

CHINESE DELEGATES ON CENTER VISIT

R. K. Cheng, Chi Kuo, P. C. Sun and E. C. Yang, members of a delegation of 35 Chinese in the United States studying conditions arising from the war, arrived in the Center Thursday evening as scheduled.

Rohwer is only one of the numerous places they have visited and will visit. For example, Mr. Ching, studying city, county and state welfare setups, has already visited the cities of New York and Chicago. State setups looked over are those of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland and Illinois.

Three of the four men are interested in social welfare work while one is studying rationing.

They are planning to leave Sunday afternoon for Baton Rouge, La.

Teen-Age Canteen Open

The long heralded and awaited Teen-Age Canteen catering to the spare moments of Junior and Senior high schoolers from 13 to 19 years of age will open its doors tomorrow at 7 p.m. in PS hall 19.

Two-thirds of the hall has been partitioned into three sections to serve as rooms for reading, recreation (dancing, games and refreshments dispensed at a snack bar), and a check room where membership cards must be shown for admittance. The hall was prepared by the Squires under Fred Oshima.

Contributions have been received from the Center as well as outside groups for its creation.

Senior high school students will have the hall on Monday, Wednesday and Fridays; Junior high school

NISEI ALSO SERVE IN S. PACIFIC AREA

WRA EMPLOYS NISEI VETERAN

Sgt. Ken Nishimoto, 31, a voluntary evacuee and the first war veteran to be re-employed by the War Relocation officer in WRA's district relocation office in Washington, D.C., it has been announced by Leo T. Simmons, acting relocation supervisor for the Middle Atlantic Area.

Holder of the Purple Heart and Combat Infantryman Badge, which he won in action in Italy last year with the 442nd Combat Team, Nishimoto was recently honorably discharged from the US Army after being treated for several months in Walter Reed General Hospital, Washington, D.C.

Prior to enlisting in the army, Nishimoto was employed in WRA offices at San Francisco, Minidoka, and Washington, D.C. In his new position, according to Mr. Simmons, he will assist Emory East, relocation officer in charge of the WRA district office in the Nation's capital, principally in aiding evacuee families to work out their relocation plans.

Nishimoto lives with his wife, the former Egan, and their two children, Margaret, 2 1/2 years, and David, five months, at 111 Carroll Avenue, Takoma Park, Md.

One of the citations built around Japanese-American soldiers in World War II is that they see service only in the European theater and are not fighting enemy Japanese.

However, a summary of reports from the South Pacific reveals that not only are Nisei fighting the land of their ancestors but are receiving citations for exceptional acts of bravery, according to R. B. Cozzens, Assistant Director of the War Relocation Authority.

The exact number of Americans of Japanese ancestry who are making contributions of life and limb to their native United States is a military matter, said Cozzens, as their assignments are many times of the most dangerous nature.

His news came simultaneously with the return of First Lt. Gary Kadani to the Gila Center on a visit. Kadani received the Presidential Unit Badge and his commission as a direct citation for valor and meritorious services in the New Guinea area where he served 31 months. He formerly lived in Hollister.

Sgt. Albert Y. Tamura, formerly of Bakersfield, sent to Australia in 1942, participated in the Solomons, Hollandia and Biak Island beach landings as an infantryman. He won the Presidential Unit Badge. He recently visited relatives at Poston.

Another Japanese American who has returned from the South Pacific is 1st Lt. Shigeo Yasutaka. He has served two years in the Solomons, on Russell Island, in the Munda campaign on New Georgia and on Guadalcanal, New Caledonia and Vella Lavella in the Bougainville sector.

P.S. If the girls take offense at this, I'm only kidding. Any resemblance to girls living or dead is purely coincidental.

Two evacuee women, shopping at Kroger's in McGehee, talking loudly in Japanese. If they must speak Nihongo in public, you would think that they'd have enough sense to converse softly. Two on the aisle, "Going My Way," which plays here next week is the best picture I saw last year. Bing Crosby gives one of the best performances of his long career, but it's Barry Fitzgerald who walks off with the top acting laurels.

Writes a reader: "Your campaign to have the local males grow beards leaves the feminine populace lukewarm, to say the least. We girls are dead set against it. We warn you that if the men quit shaving, the women of the Center will retaliate by going without lipstick, rouge, or makeup of any kind. Just imagine what a ghastly thing that would be."

