Nation-wide Survey Finds Evacuees Resettle in East

If Trend Continues West Coast To Have Low Thousand Population

DENVER—A nation-wide survey revealed that few of the Japanese leaving war relocation centers are returning to the Pacific Coast. H. Rex Lee, chief of the WRA relocation division in Washington, announced, according to the Los Angeles Times.

Of 28,541 Japanese who had reported their resettlement, only 1495 were in California, Oregon and Washington on Feb. 1, the survey showed. Only 1938 of the 60,397 Japanese remaining in the eight centers had definite plans to return to the Pacific Slope.

35 Elected By Residents

At meetings held throughout the project by the various blocks during last week, 25 commissioners to the Community Council were elected by the residents of their respective blocks. Newly-elected Councilmen are: Yozo Murakami, Kenichi Masuhara, Eiji Fujitomi, George Yamamoto, Hideto Iwata, Hamao Hirabayashi, Takamura Hayashi, Hi-deichi Yoshihara, Rex Yutaka Yamashita and Hosaku Aoki.

The Commissioners by blocks follow:

Air Mail Packages Will Be Opened For Inspection-PO

Air mail packages must not be sealed. They will have to be opened by the Post Office and two witnesses must sign it, it was announced this week by H. Hukida, postmaster.

"This is a postal safety regulation to prevent sending of bombs or other dangerous objects by air transportation," he explained.

The order requiring that air mail parcels contents must be inspected, has been effective since Oct. 22, 1942. The amendment to the postal laws and regulations covering this order read:

No sealed package, parcel, or other article (except letters in their ordinary and usual form, and official mail) shall be accepted for transmission by air mail unless it bears on the address side thereof the name and address of the sender, together with the endorsement, "Postmaster: This package may be opened for postal inspection if necessary."

When any article (other than letters in their ordinary and usual form, or official mail) intended for transmission by airmail is deposited in any street collection box, or at any other point, without bearing the endorsement authorizing opening for postal inspection, the article will be held and if the sender is known and can be promptly notified he shall be requested to place the required endorsement on it, according to the order of the postmaster general.

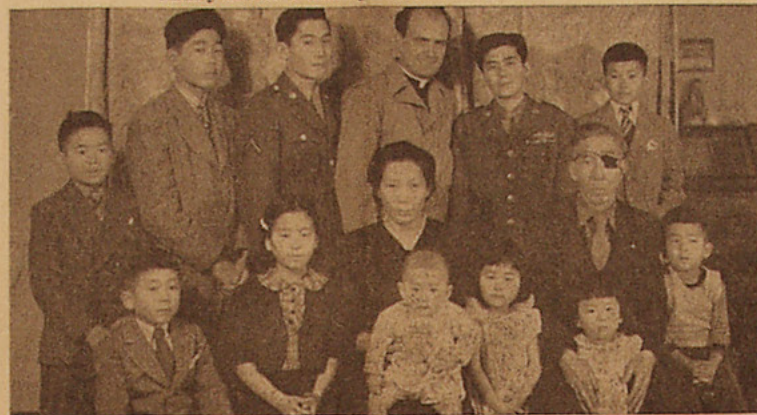

If the sender is unknown or cannot be contacted without delaying dispatch of the article, it will not be sent by air mail but will be dispatched by surface transportation, postmasters throughout the country have been instructed.

Pfc. Tom Okazaki Returns to States

Pfc. Tom Okazaki, veteran of 10 months overseas duty with the 442nd Central Postal Directory, was returned to the United States recently, according to word received here. He was returned on the U. S. Hospital Ship Ernest Hinds. He is at present at Stark General Hospital, Charleston, S. C., where he is being treated temporarily for wounds received in action before being transferred to another army hospital for definite treatment.

Pfc. Okazaki was wounded in France on October 19. His brother, Isao, was killed in action in Italy on July 15, 1944. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Okazaki, 10-5-D.

Maryknoll Family Leaves for Seattle

Declares Red Cross Aid Allied Men In German Prisons Make Life Bearable

MONTREAL, P.Q.—"We merely existed, that's all," declared a Canadian Nisei Commando who was among the recent group of veterans who were repatriated on the Swedish liner Gripsholm after over two years of imprisonment as prisoners-of-war in Germany, according to a story written by Jack Nakamoto, The New Canadian March 10 issue.

The meals provided by their captors could hardly be called substantial, said Pte. David L. Tsubota. Without the occasional Red Cross supplies supplementing this diet, he declared that they would certainly have starved. If lucky, the prisoners sometimes were able to have porridge for breakfast; the midday meal almost invariably consisted of soup and potatoes; and supper, bread and margarine, which were largely supplied by the International Red Cross.

In order to receive a small allowance, Pte. Tsubota often went out to a coal mine with the working party at which time he came down with pleurisy. After his recovery, he resumed work. He had a relapse and was hospitalized again when he was selected with other prisoner-patients to be repatriated through arrangements made by the International Red Cross.

He expressed his gratitude for the aid by the Red Cross, adding that the survival of the prisoners-of-war in the camp depended entirely upon the work of this organization.

