

Kawakita Faces 5 Years or Death For Treason against Our Nation

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 8.—Tomoya Kawakita, 27-year-old American-born Japanese, today faced a sentence of from five years in prison or a maximum sentence of death for treason against the United States.

Nine women and three men deliberated eight full days before they agreed to find Kawakita guilty of eight specific acts of extreme cruelty to American prisoners of war in a Japanese nickel mine.

Mrs. Elsie B. Nickel, forewoman, told Federal Judge William C. Maa greater effort in removing rocks from a roadbed.

Knocked another American prisoner into a cesspool.

Punished 30 prisoners by beating them and forcing them to beat each other.

Assaulted a prisoner for a breach of camp rules. The prisoner temporarily lost his mind later.

Compelled two prisoners to run around a quadrangle additional times after they lagged behind others.

Forced a prisoner to carry a heavy log up an ice-covered slope.

Ordered another prisoner in a weak and emaciated condition to carry two buckets of white lead 500 feet.

Forced a prisoner to kneel on a platform with a stick of bamboo on the inner side of the joints of his knees and to hold a bucket of water at arm's length above his head.

Juror Christine Byrne said the majority of the jury thought Kawakita, who served in an official capacity as a camp interpreter, was guilty on the remaining five counts but "we couldn't make it unanimous as required."

The trial which lasted 12 weeks at an estimated cost of $250,000, nearly broke up when arguments between jurors reached a dangerous point.

At one time arguments became so heated the jury filed into court to report that further deliberations would be dangerous.

The jury included Susan Nagumo, an American-born Japanese, who collapsed after the verdict.

One woman juror nearly succeeded in contributing to a "hung" jury when she unexpectedly said she "saw the light" and was ready to vote.

Judge Mathes fixed Oct. 5 as time for hearing other motions.

Kawakita was arrested last year when a former American prisoner of war recognized him in a Los Angeles department store.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 8.—Morris Lavine, attorney for the 27-year-old Tomoya Kawakita, was preparing today an appeal against the treason verdict of guilt returned against Kawakita last Thursday by federal jury.

Kawakita, accused of acts of brutality toward American prisoners of war in a Japanese prison camp, faces a minimum sentence of five years in prison or a maximum sentence of death.

Lavine said that if the appeal is turned down by the U.S. Circuit Court he would take it to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Defense attorney Morris Lavine said he would request a new trial and a petition for a directed acquittal. Lavine said Kawakita should be freed of the treason charge because he was not found guilty on all counts.

Kawakita was taken back to county jail following the verdict without being allowed to talk to his father or his sisters. Then he said:

"I am innocent and I am confident I will be vindicated ultimately. At no time have I been disloyal to the United States nor did I betray the United States."

Specifically the jury agreed that Kawakita:

Military Shortens Story of Height

TOKYO, Sept. 8.—Claims made by Kyushu University, a method had been discovered to increase the height of Japanese were discounted by occupation authorities.

Brig. Gen. Crawford W. Sams, Public Health chief for the U. S. Occupation forces, said the Japanese have merely caught up with old scientific knowledge. He termed it another example of belated Japanese thinking.

Gen. Sams said the Japanese claims were based on the old pituitary, or "monkey gland", treatment. He said this was discarded 20 years ago in other countries in favor of the modern hormone injections. The General went on to say:

"Those Kyushu scientists perhaps have read about pituitary glands in old medical journals we have brought in for them."

The American officer said the height of Japanese could be increased about an inch a generation if animal protein were added to their diets in sufficient quantities. He said:

"A higher protein diet also would increase their resistance to disease and infection."

"Our school lunch program in Japan has already reversed growth trends among the war-starved Japanese children. If the program is continued long enough, today's children will be larger than their parents."

"Diet is the main answer to Japanese stature. That is easily illustrated by the Nisei (American born Japanese). They are from one to three inches taller than the native Japanese."

JACL Will Assist Fully in Filing of Evacuation Claims, National Council Members Agree at Convention Meeting

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 8 (By Wire)—Pretty Junko Yoshimoto of Los Angeles was crowned "Miss JACL" at the tenth biennial national JACL convention which opened last Saturday, Sept. 4, and scheduled to close today.

