PRESIDENT SIGNS ITIZENSHIP | AW

Legislation to withdraw the citizenship of Japanese born in this country whose loyalty to the enemy marks them as Selma, California, was Japanese nationals was killed in action on the signed by President Roosevelt on July 3, according to an A.P. report.

Francis Biddle, attorney general, said the law was needed to deal with the problem of 300 to 1000 Japanese at the Tule Lake relocation center, . who he said, "assert their loyalty to the Emperor of Japan and their desire to renounce their United States citizenship and to be recognized as Japanese nationals."

By making it possible for this group to abendon American citizenship, Biddle told Congress, "They could thereupon be dealt with a s alien enemies under the applicab lo statutes."

RETURNALLOWED AFTER INDUCTION

Evacuees on seasonal leave who have received army induction notices will te released from WFA contracts and allowed to return to the center on prosentation of induction notice by the evacuoe or telegraph notification from the project director.

U.C. PRESIDENT URGES IOLERANCE

Warning against hysteria dealing with Japanese Americans now and after the war, Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California, last wook pleaded for a "sensible" approach to the problem before the Pacific Coast Committee on Americon Principles and Pair Play, reported the L.A. Times.

Tho committee, formed. 18 months ago in San Francisco and of which Dr. Sproul is honorary chairman, wholeheartedly e ndorses President Roosevelt's policy of reloca-tion of Japanese evacuated from coastal areas after Poerl Harbor.

Said Sproul, "The committee holps the public to discriminate sharply botween our enemies in Japan, the military crimiBATTLEFRONT his father, Choemon Araki of 27-7-D, Monday.

The terse War Department notice announces the first Gilan to be killed in action in any war front.

Young Araki, '41 graduato of Selma High School, joined the first group of volunteers that left Rivers on May 24, 1943. After receiving his training at Camp Shelby, he volunteered for active duty, fighting with the 442nd infantry.

While in Canal camp he set marks for weight-lifting in the continental clean, jork 230, and two hand snotch 160.

Besides his father, he is survived by his mother, two sisters, and four brothers, all of whom are residing in Canal camp. Foir men from the Conal Council, one representative from block 27, and the Servicemen's Association will take care of funcral arrangements. The date is undocided as yet.

WAR VETERAN VISITS DERIVER

Pfc. Thomas Higa, 27year-old Japansse American war veteran wounded a t Cassino in the Italian campaign, is in Denver to tell other Japanese about the wonderful treatment the United States gives members of his race. GOOD TREATMENT

"And I mean wonderful." said Private Higa, who was the smallest men in tho famous 100th Battalion, which distinguished itself in the fighting at Salerno and later at Cassino. The battalion, virtually all of whose members were Japanese Americans born in Hawaii, is still fighting in Italy.

"It was wonderful to be troated just like everyone else, even though your parents were born in Japan," added Frivate Higa. "Over there no one cares what your ancostry is. The only question is, can you fight? And my battalion fights like hell."

Private Higa is five feet, one and one-half inches tall -- or short.

"But in a battle," he smiled, "It's pretty good to be small--you don't make such a good target." AT PEARL HARBOR

Higa was inducted into the United States ermy in Juno, 1941, and was stationed at Schofield Barracks, Honolulu, the day Poarl Harbor was attacked. He declined to talk about his Poarl Harbor exporiences, for military reasons. Six months after this country entered the war he was sent to Camp McCoy, Wisconsin, thence to Camp Shelby, Miss. Ho went overseas in August, 1943, landing at Oran, Algeria, and going directly from there to Salerno.

He hopes to return soon to a fighting front, and he doesn't care where it might bo.

Askod if he'd like to fight in the Pacific, he replied: "Sure, I like to fight the enemy no matter where he is. I'm an American, see, and I want to get this war over as soon as possible."

OFF DEATH

War this week struck closer to Rivers than it has ever done before with the announcement that one of its boys was killed in Italy while fighting with the 442nd combat team.

What has been a foreboding ever since Gila's boys first began volunteering for the army early last year has come to pass. This announcement will no doubt be only the first of many similar notices, for it is more than probable that as Gila's service list grows, it will take its share in the form of wounds suffered and suprame sacrifices given.

Death of one whom we know back home as a neighbor, or as that boy who used to pole vault for our high school, is hard to accept. With every war casualty announcement some family and friends somewhere in the nation suffer personal grief. This is one of the results of war that cannot be helped.

But what we can help is to make sure that our soldiers do not fight and die in vain. They have gone forth from our community to gamble their individual futures for big stakes, the future of all Japanese Americans in this country. However much we would like to treat ourselves like any other American , we cannot help feeling especially sorry for the nisei soldier who loft his family confined in a relocation center to die for his and his people's right to live unconfined anywhere in the country. It is ironical to know that while the nisei was giving his life so that all people might live freely, his parents and others like them were still being excluded from their home states and homo towns.

Dying is a wartime sacrifice that all Americans must be prepared to face. That cannot be helped. But what can be helped is that the rest of us must see to it that those who secrificed -- did not do so in vain-For if after all this, nisei and their parents are not given all the privileges of citizenship, including the right to live anywhere in the United States and freedom from all discriminations because of race, then the boys who gave their youth for the ideals that America has promised will have died in vain.
