S/Sgt. M. Miyoshi Convalescing at Bushnell Hospital

S/Sgt. Masaru Miyoshi, 25-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Taichi Miyoshi, 44-S-1A, has been brought to Bushnell General Hospital in Brigham City, Utah, for specialized treatment of wounds received in action in Italy, according to a release from the Bushnell Hospital.

A platoon guide with the crack 442nd regimental combat team, S/Sgt. Miyoshi was wounded on the way to Leghorn, July 15, by a German sniper. He had been in Italy since May of this year, and has been in the Army since February, 1941.

He was returned from medical installations in Italy by ship to the United States. Prior to entering the Army, he was engaged in farming with his family on Vashon Island, Wash.

At a meeting held Thursday afternoon in the Ad area Rec. Hall, by nine appointed personnel and eight evacuee members of the Manpower Commission it was decided to conduct a fact-finding survey of labor by each division head, it was reported. A report will be given by these division heads on their findings at the next meeting of the Commission which will be held next week.

"The prime purpose of the Commission will be to survey and classify activities in the light of available labor supply," Stafford declared.

"They may recommend elimination of some activities, consolidation of others and placing of special emphasis on still others," Stafford said.

"The problem of developing family summaries and evacuee property information is of vital importance to the residents. These departments are woefully short of help and behind with their records. The Manpower Commission will evaluate the relative importance of activities."

"Non-essential activities will be abolished as rapidly as possible. Qualified clerical personnel will be asked to accept jobs where their talents and training will promote greater efficiency as a whole. Co-operative Enterprises will be asked to adjust their activities to keep pace with a declining population," Stafford concluded. "We may also look for consolidation of block occupancy. Since labor is to be proportionately scarce, its placement will be governed by essential needs."

OFFICIAL ENTRY BLANK HUNT SOFTBALL ALL-STAR CONTEST

Dear Sir: Here is my entry for the selection of the top all-star softball ten in Hunt for the past season. They are: Position Team Player... DON'T WRITE HERE Time Date Signature Home Address

John Lardner in his column, "From the Press-box", which appears regularly in the Seattle Times predicted that the World Series would end with the Cardinals taking the set, four games to two. The fact that he was able to call the results of the series indicates good baseball sense and a type of "know how" in baseball. To most of the laymen however, the series started off very good with the Cardinals being set down by the crafty slants of one Dennis "Denny" Galehouse. However, the joy was not long lasted as the Cards came back to even up the series behind the pitching of lefty Max Lanier. In this second contest, the victim was the top hurler of the Browns, Nelson Potter, who had a 19-7 record in the regular campaign. Going through with our brief resume on the series, the Browns snapped back into the win column with Jack Kramer, former Navy Sea-see, doing the tossing. His 6-2 win was backed by the best hitting show made by the American leaguers. Then, after losing the series' lead again, the Cardinals finally got really started and mauled the company of Sig Jakucki, Al Hollingsworth, etc. to take a 5-1 verdict. Harry "the Cat" Breehen, the top notch wrong-hander of the Cards hurled this one through. Game number five brought back ace Mort Cooper and a subsequent 2-0 triumph. Cooper lost his opener on a home-run by George McQuinn, first-sacker of the opposition, with one on. He won his series' victory on a pair of round trippers by Ray Sanders and Danny Litwhiler, first base-man and outfielder, respectively. What turned out to be the final game of the famed series was game number six which brought Max Lanier and Nelson Potter back to the hillock. The final score of that finale was 3-1 in favor of the National leaguers. Now, for the outstanding person on each club—for the winners, sportswriters seem to agree that it was Marty Marion, the gangling short-stop of the Cards. For the losers, George McQuinn gets the nod. Well, it is for us to say then, the "best team won."

Last week, we touched football playing in Spokane as far as Nisei gridsters were concerned. Well, this week we got news of other Nisei who were in the sports-limelight, this time down Colorado way. At Fort Lupton, Colorado, playing for the high school team there are a number of Nisei, and the stand-out among them seem to be Bob Kawata, and Albert Mitamura, while Andrew Watada, who was previously playing for Platteville high is now captaining at guard for the Lupton eleven. Thus far, however, despite the great number of Nisei performers, the Fort Lupton aggregation is having a tough time getting into the win circle—they have already taken two trouncings, 27-6 at the hands of Louisville and 26-0 from Lafayette high school.

Hitting the sports-headlines in the Portland and Seattle circles now is the start of a rejuvenated ice hockey league. Seattle has two representative teams in this newly organized loop and from what we can find out about the opener between these two clubs, both have really good outfits. Incidentally, the Isaacson Ironmen won 5-3 from the Siek's Maple Leafs in the opening contest at the Civic Auditorium. Just what the caliber of the Portland aggregation is, has not been yet determined. However, the main reason why this matter is being brought up is that ice hockey can be incorporated into a winter sports program, if and when such a program is ever made. Hockey, unlike other fall and winter sports, needs very little equipment, and with the possibility of using the swimming pool when it freezes over, the chances, looking at it from our vantage point, seem bright. Organization is essential—and the Community Activities sports division can have that problem to think about. Planning ahead is essential, let's do it!