Governor Herbert B. Maw of Utah crowned Miss Yoshimoto as "Miss JACL" at the convention coronation ball on Saturday in the spacious Union building on the University of Utah campus. Her attendants were Helen Kinoshita of Portland, Ore., and Julie Yoshioka of Chicago, Ill.

Tokyo Rose Due In Frisco Soon

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 8.—Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino—otherwise known as Tokyo Rose—sailed on Sept. 3 for the United States to face treason charges in San Francisco.

The Los Angeles-born Japanese girl boarded the U. S. Army transport, General Hodges, at Yokohama and was immediately locked in her cabin.

Neither her husband nor friends were at the dock to bid her farewell.

She was taken from Tokyo's Sugamo prison to Yokohama under escort of Captains John P. Prosnat, Clairfield, Pa., and Katherine Stull, Muskogee, Okla., who will accompany her on the voyage to the United States.

U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark recently ordered Mrs. D'Aquino's arrest on charges she broadcast Japanese propaganda over radio Tokyo during the war. The San Francisco Federal Grand Jury will be asked to indict her for treason.

Nisei Singer Returns to City Which Gave Her Musical Start

Seattle's own Mariko Mukai, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Mukai, 515 18th Ave. S., has returned to the city which gave her a start in the musical world in 1937 when she, while a student in the University of Washington, won acclaim as a new discovery, singing her first operatic role in "The Queen of Sheba".

Miss Mukai who "startled the audience by her beautiful second act aria", according to a Post-Intelligencer critic, has since climbed the musical scales swiftly and surely.

Both the New York Times and the New York Herald Tribune loudly applauded her when she made her first Town Hall recital before a large and enthusiastic audience in New York City. The Times noted her "exceptional charm, skill and intelligence", the Herald Tribune, her voice abilities which "are of the kind that startle the ear and brighten the heart".

Miss Mukai, who in private life is Mrs. T. Ando, will give a concert on Friday, Oct. 1, in the Moore theatre, 1932 Second Ave.

Reserved seats soon will be on sale at the Moore's ticket office at $2.50, $1.88, $1.25, tax included.

Frisco Aides Bid For '50 Confab

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Sept. 8.—San Francisco will be the scene of the eleventh biennial National JACL convention in 1950 if the bid by the San Francisco chapter's official delegates to the Salt Lake City convention is accepted.

If San Francisco gets the confab for 1950 it will be the second time that the national convention will be held here, the other having been held in 1934.

The brilliant Nisei coloratura soprano also has appeared before many concert audiences in the East. Her charming personality added warmth and brilliance to her stage and concert appearances, the East reports.

Miss Mukai also has been soloist for the Silver Bay Association on Lake George for four seasons and a soloist for the Community Baptist church in Scarsdale, N. Y.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 8.—After hearing the report of the joint Legal and Legislative Committee of the JACL regarding evacuation claims, it was unanimously agreed at the National Council meeting on Labor Day that the JACL on the national, regional and local levels will render as much service as possible in the filing of evacuation claims.

The Council then elaborated the extent to which the national headquarters should participate in the program. They were:

1. The Washington office should do everything to expedite the just and reasonable adjudication and payment of all claims.

2. The Washington office should disseminate all information regarding the overall program of JACL rather than individual chapters or regional offices. (This includes all necessary translations into Japanese language).

3. The JACL will aim to secure all necessary information of dates, individuals, family numbers and other information relating to evacuation order including dates on which various areas were evacuated.

On the regional level, the regional directors will:

1. Contact every chapter within the jurisdiction and supervise the setting up of necessary machinery to render the maximum services that the JACL is prepared to offer.

2. In areas where there are concentrations of Japanese, but no local chapters, National Headquarters should be empowered to assign the appropriate regional director to assist in the processing of claim files, provided:

a. Claimant in such area requests such services, and are prepared to meet necessary expense of the representative.

b. The chapters shall have been serviced first.

3. Persons residing in such areas where no chapters exist may write to the national headquarters for available information.

