

PROPER CLAIMS ACTION POSES BIG PROBLEM

A program effecting proper procedures in making claims against the government as the result of the 1942 mass removal of all persons, citizens and aliens alike, of Japanese ancestry, from the West Coast, is the big problem affecting scores of Nisei leaders in the Pacific Northwest today.

Portland's JACL chapter was the first to initiate a concrete move toward assisting the claimants who have returned home. That group last Dec. 1 established an office at 1204 S. W. Third Ave. for that purpose.

The Seattle JACL chapter also awakened to the fact that its unit must act swiftly to meet the demand for answers in regard to the evacuation claims. Last month, the group called a mass meeting in the local Buddhist auditorium to pass out claims forms printed in English and in Japanese.

To be a gentleman is to be honest, to be gentle, to be generous to be brave, to be wise, and possessing all those qualities to exercise them in the most graceful outward manner.—Thackeray.

Hoover Asks Raise for President

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 8—(Soundphoto) — Ex-President Herbert Hoover, left, recently urged Congress to increase the pay of the President by government absorption of White House expenses and to "study" income tax exemptions for the Chief Executive. Hoover made his proposals to a Senate civil service committee headed by Senator Ralph E. Flanders, (R) of Vt., right. The President's salary is $75,000 a year.

ADC Summarizes Its '49 National Legislative Program

(Editor's note: Following is a brief summary explanation of the JACL ADC (Japanese American Citizens League Anti-Discrimination Committee) program for this year. The order in which the legislation is discussed, however, has no relation to its order of importance, except that equality in naturalization and immigration will be given first priority, according to the JACL ADC.)

I. Equality in Naturalization and Immigration.

The privilege of applying for citizenship through naturalization on an individual examination basis should be extended to all immigrants having a legal right to permanent residence in the United States; and the general national policy which already has opened the doors to America to immigration on a quota basis of Chinese, East Indians, and Filipinos should be extended to all Asian and Pacific peoples.

In 1940 (the last official count), there were 43,158 aliens in the United States, and 39,784 in Hawaii, who were ineligible for citizenship solely because of race and place of birth.

A few of these are Koreans, Polynesians, and other Asian peoples, but more than 96 percent are Japanese.

We feel these persons long ago earned the right to apply for citizenship. In fact, as former Ambassador to Japan Joseph C. Grew stated to a House Subcommittee considering this matter on April 19, 1948: "... it seems to me there can be little room for disagreement that any immigrant who is allowed to remain permanently in the United States should not only be permitted to seek citizenship, but should be encouraged to do so. ... It is wholly in keeping with American tradition that in so deeply important a matter as citizenship, admission or denial be made only on grounds of individual merit and qualification."

The vast majority of aliens who are now ineligible to citizenship because of race have lived in the United States or Hawaii for thirty or more years as respected, law-abiding members of their communities. Most of these persons had sons or daughters who served in the armed forces in World War II with conspicuous gallantry. Indeed, the all Japanese American 442nd Central Postal Directory, the most highly decorated combat unit in the Second World War, earned for itself the title "Purple Heart Regiment" because of the tremendous casualties suffered in some of the most bitter battles of the war in Italy and in France. Others served in the Pacific. The chief of General MacArthur's intelligence forces estimated that the use of Japanese-American troops in the Pacific shortened the war against Japan by many months, and saved millions of American casualties and billions of dollars.

The parents of these soldiers are racially disqualified from becoming citizens, and this includes the widowed mother of an American soldier who was posthumously awarded America's highest military honor—the Congressional Medal.

In certain states, because these persons are ineligible for citizenship, they are denied the right to own homes, or any kind of land, or to engage in more than 500 professions and businesses.

Our immigration and naturalization laws have pinned the badge of "second class citizens" upon these Asian peoples through the use of implied inferiority.

Such laws as the Oriental Exclusion Act of 1924 have long contributed to pre-war irritation and antagonism between America and the Far East. Even today they continue to be a sore spot in our international relations.

In both Korea and Japan, America now is attempting to implant democracy, yet at home we maintain discriminatory immigration and naturalization laws against these peoples and thus abrogate the very ideals we are attempting to teach others—equality and human dignity.

Former Ambassador to Japan Joseph C. Grew, in a statement before a Congressional Committee considering the Judd Bill (for equality in naturalization and immigration) on April 19, 1942, said the Exclusion Laws were a primary source of bad relations with Japan, out of which eventually developed war.

