Induction Ceremonies Slated Here June 21

Pre-Induction Physical Examinations To Be Given to 47 Draftees On Wednesday Afternoon

109 HUNT MEN TO TAKE OATH

For the first time the Army induction ceremonies will be held on the project instead of at Ft. Douglas, Utah, according to Earl Ingham in charge of selective services here. 109 Hunt inductees will be sworn into service by Lieut. B. M. Harrington from Ft. Douglas in an induction ceremonies to be held on Wednesday at 4 p. m. near the flag pole in the

In addition to the 108 names which appeared in last week's issue of the IRRIGATOR, four names were added to the list. The additions to the call are George M. Yoshihara, Kiyoshi Mizuhata, Jim Hajime Akutsu and Etsue Kajiwara. Three names were deleted from the original list.

On the same day as the induc-tion, 47 draftees will take their pre-induction physical examina-tions at the project hospital. The list of those reporting appeared in last week's paper. Under the new procedure, induc-tees and those taking pre-induc-tion physical examinations on June 21 were given chest X-ray examin-ations at the hospital during the past week. Sadayoshi Omoto left for Ft. Douglas on Wednesday to report to Camp Savage, Minnesota.

Reporting for active duty next Monday will be Pvt. Kenjo J. Ka-jikami of 5-4-B who is now in the assignment.

All draftees leaving the center before their induction must turn in their ration books upon their return, the Ration Office announced yesterday. OPA regulations rule that all books must be surrendered.

Rules to Visit Other Centers Released by Fite

Residents planning to visit another center must first apply at the Social Welfare Office in 22-9-A so that this office may contact the other center for approval, according to Miss A. Lidie Fite, senior counselor.

"Reasons for the visit, name and address of the party you plan to visit and the period of trip are the necessary information that are required," stated Miss Fite.

"As soon as the approval is received from the other center you are cleared to visit that center." she added.

New Gate Procedure Now Put Into Effect

Day Pass to be Turned in to Clerk For Blue Badge Before Leaving Center, Rose States

SYSTEM TO SPEED CHECKING

To speed up the checking of persons entering and leaving the center at the main gate, a new gate control procedure was put into effect on Monday, June 12, in conformity with instructions from the Washington office, according to Miss Evelyn Rose, statistician from the Washington office.

Under the new system, any person leaving the center on a shopper's pass, an army inductee's pass, or any other special one-day pass will exchange his pass for a blue badge at the gate clerk's window inside the main gate. This badge will be shown to the military police on duty at the gate by the person leaving the center. Upon his return, he will again show his badge to the military police on duty and return it to the gate clerk inside the gate.

On Remembering Father's Day

If Mother means tender love, Father means a gruff love. If Mother means a hurt finger lovingly bandaged, Father means "Son, men don't cry about a little cut."

And when Father's Day rolls around, we find ourselves giving him a present with a little apprehension, afraid that he may not like it.

If fathers in general are undemonstrative, our issei fathers are even more so. We have all known our dads to be reserved, trained to keep emotions well-masked. We love him with a deep respect, as the beam holding up the home, keeping it close and safe. "Have you ever noted the striking similarity between football and war? The amazing parallel between tactics of quarterbacks and gen-erals has football coaches watching the Big Game with absorbing pro-ressional interest.

"Quarterback Ike Eisenhower and the United Nation Team have the ball facing Hitler's team across the channel. What play will be used first? Will he send his fullback (main invasion army) smashing into center (North France coast) into a straight power buck?

"How about the "I" drawing in the defense with a fake pass into center and then sending the halfback swinging around the flank (Denmark or Norway) on the opponent's right end, Southern France on his left? Or how about Montgomery's touchdown manuever at El Alamein? Coach Clark Shaunghnessy described that brilliant play as a fake to the left, with the fullback (armored division) slicing through the right side of his line, Monty breaking through the Afrika Korps for the historic victory.

"Eisenhower has the greatest aerial combination of all time. It's almost a cinch that the Allied team will vary it's attack via the overhead route dropping air-borne troops it's attack via the overhead route dropping air-borne troops behind the opponent's front line.

"Keep your eye open for the old Dead Man play. The United Nations send a sleeper to the sidelines who play dead. (Gen. Alexander and his Balkan Army). You remember that one—while the opponents are concentrating on stopping a line, the quarterback fades and whips a long one to the suddenly roused sleeper, who gallops goalward on the far flank. Of course the aim of the attacking team is to break through the secondary defense and spring the ball carrier loose on long gainers. The old line cracker, Jumping Joe Stalin has been proving the sound military tactics in the Russian League.

who played in the Army backfield at West Point 30 years ago."

Also "borrowed" from Brougham's column is this little bit on Sports Lingo and the war. "We won the first round" was an expression by Admiral Ramsey of the Royal Navy. One of the most expressive terms of the war was the President's chuckle after the Yanks had moved into North Africa with a "base-on-balls."

Changing the topic from war, the Indianapolis Speedway was quiet this year with the classic 500 mile race being cancelled . . . Profootball is being talked about in Seattle and some of the other West Coast cities . . . According to the Seattle Times, you can put May 26 into the record books as the dizziest day in the sports history of Seattle. It'll be a long while before anything equal to it happens. of Blks. 1-5-8 took the champion-ship with a clean slate of seven victories. In the games played last week the Calmbanettes de-feated the Blk. 2 Suburbanettes, 42-15, and the Blk. 3 girls, 30-20. The Mitsudo sisters, Mary and Alice, paced the champions in scor-ing in both of these games. Other games played last week saw Blk. 17 winning their first game of the season, upsetting the Blk. 15 Gassa Gammas, 23-9 Blk. With basketball in Area B moving out of the sportslight, an all-opponent All-Star quintet was chosen from the ninety odd basketballers according to Duke Tanaka, area official. Chosen on the first five for their brilliant ball-bandling wars two players from Killer Kong. the Blk. 24 Bombadiers, and a player each from the Toppers, Forty K. T.'s and Umbriagos.

George Nakagawa of the cham-pionship Bombardiers was unanimously chosen on the first team as he sparked his team-mates to victory with his sharp playing and his will to win. Another team-mate, Bob Chashi, dangerous shooter on the court with his uncanny shots earned a position on the all-stars.

Last minute press dispatches from Coach Akiyama stated that although it is definite that the Buhl semi-pro team would play Hunt tomorrow afternoon at Center Field, it is not definite whether the Junior American Le-gion pine or the Hunt All-Stars George "Swisher" Kozu, a de-fense player as well as a long shot artist, copped a guard position artist, copped a guard position, representing the Toppers on the team.