San Francisco scene: A Nisei walked into a classy cocktail bar and ordered a martini. While waiting for his drink, he noticed a customer nearby eyeing him curiously. The Caucasian then turned to his companion, whispered something to him, and both of them have asked us to send them larger quantities of the Bulletin so as to permit centerwide distribution. Regrettably, we have had to deny such requests. In order to get the Bulletin to you speedily, we have been using airmail (for points west of the Mississippi) and that virtually precludes the shipment of any sizeable quantities to any one point. Furthermore, if we start running off a big supply here, it will slow down the job of duplication and distribution. So we are asking the centers and field offices to duplicate the Bulletin locally if they need more copies than we are currently supplying?

EVAQUEE BULLETIN ISSUED BY LODI H.S.

Lodi Union High School has issued to the faculty a special bulletin concerning the treatment of returning evacuees and has requested that it be read to all students.

The following paragraphs were taken from the bulletin:

1. Evacuation of the Japanese was for military necessity and not proof of disloyalty. Returning Japanese students who have been declared loyal Americans by the FBI and permitted to return by the Army must be guaranteed the integrity of the the Bill of Rights of the Constitution of the United States as it applies to students. One of the student's right is that he feels a sense of belonging to the school.

2. Hazing or any other treatment of students which degrades or tends to degrade them is illegal and must be prevented by school officials who are obligated to enforce the law without reference to race, color or creed.

NISHIMOTO ENTERED SERVICE IN 1943

(Continued from page 1) Mr. and Mrs. Nishimoto were both born in Stockton, Calif., and were graduated from the Stockton public schools.

Nishimoto was graduated in 1935 from the University of California at Berkeley, where he majored in political science, and then did graduate work at the College of the Pacific, where his wife also studied. For four years he did truck farming at Manteca and French Camp, Calif. He was then employed by the California State Relief Administration at Stockton, 1939-40; by the State Department of Employment at San Francisco, 1941; and by the U.S. Employment Service at San Francisco, 1942. In July 1942 he was detailed to the WRA office at San Francisco and in August became a member of the WRA staff at Minidoka. He was transferred in October 1942 to the WRA headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Nishimoto volunteered for army service in April 1943 and trained with the 442nd Combat Team at Camp Shelby, Miss. He went overseas in May 1944 and was in the "One-Arno" campaign until wounded on July 4, 1944. He arrived at Walter Reed General Hospital on Sept. 21 was discharged on Feb. 10.

His mother, Mrs. T. Nishimoto, is now living at Rohwer, where his father died in 1943. He has two brothers, John, who is a private in France with the 442nd Combat Team and who worked in a Detroit plant until his induction; and Teruo, who relocated to Chicago from Rohwer in 1943.

turned and looked at the Nisei long and hard. The latter, by now feeling a bit uneasy, quaffed his martini, paid the bartender, and started to walk out. But the Caucasian hurried over and intercepted him. "Are you a Nisei?" Told that he was, the man replied: "That's swell. I thought you were. Come on over and have a drink with us."

The deeds of the 100th Battalion are many, and it's well known that its men have been awarded over a thousand Purple Hearts and the Presidential Distinguished Unit Citation. But it's not so well known that the Battalion members have also won 21 Distinguished Service Crosses, six Legion of Merits, 73 Silver Stars, seven Soldier's Medals, 96 Bronze Stars, 16 Division Citations, and two special awards from the Italian government.

Dr. Linus Pauling, chemistry professor at the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena, hired a Nisei gardner who was waiting his army call. One morning Dr. Pauling awoke to find a Japanese flag painted on his garage door, along with the following words: "Japs work here. Americans die, but Camp Vignette: A Nisei girl, 17 years old and full of life, wishes to remain in this country, but her parents plan to return to Japan after the war. The parents have pleaded with her and adjolod her, to no avail. She remains firm. So her parents will not speak to her any more. She is being ostracized in her own home. It was a tough decision for a girl her age to make. But she is facing the issue squarely and uncompromisingly. That takes courage.

Others who hold the Bronze Stars are: T/Sgt Jimmie N. Yamaguchi, who served with Merrill's Marauders; T/5 Michio Sakamoto, South Pacific; Sgt. Katsushiro Kono, a veteran of jungle warfare in the China-Burma-India theater.

T/Sgt. Terry Mizutani, killed while commanding a group of men during a Japanese counter-attack, was posthumously awarded the Silver Star, the Purple Heart and a citation from his commanding general.

Sgt. Roy Takai is serving in India with the British troops.