And he added further: "The ending of exclusion now would provide concrete proof of American good faith at a time when it is most important that new leadership (in the Far East) be oriented in our direction. The matter of Japan warrants particular attention."

W. Walton Butterworth, director, Office of Far Eastern Affairs, Department of State, in testimony before the same Committee, said that: "For many years, the maintenance of normal friendly relations between the United States and Oriental countries has been impeded by racial discrimination present in our immigration and naturalization laws. ... The Judd bill (for equality in naturalization and immigration) has the hearty endorsement of the Department of State."

Brigadier General Bonner Fellers, military secretary of General Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo until mid-1946, also told the Committee: "I am convinced the Exclusion Act was a mistake which should be corrected. ... The passage of this bill (for equality in naturalization and immigration) will materially assist the objectives of our present military occupation (in Japan)."

Hundreds of organizations and individuals have supported this legislation, many from California, which was once the seat of anti-Japanese feeling in the nation. For example, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce on November 11, 1943, adopted a resolution which said in part:

"Enactment of this legislation (equality in naturalization and immigration) will remove an affront to the Asiatic race that has provided Communists and others with material with which to criticize America. We made a stop in this direction in 1943 in the case of China, and see no reason why it should not be extended to all peoples."

And John J. McCloy, wartime Assistant Secretary of War, now president of the World Bank for Reconstruction and Development, made this statement before the Congressional hearing:

"I believe legislation such as this (the bill for equality in naturalization and immigration), at least as it affects the interests of the Japanese-Americans, is only an appropriate form of recognition for the loyalty which Japanese-Americans as a whole evidenced to this country during the war."

2. Compensating Aliens and Citizens for "Contraband Articles" Which were Lost or Damaged While Held under the Authority of the U. S. Government.

At the outbreak of the war, German, Italian and Japanese aliens as well as Americans of Japanese ancestry, were required to deposit such "contraband" articles as radios, cameras, and personal firearms with the Justice Department or its representatives—local peace officers. Authorization for the return of these articles was given after the war. At that time, it was found many were either badly damaged or missing.

The "contraband" program was not a part of the general evacuation, and thus not covered by the Evacuation Claims Act passed by the last Congress.

We believe the Attorney General should be authorized to make direct payment for loss or damage to such articles as were held in official custody.

The Senate, in 1948, passed S. 99, authorizing payments not in excess of $1,000 for damage or loss to contraband articles, but the action came too late for House concurrence.

This legislation should be re-introduced in the Eighty-first Congress.

3. Amending Laws Governing Return of Vested Property to Include Law-Abiding Aliens Who were Paroled or Released from Detention.

Immediately after Pearl Harbor the Office of Alien Property (then the Alien Property Custodian) seized all non-resident and some resident alien owned or controlled properties in this country, including both business and financial institutions.

Since the termination of hostilities, the government has permitted only American citizens and resident aliens who were never detained or interned to file claims for the return of their holdings in vested property. Final deadline for filing such claims was August 8, 1948.

It should be remembered that after the war began, the Department of Justice placed in custody many German, Japanese, and Italian nationals for reasons dictated solely by caution, and most were later paroled or released after subsequent investigation showed them to be trustworthy, law-abiding residents of the United States.

Because of language difficulties, many of these persons had invested in securities, or deposited lifetime savings with foreign financial institutions which were vested by the Alien Property Custodian.

Now, because the present law makes no distinction between internees who were held during the war as suspect individuals and those who were paroled or released numerous persons against whom the only crime was one of being an internee for a sufficient period to be investigated are being deprived of their property and savings.

We believe all internees who were paroled or cleared, should be given the same right to file for the return of their property as aliens who were never interned or American citizens who had holdings in these same vested institutions.

In addition, there are a number of persons who, though eligible to file claims, failed to do so prior to the August 8 deadline because of lack of understanding concerning the law.

We also believe such persons should be granted an extension of time in which to file claims.

4. Continuation of the Soldier Brides Act for an Additional Two Years.

The Seventy-ninth Congress passed a Soldier Brides Act which permitted spouses of U. S. service personnel to enter the United States without regard to immigration quotas, except for spouses inadmissible because of race. In the Eighty-first Congress, an amendment to the Act permitted service personnel to marry Japanese and other Asian natives and bring them to the United States under the same terms of the Act as applied elsewhere.

However, American military personnel were permitted to bring to the United States only spouses whom they married prior to August 22, 1947. If those spouses were members of races inadmissible to this country under the Oriental Exclusion Act.

