EVACUEE PROPERTY

What about the sale of real estate? What information must the evacuee give the Property Office in order to get speedy action?

Full information concerning the property should always be provided by the evacuee. He must supply the exact geographical location as well as a local description of the property involved, should state by whom the title is held and whether the owner is single or married. If the property is jointly owned by several persons, he must supply authorization for the sale from all of them.

The evacuee should supply full information about the amount of annual taxes of various sorts levied against the property, the amount and type of mortgage and the terms of the mortgage; the balance due on any type of lien or other encumbrance involving the property in question and the status of the title and whether or not a title insurance policy is held by the owner. The evacuee should also state whether fire or other types of insurance are carried and give full particulars including the name of the company, the amount and the expiration date.

Plan Pins For Service In USO

All girls 18 years and over are asked to attend a meeting to be held Wednesday evening at 7:15. Its purpose is to make plans for the girls to work for their USO service pins.

The meeting will be followed by a social at 8. All servicemen are invited.

Most real estate sales are normally made through licensed real estate brokers, of course, and the brokers are entitled to a commission on sales. While the customary fee is 5 percent, the amount of the commission may vary in certain communities or localities.

Because of the Alien Land Law, title companies require a birth certificate from the owner if he is of Japanese ancestry and so each evacuee must supply one with his request for sale of real estate.

If the evacuee has a birth certificate, he should file the original or a certified copy with the request for sale. An evacuee who has no birth certificate can write for one to the recorder of the county in which he was born. The usual fee charged by the county is $1.00 if the evacuee wishes the Property Office to get a certificate for him, he should give the Property Office his date of birth, the name of the city and county in which he was born and the necessary fee.

Once OVERS by BEAN TAKEDA

Before the Auditorium was built, there was much anticipation over the many uses that would be made of the all... After several months of only moderate usage, however, I'm beginning to wonder why the structure was built at all.

Certainly, the limited use that we've made of the Aud does not justify its construction. It's a crime that such a fine hall should be "reserved" only for special occasions.

The high school students had hoped that they could use it as a gym. But the powers-that-be ruled it out. The excuse they gave, it seems, was that it would dirty the place.

If that is the reason, it's the most ridiculous thing I've ever heard. What if it does dirty the hall? Are we going to preserve it as a museum piece?

Let's open up the place to the students for use as a gym. And to the community as a whole, too. Let's put in a basketball court. And let's make the best possible use of the building while we're here.

Don't know who the members of the "auditorium committee" are. But if I've trod on their toes, it's about time someone did.

Some of the appointed personnel workers went off on a deer hunt last week. After the local nimrods had gotten in their best shots, Agricultural Chief W. Ballard was the only one to bag one. And some of the men had several pretty fair shots at the scampering bucks. If they can't shoot any better than that, it's a good thing for us that they aren't in the Army.

Rumors are never welcome. But they were never more unwelcome than last week, when the talk flew around camp that "more than 30" casualty notices had come in over the weekend. Actually, five had been reported, which was bad enough.

grid to title company charges for the search. In all cases the seller pays for the recording of the release of a lien. It is also customary for taxes, insurance and rentals to be paid as of the date of sale of property.

If the property to be sold has been leased, a copy of the existing lease should be provided to the Property Office. If one is not available, the evacuee should supply information about the lease, including the name of the tenant, period of the lease, rate of rental, whether there are any special conditions and whether there is a cancellation clause in the lease.

Complete and accurate descriptions of personal property to be sold, such as refrigerators, sewing machines, furniture, etc., must be given to the Property Office so that there will be no errors or misunderstandings. The evacuee should supply the location and name of the custodian of such property as well as information about storage charges and how they are to be paid. If the property to be sold is not completely paid for, the evacuee must inform the property office the amount owed and the name of the firm to which it is owed.

It is desirable that the evacuee place a reasonable price on the articles to be sold, or he may request that bids be obtained. If either event no sale will be made without specific authorization of the property owner.