Pte. Tsubota was captured during the Commando raid at Dieppe in August, 1942. He joined the Canadian Navy in the spring of 1940, but he was discharged after only three months service because of his origin. However, far from being discouraged, he volunteered to join the Army. In due course, he was accepted into The Black Watch (R. H. R.) of Canada on July 18, 1940. About a year later embarked for England, where he received special training with a Commando company of his battalion.

He recalled the dawn bright with sunshine that memorable D-Day when they stormed the beach of Dieppe. About 11 o'clock of the same morning they were surrounded and captured by the Germans.

About ten days were spent in then occupied France before he was shipped off to a prison camp in Germany. He was thrust into a "compound" with a number of Allied prisoners who were herded together, some shackled with chains, others with ropes. The compound was about 50 by 25, imprisoning about 170 men. There was plenty of fresh air as the windows were broken for that purpose. Roll calls were taken twice daily, 7 a. m. and 5 p. m.

"My hands were tied with a rope from morning until bedtime... for about a year," the 22-year-old Nisei said as he displayed his wrists which still bore the rope marks.

Pte. Tsubota's brother is serving in the British Army and his father is attached to the Canadian Army Headquarters in London with the rank of Company Sergeant Major and is a World War I veteran.

Director Myer's Removal Asked
Gresham, Ore.—Resignation or dismissal of National WRA Director Dillon S. Myer is asked in a resolution approved at an anti-Japanese mass meeting here on March 15, according to an Associated Press report.

The meeting sponsor, Oregon Property Owners' Protective League (Oregon Anti-Japanese, Inc.) announced it had employed A. E. McCroskey, Seattle, to head a campaign seeking a constitutional amendment to exile all persons of Japanese ancestry from the United States.

The League asks the amendment on the grounds that the Japanese do not make good Americans either by birth or naturalization.

In the resolution concerning Myer it charges Myer and his associates in the WRA have been "neither wise nor patriotic" in handling resettlement of Japanese on the West Coast. Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes is asked to dismiss Myer if he does not resign.

Anti-Prejudice Bill Becomes Law in New York

ALBANY, N. Y.—Making religious or racial prejudice in selecting workers, became a punishable offense in the state of New York, according to the Associated Press. It is the first state to enact such a law.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey, after a 45-minute public ceremony in the executive chamber, signed the Inves-Quinn anti-discrimination bill before approximately 200 persons. Similar legislation is being considered by seven other states and also by congress, the report said. New York's law is effective July 1.

By this act the state declares the simple principle that in employment there shall be no discrimination by reason of race, creed, color or national origin," Dewey said. "It expresses the rule that must be fundamental in any free country—that no man shall be deprived of the chance to earn his bread by reason of the circumstances of his birth."

No Bids Made for Hunt Farm Lands

BURLEY—Bids for lease on some 750 acres of farming land on the Hunt, Idaho, Japanese relocation project were to be opened here at 2 p. m. on March 13—but there was no opening because there were no bids.

The bids had been called for lease of the land for farming operations, but S. R. Marean, official of the department of reclamation, announced that no bids had been received.

War Veteran Hiroshi Hirai Tells Thrilling Experiences

Reluctant to relate his experiences because "it's too hard to believe," Pfc. Hiroshi Hirai, veteran of the Leghorn drive in the Italian campaign, is back home to visit parents and friends on a 30-day furlough. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Seikichi Hirai, 10-9-D.

Formerly of Five, Washington, and a member of the 442nd Central Postal Directory, Pfc. Hirai was wounded in the shoulder, paralyzing his right arm.

"We were in a draw," he relates. "That is, a valley with Jerry machine gun nests shooting down at us. They were too close for comfort, and the Lieutenant issued orders to stop firing. I was manning one of those Browning Automatic Rifles, and I was going after a nest that was making us too uncomfortable."

With his BAR, Pfc. Hirai managed to get the Germans in his sights, and it was a matter of a few seconds to put the gun and the crew out of commission.

Hirai then ran back to the ditch where the rest of his company was and saw a second gun nest maneuvering into position. He took another crack at them and knocked them out. When a third machine gun opened up, he asked a buddy to go with him, and together they ran for the cover of a haystack, a distance of around a hundred yards in front.

In the hilly draw, Hirai and his companion failed to locate a third machine gun nest.

Enemy 25 Yards In Front
Then they saw a group of Germans crossing the road just 25 yards in front of them. The first two surprised them and got away. Hirai picked off the three latter ones. When one of the two that got away started for the cover of a hill, Hirai's buddy got him.

Hirai was looking through his binoculars trying to locate the nest, when he was hit. "I believe it was the fifth Jerry that got me," he said.

"I was hit in my right arm and the lucky shot, for the Jerry, I mean, hit the main artery in my shoulder, and it started to bleed plenty."

His buddy helped him get up, and he decided to try to make it to his own lines.

Indefinites Not To Be Signed Unless Housing Approves

All Government Property Must Be Picked Up; Pass Given on Departure

In the future no indefinite leave pass will be handed to a person until the property clearance slip is signed by the housing division, according to reports released by Royal D. Hughey, leave officer. Such signature by the housing division will not be made until all government property including bedding has been picked up. Since bedding is generally not picked up until day of departure it will not be possible to get the indefinite leave pass until that day, stated Hughey.

Crating to Be Done By Property Sec.