Under the Soldier Brides Act, the deadline for the admission of all spouses, irrespective of race, was set by law as December 28, 1948.

We feel that in view of the extension of occupation duty in both Europe and Japan, the present Soldier Brides Act should be amended.

ADC DISCLOSES 10-POINT PLAN FOR THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 8—Simultaneously with the opening of the Eighty-first Congress, the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee last Wednesday announced a 10-point national legislative program for the year.

Legislation for equality in naturalization and immigration tops the Congressional program that was unanimously adopted by the National Board of JACL, the JACL National Legislative Committee, and the ADC Board of Directors.

(Editor's note: A complete report on the legislative program may be found elsewhere on this page.)

The ADC program, according to the JACL ADC Washington office, divides itself into four types of legislative activity. They are:

I. Legislation which JACL ADC expects to initiate and sponsor.

II. Legislation of great interest to persons of Japanese ancestry, but which probably will be initiated and receive its primary support from other organizations.

III. General civil rights and social legislation which normally may be expected to receive support from organizations interested in "equal rights and equal opportunities for all", and

IV. Legislation which JACL would oppose because it is inimical and detrimental to the welfare of this country or its peoples.

With the exception of equality in naturalization and immigration, no priority is given to the other nine points of the Congressional program.

Five measures included in category I include:

1. Equality in naturalization and immigration;

2. Compensating aliens and citizens for contraband articles which were lost or damaged while held under authority of the United States Government;

3. Amending laws governing return of vested property to include law-abiding aliens who were paroled or released from detention and extended the time for filing claims two years;

4. Continuation of the Soldier Brides Act for another two years, and

5. Authorizing the admission of children of Soldier Brides Act marriages.

Two bills are listed in category II. They include:

6. Statehood for Hawaii, and

7. Amending the "Deportation Stay" Law to permit the Attorney General to suspend deportation proceedings unless opposed by Congress.

General civil rights legislation and social and humanitarian legislation comprise category III. The civil rights program reads:

8. "Because the recommendations of the President's Committee on Civil Rights and the President's Civil Rights Program contain legislative proposals that strike at the heart of race discrimination in this country, we urge that those recommendations be translated into law."

9. Social and humanitarian legislation designed to aid America generally, such as low-cost housing, federal aid to insure minimum educational opportunities for all, controls to prevent exorbitant rentals and hold down the cost of living, extended social security coverage and more realists-

House Receives Three Identical Bills For Equality in Naturalization

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 8—Three identical bills for equality in naturalization and immigration were introduced into the House of Representatives on the opening day of the Eighty-first Congress. The JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee announced today.

The bills were offered by: Congressman Francis E. Walter, (D., Penn.), Congressman Walter H. Judd, (R., Minn.), and Congressman George R. Miller, (D., Calif.).

The Walter-Judd-Miller ENI measure is identical to the so-called Judd bill introduced in the Eighty-fifth Congress, a bill which was unanimously approved by the previous Congress' House Subcommittee on Naturalization and Immigration during the final days of the last session.

In addition to the bills introduced by these Representatives, four other measures were tossed into the hopper on the opening day, all dealing with the problems of removing discrimination against Orientals in America's immigration and naturalization laws.

Two bills were introduced by Delegate Joseph R. Farrington, (K., Hawaii), seeking to make Koreans and Japanese admissible as immigrants and eligible to apply for citizenship.

Emanuel Celler, (D., New York)

introduced two separate measures asking for the admission of Indonesians and Koreans, and seeking to make those ethnic groups eligible to apply for citizenship.

However, it is expected that Delegate Farrington shortly will introduce an identical copy of the ENI bill, thus expanding its sponsors to four Representatives.

This, of course, would obviate the necessity of Delegate Farrington seeking passage of his two separate measures because the comprehensive ENI bill sponsored by the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee includes not only Koreans and Japanese, but all other ethnic groups in Asia and Pacific Islands now inadmissible solely because of race.

Although Representative Celler's bills do not call for admission of Japanese or many other Asian groups into the United States, the new York legislator already has announced his support of the Walter-Judd-Miller ENI bill. His approval of the comprehensive measure is considered significant because he now is chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, of which the Subcommittee on Naturalization and Immigration is a part.

Although the ENI proposal was not introduced last year until the Eighty-fifth Congress was well under way, the current measures, coming at the opening of the new Congress, are in a position to receive comparatively early consideration.