The extent to which the local chapters may function in filing of forms was agreed at the Council meeting as follows:

1. Making forms for the filing of forms available within reason to all interested persons.

2. Provide general public information relating to filing of such claims.

3. Making available the necessary stenographic services.

It was agreed at the meeting that no charge shall be made whatsoever by the JACL for whatever it may render as a part of its overall services in the filing of evacuation claims.

Today's Editorial:

OK, Let's X-ray . . .

"OK, let's X-ray" is the slogan which we will be hearing in all corners of King County during the next 15 weeks of the Seattle Area Chest X-ray Program which begins tomorrow, Sept. 9.

Every adult, 15 years of age and older, can assure the success of this all-out attack on tuberculosis by planning to have his chest X-rayed. Seventeen X-ray units will be operating simultaneously in all communities of the county, in schools and places of work to offer free chest X-ray through Dec. 18.

This is the biggest health challenge Seattle and King County has ever had. If every person has a chest X-ray, it will be possible to have a complete picture of the tuberculosis problem in King County at this time and the program can pave the way for eradicating tuberculosis as a public health problem.

Tuberculosis kills more persons in the age group 15 to 44 than any other cause of death. However, in recent years tuberculosis has become increasingly a health problem among people 45 years of age and older. TB respects no age, income bracket or sex difference—the germs are a potential threat to all.

X-ray is the most effective method of finding the disease in the early stages when no symptoms are present. It is when tuberculosis is found in the beginning stages that it is most easily cured and when the spread to others can be quickly checked. Tuberculosis spreads from the sick person to the well person.

The X-rays are free of charge—you have already paid for them through Christmas Seals and tax funds. Financing the program are the Anti-Tuberculosis League of King County which has contributed $61,000 in Christmas Seal Sale funds; the Seattle and King County Health Department with $16,000 budgeted by the City of Seattle and $4,000 by the County of King; and the United States Public Health Service which is furnishing equipment and personnel amounting to a contribution of $140,000. Other sponsors of the program are the King County Medical Society, the Washington State Health Department and Finland Sanatorium.

Everybody's doing it—plan to visit your nearest X-ray unit and have your chest X-rayed.

Jurisdiction over 'Frozen Assets' To be Shifted to Attorney General

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8—By the provisions of a recent Executive Order, jurisdiction over foreign property and assets blocked during wartime will be transferred from the Treasury Department to the Attorney General, it was learned by the Washington JACL ADC Office this week.

This order, signed by President Truman August 20, 1948, will become effective as of midnight September 30, 1948. It provides for the transference of jurisdiction over all remaining blocked assets to the same agency now administering the program of alien property control; in other words, the Office of Alien Property of the Department of Justice.

It was announced that "whereas with the successful termination of hostilities, there has been a gradual release from control by the Treasury Department over foreign property and interests which had been blocked to prevent their looting by the Axis and their use in ways harmful to the war effort of the United States", it was felt desirable at this time to make this transfer of control over all foreign property and interests which have not yet been unblocked.

The Disabled American Veterans points out that veterans who lose their subsistence, compensation or pension checks should write immediately to their Veterans Administration regional office. Each letter should include full information.

Letter to The Northwest Times

DISAGREES WITH BENSON

Dear editor:

Having put my own "measuring stick" against the column "Housing Sounds Good," by George S. Benson, which appeared in the August 28 edition of the Northwest Times, I have found that his blanket condemnation of public housing is neither accurate nor fair. I am sure that the hundreds and hundreds of low-income families who have lived in Seattle's own Yesler Terrace and the thousands of veterans families, of all nationalities, who reside in other types of public housing in our city will agree that Mr. Benson's attack on the Taft-Ellender-Wagner Housing Bill was prompted more by a kind of wishful thinking than by common sense and facts.