With the expansion of the Evacuee Property Section a new system of packing and crating of property of evacuees who are relocating is now in operation. W. E. Rawlings, coordinator of information, announced this week.

Under this new system evacuees who desire to have their property crated and shipped should make application with the Evacuee Property Section who will in turn notify Wha. 2. Residents are urged to give their correct address so that no loss of time will result, Rawlings said. Owners should accompany their property to the warehouse in order that no damage or mix-up will result.

No packing and crating will be done by the warehouse unless it is properly authorized by Hinkle Cox, evacuee property officer, or Fred Minnesang, Rawlings said.

Matsudairas Leave For Former Home

Leaving with their nine children, Mr. and Mrs. T. Matsudaira, 8-5-AB, returned to Seattle last Tuesday. Leaving with the Matsudairas was Mr. Rianke Arai, who is 89 years old, and who was one of the oldest residents of this center.

While residing in the center the Matsudairas were active members of the Catholic Church. Their son, John, volunteered for the Combat Team in the early part of 1943 and was trained and sent overseas to Italy with the 442nd Central Postal Directory in 1944. He was seriously wounded in action on July 10, 1944.

Their second son, Michael, was inducted into the army in 1944. He is at present stationed at Ft. Snelling, Minnesota. A family reunion was held when he returned on a short furlough. It was the first time the brothers had met since John volunteered. John has since returned to Vaughn General Hospital, Illinois, where he is convalescing from wounds received in action.

War Veteran Hiroshi Hirai Tells Thrilling Experiences

Reflecting on the concussion wounds which he received on Nov. 5 as a result of the rescue, Pfc. Onodera stated: "I was lucky."

For the heroic way in which he fought and the wounds which he received, he was awarded the Purple Heart. He is also a wearer of the Combat Infantryman's badge and the European Theatre of Operations campaign ribbon which for him includes Italy as well as France.

Arriving here on March 10, Pfc. Onodera stated he would probably be here until April 1, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Onodera of 10-5-E.

Speaking of his visits to various Italian cities where he viewed the ancient Roman ruins, including the Coliseum, Pfc. Onodera declared that under the circumstances he was not as impressed as he had thought he would be.

With a very distant expression on his face, he explained his lack of enthusiasm due to the fact that "we were creating ruins every day and in most instances inflicting much greater damage than the ancients had ever suffered."

In comparing Rome, Naples or Marseilles, Pfc. Onodera said that unless a person went into the older section of the city would be realize that he was in a foreign country. The modern section closely resembles large American cities in many respects he said. However, New York's skyline was the most welcome sight he has seen in a long, long time, he declared.

He is a former Seattleite, having graduated from Garfield High school in 1936 and worked in Seattle prior to evacuation. After he was removed to this center, he volunteered with his brothers, Satoru and Ko, in the early part of 1943. Satoru was reported killed in action on July 7, 1944, during the battle of Belvedere near Rome. Ko is at present stationed in the States.

R. Akiyama Chairman R. C. Drive

At a meeting held by the Welfare Committee of the Community Council, Friday afternoon at the Council Chambers, it was announced that Roy I. Akiyama, chairman, would head the local Red Cross drive. Akiyama replaced D. Takeoka who resigned as chairman of the Welfare Committee to accept the chairmanship on the Education Committee.

At this time T. Hayashi was appointed as treasurer of the Red Cross drive. It was tentatively suggested to publish a detailed report on the rules and regulations of the Red Cross Drive and its purposes. This list will be distributed to the residents in order that the purposes of the Red Cross will be more easily understood, it was said. An assistant to the present Red Cross secretary, Yae Yasuda, was approved, also at this meeting.

Further planning and more definite methods in the matter of the Red Cross drive will be discussed and formulated at another meeting of this Committee next Wednesday afternoon at the Council Chambers. At this time the dates of the drive and the goal will be decided upon.

Rescue Member Of "Lost Battalion" Now Visiting Center

Among the members of the crack 442nd Central Postal Directory from Hunt to participate in the rescue of the "Lost Battalion" of World War II, was Pfc. Kaun Onodera, a volunteer from Hunt. He is now sitting here on a short furlough from Mitchell Convalescent Hospital, Camp Roberts, California.

Reflecting on the concussion wounds which he received on Nov. 5 as a result of the rescue, Pfc. Onodera stated: "I was lucky."

For the heroic way in which he fought and the wounds which he received, he was awarded the Purple Heart. He is also a wearer of the Combat Infantryman's badge and the European Theatre of Operations campaign ribbon which for him includes Italy as well as France.

Youth Problems and the Teen-Age Canteen

If we should be marking the days of importance in the historical calendar of the Hunt relocation center, then certainly March 13 should be one of them. It should be singled out for distinction not simply because it marked the opening of the teen-age canteen, but because it was the first constructive step taken by any group in this center toward the correction of a recognized juvenile delinquency problem. However, we are not so brazen as to suggest that the mere setting up of a youth center will solve the delinquency problem overnight, but what we do say is that the founding of this youth gathering-spot is a step in the right direction. Credit for this should be accorded to the persons in charge such as the C.A. staff, interested youth groups and volunteer elements from the local high school.

