

Award Assembly Next Tues.

The projects award assembly will be held on Tues. May 8, on the campus under the flag. Ida Arimura, chairman of this assembly's committee, will be M.C. and a flag will be presented by Mr. A. G. Thompson, Project director to the project that has won over all the homerooms projects. Mr. Wm. Beasley will award the $10 to the winning homeroom in each class.

SENIORS... take Over

Senior A Day will be observed today in all classes that have Senior A members.

This day is set aside annually to give graduating Seniors special privileges, namely that of taking over any of their classes.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD

Miss Ellen Morrow, former Latin teacher died Tues. April 24, at St. Vincent Hospital, Little Rock. She is survived by a brother, Hugh Morrow of DeValls Bluff and two sisters, Mrs. J. S. Coleman of Little Rock, and Miss Lillian Morrow who is Statistician in the administration of Rohwer. Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian Church, DeValls Bluff, and the burial in DeValls Bluff Cemetery by Bailey funeral home, Lonoke.

KNIGHTS TO PRESENT "GUY NAMED JOE"

"A Guy Named Joe" will be the M.G.M. popular movie to be shown at the auditorium by the Knights on May 11 and 12 for the benefit of the Senior Resume. Details have been taken care of by Knights and their sponsor, Mr. George S. Kaneko. It is hoped that a minimum of $250 can be raised since the Co-op has consented to turn over all proceeds.

JR. ACTIVITIES PROGRESS

The Junior Prom scheduled for May 12 promises to be a gala affair. The cabinet including Fred Oshima, Hiro Tashiro, Amy Sasaki, and the representatives of each home room are in charge.

A picnic has also been planned for Saturday, May 5. Arrangements have been made by Bob Wada and Michiko Miyake. The picnic site was explored and selected by the cabinet some time ago. A variety of games have been planned among which are: volleyball, baseball, horsehoe, checkers, cards, and swimming. "Eats galore" are promised.

Speakers Chosen

Ruth Hiroso, Mas Kawanishi, Yoshikazu Sakakura, and Yuri Yaguchi were chosen almost unanimously as sponsors for the Commencement

The picture is an unusual and exciting fantasy of a pilot whose death marks the beginning rather than the end of his career. Spencer Tracy, Van Johnson and Irene Dunne are the stars.

SENIOR B's Offer Advice

The 12B-1's distributed a number of pamphlets entitled "Behave Yourself" to the graduating Seniors on May 4 as a climax to their project. The pamphlets were planned and designed by a committee under Sumiye Nerio. They regret that the whole student body cannot have one because of the paper shortage. The Commencement by the Senior Homerooms and confirmed by the Senior Commencement Committee.

TEMPUS FUGIT

Seniors, the motto of the United States Coast Guards is: "Semper Paratus".....in our language, "Always Prepared", "So what?" you say. "What has it got to do with us?" Plenty! Those of you who are planning to seek higher education (am I kidding) should start looking for colleges that will accept you....that is, the ones that will not discriminate against you because of your physiognomy (buck tooth and gorguous, lemon-colored complexions). After all, for those of you who want to go into jobs requiring specialized training a college education is necessary. Also, student life, as a whole, is very pleasant, and many a life time friendship will spring up from it.

The colleges are already beginning to squoze down on the lists of students applying for fall entry, so you'd better get busy. Mrs. Ramsdell won't be available after June. A word to the wise!

assembly

The Tri-Y's are sponsoring an assembly on May 9, based on "May Day". Jane Asawa heads the assembly committee. All members will participate in the program.

VOX POP

Dear Students,
 We don't know how to put on paper the way we feel about some of Rohwer's students' decided show of unpatriotism. Perhaps you think it's cute--we don't! It's the custom, in this country, to rise when the "Star Spangled Banner" is being played. It also shows lack of good manners, as well as unpatriotism, to make "bright" remarks, giggle, and whisper when giving the Pledge of Allegiance. We are going to be the minority group when we relocate, and you're not going to win friends by cheering the Rising Sun when it is shown on the screen, or anywhere else. We hope the guilty ones not and apply this.

Displaced Students

WANTED

Bob "Hisaji" Wada finally gave the girls a break? He's going to the Junior Prom which is as you know,

-----cccccccccccccccccccc

Ruby Matsuhira is at it again? This time it's two-timing.

Mari and Manabu are hmmmmmm? Mari and Manabu, sounds good, eh?

Yasuko had a number of visitors at the hospital? Among them were Fred M. and Shozo W.