Actually, the ENI bill was the nineteenth proposed law to be tossed in the Congressional hopper when it was introduced by Rep. Miller, Rep. Judd was the second person to introduce the bill, as HR 199, and Rep. Walter the third, H's 18 HR 308.

A total of 443 public bills, incidentally, was introduced on the opening day.

As a California Congressman, Representative Miller places his state, once the center of anti-Japanese feeling in the United States, squarely behind the ENI bill. The Congressman is one of the influential friends of Japanese-Americans in Congress.

The only sponsor of the bill last year, Representative Judd so far is the only Republican to introduce the proposed law. This indicates the bipartisan support it is receiving in the Eighty-first Congress.

DOES GOVERNMENT
MANAGEMENT WORK?
By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

FOR A decade before World War II, France was moving toward control and management of her major industries. Private employers were unduly criticized. The profit system was represented as being abused. There were those who apparently found it easy to foment confusion and strife. Employees were set against employers. Production went down, standards of living went lower and lower. The security of France became doubtful, as dangers arose.

Then came the attack from Hitler. France fell quickly. Her divided condition, her hatreds and factionalism, made defense feeble and weak. Then five years later, liberation came. France again established her own government. But industrial confusion was still everywhere. Employers were so discredited by the propagandists that production couldn't get going.

From Chaos to Worse
THE TROUBLE was that the French people in general, fretted by the propagandists, couldn't get down to straight thinking. The public wanted more for doing less and less. The call for government to take over major industries became louder and louder.

Certain industries were therefore taken over in 1945 and 1946. One of these was the coal mines. It employed the management, and hired all the workers. The government was placed in full and complete control. Three years passed. You have perhaps read the news in recent weeks. Government employed miners went out on strike against their government employer. These government employees so seriously damaged government owned mines that government soldiers had to be sent out to protect the property and the mines.

No Happy Family
YOU MIGHT think that under Socialism, everybody would be just one happy family. Not at all. Fighting has been going on between the government miners and the government soldiers. Property has been damaged that some mines can not be reopened for many months at best. Lives have been lost in the fighting, and many persons wounded. All this at a time when France is in a critical hour, when her people need coal and fuel. This is all wrong, and it certainly proves that government management cannot insure industrial peace.

There are other important observations. Government ownership and management of mines did not increase production per man day. On the other hand 4 million tons of coal have been lost, and the price has risen about 50 per cent. This has led to the diversion of 19 million Marshall Plan dollars from other purposes, to buy fuel for the French people.

Many who wanted government management are still not satisfied. Many of them are promoting a Communistic state, now. That would happen in America. There is no indication that government management would work any better here. It is only a step toward Communism, which we do not want. Let us work in every way to preserve private management, a system which has helped America to achieve the highest wages and best living conditions ever known.

'49 National Legislative Program Is Summarized by JACL-ADC

to permit spouses to be brought into the United States until at least December 28, 1950, and that portion of the amendment by the Eightieth Congress which eliminates race as a consideration in the operation of the law should be given general application.

5. Authorizing the Admission of Children of "Soldier Brides' Act" Marriages.
(Note: For purposes of this program analysis, the admission of children is considered a separate legislative goal, although it is entirely likely this phase of our program may be combined with No. 4 and actually viewed as another amendment to the Soldier Brides' Act itself.)

Present laws make no provision for the admission of children of "Soldier Brides' Act" marriages from countries where race is a basis for admission to the United States. Several tragic cases have grown out of this situation. For example, there is the instance of a soldier in Japan who married a Japanese national, the mother of a child by a previous marriage. The child was adopted by the soldier, but the present law will not permit this infant to accompany his parents to the United States.

We feel that all children, irrespective of race, of Soldier Brides' marriages, whether natural or adopted, should be permitted to enter the United States for permanent residence.

II.
LEGISLATION OF GREAT INTEREST TO PERSONS OF JAPANESE ANCESTRY, BUT WHICH LIKELY WILL BE INITIATED AND RECEIVE THEIR PRIMARY SUPPORT FROM OTHER ORGANIZATIONS.

6. Statehood for Hawaii.
We earnestly feel the Territory of Hawaii has won its right to Statehood by every standard applied to any other territory.

It is our considered opinion that Justice, fair play, national interest and international good will can best be served by this long-overdue action.

