RELOCATION ADVANTAGEOUS

. Through Project Director L. B. Whitaker, WRA Director Dillon S. Myer has sent the following letter to the Relocation Planning Commission of the Jerome Relocation Center regarding "Relocation as Affecting Return of Japanese Americans to the West Coast:"

Centlemen:

The statement is often made by evacuees that return to the West Coast Area would be easier and quicker for them if they remain in Relocation Centers.

what must be recognized by all as an exceedingly difficult, subject on which to make any predictions.

this much we can be certain, that no advantage can result from continued Center residence, when such return becomes possible.

The advantage of making every possible effort to resettle now, and thus establish a place for Japanese Americans in the life of normal American communities, in terms of the contribution that they can and should make, will, in turn, make for a more likely acceptance by the people of the lest Coast later:

DAY.

Refusal to accept a share of the responsibilities and possible hardships of such community life during wartime, and insistence on remaining in the secluded atmosphere of the Centers, while there is need and demand for just those skills and services that' Center residents can supply, e easier and quicker for them if they will, in the public mind, certainly not main in Relocation Centers.

Semain in Relocat THEY DO NOT LOSE THEIR LEGAL RESIDENCE

You can be assured that Center residents do not lose their legal residence in the States from which they were evacuated merely because they relocate.

If they intender hope to return to their former homes (when military restrictions are lifted, they, should maintain their voting privileges in those States by complying with the provisions of the States laws governing registration and absentee voting.

FOLLOW THE GRAIN, E PLURIBUS UNUM

In planing a piece of wood or polishing a piece of stone, application of the principle, "Follow the Grain," is essential. This principle may also be applied to the present global warfare.

To date the many battles of the current planetary war, it appears, have been latitudinal-east of the Suez in the Indian Ocean and Pacific Ocean and west of Suez in the Meditorranean Sea and Atlantic Ocean.

Latitudinal battles have been fought between Paris and Stalingrad and the vicinity of Moscow on the European continent, between Casablanca and El Alamein on the northern fringe of Africa and between Midway and Akyab, Burma, in the Pacific and Southeast Asia.

This latitudinal warfare may continue for some time as witnessed the westward push in Europe from Stalingrad and Moscow to the Dneister and Vistula rivers and the westward drive in the Pacific from Hawaii to the Caroline Islands.

As the war, however, enters the climax stage and as the foes shorten their lines of defenso more and more, indications are that battles will be fought longitudinally.

Successful defense of Moscow and Stalingrad may be attributed, in part, to the latitudinal eastwist manpower supply line-reinforcements from the Soviet Far Eastern Army in Siberia via the trans-Siberian railway.

It may also be ascribed to the longitudinal north-south materiel supply line from Murmensk to Moscow and to the longitudinal south-north communication line from Bandar Shapir to Stalingrad via the Teheran railway and Caspian Sea, carrying "Made in the U.S.A." lend-lease planes, tanks, guns, gasoline and other war supplies.

The successful comeback counter-offensive of the British army from El Alamein to Tunis, too, owes, in part, to the longitudinal supply line from the United States via the Indian Ocean and Red Sea and the Cape-to-Cairo road.

Germany, it seems, is more vulnerable longitudinally than latitudinally.

Latitudinally, she is protected by the Maginot Line, Albert Line, Siegfried Line, Westwall and the Atlantic Wall in the west and the Vistula Line in the east.

Longitudinally, she has the Po River Line in the south and a doubtful line in Norway in the north.

Germany appears to be better prepared against east-west latitudinal pincer or cross-cut sawing attacks than against north-south longitudinal nutcracker or rip sawing "follow the grain" invasions from Norway and the Baltic Sea in the north and from the Adriatic Sea and Danube River in the south.

The United Nations have already launched their longitudinal attack from the south via Tunisia, Sicily and southern Italy in the European theater and from the south by way of the Solomons and from the north via the Aleutians in the Pacific zone of operations.

All Nisei Should Become Part of Homogeneous Pot

Speaking to the Youth Fellowship last Sunday evening at 20-11-D, Rev. Shunji Nishibayashi of Cleveland, Ohio stressed the necessity of the Nisei to become a part of the community in which they live. "The are," he said,

"part of a homogeneous pot which is nat finished. We have a responsibility of becoming a part of it -- not just the slag.

"Nisei like to draw into their own shells. The people on the outside are more than willing to wolcome the Misei into their homes and churches. We should do our part in accepting their invitation."

In his sermon on "Paul's Guide Post" Sunday morning at the English Morning Worship service in Hall 33, Dr. Joseph assistant project director in charge of community management, emphasized that the Misei should not be ashamed.

Patriotism a la Real Deads

Accounts of the patriotism of the members of the 100th Infantry Battalien, expressed in deeds, are numerous. They are presently fighting on the Italian front.

Here is an abbreviated story of a courageous rescue of a U.S. Army major by a Nisei sergeant as told by Associated Pross! War Correspondent Lynn Heinzerling:

"The major was lying in the rain on a rocky hillside between Cassine and the Abbey of Monte Cassine.

"Everyone knew he was badly hurt, but the nearest man to him had to cross 18 yards of open ground in the face of Gorman snipers and a German tank which was on the road to the abbev.

"The nearest men happened to be Sgt. Gary Hisaoka, an American of Japanese descent from Hilo, Hawaii, who came into the army directly from the University of Hawaii."

Sgt. Fisacka dug a shallow tronch about eight yards long (waste time), suddenly threw down his shovel, crouched down, slid out to the end of his trench, then sprinted across the intervening 10 yards.

"Major," the sergeant said, "I'm going to have to drag you in."

"That's all right, boy," the major replied, "get me back any old way."

"Hisaoka then grabbed the major by the arms and dragged him across the open space to the trench and say him placed on a litter. The major is going to be all right after a spell in the hospital. Hisaoka is all right, too."

NISEI IN KHAKI

---By MARY MARCHURA---

From an unexpected scurce of clear-out thinking on the problem of assimilation, an Island-born, yet mainland Fisei-problem-conscious soldier pens the following "punchy" letter.

In regards to evacuation, says he:

"It seems the Miseis are holding a grudge against the whole nation for the blunders of one State.

"Many are apprehensive of all white Americans and shrink away from everyone just because a few loud-mouthed rabble-rousers in California are blind with hate. That isn't so.

"There are countless numbers of real Americans. Bosides, although the method in which evacuation was administered was unfair and unjust, no one can deny the expediency which necessitated evacuation.

"It grieves me to see all these 'relocatees' flocking to the big cities and starting 'little Tokyo's' all over again, making themselves more conspicuous than ever.

"What really is unfair is that they deny the white Americans the chance to see what good Americans Niseis can be.

"The American public is truly ignorant as to what the Risei really is, but the problem is not alleviated one bit by the Nisci congregating abroad in cities and hiding their American characteristics.

"It remains for each Nisci to educate and enlighten and prove to these people that Americanism does not come, issued with blonde hair and blue eyes.

"Men I travel on pass or furlough, I am always regarded with a suspicious and quizzical eye but all it takes is a smile and a cheery word to disarm them.

"I usually end up trading addresses and

Ho ends it: "Must the Miseis stick together and act as a group to get anywhere? Must they live and fight collectively to gain any privilege or recognition from the American people?"

With that challenge before us, may we go out of these relocation centers, remembering Ted Tsukiyama's message:

The solution for successful and happy assimulation depends on us, "to educate and enlighten our fellow Caucasian American,"--that Americanism is possessing, NOT, certain physical traits but certain philosophical ideals.
