Star to me is just misery and an entire change of life for almost every body.

About children, my point of view is, what are they thinking? do they understand why schools are not open every day? why they can't go on joy rides? I really wonder. It would also make them prejudiced by listening to prejudiced parents talking.

High School age boys and girls seem to be growing to be "Big Shots". They earn their money working in defense plants, and spend their money on useless things.

The older people are getting to be very thoughtful about their sons, husbands or brothers are fighting, but what really gets me is those people who go on as if it should be the men in the front would seem more important to them than <sup>a</sup> their wages.

or anything else. moreover it would also help to bring victory to us that much earlier.