In operating this canteen, problems of management which have confronted other teen-age gathering-spots that were organized in various parts of this country, are naturally present. In coordination with these practical administrative problems, the persons in charge of this canteen must realize that they are assuming positions of great stature in the community, for they will be expected—whether rightly or not, to keep down juvenile delinquency within reasonable bounds. Parents especially will expect that juvenile problems such as those which made the newspaper headline in recent weeks involving Hunt youths will be—in some measure—solved by the administrators of this teen-age canteen. Also, in order to make this youth lounge a wholesome and recreative spot, these supervisors must be careful to deal with all patrons equally and fairly and prevent catering to special interest groups.

Admittedly, this problem of delinquency within our high school ranks is serious and the people are seriously concerned because it has reached such chronic proportions in recent months. If we evaluate the situation realistically, we must arrive at the inevitable conclusion that this problem will not be wiped out with one isolated corrective action. Rather it must be fought all along the line with a sustained, progressive social action program. Also, we should not—under the guise of relocation, soft-pedal reforms on the grounds that "it is too late." If relocation is actually our true goal, what better way is there to mold upstanding citizens than to guide them along the right tracks of life with a concrete program while in the center?

Generally speaking, the setting up of this youth center proves that even at this late date, we can still reasonably expect and hope for some progress in the solving of youth problems in the project. Once again we must emphasize that the teen-age canteen is just one step and not the whole solution and that it must be followed by other constructive steps lest we lose the initiative and interest displayed and the progress thus far made. Actually the youth canteen brings to the fore three important aspects of the situation: one—that the gathering spot is really only a theoretical solution to a perplexing problem; two—that the matter of the actual operation of the canteen brings up problems in itself; three—that there is a definite necessity of having a realistic follow-up step which would further the progress made. The latter step could easily take the form of the completion of the gym unit for active sports use.

We warmly commend the progress made, but we recognize also that the problem is far from solved. Both the administration and the residents recognize the need and the importance of solving this problem of youth delinquency and using that common basic understanding as a foundation, we should strive on from here and press the progress represented in the start of the teen-age center . . . C.N.

Fruit, Vegetable Growers Welcomed In Chicago Area

Earl S. DeSmidt, relocation officer for the Chicago area, including the 11 middle western states, is here on the project to assist those interested in fruit and vegetable growing in that area. DeSmidt was formerly connected with the Department of Interior on the west coast prior to his present assignment as the relocation officer for more than 16 years and personally is acquainted with many of the Japanese in this project. These 11 middle western states are especially suited to the type of fruit and vegetable farming that were performed by the Japanese on the West coast, DeSmidt said.

their share in the fight for freedom, six Nisei WACs are now taking basic training at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, preparatory to becoming hospital technicians, reported the Des Moines Register.

Looking forward to their new job in the WAC, the six new trainees are: Pvt. Amy Okada, 24; Pvt. Kisa Noguchi, 25; Pvt. Tsuruko Mizusawa, 20; Pvt. Margaret Uemura, 26; Pvt. Yaye Furutani, 32; and Pvt. Haruko Sugli, 30.

Pvt. Okada, formerly a resident of Hunt, had one year of nursing training at Seattle, Wash., before evacuation. Hoping to be trained as a dental technician for an army hospital, Pvt. Okada who is a native of Seattle, has been in Salt Lake City, Chicago and Indianapolis after leaving the center.

She has a brother, Takao Okada, in France, and another brother who was honorably discharged from the army. Her fiancé, Frank Hildaka, also is fighting in France.

Pvt. Noguchi, who is a graduate of the University of Colorado, was working for the Carnegie Institution at Boulder, Colo., before joining the WACs. She joined the Carnegie Institution some 18 months ago and was making archaeological drawings for a study on Central American pottery. The treaties on which she was working will be published as soon as restrictions on book paper are lifted.

One of five sisters, she became restless as a civilian and decided she should join the WAC and release a man for active duty. Another sister, Yoshi Noguchi, already in the WAC, is stationed near Tampa, Fla.

After residing in an Arizona relocation center for several months, Pvt. Mizusawa, who was born in Garden Grove, Calif., went to Minneapolis, Minn., and worked as an apprentice bindery girl. Pvt. Mizusawa has a brother, Frank, now at Fort Snelling, Minn., and also a brother-in-law in service.

Pvt. Uemura, prior to joining the WAC, was employed as assistant laboratory technician at Colorado General Hospital of the University of Colorado at Denver. Born at Spokane, Wash., she has resided at Portland, Ore., and has done college work at Denver. She is eager to go overseas as a medical laboratory technician.

Volunteering together with her husband, Pvt. Furutani was formerly a resident of El Paso, Texas. Her husband, however, was rejected for army service and is now working at Hawaii. Born at Oakland, Calif., she studied art at Santa Barbara, Calif., for three years and later attended a private art school at Tokyo, Japan. She has volunteered for overseas duty as a physiotherapist.

She has a sister, Peggy Tokuyama, a registered nurse at Rochester, Minn., who has volunteered for army duty, and two brothers-in-law in service, one of them in Germany.

Another Californian is Pvt. Sugli, who worked as a saleswoman and dressmaker in Los Angeles before the war. Pvt. Sugli, who is able to speak Japanese, hopes for a WAC assignment where her linguistic ability will be utilized.

