CHRISTMAS TO BE MERRY ONE FOR ALL CHILDREN IN AREA, JACKSON COUNCIL PROMISES

Christmas decorations on Jackson Street and a Christmas party for every child in the neighborhood are being planned by the Jackson Street Council as a holiday Red Feather service of that organization, it was announced this week.

For the third successive year, neighborhood Christmas parties will be co-sponsored by the Council and treats will be provided for 1,500 children. The parties will all be held on the afternoon of December 24, and will be put on by various neighborhood groups, Collins Fieldhouse, Nichiren Buddhist Church, Neighborhood House, and Yesler Terrace Community center will each plan a party with games, songs, a program, and, of course, Santa Claus.

Each of these centers participated in last year's community parties, and there is a possibility that this year's celebration will be increased by a party sponsored by Puget Sound Lodge, no. 109, IBPOEW. Plans will be made by that organization this week.

"Every child in the neighborhood is personally invited to attend any one of the parties he chooses," Mrs. Daniel Burs, chairman of the Council's recreation committee, said. "Announcements will go to all schools, churches, and to other organizations, and we want every youngster to know that these activities are for him."

Christmas greens, red bows, and a lighted Christmas tree, all on Jackson Street, will add to the holiday spirit for the first time this year. This project is under the direction of the Council's civic committee assisted by Henry Chin Hing, of the Victory Florists, and Ralph Shinbo, Garland Florists. Members of the Junior Council committee will gather greens on Sunday, December 12.

Because of the serious electric power shortage in this city, colored lights will be omitted except from the Christmas tree, and those will not be turned on until after 6:30 p.m., according to Chin Han, chairman of the civic committee.

"We want our area to be decorated like all of the others, but we also wish to cooperate in conserving electric power," Chin stated. "This is the first year we have ever attempted street decorations, except for the Christmas tree last year, and we hope the people of the neighborhood will approve of the plan."

The decorations committee include Mrs. W. B. Lockett, chairman, Seichi Hara, Walter Rutley, John Castillo, and Takashi Hori. Planning the Christmas parties are the Rev. S. Masunaga; William Hilliard; Mrs. Henry Johnson; Mrs. Daniel Burs; Mrs. Marjorie Moore; Neighborhood House; Gene Boyd; Collins; Natalie Olmstead, Yesler Terrace; and the Rev. B. H. Oda, Nichiren Church.

Japanese in Tokyo Would Have to Pay 3,000 Yen For CARE Food Package

NEW YORK, N.Y., Dec. 8.—If a Japanese family living in Tokyo went to their local food market to duplicate the items in a CARE food package, they would have to pay 3,723.80 yen on the black market—and there would still be two items missing.

Figures on the local cost of the items in the CARE package, compiled by The Foodstuff Kodan, Foreign Trade Corporation in Tokyo, have just been received at the non-profit organization headquarters in the United States.

In forwarding this compilation, Adrian Gory, CARE's Chief of Mission in Tokyo, explained that, of the nineteen items in the CARE package, only six are purchasable at the official price. They are the flour, rice, miso, soy, sugar and salt. The others are available only on the black market.

CARE, a non-profit organization, delivers its food package, and its blanket, woolen, and knitting wool packages in Japan at a total cost of ten dollars each. Orders may be sent to CARE, New York, or CARE, Los Angeles.

Commodity	Price in Japan (In yen)
1. 2 lbs. flour	144.00
2. 5 lbs. rice	387.00
3. 1 lb. kidney beans	119.20
4. 2 lbs. miso	108.00
5. 1 pt. soy	68.00
6. 24 oz. vegetable oil	480.00

YOTHERS OF VFW WILL SPEAK AT JOINT RITES ON SATURDAY FOR SIX SEATTLE WAR HEROES

With Robert A. Yothers, department commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, as the guest speaker, the joint funeral services for six local Nisei War Dead will be held from 1 p.m., this Saturday, Dec. 11, in the Seattle Buddhist auditorium. The military burial rites will follow at the Veterans Memorial Cemetery in Washelli.