7. Amending the "Deportation Stay" Law to Permit the Attorney General to Suspend a Deportation Proceeding Unless Opposed by Congress.
Public Law 863 of the Eightieth mination as a basis for deportation proceedings, but also provided that Congress must affirm (by concurrent resolution) all recommendations by the Attorney General for the suspension or cancellation of deportation orders against aliens under certain recognized conditions.

The present functioning of the Act unduly burdens Congress with what is an administrative rather than legislative procedure. We feel the Attorney General should be permitted to suspend deportation proceedings against all aliens—European or Asiatic—unless Congress acts unfavorably upon his decision in specific cases.

III.
GENERAL CIVIL RIGHTS AND SOCIAL LEGISLATION WHICH NORMALLY MAY BE EXPECTED TO RECEIVE SUPPORT FROM ORGANIZATIONS INTERESTED IN "EQUAL RIGHTS AND EQUAL OPPORTUNITIES FOR ALL."

8. General Civil Rights Legislation.
Because the recommendations of the President's Committee on Civil Rights and the President's Civil Rights Program contain legislative proposals that strike at the heart of race discrimination in this country, we urge that these recommendations be translated into law.

Specifically, we strongly favor: A Fair Employment Practices Law, the so-called "equal protection" (Anti-lynch) laws, elimination of poll taxes as a prerequisite to voting, repeal of all race segregation statutes, passage of more realistic and enforceable federal civil rights laws, a greatly strengthened and active Civil Rights Section in the Department of Justice under an Assistant Attorney General, a Federal Civil Rights Commission, and a joint Congressional Committee on Civil Rights.

9. Social and Humanitarian Legislation.
We endorse legislation designed to aid America generally, such as low-cost housing, federal aid to insure minimum educational opportunities for all, controls to prevent exorbitant rentals and hold down the costs of living, extended social security coverage, and more realistic veterans' benefit laws, with special emphasis on strengthening laws designed to aid the disabled and handicapped veteran.

IV.
LEGISLATION WHICH JACL ADC WOULD OPPOSE BECAUSE IT IS INIMICAL AND DETRIMENTAL TO THE WELFARE OF THIS COUNTRY OR ITS PEOPLE.

10. Legislation Which JACL ADC Would Oppose.
Equally important with the passage of remedial and corrective enactment of legislation directed against the welfare, security, and freedom of any segment of the American people. We believe in maintaining a vigilant guard lest mis-directed patriotism or tolerance damage or destroy civil liberties or human dignity.

Repose and cheerfulness are the badge of the gentleman—repose in energy.—Emerson.

ADC Announces 10-Point Plan

the veterans' benefits, with special emphasis on strengthening laws designed to aid disabled and handicapped veterans, are endorsed in the JACL ADC program.

The tenth point, legislation which JACL ADC would oppose because it is inimical and detrimental to the welfare of this country or its people, makes up category IV, although no specific bills or legislative proposals are named.

"This ten point national legislative program is comprehensive and demonstrates the growing awareness of JACL ADC that legislation for all Americans must be the concern of persons of Japanese ancestry." Mike Masaoka, national JACL ADC legislative director, declared in filing the proposed program with appropriate Congressional officials.

Hito Okada of Salt Lake City, national president of JACL, and head of the National Board of JACL, composed of elected officers, district council chairmen and past presidents and the ADC Board of Directors, and Don Komai, of Washington, D. C., chairman of the National Legislative Committee, authorized the JACL ADC Washington office to act upon the legislative program.

Truman Reaffirms Civil Rights Stand In Annual State of Union Message

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 8.—President Harry S. Truman Wednesday reaffirmed his 10-point Civil Rights program which he previously submitted to the Eightieth Congress.

In his annual State of the Union message to the combined Houses of Congress, the President asked that the original program be enacted into law.

The President did not reread his Civil Rights message. However, when he delivered it originally to the Eightieth Congress, he asked for, among things:

"Equalizing the opportunities for residents of the United States to become naturalized citizens, and settling the evacuation claims of Japanese Americans."

Only one phase of the 10-part Civil Rights program was approved by the last Congress—evacuation claims, a bill originated and sponsored by the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee.

It is considered likely Congress will approve the naturalization phase of President Truman's program through passage of the bill for equality in naturalization and immigration. This measure, too, has been initiated and sponsored for the past three years by JACL ADC.

In his original Civil Rights message, President Truman said:

"All properly qualified legal residents of the United States should be allowed to become citizens without regard to race, color, religion or national origin. The Congress has recently removed the bars which formerly prevented persons from China, India and the Philippines from becoming naturalized citizens. I urge the Congress to remove the remaining racial or nationality barriers which stand in the way of citizenship for some residents of our country."

