Dear Brothers,

The days are gradually changing more + more. Gosh, the sun gets up at 8:00 and goes down at 4:30 and it really makes it a short day. Since the weather has been so cold lately, I have frost bites on every toe (practically) and it doesn't feel too good. First it itches and then it aches + keeps changing. Now I just came back from the shower and my feet have swollen from the frost bites and it hardly goes into my shoes. Gosh, it really does hurt and I can hardly walk. I put on that medicine that you sent to pop hoping that my feet will get well.

Yes, we did have a nice Thanksgiving but it didn't seem like those that we used to have. Just as you said. Well, I hope you were thankful as we were. Tell us about your Thanksgiving.

So you had a dream huh? Well I didn't have a dream but pop had a dream like this. One day Laura brought home a funny girl and her mother and this mother said to pop. Everybody wants her (my daughter) to be their wife but Laura asked so I said Laura can have her you his bride and pop said that was the funniest dream he's had for a long time. Pop was kind of laughing as he told us of that dream. Hay, Thury, what do you think of it? Echito Thomato gives her 1/2 acre.

Well, what do you think of those pictures? Funny huh. Makes me laugh at those people + myself when I see the pictures.

I can imagine how you laugh at it all the time. Huh!!!!

Joe, I guess if Lawrence looks like you had much your going to have a heck of a time trying to get out of all those fixes he'll put you in.
Washing must be quite hard yet for Lawrence. Does Laura Cook good?
I can imagine eating his dinners.
I'll close until I write again.
Last night I saw a picture of Sugarbeet working & it really is hard work. Also a Buck Jones picture. I bet I late where I got the first tiles. (It was too cold)

To lang,

maaka

P.S. What do you think of those letters that I've been writing
lately. Lang huh!

I try to scrape up <sup>all</sup> I can so that you may not miss
much of the Manzanar news.

I just ate & we had fish (mackerel rice), cabbage, belts, and canned apricots.

Miyeko Nagai got married last Sunday
to that San Pedro guy & their reception
consisted of Ice cream, soda, sandwiches,
manju, ritz crackers, orange, cake,
moss & pop went to the wedding.

I guess I better start studying my English text and the other same works which I haven't finished yet.