Her brother, Pvt. Yoshitsugi, is at Fort Knox, Ky., with an armored replacement division. Formerly residing in a relocation center in Arkansas, she stated that her parents were still there and were planning to return to their pre-evacuation home. She was employed by the war department to process V-mail at the Chicago station prior to enlisting.

Individual Exclusions By Military Men Questioned

The following article appeared in the March 10 issue of the Open Forum, a publication put out by the Southern California Branch of the American Civil Liberties Union. This article concerns three individuals of Japanese ancestry who are contesting the right of excluding individuals from the west coast.

The constitutionality of the military exclusion orders, issued over nine thousand cases of American citizens of Japanese descent by the Western Defense Command, is awaiting decision this week in Los Angeles from Federal Judge Peirson M. Hall. The test cases, involving Elmer Yamamoto, Los Angeles attorney; Kiyoshi Shigekawa, San Pedro fisherman, both now at Poston Relocation Center, Arizona, and Dr. George Ochikubo, Oakland dentist, now at the Topaz Relocation Center, are being sponsored by the American Civil Liberties Union. According to the A.C.L.U., the rights of all persons of Japanese descent throughout the United States, alien as well as citizen, are indirectly at stake in the proceedings, since exclusion orders from military areas are now apparently being issued only against persons of Japanese ancestry.

All Testily Loyal

During the four-day trial held last week before Judge Hall, all the Nisei testified to their loyalty to the United States; and none of them was questioned by the government attorneys representing the military authorities as to his loyalty. Mr. Yamamoto told of his membership in a number of Japanese organizations, explaining that he joined them purely for social purposes and in connection with his practice of law. Mr. Shigekawa spoke of his loyalty to the United States, and of his urging, as Mr. Yamamoto had, many persons of Japanese descent to join the armed forces. The claim of the military authorities is that Mr. Shigekawa became a fisherman for the purpose of aiding the Japanese government; this Shigekawa stoutly denied. Dr. Ochikubo too, took the witness stand, told of his volunteering his services in the army, two days after Pearl Harbor, and of the rejection of his offer because of his race; he narrated also, a number of instances in which he again offered his services, first to the Dental Corps, and then for any medical service. He announced, too, his willingness to comply with any draft order which his draft board might make. Charged by the military authorities with having interfered with registration at the Topaz Relocation Center, at the time residents of the centers were requested to make statements concerning their loyalty and availability for military service, Dr. Ochikubo explained from the witness stand that he was the first from his block to register, and that he urged others to do so also. He told, too, of his activities at Topaz, as chairman of the Community Council there, to have the rights of persons of Japanese ancestry clarified and protected.

Military Reject Clearance
Yamamoto, Shigekawa and Ochikubo were all granted leave clearances by the W.R.A. authorities, after personal hearings; and the W.R.A. thus determined that they were loyal. These decisions by the W.R.A., the military authorities have, however, rejected, and they have issued individual exclusion orders on the ground that these Nisei were a "potential danger to military security."

Witnesses called in behalf of Major General H. C. Pratt, Commander General of the Western Defense Command, against whom an injunction is sought, restraining him from enforcing the military orders were, Brigadier General William H. Wilbur, Chief of Staff of the Western Defense Command, and Rear Admiral Burrell C. Allen, Deputy Commander and Chief of Staff of the Western Seafleet. Each testified that there was still danger on the Pacific Coast from espionage and sabotage, requiring the enforcement of individual exclusion procedure against those whose loyalty was suspected. Both admitted that there was no danger of mass invasion. General Wilbur claimed, however, that the danger of sabotage and espionage has increased as military victories of the United Nations mounted, since the Japanese as a "face-saving" gesture would resort to submarine attack or even commando raids on the Pacific Coast in order to boost morale in Tokyo. General Wilbur admitted, however, that numerous steps had been taken by the Western Defense Command which would indicate the decrease of danger from sabotage and espionage, including the cancellation of the curfew orders, and the rescission of dim-out regulations.

Individual Exclusion

A.C.L.U. attorneys prosecuting the injunction cases against the military authorities, pointed out that the exclusion procedure did not afford an opportunity to the "subject" of an exclusion order to know the evidence relied upon by the military authorities in making the order; that there was no adequate opportunity for the cross-

CO-OP NOTICE

Due to the emphasis on relocation the Co-op is becoming acutely conscious of a grave situation that more and more cooperative members are leaving the project without due process of cancelling their membership or leaving no forwarding addresses. Provided that this neglect on the part of the members is left unchecked, a situation may soon arise wherein the Co-op may have more members residing outside the project than those remaining within, untraceable and minus voting power.

The Co-op Articles of Incorporation provides that: "The corporation may be dissolved by a vote of two thirds of the ENTIRE MEMBERSHIP at any regular or special meeting legally called . . ."

Members who are relocating on indefinite leave are urged to return into the cooperative their Certificate of Membership for cancellation and redemption and receive the $5.00 therefrom.