Mr. Benson, who by the simple expedient of being a columnist, sets himself up as an expert, states that the "situation at a 550-family unit government project in New York State is typical" and that "only a very few destitute families ever get into government housing. They cannot pay the high maintenance and operating costs. Even government rents are too high for them." Here are the facts on our own Seattle low-rent project—which undoubtedly reflect similar operations throughout the country:

The average income of all families living at Yesler Terrace during 1947 was $1,368. As of this summer, there were 94 families living in the project whose incomes were greater than the legal ceiling—but the amount these families were over-income averaged only $653 annually. During 1947, 63 over-income families voluntarily moved out of the project. Monthly rent on Yesler Terrace, which includes all utilities, ranges from $10 to $41, and approximates 20 per cent of the total net family income. The Seattle Housing Authority can charge such fair and nominal rents because the low-income families do not have to pay for "high maintenance and operating costs" as Mr. Benson has been deluded into believing. Indeed, the difference between what it costs to run the project—and that cost is not high—and what is received in rent is made up by a subsidy from the federal government. In no other way can low-income families live in decent, modern housing at a rent they can truly afford. Private enterprise still has no answer, except slums or housing at higher prices than income warrants for low-income families—whether in Seattle, New York or Florida.

Mr. Benson then charges government housing agencies with political patronage and other "vices" such as "putting this country down the road to socialism." My answer to that is to quote from the column "Ex G.I. Notes" which appeared in the August 21 edition of the Northwest Times:

"We realize the tremendous aid given to Seattle veterans in the postwar housing shortage by the public housing authority... (this) is pretty impressive, especially when one considers what these families, making up a small city in themselves in point of size, would have been up against had there been no public housing available... We think that the Seattle Housing Authority deserves congratulations for a good job well done and special commendation for its policy of impartiality and non-discrimination which has been strictly adhered to throughout."

Yours sincerely,

Cappelletti Tells 5-Point Program

Angelo A. Cappelletti, Democratic candidate for state representative of the 33rd district in Seattle, today announced that he will champion the following five-point program:

1. Low-rent housing.
2. Veterans' measures.
3. Old-age pensions.
4. A common-sense youth program (boys' clubs).
5. Proper labor legislation to protect the working man.

In announcing his platform, Cappelletti who was born and reared in the Rainier district and educated in Seattle public schools, added that "there are no special or big interests behind me and if elected I will go to Olympia as a representative of the people in the 33rd district and not one particular group". Cappelletti, who attended Franklin high school, is a World War II veteran, having served with the tenth infantry, fifth division; seventh, third division, and the sixth infantry, sixth armored division in the European theatre of operations. His slogan is "a veteran who will fight for you".

Yoshijima came in a stroke better than George Okada as he fired a gross 75, less 11 handicap for net 64. Okada's score card read: gross 77, handicap 11, net 65.

Heyamoto, the only Spokane golfer to land first place in any flight, shot gross 81, less 13 handicap for net 68. It was Heyamoto's third great triumph of the year as he had previously annexed the Northwest Open "B" title in Spokane and the Inland Empire Golf Association's championship, also in that city.

Uno of popular Chicks Ice Creamery came through with a respectable gross 83, less 19 handicap for a net 64. He was two strokes ahead of his nearest competitors, Imada and Nishibue of Spokane and Momoda of Seattle.

P. S. Laundry Scores Clean Sweep As Nisei Commercial Opens Play

Tacoma's Puget Sound Laundry whitewashed 12th Ave. Service, 3-0, to take over the leadership in the Nisei Commercial league which opened a 33-week stretch last night (Tuesday) in Main Bowl.

The City of Destiny outfit, powerhouse by Kaz Yamane and Frank Hidaka, simply had too much tenpin sockeroo for the local auto service men. Yamane, in the anchor position, swept the strike area for a thumping 590 series which included a 204 and the night's high 242. Ever-steady Hidaka punched out a 524 series, rolling consistent 169, 184 and 171 games.

Seattle's 12th Ave. Service had Tak Nagasawa shooting a 519 and Min Koga, a 490. That squad's Jack Koga rallied strongly in the final game with a 219.

In a second place tie with four other teams was Over the Top Beverage, the "loaded" aggregation which is favored to go over the top as NCL titlists.

