

NEWSPAPERS FROM COAST TO COAST BACK JUDD BILL FOR EQUALITY IN NATURALIZATION & IMMIGRATION

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 12.—From California to New York, the American press has given strong editorial support to the Judd bill for equality in naturalization and immigration.

Following are highlights from some of the editorials:

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE
Americans of Japanese descent who fought with magnificent valor for this country during World War II won victories other than those achieved in battle. They did much to reduce racial discrimination in the United States against people of their blood and other people of the Western Pacific and East Asia. As a result their deeds were praised again and again during a debate in the House Tuesday on an immigration bill which was passed easily by a voice vote.

Representative Walter H. Judd, Republican, of Minnesota, who introduced the bill and was persuasive in his arguments for it, deserves congratulations. He showed clearly that discrimination against Japanese, Koreans and Polynesians is a serious handicap to the United States in international relations. Credit also should be given to both Republican and Democratic Representatives from California where pre-war prejudice against the Japanese seems to be disappearing. The largest share of the credit, however, should go to the courageous soldiers of Japanese ancestry.

THE NEW YORK POST
We urge the Senate to approve the measure, but we do not ask our Senators to accept the bill solely for the reason advanced by many of its outspoken advocates.

Congressmen, with undoubted good will in their hearts and a dash of cunning strategy in their eyes, have pointed to the cold-war struggle for Asia as a major argument for the bill's passage.

If the United States seems done with racism in its immigration and naturalization policies, they announce, our Far Eastern neighbors will be more easily persuaded to the Western side.

The House-approved immigration and naturalization bill can stand on its own merits without any undue assist from the spectre of Soviet encroachment in Asia. The shadow of Russia should supply added persuasion rather than bear the brunt of the argument.

Surely our legislators can remember and at least mention the basically warm human reason for adopting such legislation.

THE LOS ANGELES TIMES
Passage (of the act) is...simple justice. The Senate should accept the legislation without question and remove from the statute books a vestige of race discrimination and prejudice.

...it is unfair to bar (the parents of Nisei soldiers) from the privilege of citizenship. Others in the group pay taxes and otherwise contribute to the community life. Attachment to the principles of the United States is not a matter of race, creed or color and it should be the sole requirement for citizenship.

THE SHEBOYGAN PRESS
"These people have worked hard, paid their taxes and educated their children as Americans. In agriculture, business and industry they have added to the wealth of their land. They are devoted to American principles. Yet, their psychological hurt at being held apart from America is a deep one."

Discrimination against Asiatic peoples by American law is a source of humiliation. We cannot obtain their good will and strengthen their faith in democracy if we allow this situation to continue.

We earnestly advocate enactment of the Judd bill into law.

ELMER DAVIS, NEWS COMMENTATOR, IN A BROADCAST ON ABC

An old injustice, which in its day did much harm to American foreign relations, seems on the way to correction.

Limitation of immigration to what the country can absorb is a sound national policy; but this complete prohibition of entry, or naturalization, to certain nationalities has been a source of bad feeling against the United States. It was especially so in Japan where the law of 1924 created a resentment of which Japanese militarists eventually took advantage.

NEW YORK TIMES
When the House Committee on the Judiciary was holding hearings on the bill to lift the barriers to immigration for 250,000,000 Asiatics—the bill which passed the House by a large margin on Tuesday—one of the witnesses was Mike Masaoka, a native-born American of Japanese ancestry whose mother was ineligible for citizenship under the old restrictions. Mike fought in Italy with the 442nd Regiment Central Postal Directory, made up of Nisei like himself. They talked of many things in the foxholes outside Cassino, he said, but "the No. 1 topic was this: Sure, we wanted America to win the war, but we also wanted America to be the kind of America that it professed to be, and the kind of America that would not discriminate against people like my mother, who came here early in the Nineteen Hundreds."

It took a war to break down the artificial barriers of race that were raised years ago under the hysterical spur of the "yellow peril." First came the amendment in 1943 to admit Chinese, then in 1946 the lifting of restrictions against Filipinos and Indians. The present bill, which now goes to the Senate, goes the rest of the way to provide for quota entry of Japanese, Koreans and the island peoples of the Pacific, and to permit naturalization of those already resident here.