MEMBERS WHO CANCEL THEIR MEMBERSHIP DUE TO RELOCATION WILL NOT LOSE THE RIGHT TO SHARE IN THE PATRONAGE REFUND DISTRIBUTION AS PRO RATA PURCHASE MADE, NEITHER WILL LOSS OF THE RIGHT TO SHARE IN THE MEMBERSHIP EQUITIES AND IN THE FINAL ACCOUNTING AND DISTRIBUTION OF THE REMAINING ASSETS AFTER LIQUIDATION OF THE COOPERATIVE RESULT.

"Your 100 per cent cooperation in this matter is urgently requested" Yoshio Urakawa, executive secretary, declared.

we were almost going to take back

what we said about the whims of Idaho weather last Sunday. If there was ever a true Spring day, we hold that day to be self-evident. True blue, balmy, with a soft breeze, every block found the residents walking around gulping down the warm promise of better days. The young people set up their P.A.'s and serenaded the surrounding blocks with their "Easter Parade" and "Rum and Coca-Cola's."

But that was before Wednesday, of course, which happens to be the day we're pounding this column out. Today's rain, sleet, hail, snow, blizzard, shine, rain, calm, and then vitamin-pill size hail in respective order makes us suspect that the Weatherman's gender may be feminine.

Last year's diary told us that April 11, 1944, was spent in a snow blizzard. That's why we just took out our Spring clothing, looked at it wistfully, and piled it back again.

after the institute team left

we found that we had a lot of ideas we never had before. Team members say they received just as much of a "lift" meeting us as we did them. Combining the potential leadership that was shown in the gatherings, with Team suggestions and ideas of organizing and keeping a club, Hunt should have a never-ending activities program to keep everybody busy and happy. Hunt thanks the Youth Serving Agencies for their interest in the young people and their realization that youth always needs something to divert their energy into constructive activity.

the "sagedoor canteen" made her maiden bow

Tuesday and nearly 300 teen-agers jammed the club to see the official opening. With the snack booths, play-room, and lounge, it holds promise of becoming a popular gathering place for all teeners, and most important, just "someplace they could go."

The canteen was first just a fond hope. Now it has been realized. Whether it will be run with smooth efficiency, and really contribute to the well-being and clean living of the young people, or whether it will eventually come down the ladder and become a red light, is entirely up to the student body and the governing House Committee.

After definite rules are set up, no smoking, weekly activities, clubs, it will take a lot of cooperation and the right kind of leadership to keep the few hundred highly active teeners smoothly coordinated.

Hunt High School boasts a number of students who are respected and who wield a certain amount of influence. It will be up to them to enforce the rules in such a manner so that students will take heed, and make them feel that it's really their canteen, and it's up to them to keep it from being forcibly closed, if such an unfortunate circumstance should arise.

Leaders of the school like Ray Shild, Edwin Uyeki, Fudge Sakana, Ted Okita, Tom Tsutakawa, Mits Kawachi, Ray Matsushita, Toshie Heyamoto, Ray Mitsudo and others we can't recall at the moment needs to take the lead in erasing the word delinquency from the vocabulary of the project.

Hunt's students are, on the majority, a bunch of idealistic, wholesome, clean, typical youth. The rest of us, teen-agers and above, envy the youngsters, and are glad that they finally have a canteen they needed so badly.

"High Wind" takes the initiative to wish the Sagedoor Canteen all the luck in the world. We'll be watching.

orchids of the week go to those students who pitched in and lent plenty of elbow grease to complete their youth center. They gave up their study periods, came after school, mixed paint and pounded lumber in order to announce the opening date as soon as possible. It's always easy to come in late and offer help when everything is nearly completed. "It sounds good, anyway," somebody let drip. But it takes the ambition and unselfishness to start and dig in from scratch, which is also the basic foundation for a success story. So to them, our heartfelt bouquets.

lemons of the week go to some workers at the various offices of administration who are always discourteous and impolite. Especially our Issei parents, whose English is faltering at best, receive curt and short answers in sharp English when they ask a civil question. The way our offices are moved around and partitioned, forming cubbyholes here and there within a barrack, the ins and outs are confusing enough to the worker. The lemons do not go to all the workers. The helpfulness of some of them are warming. But we consider it a shame if we didn't know enough of the language of our parents to carry on decent everyday patter.

Surely our parents and others not acquainted with the offices deserve a courteous and friendly approach by workers. It would help and certainly add to the happiness of everybody concerned.

the 10,000

Honoring the Group Work Institute Team, the Community Activities sponsored an outing to Shoshone Falls last Saturday afternoon. Enjoying the scenery and refreshments were Guests-of-Honor Masao Satow and Carl Melander, and the USO hostesses.

Extending a cordial invitation to the young people of Blk. 24 and Blk. 34, the Blk. 26 Umbriangles will play host at a social tomorrow evening. Games, refreshments and dancing will accent the evening.

Skating Party

The newly-formed Y-Ettes of Twin Falls, an all-girls club, is sponsoring a skating party on March 22. They have extended an invitation to Hunt young people to attend this affair. Those interested in going to the skating party are requested to obtain further details either at the Community Activities office, 22-11-D, or at the Federated Christian Church, 22-1 CD. The usual charge will be made to those desiring to go.

House Committee To Be Elected For Youth Canteen

With the opening of the Sagedoor Canteen, youth center, the student body of Hunt High School will be voting on a House Committee to act as the governing body of the Canteen, Community Activities reported this week.

