GOING DOWN

For nearly a week Manzanar's population has been under 5000. As of midnight April 24, 1945 the total remaining was 4951 and the trend continues downward.

Once the home of over 10,000 people of Japanese ancestry, these 5700 acres offered temporary quarters for an indefinite period. For some that period has extended for over three years.

Now more than 5000 have gone through the gates and returned to normal lives in normal communities. That they are happier in their new lives is reflected in letters from them and stories appearing in the Free Press.

Notification of the closing of Manzanar not later than January 2 next has increased the interest of center residents in relocation. To assist them in finding good jobs and housing, many organizations are active throughout the nation. Their activity is reflected in the columns of the Relocation Supplement. Of special interest are the selected job offers from the Relocation Office.

These should be read with care for they represent nationwide employment possibilities for Issei and Nisei.

PROOF OF NISEI LOYALTY SHOWN

CHICAGO, April 14-That Americans of Japanese ancestry serving with the Pacific forces Tave proved their loyalty to the that has won the praise of all who have seen them in action is the message of Joe Rosenthal, Associated Press photographer whose photograph of U. S. Marines raising Old Glory on Iwo Jima won nationwide acclaim, brought back with him, accord ing to Charles Gotthard, New York correspondent for the Chicago Tribune.
Rosenthal, whose daring in making the historic picture o the Marines raising the Stars and Stripes at the crater rim o Mount Suribachi after the bloody battle for the island caused Navy that Rosenthal was "as remark as the men who raised the Flag,' told Gotthard:
"There are thousands of Japanese Americans in United States service in all theaters. All of those with whom I came into loyalty $t$ othis country. Often their anxiety is touching, for dang volunteer for all sorts of angerous missions.
"Many have paid with their lives, and many more have been wounded. They have done an outstanding job for the Allied be recognized. It has been recognized by the Marine commanders where I saw them in action at Guam, Peleliu and Iwo," Ros enthal said in the interview.
"Usually they work with headquarters in serving as interpreters. Armed with hand grenades caves, they often convince the enemy to surrender where American officers, lacking the proper diction of the Japanese language, would fail.
"They work so close to the enemy on these missions that along with the danger of being of being shot, unintentionally by of being shot, unintentionally, by our own Marines. From a distance it's hard to tell them from the enemy. Their dungarees soon the enemy. Their dungaress soon and the similarity of their physical, appearance makes their job that much tougher."
Rosenthal said many of the Japanese Americans were in service in Europe and clamored for transfer to the Pacific where, tic and other talents could be put to better use He spid virtual ly all were serving with special units rather than with regular fighting units.
"And they get along fine with the Marines, who are pushing heir way to Tokyo," he added. Rosenthal condemned isolated instances of antagonism toward apanese American fighting men by United States groups. He termed a "crying shame" the action by the Hogd River, Oregon, Amthe names of Japanese Americans from the city's honor roll, a move that also was condemned by the National Legion organization. The names later were restored.

Buy  Co-op Money Orders

Purely Personal  By Sue Kunitomi

One hundred thirty million people of the United States have returned to their complete jobs, heavy in heart and grim in determination to complete the unfinished task of our President Roosevelt. The shock of his death is still with us. It was President Truman's speech that renewed our weakening assurance that this country in its great crisis will carry on.
The night when we heard the sickening news over the radio believe it; we knew it was true and we did not want to believe it

Our correspondent in Rome was awakened by an American soldier a few minutes to midnight and told: "The President is dead. I have been walking the streets because I don't know what to do. Tell me, sir, what are we do. Tel me, sir, what are we the correspondent heard and he too, wondered what he was going to do.

I wish those of you in Mariszanar could have seen the grief and the shock that took place of hope in the eyes of your fellow Americans. I wish that you could lines their faces as they rise alines their faces as they rise above the tragedy to keep on bove the tragedy to keep on that this is the greatest country under the wide blue sky and the best you will know in one lifetime.
What are we going to do? We're, going to move forward. There's a war to be fought and and enforce. The challenge of "Thy Will be Done" must be met. Americans, mindful of the responsibilities and proud of the heritage of a growing nation, will carry on .