Doggone It! It's the Dogs . . . And the Cats!

The finest pedigree dogs in this part of the country—from the teacup-size Pekingese to the massive St. Bernard—will be on exhibit at the 17th all-breed dog show to be held Jan. 22 and 23 by the Seattle Kennel Club, Inc., in the State Armory.

Entries are expected to exceed any previous show. S. B. Spellman, president of the club and chairman of the bench show committee, said yesterday.

Deadline for entries is Saturday midnight, Jan. 8, he warned. Entries, with fee, should be mailed to the show secretary, Mrs. Valerie C. Sperry, 20023 Pacific Highway South, Seattle 88.

Judges are men of high prestige in dog-show circles: Alva Rosenberg of New York City; Jack Letch, Seattle; Willard Hudson of Kirkland who will judge the children's handling classes; and Capt. L. Zingler of Everett who will judge the obedience trials.

Junior and senior puppies will have their classes in the show. Expected are such rare hounds as the borzois, beagles and Irish wolfhounds.

The sporting dogs group will bring out a number of pointers, retrievers, setters, spaniels, collies, and other favorite breeds. There are groups for the working dogs, such as German shepherds, great Danes, Alaskan malamutes, scores of others; and for the whole array of non-sporting dogs: terriers, chows, bulldogs and so on. And of course there are classes for the "toys"—the vest pocket size playthings.

THREE BILLS FOR EQUALITY GO TO HOUSE

The most powerful Democratic members of the House, last Saturday he was elected chairman of the House Democratic Caucus, and is the ranking member of the House Judiciary Committee.

Mike Masaoka, national JACL ADC legislative director, said the "interest expressed in the ENI bill is one of the most heartening signs we have yet seen regarding current Congressional opinion towards the measure."

"All the efforts of our Washington office," he said, "will be directed towards expediting consideration of this bill in committee, and its passage."

"We hope that 1949 will be the culminating year in our efforts towards achieving final equality in and under the law for all persons of Japanese ancestry in the United States," he said.

Orient Tour Pix Due This Month

A commercial full-color and sound motion picture, which involves more than 20,000 miles of travel in the Orient by Mongolian camel train, native banca (dugout) canoe, Japanese rickshaw, Chinese sedan chair and by air and rail, is scheduled for international release this month.

J. M. Cook, Northwest Airlines director of advertising who filmed and directed the production of the picture, "Northwest to the Orient", today announced that release of the picture in the United States is set for January 15 as major points along NWA's coast-to-coast domestic system.

Based on a typical Northwest Airlines flight from the States to the Orient and photographed over a period of several weeks, the travelogue portrays the unique native city life as well as picturesque, but rarely photographed, scenes from the interior sections of Japan, China and the Philippines.

Chicago's 'After Death Bias Law' Hit By Pearson of 'Merry-Go-Round' Fame

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 8—Drew Pearson, noted national columnist and radio commentator, stirred up a nation—and Chicago—in a broadcast which called attention to the Windy City's "after-death race discrimination law". Chicago cemeteries have long observed a rigid discrimination policy which prohibits the burial of Japanese Americans.

Recently, this situation came to the attention of the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee Chicago office which promptly set about to throw the light of publicity upon an intolerable example of discrimination.

Advised of the Chicago situation by the JACL ADC, Pearson, in a nation-wide broadcast, said:

"Attention: Ex-mayor Kelley of Chicago:

"During the war, Mr. Mayor, Chicago did a great job for servicemen, and you, in a large part, were responsible. Another outfit that did a great job for its country was the Japanese American 442nd Regiment, the so-called "Purple Heart" Regiment because of its heroic charge up the Apennine hills (sic) in which one-half the Regiment was killed or wounded. But now the bodies of the heroic 442nd Regiment are being shipped home, and the once big-hearted city of Chicago today refuses to give these men a final resting place. These men were good enough to die for their country. But because of Chicago's anti-race discrimination law, they are not good enough to be buried in Chicago."

What Pearson did not add, but of course, which his broadcast highlighted, was the fact that no American of Japanese ancestry may be buried in a Chicago cemetery.

In the past, Japanese American residents of Chicago have either been forced to have next-of-kin cremated, or have shipped the bodies to the west coast for burial.

We sometimes meet an original gentleman, who, if manners had not existed, would have invented them.—Emerson.