The Committee will meet to set up rules, and see that they are enforced to keep the Canteen in smooth running order.

Among comments made by high school students, Ray Shild, senior, quotes, "We've been needing something like this for a long time. It's the best thing that could have happened to us."

"Wimpy" Kawata, junior, makes a comment, "It's okay. I'll come every day as long as I'm financially able."

Ray Matsushita, senior, had this to say: "So far it's okay, I guess! I was surprised to see so many students come."

"All of us are greatly pleased with the enthusiasm shown by the students," Fudge Sakana, senior, said.

A note of pessimism crept into Shoji "Shorty" Kaga's evaluation: "Good idea, but I believe that it'll promote class-cutting."

Reyko Miura, junior, thought that "it's very good."

"Of what I've seen so far it's plenty good. Hope the good work is kept up."

Noting the work that was put into the Canteen, Jack Teuchiya, junior, opined: "For the limited time allowed for the completion of the teen-age canteen, I think it's fine and dandy."

It was emphasized that the center is strictly teen-age.

"Irish Lullaby" Tabbed Tonight

Syncopeation, super refreshments and a swell time are guaranteed to the young people attending the "Irish Lullaby," a dance-of-the-year affair sponsored by the Blk. 7 Active tonight from 7:30 to 12 p. m. in their dining hall.

A decoration feature will be a cleverly built wishing well as the centerpiece in line with the St. Patrick's Day theme. The event is a couples only dance.

All servicemen and their dates are cordially invited.

"Today's Voices" Feature of Meet

With "Today's Voices" as the theme the Area A Candlelighters will hold their weekly meeting in Rec. 6 at 6:30 p. m. Sunday. Under the chairmanship of Shimako Onishi, the Devotional Commission promises a worthwhile evening to all interested youth who wish to attend the meeting.

A speaker has been tentatively scheduled and refreshments and games, and devotional period will round out the evening's activities.

Movie Schedule

"THE MERRY MONAHANS," starring Donald O'Connor, Peggy Ryan, Jack Oakie and Ann Blyth. Twenty songs, both old and new; superb production numbers; Hollywood's finest specialty talent. Add to this the very human story of the Monahans, a plucky vaudeville family who laughed, sang and danced its way to the top of the show world heap. Result: The perfect type of entertainment.

"BUD ABBOT AND LOU COSTELLO IN SOCIETY," with Arthur Treacher, Marion Hutton, Kirby Grant, Thomas Gomez, Ann Gillis, the 3 sisters, Margie, Bea and Geri, and Will Osborne and his Orchestra.

"THE MERRY MONAHANS," Mon., Tues., Wed. "BUD ABBOT AND LOU COSTELLO IN SOCIETY," Thurs., Fri., Sat., 6:30 and 8:30 p. m. Student showings, Fri., 6:30 and 8:30 p. m., Sat., 1 and 3 p. m.

GROUP WORK INSTITUTE WINDS UP 7-DAY CONFAB

Stating that they were "proud of the showing of potential leadership and amazed at the talent" the Minidoka Group Work Institute members left assurance that Hunt will always have plenty of leaders to carry on activities for the rest of the year. Team members Miss Esther Breistein, Miss Elsona DeMots, Walter Whidden, and Carl Melander left the project on Monday and Tuesday, while Masao Satow left Thursday for the Topaz center.

More than 500 to 600 young people met with the Team to discuss plans for future activities, receiving stimulation to carry on their schedules with different ideas and approach, and received assurance of the continuing aid of the Youth Service Agencies in their problems.

Sessions with high school classes and youth groups throughout the center provided the young people with a maximum of sound ideas to carry on their work, giving a "lift" to every club fortunate enough to consult with the Team.

YBA Thanks Team In a letter to the Steering Committee, who engineered the entire 7-day conference, the Young Buddhist Association stated that "our leaders attended your conference and came back with enlightening information and have been inspired and challenged to carry on the work of our organization in a new spirit of leadership."

"Through the means of this letter, we wish to express our heartfelt gratitude for your untiring work in stimulating the activities among the young people here. We know that this expresses the sentiments of all the young people of Minidoka."

Similarly, a letter from Girl Scouts Troop IV thanked the Team for their tireless efforts and stated that the meetings "which the members of our troop attended have given us the courage to still further our knowledge in Girl Scouting, to stimulate the rest of the scouts and to make our programs interesting."

New Leaders Brought to Light

"The conference brought to the surface new leadership that none of us knew existed in the community," J. W. Johnston, CA supervisor, said.

Satow, who received a telephone Thursday from the Poston Relocation Center in Arizona to lead their Institute in the latter part of April, stated that "we all enjoyed our stay here, and hope that we have been able to accomplish something so that the young people will be able to meet any challenge and make any adjustments in the future. It gives us a lift to be able to help them out and there is no doubt that the young folks of Hunt have the 'right stuff' in them, and need only a little encouragement and help."

Conference First of its Kind Since '41; Mits Kawachi Gen. Chairman

With the slogan of "Together we work for a better Christian world," a Young People's Christian Conference will be held from April 2 to April 8 on the project. Said to be the "greatest Youth Movement in Hunt," the conference will be the first of its kind carried on in camp. The last YPCC was held in Seattle in 1941. The conference will be under the leadership of Mits Kawachi with the guidance of the Rev. Tautomu Fukuyama.