No flood of Asiatics is permitted under the provisions of the bill or the previous ones. The largest quota is 100 persons a year. Its chief first effect will be to permit naturalization of people like Mike Masaoka's mother, who told her sons when war came: "Boys, your job is to go out and fight for these United States, because it is my country." The good effects of the bill hardly are calculable. Despite the low quotas, at least the restriction that implied an inferiority of race will be removed if the Senate follows the House, as it is hoped it will, and passes the bill. Who knows how Japanese-American, Chinese-American relations might have developed had not the people of those two countries had raised against them this bar sinister of color? It is good to have it removed, to return to the principle that our neighbors are as good as we are. The House of Representatives by its action has lived up to the best American traditions.

Job Opportunity Drive Planned

Stimson L. Bullitt, chairman of the Industrial Relations committee of the Seattle Urban League, announces the Vocational Opportunity campaign to be held between March 13 and 27.

The Vocational Opportunity campaign is for the purpose of impressing youth with the necessity of studied attention to the matter of choosing and preparing for a career.

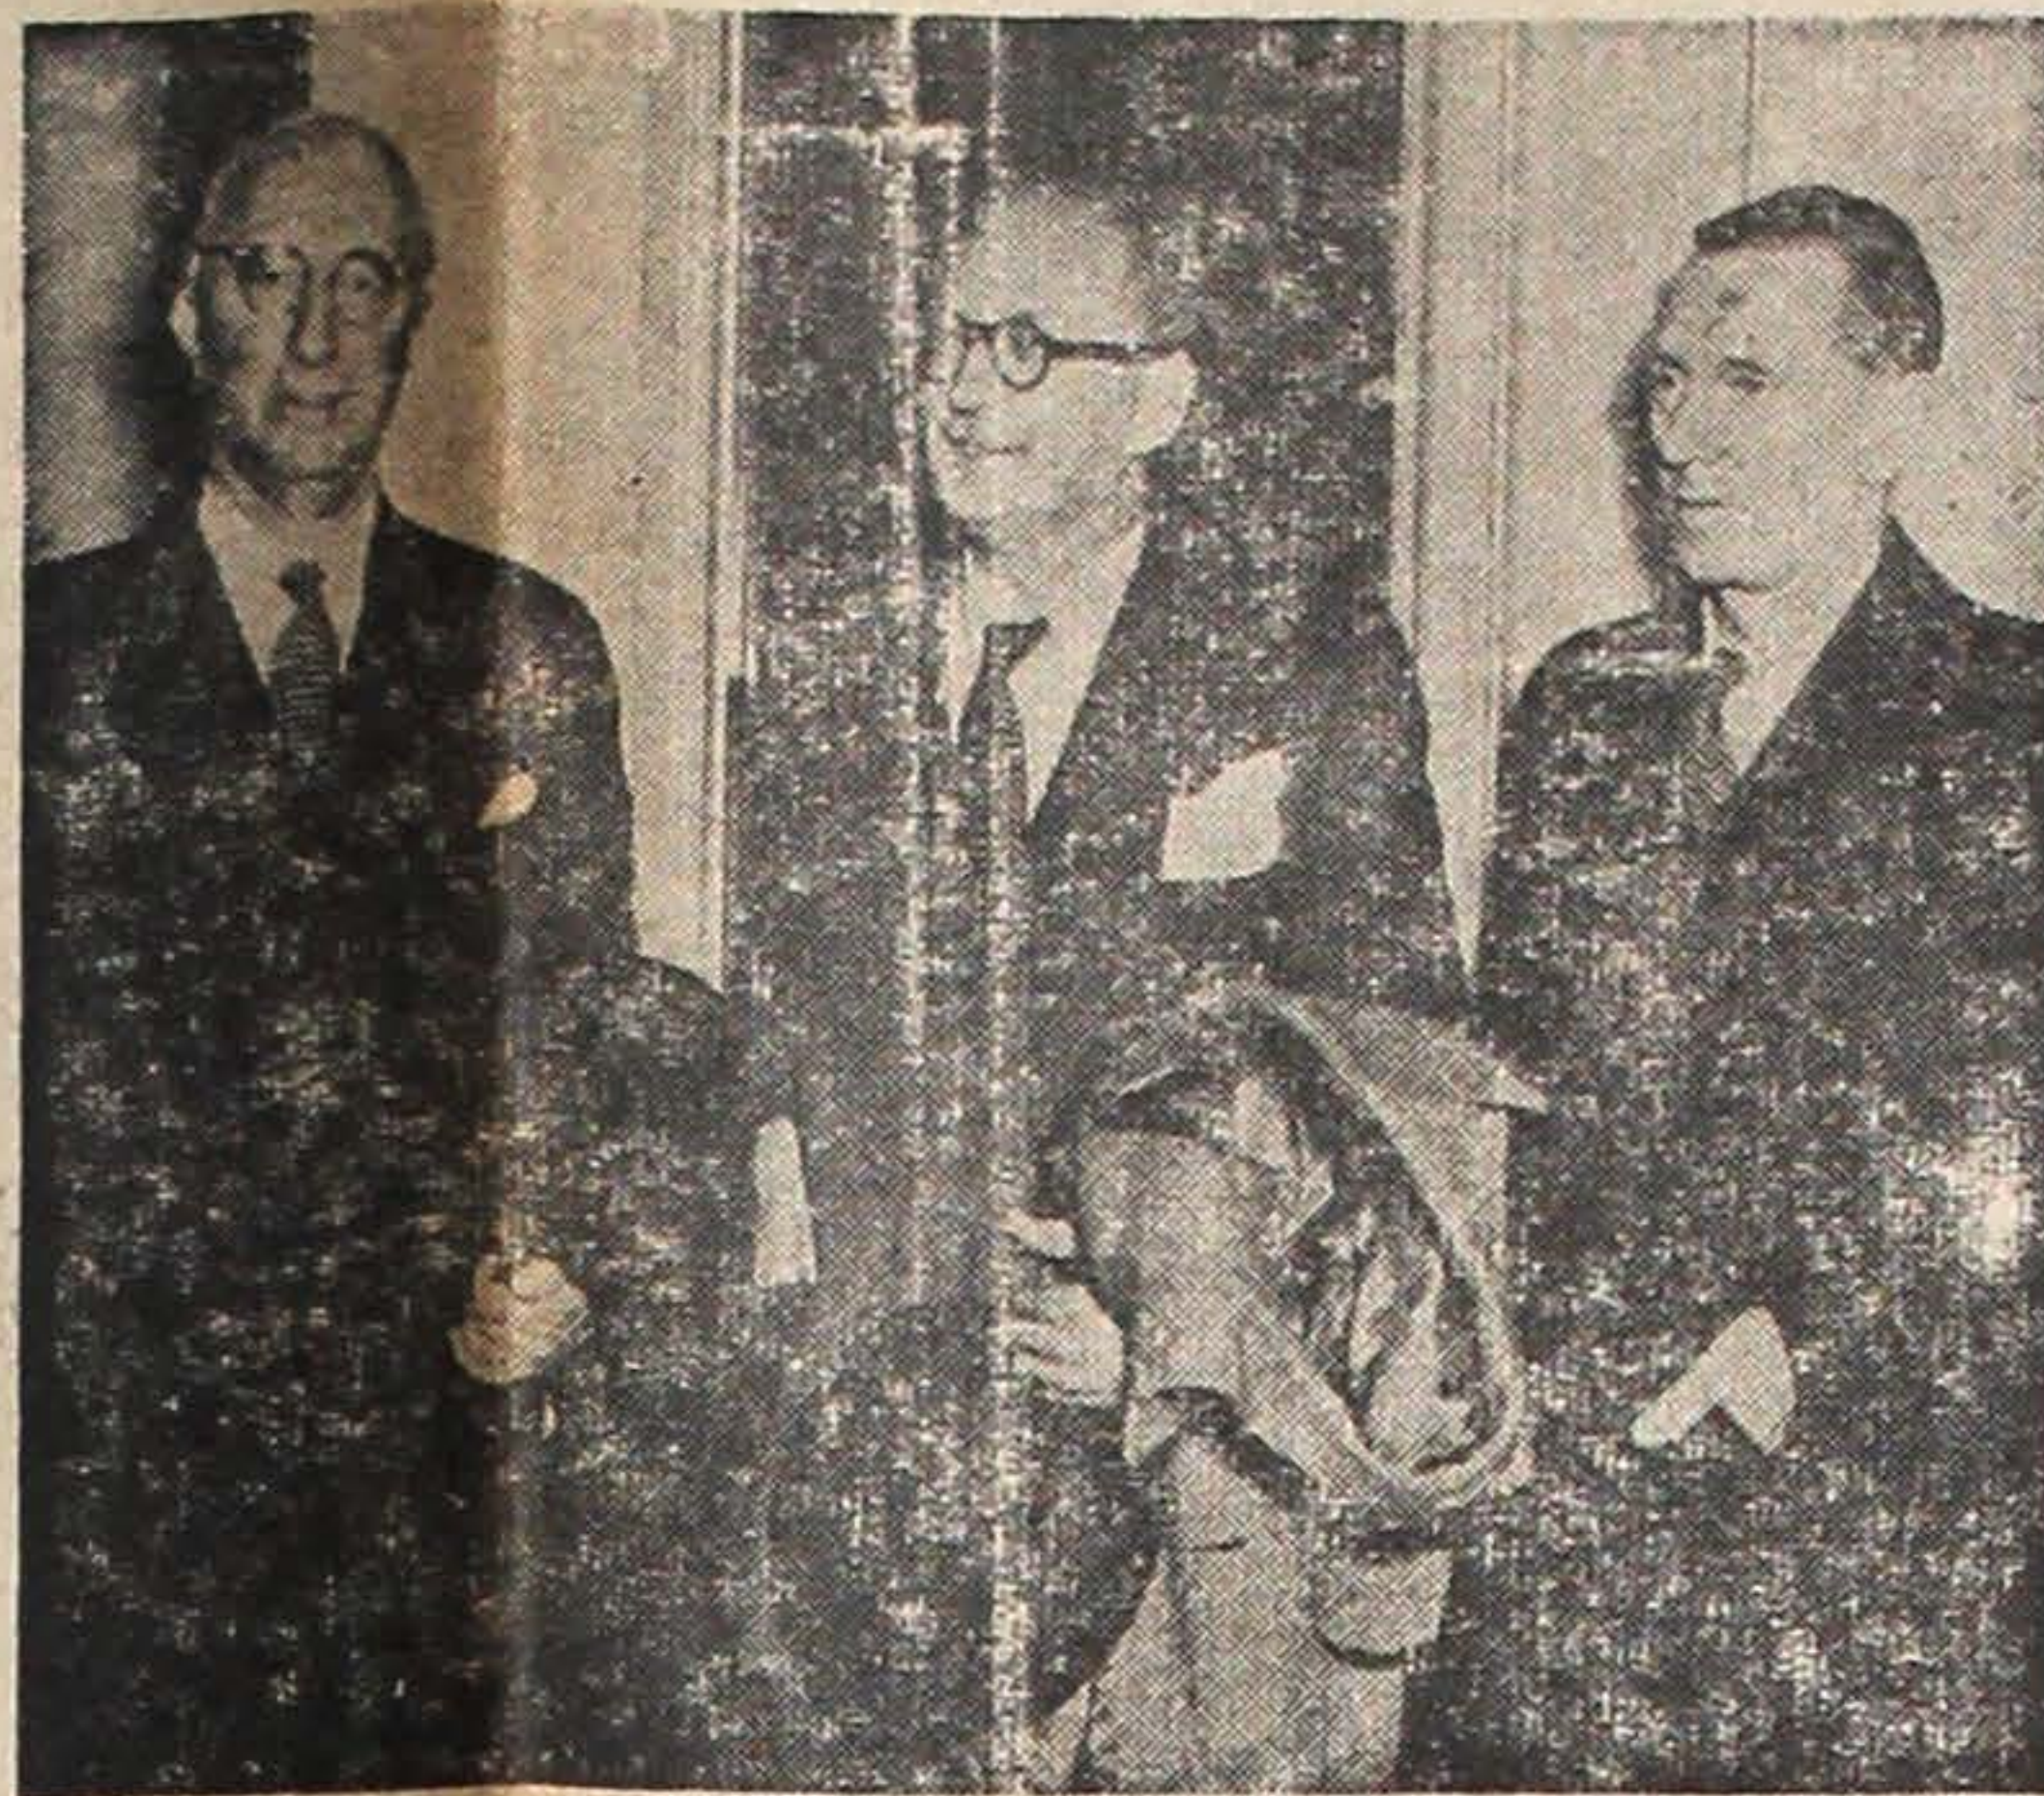

The campaign will be developed in Seattle this year through a series of career clinics. The first clinic will be held in the East Side Y.W.C.A., 102 21st N., on Monday, March 14, at 7 p.m.; the second clinic will be conducted at Neighborhood House, 304 18th S., on Wednesday, March 16, at 7:30 p.m.; and the third session will convene in the East Madison Y.M.C.A., 23rd and E. Olive, on Thursday, March 17, at 7:30 p.m.

Subjects to be developed at the "three clinics will be "How to Prepare for a Job"; "Things to know in Making an Application for a Job"; "The Prospective Job Fields".

The Vocational Opportunity campaign is but one phase of the Industrial Relations program of the Urban League. A year-round program of job counseling is done in the offices of the organization, 421 East Pine Street, and a specialized service is maintained for employers in the assignment and utilization of Negro and other colored minority workers.

