WEDNESDAY, Oct. 13, 1948

U. N. WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED IN SEATTLE FROM OCT. 17-24; GROUP'S AIMS TO BE RECALLED

Seattle, with the rest of the United States and all other countries of the United Nations, will observe United Nations Week October 17 to 24. The purpose of the week is to refresh the minds of all peoples as to what the United Nations organization has accomplished and the obligations attached to membership in the future.

U. N. week here will begin with a mass meeting in Victory Square at noon next Monday Oct. 18, when Col. William H. Donaldson, commanding officer, Seattle Port of Embarkation, will speak about how United Nations aims coincide with those of the U. S. armed forces.

There will be music by the U. S. Army Band, addresses by representatives of the Gold Star Mothers and music by the All-City Mothers-singers Chorus. Of especial interest will be a talk by a Russian born American soldier, Major Michael Ushakoff, who served with Gen. Jonathon Wainwright and was captured on Bataan. Now retired from active duty, Major Ushakoff was named by Dr. Richard P. Knowlton, 1st district commander of the Disabled American Veterans, to make the Victory Square speech because of his unusual speaking ability in urging support of the world organization.

There will be programs every evening next week in the University of Washington's new Downtown Adult Education Center, Eighth Avenue and Blanchard Street. All will be presented by local groups which are helping with the Seattle observance and all will be free to all interested persons.

The Creative Drama group of the University, directed by Miss Agnes Haaga, will present the first program Monday evening, Oct. 18. The Altrusa Club will sponsor a forum, "UNESCO and You", Tuesday evening. The League of Women Voters will present a program Wednesday evening on the subject of atomic energy and Mrs. Iva Gorton Sprague will give the address Thursday evening on "The United Nations and the Today's Crisis." The last of the evening programs in the new center will be presented by the Women's Overseas Service League Friday.

More than 100 civic organizations are cooperating to present the final program of the week in the Civic Auditorium Sunday, Oct. 24, from 3 to 5 p.m.

On the colorful and impressive program will be music by army band, melodies by the Lincoln High School Chantier and a presentation by the University of Washington Voice Speaking Choir, dances by the Folk Dance Federation of Washington, a procession of flags from 58 member nations and standard bearers from all of the city's youth groups. A guard of honor from all the armed forces will participate and there will be short speeches by this state's two Senators, Warren G. Magnusson and Harry Cain. Everyone in this community is invited; there will be no charge.

Jackson St. Aide Chosen to Head Chest X-Ray Program In Garfield Area; First Meeting to be Called Today

Mrs. Robert Duwe of the Jackson Street Community Council was named temporary chairman of the Garfield High School Area Chest X-ray Program at the neighborhood meeting last week at the T. T. Minor School.

The first meeting of the steering committee for the Garfield Area has been called for 8 p.m. today, Wednesday (Oct. 13) in the Yesler Terrace Clubroom by Mrs. Duwe.

Beginning Nov. 11, and continuing through the month, X-ray units will be concentrated in the Garfield Area at all major and minor shopping centers to offer a free chest X-ray to all persons 15 years of age and older. Garfield area will be the fifth high school neighborhood area to participate in the Seattle Area Chest X-ray Program.

"Seattle is tackling the biggest health project ever to be conducted in this county. We need the cooperation of everyone in the district to secure 100% participation in this program. It is important to convince everyone to have a chest X-ray and also to encourage those X-rayed to tell others how easy it is to have a chest X-ray." Lawrence Bates, general chairman of the Seattle Program, told volunteers and representatives of organizations attending the neighborhood meeting.

Dr. Emil E. Palmquist, director, Seattle and King County Department of Public Health, emphasized that the X-ray program can deal a knock-out blow to tuberculosis.

'49 CHEST CHIEFS SINGLE OUT OUR AREA LEADERS FOR PRAISE; COUNCIL GETS FEATHER AWARD

First over the top for the second consecutive year! That is the record of the Jackson Street community in the 1949 Community Chest campaign, it was announced at the 3rd Report Luncheon held last Friday, Oct. 8, when local campaign leaders were singled out for praise from both L. A. Williams, Campaign Chairman, and J. R. Adams, Lt. General for the section.

Masaoka Pleads GI Child Case

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13—Exercising for the first time his privilege to practice before the Board of Immigration Appeals of the Department of Justice, JAOL ADC national legislative director Mike Masaoka on Oct. 4 pleaded the case of a soldier bride and her infant daughter.

