WEST COAST TERROR

The War Department is following with deep concern the recent raids in California against Japanese American citizens who have left relocation camps to return to their homes. The War Department fixed its policy in the direction of Justice, of taking one group of American citizens on the basis of their racial origin and placing them as a group in segregated camps.

It is a remarkable pity, in so far as it contradicts all American tradition, that is worrying civilian heads of the department. Moreover, the Army recognized a duty "to protect the veterans" who are wondering how far they will have to go in protecting Japanese American veterans. A high proportion of whom have purple hearts, when they return from the war.

About 15 terrorist attacks on return Nisei have occurred thus far. There have been four cases of attempted arson and seven threats. In the most recent incidents reported in the San Francisco papers, two Japanese cars have driven by Nisei homes at a high rate of speed and the occupants have fired into the house.

In one case, the home owner was a returning veteran. With his wife he had been on furlough from his unit.

When I was in Italy recently,

Americans officers without exception paid me a tribute to the Pacific Infantry Regiment, which is made up of Japanese Americans with their officers of non-commissioned rank. They have given invaluable assistance in intelligence and reconnaissance work that often was carried out at the front in the Middle West. And loudest in their praise were the officers serving with the Nisei.

Beginning with the landing at Salerno, they went through all the hell of the Italian campaign, including the assault on Sicily, one of the first to receive a unit Presidential Citation. The Nisei were cited again for an outstanding performance at Belvedere and finally when they neutralized a German strong point and sent the enemy retreating in disorder retreat.

The story is the same here at the War Department. In War Department files are numerous instances in which the Nisei have distinguished themselves in the Pacific War. They have given invaluable assistance in intelligence and reconnaissance work that often was carried out at the utmost peril.

These men coming back from the war deserve a warm better than indifference. They regarded themselves as Americans—most of them could not even speak Japanese—and they fought like Americans.

The number of Nisei returning to the West Coast is very small. This is understandable and possibly be justified on the ground that the returned citizens constitute any threat to the security of the country. But what about the many thousands of Nisei who have returned to Oregon and to Washington?

Involving in all this is more than the individual tragedy. That we no more than that, we should simply lay it down as one more entry in a record crowded with tragedies.

Americans on the West Coast have one of the greatest opportunities in history. They can help in the leadership of the Pacific World. Those who have talked most recently with Gen. Douglas MacArthur tell of his con-

Our Heritage

A friendly town—
A smiling land—
Work for a man
With a willing hand;
The right to speak,
The right to pray
Freedom from fear—
These are ours today!

With the gallant flag
That flies above,
These are the things
That free men love;
To preserve them all
We will win this war,
For free men know
They're worth fighting for!

To help Finish the fight these boys
gave their lives for,
let's invest more in

who have given their lives in World War II, a special Joint Memorial Day Service will be held on May 30, 8 p.m., at the Denver Buddhist Church.

a Memorial Service will be held at the Riverside Cemetery completely eclipsed if we permit the pollutions of racial and color hatred to come to the surface here at home. In only one in Placer County, have the terrorists been brought to trial and condemned. Philip Bell, increasingly our nationally opportunity will lie in the Orient.

But that can come only if we assume mature leadership. It cannot come through the secretaries who are making a good beginning in the Philippines by helping a dependence. That example shines out in the Pacific World.

Secretaries like those who have made an excellent beginning in the Philippines by helping a dependence. That example
shines out in the Pacific World.
Its meaning, however, can be all of us.