The ale five defeated a stubborn City Produce quintet, 2-1. Only two men, Bill Tanaka and Tom Namba, were able to spill the pins for 500-plus series. Tanaka's three game total amounted to 549. City Produce's Pancho Nakashima graduated into the "big time" circle gradually, starting with a "salty" 134 and finishing with a robust 220, to check in with a 540. Blotz Suyama, a produce youngster, performed creditably with an even 500.

Sakahara Insurance spoiled Main Drug's determined effort to snatch a clean sweep by posting the night's high team game of 973 in the third. In that tilt, Roy Tanagi hit 214, Kenny Oyama, 152, Rick Tanagi, 199, Shoichi Suyama, 204, and Roy Fujiwara, 204. The highly-touted druggists, also in second place, were paced by Tom Hidaka (554), Nobu Takahashi (546) and George Kimura (509). Hidaka's series wrapped a 204 second game.

TUESDAY, Sept. 14

Alleys 1 and 2—Higashi's vs. City Produce.

Alleys 3 and 4—PSVGA vs. International Realty.

Alleys 5 and 6—Cathay Post vs. Over the Top Beverage.

Alleys 7 and 8—Puget Sound Laundry vs. Sakahara's.

Alleys 9 and 10—Shanty Inn vs. Main Drug.

Alleys 11 and 12—Northwest Times vs. 12th Ave. Service.

Sumner's Puget Sound Vegetable Growers' Association, strengthened by the addition of George Iwasaki, made its bid for the upper division in the NCL by drubbing Higashi's Mobile Service, 2-1. Iwasaki's 525 and Morrie Yamaguchi's 506 turned the trick for PSVGA.

After absorbing a shaky first-game beating, Shanty Inn rallied in the last two to knock over International Realty, 2-1. Shanty's Pruney Tsuji drilled the 1-3 pocket for a 551 series and his series included a 209 game. Other Shanty men with 500-plus series were Jim Kuranishi (520), Tak Asaba (504), and Shig Urakawa (503). Brownie Nomura (539) and Frank Yokoyama (503) were International's best bats for the night.

The fifth team to land in a second-place tie was Northwest Times, which was shy one man but managed to eke out a 2-1 decision over Cathay Post 186. Only two men bowled in this fracas—Tommy Hirai (508) of Northwest Times and Cliff Goon (503) of Cathay Post. The others also threw the ball.

Canadian Nisei Group Rushes Plans To Aid Evacuation Loss Claimants

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 8—With the hearings of property loss claims scheduled to resume on October 4, the JCCA Ontario District Council has been rushing the preparation of plans for aiding the claimants to present their cases more satisfactorily than was done in the hearings conducted earlier this year.

It is recognized that there was not sufficient preparation for the spring hearings, and it is now the objective of the Ontario Council, through its special Property Loss Subcommittee, to avoid similar unpreparedness in the fall hearings and also to do something about supplementing the evidence of claimants whose cases have already been heard.

What steps will be taken to meet the second problem has not yet been decided.

The Ontario Council's property loss subcommittee is expected to coordinate the activity of three local organizations which will assume the job of preparing the claimants for their hearings.

In Western Ontario, the London JCCA is expected to supply the leadership. Its aid will be extended to claimants in St. Thomas, Blenheim, Chatham, Merlin, Kingsville, Ru'nhven and London.

Southern Ontario and Niagara peninsula will be served by Hamilton Kyowski and Hamilton Sophy-Ed Club, while the Toronto JCCA will take care of Toronto and vicinity.

It is expected that each of the above organizations will set up a special committee to deal with the problem of assisting the claimants.

These preparations consist of filling out pre-oral hearing forms and interviews with legal counsel.

