

Jack Murakami

War

As civilizations have progressed, wars have become more and more destructive.

Wars have existed from the most primitive periods of man's existence but never have it become destructive than at the present time. We have followed the trend to evade wars, but once attacked, we took it up at increasing momentum. Wars have caused nations to change the whole economic system to a wartime basis. Horrors of modern warfare are unpicturable. Human lives have become cheap when one small bomb may kill hundreds and lay behind destruction to miles of structures. Man's achievements in construction is destroyed. Bearers of the progress of civilizations have been destroyed. Modern world have progressed in scientific research but it is used as a weapon of modern warfare. We seemed to use progress as a tool of war.

Nationalism, imperialism and sovereignty must be forgotten and work must be toward international collaboration.

~~economically~~
~~Economically~~, politically and socially,
^{our} minds of our nations must not be poisoned ~~downward~~ toward Nationalistic policies, but toward Internationalism.