Albert Ichihara, chairman of the Nisei Veterans Committee, announced the plans for the parking of automobiles in the Buddhist church area. He stated that the parking areas for the general public will be blocked off on the following streets:

On Main street, between 12th Ave. and 14th Ave., and between 16th Ave. and 17th Ave.

On 16th Ave., between Jackson street and Washington street.

After the services in the Buddhist temple, a funeral cortege will be formed. The procession, with police escort will then proceed to Washelli.

The Greenwood Post of the VFW will furnish the firing squad commanded by Post Commander J. B. Maus at the military interment services in Washelli.

Eight boy scouts from troop 53 will serve as honor guards at the services. The scoutmaster is the Rev. Emory Andrews.

Due to the fact that T/Sgt. Hideo Okanishi and Cpl. Hinoki, who accompanied the remains of Privates Yukio and Tadao Sato, respectively, from Ogden, Utah, regional graves registration depot, were unable to remain for the Saturday services, two local former 442nd Regiment veterans, Shiro Kashino and Dick Settsuda, will serve as military escorts for the Sato brothers.

Sgt. Hashimoto

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 8.—The remains of S/Sgt. John Hashimoto, who was killed in action with the 442nd Combat Team in France, will be interred on Saturday, Dec. 18, at the Veterans Memorial Cemetery in Seattle.

Sgt. Hashimoto, whose widow, Mrs. Amy Hashimoto, and son, James, reside at Rt. 5, Box 690, Tacoma, Wash., was with Company K, 442nd Regiment when he died on Nov. 14, 1944 near Bruyeres, France. Others surviving Sgt. Hashimoto are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Seizo Hashimoto of Fowler, Calif.; and two brothers, William and James.

The Rev. G. Nishinaga of the Tacoma Buddhist temple will officiate at the services.

A distinguished but unhappy man died 53 years ago this week on Dec. 10, 1836. His name—Alfred Nobel, Nobel, a Swedish scientist, developed dynamite, blasting gelatin and several types of smokeless powder. His inventions brought him great wealth but also ill-health, for the use of his works for purposes of death and destruction, sickened him. In his will, he left about $10 million to provide 5 annual prizes for the most outstanding scientists and persons contributing most to world peace.

Claims Queries and Replies

(Editor's note: This is the ninth of a series of questions and answers on the evacuation claims law prepared by Edward J. Ennis, JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee special counsel, and released by the Washington Office of the JACL ADC as a public service. This series is based on actual questions asked of this office.)

(Any reader who has general questions relating to the law itself or to procedural matters is invited to address a letter with a stamped, self-addressed return envelope to the Washington Office, JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee, Evacuation Claims Section, 300 Fifth Street Northwest, Washington 2, D. C. Questions of general interest may be produced in this series without personal identification.)

(No questions involving the legality or value of specific claims can be answered.)

1. Q. It may be that TFR 300 forms may be guiding, but they cannot be necessarily conclusive nor should they be held as evidence against Japanese claims. Is this correct?

A. Information contained on forms TFR 300 will generally be important evidence but will not be conclusive because it will be possible to explain reasons why in many cases the information on the TFR 300 was incomplete and inaccurate.

2. Q. If claims are paid, it has been suggested that such claims would be placed in a special account, if proper accounting is to be observed for income tax purposes. Since some have deducted these losses from their income tax returns, when paid, these claims must of necessity be entered as a special item so that it would be deducted. Possibly, an administrative ruling might be possible to hold that all such items recovered by the evacuees and not deducted by them might be immune from taxation.

A. Without any special administrative ruling it appears that the recovery of losses will not be taxable income except to the extent that taxes have been saved by deducting the losses in prior income tax returns. So far as placing awards in special accounts for income tax purposes is concerned, this may be convenient for the particular taxpayer but it does not appear that it will be required by the Government.