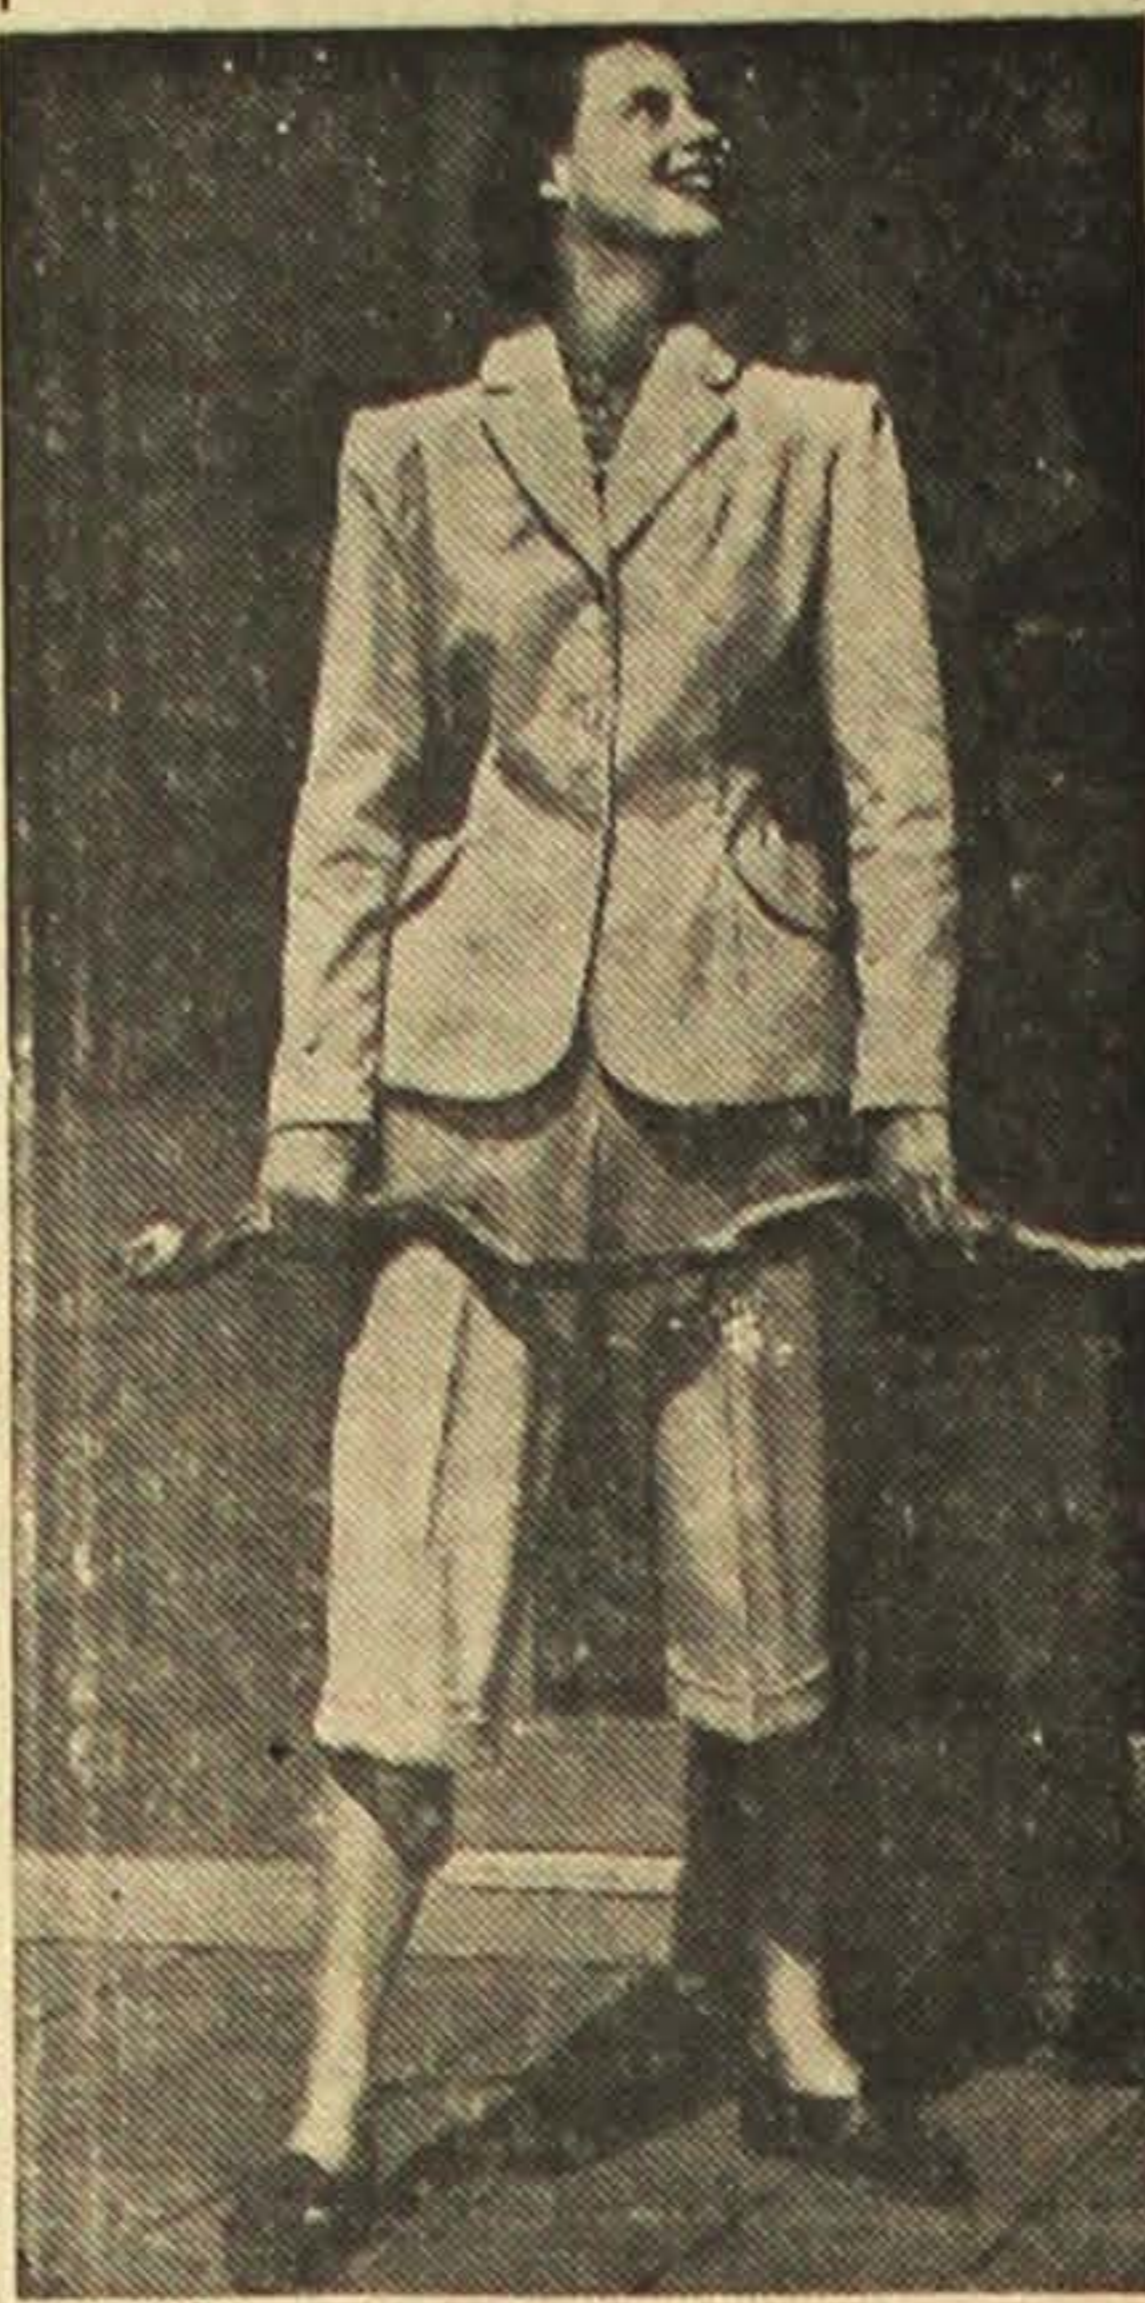

A representative from the office of Weldon, Cameron & Brewin, Co-operative Committee's counsel, is expected to make himself available in London about the third week of September and in Hamilton the following week.