Most individuals who are allowed to bring their cases before this Board are either attorneys or social workers specializing in immigrant welfare. Masaoka, who is neither an attorney nor a social worker, was granted this special privilege last June so that he might intercede in deportation or exclusion cases involving persons of Japanese ancestry. ADC's aid in this particular case was requested by attorneys William Y. Mimbu of Seattle and Mas Yone-mura of Oakland, counsel for the appellants.

The Japanese soldier bride, together with her infant daughter by a previous marriage, had been given permission by U.S. Army headquarters in Japan to accompany the Nisei soldier husband to the United States, but were denied admission by Seattle immigration officials on the ground of inadmissibility of the child. Temporary waiver of exclusion and detention was secured by the attorneys through the kindness of Mrs. Clare James Taylor, Milk Fund; Mrs. Joe Pearson, Junior League; Hercules Anderson, Urban League, Dr. Niles Nicholson, Capitol Hill Lions Club; Mrs. Robert Giesseman, Urban League and P.T.A.; W. J. Tilley, East Madison Commercial Club; and the Rev. F. Benjamin Davis, Mt. Zion Baptist Church; Mrs. Hazel Boardman, Business and Professional Women's Club; and Kenneth Lindley, Madison Park Pharmacy.

The annual Community Chest campaign is one of the finest expressions of democracy in action. It is dynamic evidence of our faith in the voluntary manifestations of concern for our fellow men. It is, in truth, The Best Thing We Do!

The Japanese bride alone would have been admissible under the provisions of the amended Soldier Brides Act, which was passed by the 80th Congress at the instigation of the JAOL Anti-Discrimination Committee last year in July. The original Soldier Brides Act did not provide for the entry of Japanese war brides, while admitting those of other nationalities, because Japanese are racially inadmissible under present immigration laws. ADC's fight for removal of this discriminatory working of the law was won through passage of Public Law 213, amending the original Act by striking out racial inadmissibility as a barrier against soldier brides.

Bellami to Honor Newcomers Friday

Bellami, a Japanese American Y-teen organization, will hold a pledge party on Friday, Oct. 17, from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. at Collins fieldhouse, according to Marian Goshko, club president.

The party will be held in honor of all new and prospective members. Invitations will be given during this week to all Nisei high school girls attending Franklin and Garfield. Any girl interested is cordially invited to attend.

There will be entertainment and refreshments, featuring home made punch and hors d'oeuvre. Dorothy Iwasaki and Naomi Inouye are in charge of service and publicity respectively.

Welcome your neighbor! When a Red Feather volunteer solicitor calls on you, treat her or him kindly—and give as much as you can afford. They are doing it for you and your community.

The district reported a total of $3,022.48 or 120.89% of its quota for this year to become the first section in the city to reach its goal. Last year the section reported 144% of its quota at the first Report Luncheon but the goal was only a third as large as it is this year.

Members of the campaign soliciting teams are still working and will continue to work until the entire district is covered. The local campaign organization is anxious to equal the second record established last year—that of being the section which exceeded its quota by the greatest amount. When the 1948 campaign ended the district had collected 243% of its quota.

Additional honors for Jackson Street community were received at the Friday luncheon when Neighborhood House, a Red Feather agency of the district, received a Red Feather award for exceeding its quota in the matter of contributions from its staff members. The Red Feather certificate was accepted in behalf of Neighborhood House by Mrs. David Luke, a member of their Board. The Jackson Street Community Council also received a Red Feather award for staff contributions on Tuesday, Oct. 12.

The team headed by Seichi Hara as Lt. Colonel reported a total of $200 on Friday to lead the other five teams. This is 176.5% of the amount raised by this group last year. Other teams reported $835 from the Chong Wa group headed by Arthur T. King, $306.09 from Charles Hadd's team, $157.52 from Mrs. David Luke's Cathay Post Auxiliary team, $169 from Nicanor Bocalajo, and $126.87 from the team headed by Walter Rutley. $465 was received from Advance Gifts solicitations.

The only team that has as yet finished its solicitation is the one headed by Hara. All others still have calls to make and will be working right up to the final day of the drive in order to attempt to reach at least 200% of their goal.

This Week in History

October 10 to 16

By the Editors of the World Book Encyclopedia

882 years ago this week Duke William of Normandy fought a battle at Hastings, England, which changed the whole course of English history. On October 14, 1066, he defeated the Saxon king, Harold, and was thus able to assume the throne of England. William stopped the subdivision of the country into autonomous provinces. He organized a central government, developed law, and established courts. He brought England into greater contact with Europe and furthered foreign trade. Looking back on that one battle, historians have called it the most important single event in the history of England.

