214 RYSTON RESIDENTS FORMERLY OF PHOENIX MAY RESULE LOME: DIRECTOR REAT GROSES ANNOUNCEMENT AS STEP IN RECOGNITION OF JAPANESE AMERICANS

Poston, along with other stretches of central Arizona, including the Gila River center and Phoenix, was declared out of the Western Defense Command military area #1 as of 12 the Western o'Llock midnight Thursday, Project Director W. Wade Head was informed Tuesday by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and Lt. General John L. DeWitt, commanding officer of the Western Lefense command.

The boundaries of Zone L, which formerly | mponent part of this ran along the highway bordering Parker, were dropped south along the Colorado River to Blythe and then stretches approximately northeast to Salome and down south again to the southern edges of Pima county.

The change in boundaries, stated Director Head, will mean that 214 Poston residents will be able to return to their Phoenix homes, if they so desire. It was emphasized that Yuma and Tucson are still in the military area and that local residents from + these two regions will not be able to return there.

The relaxation of restrictions was greeted by Director Head as another step forward in the recognition of Japanese Americans and their parents as a codemocracy.

To discuss the local aspects of this proclamation, Director Head is scheduled to leave conight for Phoenix where he is due to go where he into a conference with Governor of Arizona Sidney Osborne.

It was stated that the changing of this area into a"free zone" did not mean that evaare at liberty cuees to go into Parker at their own convenience. Rermits approved by the Director must first be obtained. However, residents with permits need not be accompanied by Caucasian escorts, as was the case previously, to trips to either Parker or Phoenix or any other points east or north which are out of the military area.

the efforts of Version Kennedy, Mapleymons Division head, 12 Poston "ag" workers this week collected a week's pay and a bonus in addition to their regular wages from Frank Fernandez of Glendala, Arizona. The workers, who returned here on March 3 were employed by Ferriandez in December, 1842 When they discovered that working condicates were not as stipulated in the contract, they threatened to quit.

Whereupon Fernandsz promised to pay each worker a $20 bonus if they would stay until the end as specified in the contract.

Then asked to sign a memo to this effect, Fernandez reportedly said: "I don't think it's necessary. We all understand what it is! The workers stayed on the strength of verbal promise. But when they tried to col-lect the bonus, the employer's foreman-Fernandez having gone to Colorado on business donied knowledge of this obligation.

After negotiations last week with the foreman, the workers collected the bonus and additional week's pay.

UNIT I COUNCIL ASKS DILLION MYER FOR TRANSPORTATION AID

-Dillon S. Myer Director of WRA New Interior Building Washington, D.C.

Doar Mr. Myer:

Our council favors your program of mass relocation. There are sev-. eral delicate questions in connec tion with relocation that should be given consideration and atten tion. The evacuees in our Center are mostly from Los Angeles and small er communities where they working for Caucasians or for lowing Pearl Harbor, many of the evacuees lost their jobs; others who were engaged in business suffered losses from December 7,1941, For the most part, all of the eva cuees, with the possible exception of the farming population in our Center, were restricted to home because of travel restrictions limits imposed by the time Western Defense Command precluded going to work in their accustomed vocations.

From the earlier part of January, 1942, most of the evacuees here have been without work; what little resources they had was spent in living expenses from Jan uary, until May when they were fin ally sent here, and in buying merchandize and commodities that they anticipated for use after arriving in Poston.

a fact that many more It is people might be willing to be relocated if transportation expenses were allowed to their job dest tination from Poston. It might if a temporary loan help matters could be advanced to evacuees withour funds but who have a pro-ven record of integrity and honesty and can supply reliable cosigners on a promissory note.

Economically speaking, it might prove cheaper to provide traceling expenses and risk a small loan for those who are eligible and worthy to continue supporting them in Centers.

This letter was discussed in a regular meeting and it has the unanimous approval of the Tomporary Community Council of Unit I.

Will you kindly give this letter that the second of the sec

LIFE OF WAACS EXTOLLED BY LT. ROBERTA L. HOUSE BEFORE UNIT II WOMEN

Like a picture off a magazine cover, Roberta L. House, Second Officer W.A.A.C., stunning and impressive in her uniform, addressed a capacity crowd of WAAC-minded Nisei women at the 214 Buddhist Hall Thursday morning. Introduced to the audience by Adm. James D. Crawford, Lt. House held her listeners spell-bound with her picturesque talk of the national organization of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.

She said, "As a mem-ber of the WAAC corps, I'm not only well aware. but I am quite desirous of having you as part of this corps, and I know the opportunity is coming soon." At the present moment Japanese girls are not being accepted for en-listment. Lt. House's visit to Poston is to give the correct information so that the headquarters in Washington may know how the eligible women here may feel about being able to join the Corps. The speaker emphasized, "The question is not of loyal-

Lt. House's interesting and sincere message enable the girls to have more intelligent approach to the organized efforts of the women's services in the army.

Lt., House proudly lauded the work which the WAACS have taken over. She said that the main job is to stand behind the gun. "We're not soldiers with guns," she said.

The administrative school for WAACS not only help but strengthen the army, but is also a challenge to the women, one of the most important positions in the armythe record work according to L.t House. Other units in the openings for the WAAC include communication (telephone, radio, telegraphic), motor transport, parachute riggers, instrument repairing, airplane mochanics, medical technician, labor techniciar, photography, weather observation, plane spotting, general office work, and quartermaster corps.

Lt. House informed that the duties of the WAAC fall in four general categories, administration, communication, transportation, mess ranagement and general technical work.

Mirthful incidents in the training camp and other laugh provoking "happenstances" of a life of a WAAC was told by Lt. House in her diarming and inimitable fashion.

Lt. House concluded her address with the song of the WAAC which gives the sentiments and the feeling of the women in service which Lt. House credibly represents to perfection.