USO Sends Easter Cards to Soldiers

Remembering the thousands of servicemen overseas and in training, the USO hostesses have taken on the project of sending 1,000 Easter cards to all the men in the service from this center. This includes the men who were in the Army before evacuation, but whose parents reside here.

Hostesses on duty every night will address the cards. Parent-Soldier Association representatives in every block are asked to be careful in getting the correct addresses of the men from their blocks.

The BENCH WARMER

Says.....

With Minidoka center sports continuing in its seemingly natural sub-par level, it seems ironic to consistently note with envy that every other project is well on its way to a full basketball season. Taking Topaz for an example, we find that two of their top center casaba quintets are representing the Central Utah project at the Salt Lake City basketball tourney. One of the teams is from the high school, while the other is composed of the cream of the basketball talent from the whole center at large. In the rest of the centers, some type of organized tournament or league is going on in full swing for the benefit of the younger set.

To contrast this rather morale-building picture with that within Hunt, well—there just isn't any comparison! It is with regret that we inform you that sports activities haven't improved perceptibly. Perhaps we should just declare Minidoka sports as a "casualty of war" or of relocation.

Returning to the center after a spell on the outside, your guest sports scribe is able to report on some phases of athletics on the college level. While in Ohio, I was able to see the brilliant Hawaiian Nisei aqua star, Keo Nakama, in action. Short in stature, dark as the average mainland Nisei, he possesses an almost effortless swimming style. Captain of the Ohio State swimming team, which incidentally was runner-up in the Big Ten finals this year to Michigan, Nakama is able to participate in almost any free-style event, though he excels in the long distance work. The team on the whole was well-balanced—having an exceptionally strong diving squad.

In so far as basketball was concerned, I was able to see a number of top-notch teams on the small college level. One which stood out in prominence over the other teams I was able to see in action was the Bowling Green University outfit. Winner over the highly-touted Great Lakes Naval Training Station team, Bowling Green has been invited to participate in the Madison Square Garden invitational tournament. Paced by lanky Otten, who stands just a shade under the seven-foot marker, this Ohio university five has rung up an enviable record during its regular season of play. Another stellar performer on the squad is dischargee Wendell Gray who set a new scoring record a season or two back while playing for this same team. His average for this season has been near 20 per game—which is good shooting in anybody's league.

Another team which showed up well in league play was the Akron University Zippers, which boasts the sensational Fritz Nagy, one of the better players in the game today. Last year, he set a record by pumping the twine for more than 23 points per game during a 15 game season. He seemed well on his way to equal that record again this year.

This Akron outfit, incidentally, was the one which was involved in the scandal dealing with the Brooklyn College basketball team. According to the story released, several members of the New York college squad agreed to "throw" the game for three thousand dollars. Especially in cage play in the metropolitan centers, professional gamblers have gone into the game and are betting on point odds. Akron University, because of this offensive publicity, have forbidden their teams to participate further in New York so long as professional promoters line up the games.

Nisei Coaches Deshler To Cage, Gridiron Titles

DESHLER, Neb.—Peter Ida, an American of Japanese ancestry who coached the Deshler High school eleven to the Southern Nebraska Eight Conference championship last fall in football, is continuing to win laurels as athletic director at the Deshler school. Deshler high's basketball team, also coached by Ida, won 17 out of their first 20 games to win the Southern Nebraska Eight Conference championship, and defeated three other high-ranking prep teams to win the Little Blue Tournament.

Ida is now preparing his team for the Nebraska State championship for Class "C" schools. (Deshler is located in Thayer county in southern Nebraska and has a population of 1,300).

The Japanese American coach, who also instructs classes in sociology, biology, American government, American history and world history, came to Nebraska from California. He was appointed athletic director of Deshler high school after attending the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

Last season's Deshler football squad, coached by Ida, was rated as one of the best in the state among schools of its class.

Exclusion Order

examination of witnesses whose testimony was against the subject; and that therefore he was denied "due process of law" as guaranteed by the federal Constitution. Additionally, in the course of the trial, the claim was urged in behalf of the Nisei that the military authorities had no power to issue any military exclusion orders against any person since the courts were open, and since there is no military danger at the present time justifying military action, as distinguished from the usual court procedure.

Appearing in behalf of the Nisei are A.C.L.U. Attorneys A. L. Wirin and J. B. Tietz. General Pratt is represented by the United States Attorney at Los Angeles, Charles H. Carr, as well as by Edward J. Ennis from Washington, D. C., special assistant to the Attorney General.

After the finishing of the taking of testimony, Judge Hall set the case down for oral argument for last Thursday. An early decision from Judge Hall is awaited.

Red Cross

One of the most appealing of the many splendid things about the RED CROSS is that the money we give to it goes for works of mercy. To collect millions of pints of life-saving plasma; to bring precious parcels from home to far away prison camps; to bring food and clothing to helpless victims of a ruthless war—yes, such is the work of the RED CROSS, so LET'S GIVE... GIVE GENEROUSLY, and assist this work, for this is both a privilege and an obligation.