These pre-hearing interviews are to be arranged and interpreted to be provided by the local committees. In addition, each claimant will be interviewed either by Mr. Best or Mr. Brewin, whoever is to represent the claimant at the hearings.

In a recent announcement, the Ontario Council's property subcommittee has advised each of the three Ontario centers to call a mass meeting of claimants. At this meeting, the claimants will have an opportunity to bring up any pertinent matter for discussion, make suggestions, and in the case of claimants whose hearings have been concluded, bring further evidence which they did not have the opportunity to bring to the attention of the commissioner at the hearings.

Tacomans Remember Mrs. Wrye, 56; Christian Friend of Japanese

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 8—Four floral pieces from the local Japanese friends were among the many flowers which were sent in tribute to Mrs. Cevilla Wrye at the funeral services held last Friday, Sept. 3, at the Piper chapel, with the Rev. Walter O. Macoskey officiating. Mrs. Wrye, 56, a well-known teacher of the Baptist Community Center, died last Wednesday, Sept. 1, in a local hospital.

Mrs. Wrye received her early education in Illinois and was graduated from the Baptist Missionary Training school in Chicago in 1923. Her first work was in Locke, Calif., in the Japanese Christian center. She began her work among the Japanese in Tacoma in the old City Rescue mission on Broadway in January, 1926, where three Japanese children were her first pupils in a program sponsored by the Americanization department of the Willard W. C. T. U.

Idaho Strandee Hangs Herself

NAMPA, Idaho, Sept. 18—A strandeer who returned to the United States from Japan recently ended her life by hanging. No motive for her suicide was known.

The dead, Masako Naito, 21, of Nampa, was reportedly missing early last month with her mother, Mrs. Kimiko Naito. She was found dead on August 16 at the Twin Falls labor camp here.

Naito had used a silk scarf and a dress belt which were tied to the rafter.

Authorities said both women were missing from Nampa and later were seen heading for Boise by bus.

Salinas-born, the girl lived most of her life in Japan, and came back only six months ago.

Funeral rite was delivered by the Rev. Shibata of Ontario, Oregon, Buddhist Church. She is survived by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Hyukichi Naito who were in Colorado River Relocation Center during the war, and three brothers.

Newest in Purse Seiners May Change Japan's Deep-Sea Fish Industry

TOKYO, Sept. 8—California methods may soon revolutionize Japan's deep-sea fisheries industry, according to an International News Service dispatch.

The INS report says that an experimental purse seiner, converted from a traditional 100-ton fishing boat powered with sails and an auxiliary diesel engine, has proven so efficient and economical that other fishermen may follow the example.

With fish providing two-fifths of Japan's diet needs, improved methods of deep-sea fishing would make a heavy contribution towards solving Japan's critical food problem.

The only obstacle to a mass conversion into purse seiners Japanese fisheries experts state, is the cost involved. Fishermen are short of cash.

The Californian method cuts down by reducing a ship's crew from 60 to 12. But manpower is a drug on the market in Japan nowadays.

On her first trip off the island of Hokkaido in northern Japan in June, the converted Shirayuri Maru's nets caught 150 tons of herring. Fifty tons had to be dumped back into the sea as the vessel's holds could not carry the entire catch.

On other trips, the catch ranged from 5 to 50 tons, each time the nets were lowered.

Most Japanese fishermen now use the line method. This consists of a heavy rope, with floats, to which are attached lines of varying lengths with hooks at the end. The hooks are baited with sardines.

Each time the line is lowered, 300 bucketfuls of bait are used. A bucketful of sardine bait costs 1,500 yen. (About $5.50 United States currency at the present military rate of exchange.)

There is no guarantee that the fish will bite, which makes the line method heavily wasteful at times. With purse seiner, this risk is virtually eliminated.

However, a purse seiner sometimes has difficulty in catching up with a fast moving school of fish.

Features of Californian purse seiners incorporated in the Shirayuri Maru are remote power control and a turntable to handle the seine.
