Pfc. Bertram A. Tsunematsu, son of Mosao Tsunematsu, Wailuku, Oahu, Hawaii.

Pfc. Sess Noda, brother of Mrs. Michiko Kimizuka, Kahului, Maui, Hawaii.

WOUNDED—EUROPEAN REGIONS

Pfc. Tamotsu Horikawa, nephew of Yasuo Hirai, Gila, Ariz.

Sgt. Hiroshi Tadakuma, son of Mr. and Mrs. Shigeki Tadakuma, Amache, COLORADO PRISONERS—GERMANY

S/Sgt. Isumi Sasaki, brother of Masaru Sasaki, Waipahu, Oahu, Hawaii.

Pvt. George Takahashi, son of Mrs. Sada Takahashi, Rowher, Ark.

On The Other Hand—

By Roy M. Takeno

Formerly stationed in Denver, the OWI Japanese language translation crew was to be brought east from San Francisco under John E. Fitch, head of the Japan division of the OWI with Takehiko Yoshihashi heading the translation staff.

Until the West Coast ban was lifted according to New York Times, Los Angeles Division was to be brought east from West Coast shortwave stations to Japan were written in English in San Francisco, teletyped to Denver, translated there into Japanese, "voiced" and "piped" back to Bay City and then beamed to the Far East, via Honolulu and Saipan.

The Japanese in Japan have more than 5,000,000 radio receivers sets. Formerly the OWI had to rely on shortwave broadcasts to get its news and propaganda into Japan. By January, the OWI had an opportunity to reach owners of most of the shortwave sets through the new medium-wave broadcasting station at Saipan.

Pin-Up Girls To Be Judged By Soldiers

Hart Mountain, Wyo.—Five pin-up girls selected during intermission at the Biasei ball last week in the high school gym, according to Jack Furumura, contest chairman.

Born in Los Angeles, her mother is in Hart Mountain, Wyo.

Entrants are Hisako Takehara, Setsuko Kondo, Miyoko Kohashi, and Anna Kuchi.

Pin-up pictures of each contestant will be sent overseas to the 42nd nisei combat team, whose members will judge these and other pin-up entrants from the various relocation centers to determine the pin-up girl of the regiment.

Tear Down Nipponese Flag In Los Angeles

Los Angeles—Stillfried V. Kavanaugh, 39-year-old laborer, was held in federal investigation Monday for flying a six-foot Japanese flag from a downtown office building.

Kavanaugh, who said he was a former member of the Japanese American Citizens League, flew the flag because Japanese affairs were allegedly too arresting events he picked Easter Sunday to exhibit his flag "so more people would see it and Japan would get more sympathy."

A soldier passer-by tore down the flag.