PART OF JUDD MEASURE BIASED, N. Y. NISEI WALLACEITES TOLD

By TOORU KANAZAWA

NEW YORK, N. Y., March 12—"I heartily support the citizenship provisions of the Judd Bill," Congressman Vito Marcantonio of New York told a delegation from the New York Nisei for Wallace Committee who visited him at his Manhattan headquarters last week to find out why he and other "white supremacy" advocates gave their enthusiastic stamp of approval.

"I fought only those provisions of the Judd Bill which discriminate against the British West Indians and the provisions which denies the 'Pacific Triangle' countries the non-quota privileges under which American citizens whose wives and minor children who reside in these can enter without being charged to the quota," Marcantonio stated. "Under the present language of the bill the families will be deducted from the 100 quota. Actually, the bill takes away with one hand what it purports to give with the other."

A DANGEROUS TAX

By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

Looking Ahead

THERE'S TALK in Washington of a $4 billion tax increase. If Congress permits this new siphoning of income and savings from the people into the federal treasury, the results can be dangerous for the whole nation. This is fact, regardless of whether or not the President and his administration would be cramped in spending a proposed $42 billion budget.

Of course, like our Senator McClellan told homefolks recently: Mr. Truman's program means that taxes can only go one way—up, up, up. Senator Fulbright, our other distinguished senator, tried to ease the misgivings of the economy minded by pointing out that saving federal money and reducing taxes is a question of "what you are willing to give up." That is a problem, all right. Too many of us have the attitude of the well known politician, who said that he had never voted for a tax bill nor against an appropriations bill.

Justify Spending

IF WE MANAGE to get ourselves into thinking the other fellow is going to have to pay for the handouts, we then show no enthusiasm about economy. Citizens and congressmen alike, too often see economy as a fine thing when it's not close to home, but work like mad for all the government "aid" they can get—for themselves.

One thing is wrong with the question our Senator asked, about what we would give up. It puts the burden of proof on the citizen who would economize! That proof belongs elsewhere! Every bureaucrat who demands funds should explain and justify the expenditure of every dollar!

Wherein lies the danger to the nation in heavier taxes at this time? It is proposed that the burden of a $4 billion tax increase be placed upon corporations and businesses. This might look like an easy way to shift the tax load onto somebody else. Actually, a tax that is shouldered by business is still borne by the people—because people buy the products of corporations that are owned by people.

Don't Kill Incentive

AT PRESENT the nation's business corporations pay a 38 per cent tax on income. Earnings distributed to owners may get taxed up to 92 per cent. (Other taxes also are levied upon corporations.) Tremendous sums, therefore, are handed to Uncle Sam by industry. But right now, the nation's economists are agreed that America's industry must have huge amounts of additional capital for growth and for expansion. There's danger, if instead these billions must be poured into Washington.

Any industrial plant that is not able to spend money continually for expansion or for newer, better equipment is a corporation moving toward failure. An amount roughly equal to the President's proposed budget of $42 billion is the least we ought to put this year into our industrial plant. If America is to have the industrial strength it should have, if jobs are to remain plentiful and if wages are to be high—then we had better have a care about penalizing our industry. America can lose out, by exacting too much "take" from business.

Unless industry is allowed to expand, modernize, and meet today's needs, there'll be nothing at all to tax one of these days. When taxes take what would be invested, and when incentive to invest is killed—the country will go into reverse. Another $4 billion in taxes on corporations would be most unwise.

Just among People

by gordon hirabayashi

(In last week's column it was stated, "Most of the letters were unfriendly...." This is a typographical error. I received something like 11 friendly letters for every unfriendly one. Since friendly letters are what most newly-weds receive, I concentrated my comments on the unfriendly ones.)

One of the most disturbing elements of race relations involves those who have risen above race prejudice intellectually, but have not yet freed themselves from it emotionally. A middle-aged man, Caucasian, generally considered very liberal, as broadminded as they come intellectually in regards to race relations, wrote me a long letter just prior to my marriage.

After expressing the highest regard for my wife and her parents, he continued: "You know, too, my regard for you. I know you must have thought of all the problems involved in your marriage to Esther. However, there is much truth in the saying that love is blind.... I believe that my only motive in this writing you is to save Esther from what might prove a hasty and at present unwise step. My own judgment is that you should postpone your marriage until at least some of the dark clouds have been dispelled." (Summer, 1944)

Perhaps, love is blind, but is it particularly so for intermarriage? If a couple feels in love, is reasonably certain that they are well-adjusted to each other, and desire to be married, why not take the big step? Otherwise, one is doomed to celibacy.

I am of the opinion that if I were to have married a Japanese or Esther to have married a Caucasian, there would have been nothing but congratulations and good wishes from our middle-aged friend.