3. Q. Before the war, since 1915, I lived in Seattle, Washington. Since my husband died in 1929, I have had to live as a widow with four children. To secure a sure means of living I borrowed money and bought the hotel with two thousand dollars. I kept this hotel going and in three years paid off all debts. Then along came evacuation and I was forced to sell this hotel to a Caucasian for only seven hundred dollars. My hotel was said to be worth certainly more than seven thousand five hundred dollars at that time. Can I claim the (Continued on Page 4)

GIFTS FOR THE MALE

Along about the 25th day of the present month, comes a holiday which, for the universality of its appeal and its arousal of the better side of mankind, is deservedly the most popular and happiest holiday of the entire year. Far be it from us to cast a cloud upon the conviviality of the coming occasion, so let us whisper it gently—Christmas would be a lot merrier for the men-folk if they received same age-high, useful presents for a change, in place of the purple shirts and red neckties which are annually foisted upon the hapless and unsuspecting male as his share of the Yuletide bounty.

Personally, we feel pretty strongly about purple shirts and red neckties. We'd like to do something about the situation, and reveal what a man would really appreciate receiving for Christmas—within reason, that is. We'll omit mention of such items as Cadillac convertibles and duplicates of Betty Grable, which are strictly for dreams. After all, give Santa a chance!

Desirable and useful gifts for men fall into several categories, which we'll take up one by one: (1) Haberdashery; (2) Sports; (3) Accessories; (4) Toilet articles; and (5) Miscellaneous.

As to haberdashery, we advise all and sundry to stick to the conservative line, unless you know the man's wardrobe and tastes like a book. White shirts are a safe bet—avoid colored shirts and neckties unless you intend to match a suit which you definitely know is worn by the male concerned. Shirts and ties, you see, aren't worth a darn if they can't be worn with a certain suit of clothes. A fine-quality bathrobe is a nice gift, and so are pajamas (if the man wears 'em). Merchandise certificates, good for a hat or a pair of shoes, are excellent, and enable the recipient to pick out something he really wants.

Sports items, if they're right up his alley, are just the thing. If he's a golfer, give him some golf balls and he'll be well satisfied. A "Bag-Boy" cart is swell for the golfer who hasn't one, but lay off buying clubs—let him pick his own. For the bowler, a bowling bag or shoes would be welcome gifts. Tennis addicts would go for top-flight tennis balls, which come hermetically sealed, three to a can. There are lots of other sports, but we know you've got the point by now.

In the matter of personal accessories, again hew to the conservative approach. Billfolds, belts, initial tie-pins, suspenders (if worn), key cases, etc., are safe and popular, and none of these items will be astronomical in cost, even in these times. Toilet articles are welcome gifts, but only if in line with the personal taste of the male himself. Shave kits are good for the man who doesn't use an electric razor, but be sure to find out whether he prefers a lather shave cream or brushless cream. Ditto if hair tonics are included in the combination—men usually stick to the one kind they like best; they're stubborn that way.

Best bets in the "Miscellaneous" line are tobacco and liquor. Buy what he likes, however—not what you'd like him to use. If he smokes a pipe, give him only his favorite brand of pipe tobacco, and avoid the aromatic junk which he'll never use. If he smokes cigarettes, he'll really appreciate all the cartons he can get—of his regular brand, that is. As to liquor, personally we never touch the stuff, consequently can't say much except give him what he wants—a case of his favorite beer, or a bottle of bonded stuff. Go for quality; if he likes liquor, he'll never hold it against you if you give him a higher-grade brand than he'd buy for himself. After all, New Year's Eve isn't far off.

So there you have it—the problem of Christmas shopping for the male relative or friend laid out colder than a mackerel. Take our safe and sane tips, and you'll never go wrong; and you can bet your bottom dollar that when the man says "thanks", he'll really mean it for a change.

HERE AND THERE

It just couldn't happen, but it did—the mighty Irish of Notre Dame had to put on a ninth-inning rally to tie USC last Saturday, 14-14, thereby keeping their undefeated string still going. The Trojans did West Coast football a tremendous favor with their high-level performance. Up to last weekend, Northwestern ruled as a slight favorite over California in the coming Rose Bowl game. Watch for those odds to take a sharp change after the Trojans proved that Coast teams are not always pushovers. Got to close now. May we hope to see you all at the memorial services for the six Nisei servicemen who will be laid at final rest this coming Saturday. They gave their lives; a few minutes of your time, spent in their honor, is surely not too much to ask!