POLITICAL MEASURES

At the general elections to be held on November 2nd, voters of the state will be confronted with eight general measures—four initiatives and four amendments to the State Constitution—as to each of which they will be asked to vote "for" or "against". Here, in convenient capsule form, are presented the eight measures in question:

INITIATIVE NO. 13—This initiative, sponsored by the Washington Temperance Association, would restrict the sale of beer and wine to state liquor stores on the same basis as hard liquor under the present laws. Taverns would, of course, become illegal under this measure.

INITIATIVE NO. 169—This is the V.F.W. sponsored "bonus bill", to pay veterans a bonus for World War II service at the rate of $10 per month for stateside duty, and $15 per month for overseas duty. Eligible veterans would be those "who at the time of his or her entry upon active Federal service and for a period of one year prior thereto was a BONA FIDE citizen or resident of the State of Washington."

The initiative carries its own financing clause, providing for the raising or necessary funds by the sale of bonds in amount of $100,000,000 to mature in not more than 30 years. To aid in retiring the bonds, a ten per cent tax would be levied on all retail tobacco sales. If, as has been argued, such a tobacco tax would be insufficient to pay for the bonds in the event the initiative is passed, the problem of raising additional revenues would be up to future legislatures to solve.

INITIATIVE NO. 171—This is known as "The Common Sense Liquor Bill". In contrast to Initiative No. 13, this measure would permit bona fide restaurants, hotels, and clubs to sell liquor by the drink, thus liberalizing the present laws to that extent. Licenses would be limited in number to one for each 1,500 of population; approximately 1,100 licenses could be issued under this limitation. In an attempt to "remove the Liquor Board from politics", the three-man board would serve nine-year terms on a staggered three-year basis, with removal only for cause and after a hearing before three judges.

INITIATIVE NO. 172—This is the controversial "Old Age Pension Bill", which would liberalize present laws to provide for a minimum grant of $60 per month, and would eliminate the lien clause which would permit the state to recover from the estate of a deceased pensioner for funds advanced during his lifetime. The measure is sponsored by the State Townsend Clubs of Washington and the Washington Pension Union; it is vigorously opposed by the Washington State Taxpayers Association as "costly" and "unworkable".

Turning to the four proposed constitutional amendments, they are all in the form of joint resolutions passed by the legislature, and are as follows:

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 4—This measure would permit the legislature to fix the salaries of elected state officials from the governor on down. A constitutional amendment is necessary because the state constitution originally set a top limit on salaries for all state officials. These limits are now deemed much too low.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 5—This measure would permit counties to adopt "Home Rule" charters, in order that counties may set up their own forms of government according to their needs.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 4—This measure would abolish the present limitation against elected county officials serving more than two terms in succession.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION

NO. 4—This measure would permit counties to adopt "Home Rule" charters, in order that counties may set up their own forms of government according to their needs.

NO. 13—This measure would permit the formation of a combined city and county municipal corporation having more than 300,000 population. As a practical matter, the only city affected at present would be Seattle, which could form itself into the "City and County of Seattle", provided that the rest of King County gave its approval. Proponents of the measure feel that, if carried out, it would eliminate the present friction between the metropolitan and rural districts of King County.

In presenting the above "nut-shell descriptions", this column has attempted to be neutral, in the belief that voters will make up their own minds and vote accordingly. We cannot refrain, however, from hoping that voters will not be indiscriminate enough to pass both Initiatives 13 and 171—which would create an unprecedented situation to say the least.

DOWN TENPIN ALLEY

Everybody is wondering how Martha's Beauty Shop is leading the SNGBO circuit; stop wondering, the team is winning every Thursday night and that's all that matters...it's, indeed difficult to predict the winner of the Nisei Commercial league but the safest bet yet is Over the Top Beverage...easiest thing to state at this time is that Pruney Tsuji of Shanty Inn and his brother-in-law, Ben Sugawara of Kashiwagi's, are the hottest numbers on the alleys...this guy, Art Hirayama of Seventh Ave. Service, throws such a viciously fast ball that the pinboys are growing bolder by the day thinking that some day they will get it on the noggin...our Portland scribe hopes the girls as well as the boys will come to his fair city on Dec. 4 and 5 for the Oregon Nisei bowling tournament...