Many people ask, "Are you for intermarriage?" What if someone asked, "Are you for appendicitis?" How should one answer. It would undoubtedly depend on the situation; whether he needed the operation or not.

Similarly, marriage depends on the couple involved. If all of the prerequisites for marriage are met, then one can answer such a question. The answer to "Are you for intermarriage?" would be identical with the answer to "Are you for marriage?"

Suppose a couple married across race lines because they felt they had much of the fundamentals essential for a happy marriage. What about children? Is it fair to the children?

Insofar as children are concerned, they are an essential part of every family unit; all marriages, I feel, would be incomplete without children. Whether such a couple is justified in bringing children into this world or not depends entirely on how the responsibility for rearing children is accepted, which appears to be the qualification for any other parent. All couples should be concerned about whether or not they are fit to be parents; it is a serious responsibility. It is not a problem peculiar to intermarriage.

Whether they would be a part of society or apart from society would depend largely on them. If they considered themselves different, strange, unique, they would most likely behave that way and help to establish a similar attitude in others.

Whereas, if they considered themselves a part of the human family, participating in an age-old institution, the family, their chances for a normal life of cooperation and service would be greater.

Race does present additional problems; that is an unquestioned fact. But the basic problems of intermarriage are essentially those of marriage. Therefore, it seems much more constructive to be concerned with the general problem of marriage, than to dissipate our energies on the more superficial things.

THE Sporting Thing

Aloha from Hawaii's George Ishihara

George Ishihara, manager of Charley's Arcade (Hawaii Nisei All-Stars), sent us special delivery, air mail, a nice letter from Honolulu the other day, explaining how his team advanced to the championship round robin series of the Honolulu Senior Amateur Basketball league. Ishihara's boys are in the thick of the fight for the title in the series which is under way at this writing.

The friendly Hawaiian Nisei, who rates as the most active publicity agent we've encountered in a long time, wants his Seattle fans and friends to know that they have added a ha-o-le, who stands 6' 7", and two Hawaiians to give the squad some height.

And he continues: "Butch Shimomura, Tets Odo, Gunner Sumida and Ray Oyama are going great guns in this league. . . Shimomura, Odo and Sumida landed on the all-star team. . . Richard Asato and Tad Tozawa with bum ankles haven't been playing much. . ."

At Ishihara's request, the best aloha to Aubrey Funai, Chuck Aramaki, Mrs. Alice Sakura, Shiro Kashino and Haru Satake.

Say, fellows and girls, how about dropping a few lines to Ishihara and his gang?

To Start with Class AA All-Stars

Selection of an all-star team writes finish to any sporting event, basketball being no exception to the rule.

To begin with, this column's operators have named the following five as their Class AA all-stars for the '48-'49 season:

Forward—Frank Hori, White River
Forward—Heat Heyamoto, Tokuda Drug
Center—Ted Nakanishi, White River
Guard—Ray Otani, Mercury
Guard—Sei Adachi, Tokuda Drug

Some of the better men who were given serious consideration but left out, according to our operators' scorecard, were Gaylord Iwasaki of Mercury, Seiji Hata and Art Louie of Polka Dots, Ray Saito of White River, Mote Yasuda of Tokuda Drug, Ed Yaplee of Wah Mee, and Johnny Kusakabe of Nuggets.

Be patient, fans, the Class A, B and girls' all-stars will parade before you in later editions.

Sideline Topics

Shewo Kawrye (salty) thought for today: never underestimate your opponent, never overestimate yourself, and never forget — be a good sport, play fair. . . we told you so department—Lotus Sanghas of Seattle captured the N. W. Buddhist convention basketball tournament championship in Spokane last week-end. . . it will take something awesome like an atom bomb to shake China Import & Export out of the SNGBO (Seattle Nisei Girls' Bowling Organization) title running. . . local fans and players who observed the fine handling of the Nisei basketball leagues should give Henry Yorozi, the director, a deserving thump on the back for a job, well done. . . two Matsuis—Everett in the men's and Aiko in the women's—are setting the pace as "Big Ten" leaders in the Spokane kegling world. . . our vote for the best cage comeback of the '48-'49 season—Bill Beach's Comets staggered through the first round but returned strong to win the second round and wind up runner-up in the Class A circuit. . . it's a good thing Bill Tanaka and Jim Kuranishi brought home some dough from the national Nisei bowling tournament in Salt Lake City; otherwise, the Seattle tenpin stock would have dropped to a zero.

Series—Kenny Arita, Richard's jewelry, 582.