(Special Wire to Northwest Times) SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Dec. 8 (From Nishi Bei Times)—The Berkeley Nisseis won the second leg of the perpetual trophy of the second annual Drake Invitational Basketball Tournament concluded last Sunday in the local YBA gymnasium. The Nisseis defeated the San Jose Zebras, 45 to 37, in the

To Meet Dec. 13 Christian Aides

Workers of the Nisei Christian churches of Seattle will hold their second meeting at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 13, in the local Japanese Congregational church.

The purpose of the group, according to Sei Adachi, student pastor in the Presbyterian church, is "to join forces to meet the tremendous challenge facing Christianity as a whole due to the increasingly materialistic secular society, and more particularly to aid and encourage each Nisei church to cope with its problems, looking forward to a closer and more meaningful fellowship among Nisei Christians in Seattle."

Claims Queries and Answers

difference as damage?
A. Yes, you can claim the difference between the value of the hotel and the price for which you sold it at the time of evacuation. This appears the typical type of claim which is intended by the statute.

4. Q. My mother was insured for $1,500 and she borrowed $150 from the policy prior to evacuation. She intended to repay the $150 and keep up the premiums but due to evacuation she did not have any income so she left the policy as it was before evacuation. Last August the policy lapsed and the insurance company paid her $835.00. What I would like to know is can she claim the $665.00 she lost? If not, approximately how much can she claim?

A. In view of the fact that the policy did not lapse until last August, it cannot be determined from this question whether or not the lapse and resulting loss was due to the evacuation. Even if all the facts disclose that the lapse was due to the evacuation, it does not appear that you can base a claim on the face amount of the policy since your mother is still living and since no loss of $1,500 can actually be shown. Your loss may be limited to the amount of the additional premium necessary to obtain a similar policy.

5. Q. Caucasian insurance companies and custodians lost by reason of evacuation. Caucasian business firms also lost accounts receivable from evacuees. Can they recover?

A. Caucasian insurances and business firms cannot recover losses under the statute because it is restricted to claimants who are persons of Japanese ancestry.

6. Q. I allowed my life insurance policy to lapse while I was in a Relocation Center because I had no money to pay the premium. Have I a claim for the amount which is necessary to reinstate my policy?

A. Yes, you do have a claim for the amount necessary to reinstate the policy in a case where your life insurance lapsed because you had no money to pay the premiums while you were in a relocation center.

7. Q. Hop growers who contracted to grow and harvest a crop were compelled to evacuate before the end of their contract. As a result they suffered losses in having to hire others to perform their contract. Can they recover?

A. They can recover their losses and the only question is how the loss should be computed. They may claim for the entire amount of the extra labor which was hired and the question may be raised whether something should be deducted from the claim as the value of their own labor which they did not have the opportunity to expend.

8. Q. Share croppers who were tomato growers were evacuated when most of their work had been completed, like the hop growers. They had to either hire others to take over their cropping contract or sacrifice without any compensation their entire season's labor and investment up until the time of evacuation. Can they recover for labor invested and other items?

A. These share croppers may claim the difference between what they would have received for the crop and the amount which they actually did receive because of the additional expense incurred in hiring labor, and other items.

9. Q. During exclusion I was offered an attractive price for my farm property but I wanted to see it before consenting to the sale. Exclusion orders prevented me from inspection. The price I can sell my property for now is one half of what I was offered in 1944. Can I claim for the value of the sale I couldn't make?

A. If you have retained your farm property it probably will be difficult to establish a claim of loss of property solely on the ground that you failed to sell it in 1944 for a price greater than its present value because the exclusion orders prevented you from inspecting it prior to sale. It is difficult to say that in these circumstances you actually suffered a loss of property within the meaning of the statute. It would also be difficult to show that the amount lost was the difference between the price you were offered and the amount which the property is worth today. Of course, the only way to obtain a final decision is to make a claim and ask the Government to decide it.