BASKETBALL STARTS SOON

Beginning next week, the smooth Buddhist auditorium floor will be the scene of many Nisei basketball team practices.

The mentors (or whatever you want to call them) will be barking out orders to their charges. And the order of the coming weeks, at least, will be drill, drill, drill for efficiency and perfection in the fundamentals of the game.

The leagues this season will start until Dec. 1, according to cage chief Henry Yorozu. With that a certainty, the players should have ample time to adjust themselves to their team's style of play, offensively and defensively.

One and a half month of practice—which will include squad scrimmages and exhibition tilts, of course—should put the fellows and girls in tip top shape for a great cage season, we think.

Give your neighbor a helping hand. Do your generous part to help reach the $1,737,767 goal of the Seattle-King County Community Chest campaign for 1949. The welfare of 40 vital health and welfare services depends on it. You may need that helping hand some day.

More Questions, Answers on Evacuation Claims Law

(Editor's note: This is the second of a series of questions and answers on the evacuation claims law prepared by Edward J. Ennis, JACL-ADC special counsel and released by the Washington office of the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee as a public service.)

(Any reader who has general questions relating to the law itself or to procedural matters is invited to address a letter with a stamped, self-addressed return envelope to the Washington office, JACL Anti-Discrimination Evacuation Claims Section, 300 Fifth St. N.E., Washington, 2, D. C. No questions involving the legality or value of specific claims can be answered.)

1. Q. May claims be filed for loss or damage to so-called contraband articles deposited with local and federal peace officers following the outbreak of war?

A. Apparently not. Contraband articles were ordered deposited with peace officers under an Attorney General's ruling. Only losses suffered as a result of the military evacuation may be claimed under Public Law 886. It cannot be perceived how it can be argued that loss of or damage to these articles in government custody was the consequence of the evacuation.

The JACL ADC attempted to secure legislation authorizing claims for loss or damage to such contraband articles during the last session of Congress but was unsuccessful. The Washington Office intends to re-introduce such legislation and to work for its passage next Congress.

2. Q. May an alien who was interned file a claim?

A. Presumably. The law does not bar aliens or internees from filing claims and they may file claims. The alien, however, may not file for losses suffered as a consequence of his internment by the Department of Justice but only for his losses which resulted from the evacuation itself. The Washington Office believes it can be argued that had no evacuation taken place, interned aliens could have turned over the management of their businesses, properties, or farms to other members of their families or to their friends, as German and Italian internees did. Because evacuation forced the removal of the entire Japanese population on the west coast, internees suffered losses which are the "reasonable and natural consequence" of the evacuation and not of internment.

Should the Justice Department rule that interned Japanese enemy aliens may not file claims for evacuation losses under Public Law 886, the JACL ADC proposes to introduce legislation enabling them to do so.

3. Q. May a Nisei serviceman file a claim?

A. Yes. Under the same reasoning as that for an interned alien, a Nisei who was called into the service before evacuation took place may file a claim for losses suffered as a result of evacuation but not as a result of his selective service call or service in the armed forces of the United States. If the arrangements to manage a business or property in the serviceman's absence were destroyed by evacuation, he would appear to have a legitimate claim.

4. Q. Who should file claims?

A. Only the legal owners of the property lost or damaged. The question whether a claim survives the death of the person who owned the property at the time of loss or damage is being studied.

5. Q. Is it better for a citizen to file in behalf of his family rather than an alien?

A. It makes no difference. The legal owner must file the claim and the law makes no distinction between citizen or alien.

6. May the owner of a claim allow members of his family to file separate claims for their equitable shares?

A. No. The legislative history of this legislation indicates that Congress intended that all claims be made by the legal owner thereof.

7. May a "repatriate" or a "renunciant" who has remained in the United States file a claim?

A. There is nothing in the law which prohibits them from doing so.

8. Q. Is there an advantage in the early filing of claims?

A. A definite answer to this question cannot be given. However, we wish to point out that in the early stages of claim adjudication, each ruling will fix a precedent. It is therefore most important that the first claims to be considered be carefully prepared and of substantial nature.

9. Q. May a person file more than one claim form?

A. Presumably not. The construction of the official form indicates that the Department of Justice expects the entire claim of an individual to be filed at one time. This means that a personal household losses must be included with business, farm, and other losses in the same form.

10. May forms be amended after it has been filed?

A. Presumably, but we assume that a reasonable and satisfactory explanation for an increased claim will be required.
