Furlough committee maps program

Last call for Absentee votes

Simultaneously with the block elections last Friday night, voting for the city council's last block elections took place as a notary public from Lone Pine notarized almost a hundred ballots for citizens of Japanese ancestry.

Voters lined up in the offices of the legal aide department, while Dorothy Gilmore Eberhardt from Lone Pine stamped the first batch of ballots. This was the second time that a notary has been used for this purpose.

These voters who missed the last opportunity to have their ballots notarized are requested to come in to the legal aide department before the 25th and ballots must be turned in for the next election.

It was estimated that over 2000 absentee ballots were turned in by voters in various relocation centers by the registrar of voters, Harold J. Donohue, of Los Angeles.

Assembly centers

Send residents

Leaving this center last Friday morning at 4 a.m., there have been no new returns from the assembly center in Montana. Yuki Wakahara of 1-0-1, while Mary Dwight, who lives in Anza, was the last to arrive at the center at 9 a.m.

The two committees who were present, pointed out that the Idaho workers would not have received the pre-arranged call to arrive in Los Angeles as it had been organized when they arrived in Idaho.

Two committees to work on the furlough problems were appointed by the Manzanar Citizens' Federation. Shigo Nishida was named chairman of the committee to work on the WRA rules and regulations, composed of Helen Yasuda, Jessie Tsumaki, Joseph Ito, and Koichi Higashi. The committee will work in cooperation with the re-domicile section of the Manzanar Citizens' Federation.

Sumi Ushimura, chairman, Kuichi Aiso, chairman, and the Citizens' Councils, will work on the re-domicile section of the Manzanar Citizens' Federation.

Ceramics Experts Arrive Soon

Coming to Manzanar from the Wyoming assembly center, as soon as the transportation facilities are available, Mr. and Mrs. Sekiguchi and two other ceramics experts will assist in setting up the ceramic projects when it is given the official approval from the regional WRA office.

Kinoshita, an architect major, studied with Prof. Gen. Lukens at the University of California, will direct the National Youth Administration ceramic project in Los Angeles.

July payments continue

Due to the cooperation of the members of the bank, all the recent payments were made on schedule. Mr. Kurihara, the president of the bank, and Mr. Murakami, the controller, have received their July wages. They are looking forward to receiving their August wages on the 18th.

The meeting is called by Block Leader Harry Shimada and the session is attended by Mr. Kurihara and Mr. Murakami.

Real estate

The real estate business in Manzanar is moving along nicely. As of this week, the sales have increased by 30%.

As for the number of houses sold, the figures are as follows: 5 houses have been sold in the past month.

The housing market in Manzanar is expected to continue to rise in the coming weeks.

Four hundred crowd Furlough meeting

To accelerate the furlough movement of Manzanar residents to a new home, a number of furlough meetings were held on the War Relocation Authority.

Shigo Nishida, recently returned from the west coast, was the principal speaker. He spoke of his past experiences in Idaho and emphasized the importance of following the rules and regulations, not necessary for furlough workers to impress the public, their good behavior.

Approval on the use of air

Residents of the assembly centers before leaving, Koichi Aiso, chairman of the committee, pointed out the Idaho workers would not have received the pre-arranged call to arrive in Los Angeles as it had been organized when they arrived in Idaho.

New patterns

We know that our design for living has changed. No longer do we polish apples in a super-duper vegetable stand. No longer do we run a lawnmower over a moth-eaten lawn and nurse a bed of varicolored sinuas. No longer do we comb our hair and happy to a private haven where a house supper and eager children await us.

We know these things have changed. In dust-swept Manzanar we stand in line three times a day for our meals; we use community showers and latrines. We participate in the many activities of community life.

We know that we must adopt new patterns of thinking to suit our changed environment and conditions. Yet, creatures of habit that we are, how tenaciously we cling to old patterns which we know will not apply here.

The community enterprises system is a good example. It has brought about a significant change in the community cooperative. The consumer cooperative, the best system in communities like ours where there is little money and no capital, can now provide powerful opportunities for self-help and mutual aid.

Since private enterprise is out, the only other alternative is the government operation of the store. In this case the people will not be able to share any of the profit.

It is as plain as day. And yet we still insist on thinking in terms of the past and impatiently reject all new ideas. Because an idea is new does not necessarily mean that it is not good.

It is time that we shifted into high gear and started thinking in terms of our changed conditions. Let us devise new patterns, a new design for living that will suit our new life here.

Latest proclamation

When Lt. General DeWitt with a series of drastic proclamations swept 100,000 Japanese off the Pacific coast, we were taken by surprise. We did not question the "military necessity" of the action.

We said at that time, "only time and history will prove whether or not evacuation was necessary. But the government and the army must prove to us, American citizens of Japanese ancestry, that we were not discriminated against on a basis of race, that our sacred citizenship rights will be returned to us intact."

A partial answer to the charge of racial discrimination was provided in DeWitt's latest order which empowered the army to remove any dangerous person, alien or citizen regardless of nationality or race, once they are established as being dangerous to national defense. They are to be moved inland and resettled by the War Relocation Authority.

It must be pointed out that in this order, differentiation is made on the basis of loyalty and individual's danger to defense, whereas the Japanese were not given this opportunity of individual hearing. Nonetheless, it is one step towards reviving the nisei's shaken faith.

THE ADVENTURES OF HERN

Now when Hern was a long time put he grew settled to such a way of living that he was always out in the wilderness, in a glanny smug. The tail youth with a grizzly face and a pair of glittering sword, and made in the society that he had, Hern was always on the fly, and out in adventure.

"By the center of my painted palatial great-green-grand, father's gate, there came a man, who has known illustrious deeds at home. He's a real, and beautiful in middle existence.

Hern's face was covered with a beard, and he was wearing a headcloth. He had on the words out of his mouth when a yellowish puff of smoke blew upon the title of the book and reached out uttering this:

"By proclamation it is decreed that you be put away for your own good for a period of an infinite time!"

And with clashing sounds of voices and shouting, Hern was transported with darkness into the two mountain ranges. Observers, looking through the glasses, saw tatarian huts, designed with the sub-inhabitation to eliminate space in which to put gruesome

NEWS IN BRIEF

Meet the 'Half Shots'

Manzanar’s unique band, the "Half Shots" composed of three colorful characters, Joe Sakai, George Ishihara and Saburo Kitahara make their bid for fame by announcing that they are open for all engagements.

Joe Sakai, who plays the gitter, Dad Sakai, a member of the famous Blitmore Hash Club, is a very effective front man for the group. George Ishihara, banjo player, belonged to the Orchipe Tennis Club, and Saburo Kitahara, guitarist, has performed for many hash clubs, such as the Snoopers and Angels. An original song, "Manzanar," is composed and written by the trio.

Legal records

With a staff of 25 members working in two shifts, the records office is doing an excellent job in making up its work, making 3 copies of the legal record of each resident of Manzanar.

Two will be sent to the regional office in San Francisco, while the other will be kept on file here, announcing Key Kingyna, director. Work has been completed up to block 11, while new arrivals are being interviewed by Eiichi Uchida. On each card, an entry code of occupational labelling is being placed.