Hattori Realty bounced back to first in the City Merchants league Thursday night by snatching a 4-0 victory over Jackson Grocery in Main Bowl. Fred Suto was responsible for the realtors' triumph as he rolled a 556 series.

Seventh Ave. Service repulsed Tad's Gardening, 3-1, to sneak into second spot in the standings. The auto fixers' Toki Mizuki had a fine night, hitting a 566 which included a 225.

In the meantime, West Coast Printing, which was leading the pack up to Thursday night, took a terrible 4-0 pasting from O. K. Cafe. The loss dropped the printers to fifth place.

Kashiwagi's downed Richard's Jewelry, 3-1, but the feature was substitute Kenny Arita's 582 series for the vanquished.

Denver Quintet Accepts Bid
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, March 12—The Manchu Grill Bears five of Denver, Colorado was one of the first out-of-town teams to officially accept to participate in the 14th annual Intermountain Nisei Invitational Basketball Tournament, scheduled for March 24, 25, and 26 at the Pioneer Stake Gym in Salt Lake City.

The Bears are recent conquerors of the mighty Marusho Miks of Denver, perennial king-pin of the mile high city Nisei, and one time champions of the Salt Lake tourney. The Manchu are rated to take the league title at this writing.

Mainstays of the team are "Jumpin'" Joe Arikki and high scoring Kanda and Art Yoshimura, former Salt Laker.

Since the actual strength of the Coloradans in comparison with out-of-state teams is unknown, they remain a dark-horse entry in the meet.