Honestly, it's beautiful now. We came through the Sierras before dawn and gradually all the countryside was bathed in sunlight. The grass and trees were a fresh, new green. Patches of lupines and poppies were stream-like scatterrugs along the tracks... Berkeley has a nice, soothing atmosphere but happy as I am to be back my joy is offset more than a little by the distance I've put between my family and my friends and myself."

DON'T MISS THIS!

Senior A. boys, attention! The Senior Prom is only 3 weeks away---need we say more? But to all the "slow-Joes" who insist on putting things off til' the last minute, let me give them this bit of advice. The prom is the last formal get-together in our Senior activities----and for some the last in our camp life. Such being the case, don't you think it's worth a little fore-thought ----and a little effort? Attention, Senior Girls!! It has always been the privilege for the girls of the graduating class to ask the fellows and we hope to see this custom being carried out for the last prom to take place in Rohwer Hi. It's foolish to think that you have to be positively swooney about the "other half"---that you have to be going steady.

On the other hand, it does not mean the boys have to wait to be asked---shed off your cloth of timidity and be a man! The girls will admire you for it and doubly so if you're thoughtful enough to ask her beforehand. To boys a sports formal affair may mean just the dusting of your favorite tie, but to girls it means much more.

Seriously though, it's OUR prom, after all, and it will soon be among the "sweet memories" of our Hi school days.

OVERSEAS

From A.P.O. Italy, Pvt. Eddie Wakimoto pens--"We are fighting now, imagine. Received your letter on the front and I have time now to write so thought I'd drop you a line before the going gets tough again. Thanks ever so much for the Hi-Lites, was very interesting and got a kick out of it...Oh! I forgot to mention that we are now in Italy fighting...Fred Kurata, Floyd Ouye and Joe Koga are in good health... give my regards to all.

TENNESSEE

Ken Osaki, a former 12B, who is now at Madison College, Tennessee, writes to his fellow students: "....."arrived at Madison College April 9, about 9:00 PM and started to work the next afternoon. I work about 8 or 9 hrs. a day and at morning and night I attend classes, so there is no time for fooling like I used to do in camp. So boys! have your fun now and "cup-up" while you can....Some you guys that have time drop me a line, huh? Sure will be glad to hear from "yo-all".

WEST

Helen Horikiri wrote from Overton, Nevada to Miss Palmer: "....give my regards (to the Home Ec. per. please.....sure miss that class.

8 BALLS AND BLUE BABES TIED 1-1

Last week-end the girls' basketball playoff got under way with the Blue Babes defeating the Lil' 8 Balls 8-5...4. Playing for an even break in the second game the Lil' 8 Balls won an overtime match 31-26 entitling them to play the final playoff game.

The first game which took place last Friday night saw the deadly trio of Ito, Tsuji, and Arimura pacing the victory. The Lil' 8 Balls had one bad night with bad shots and passes poppin' up everywhere. This game put the Blue Babes ahead 1-0 in the playoff in which one team needs two victories to cop the championship.

Undoubtedly the game of the year for the girls' basketball season was the overtime tilt between the Blue Babes and the Lil' 8 Balls with the latter surviving as victors. The first half it was a nip and tuck battle with the 8 Ballers leading by a slight margin of three points. Scoring for the Lil' 8 Balls was Chico "Clown" Watanabe who made astounding shots during the furious first half.

Starting the second half the game turned out to be a slam bang affair with each team scoring frequently. Going into the final quarter the Blue Babes finally caught and surpassed the 8 Balls until the final seconds when out of a story book Marsha "Cinderella Kid!"

1945 SENSATION

This is a correction or revision of the "Hon-pocked Rooster club" whose names appeared in the last issue.

Since many of the members have dropped out, (because of the fact that they have proven themselves not honpocked) new officers have been elected. They are as follows:

Advisor...George Takahashi
Pros....."Logs" Takahashi
Vice-Pros.."Noise" Takahashi
Sec-Treas.."Ears" Takahashi

This club is very active in many ways; daydreaming, being one of the major subjects most worked upon. Oh! The visions of Blk. 2!

Hagio tied the ball game up with a beautiful one-hand push shot as the game whistle blow.

The overtime was all Lil' 8 Balls, who scored immediately and froze the ball. Only once did the Blue Babes show signs of brilliance and that was when S.Tsuji tallied for the Babes.

Close guarding by Shigo Hagio and Michiko Oga kept the stellar performers of the Babes throttled. Spectators were divided for both teams according to the screaming and yelling...Notice the 8 Balls cheering section?--Hagio clan..Watch the Pacers drool as last week's game was played?--no wonder! ...Fujimure lookin' sharp in her Tiny Boø uniform... that's all.