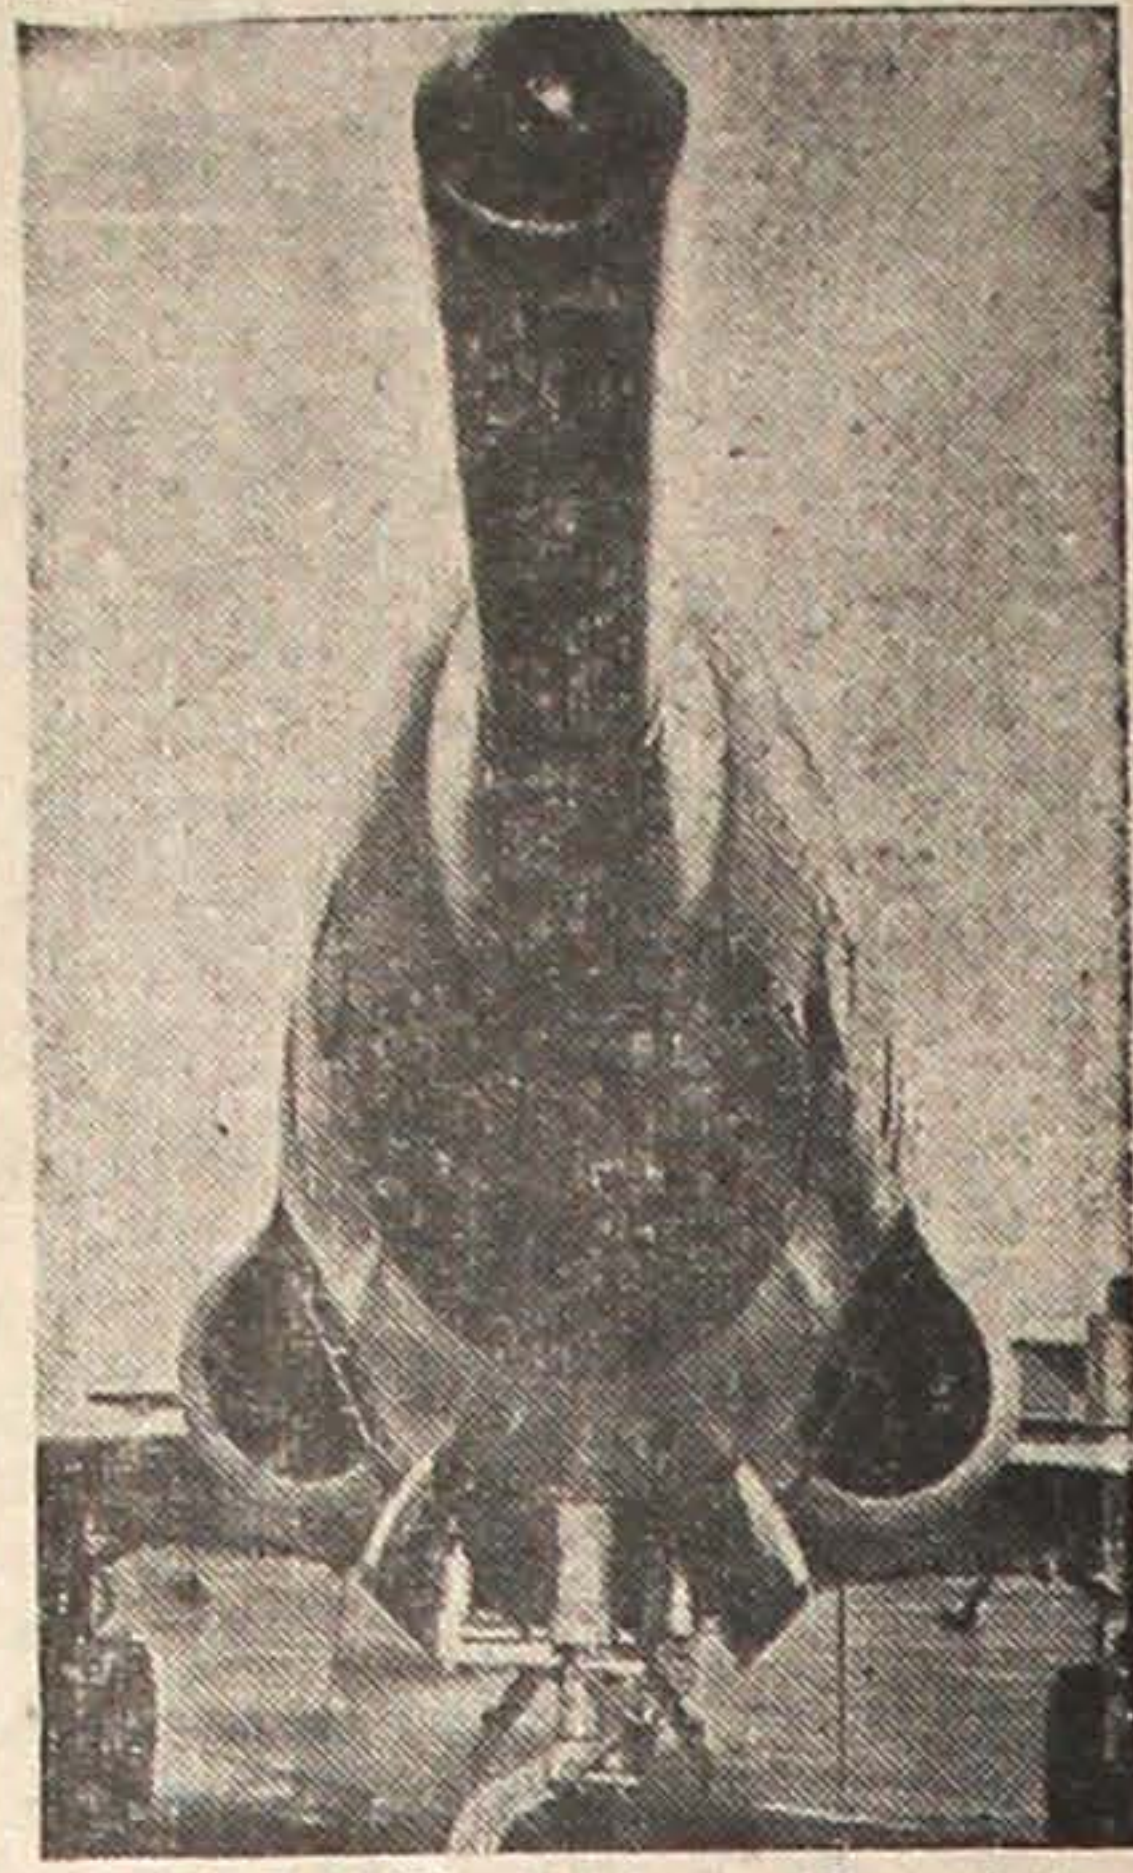

Nisei Turn Out For Sports

PORTLAND, Oreg., March 12—Seven Nisei athletes are turning out for high school teams this Spring, it was learned today.

At Lincoln, two are practicing baseball, three, track and one is a swim candidate. George Sumino (catcher or pitcher) and George Nakata (sophomore shortstop) are the diamond men. Ko Tambara, John Inouye and Kaisho Okayama are seeking track squad positions. And Yoji Matsushima is a swim team aspirant. Tambara and Sumino are football lettermen.

At Benson Tech, Oscar Maruhashi, a freshman, is bidding for a berth on the swim squad.

A Nose For Trouble

BURBANK, CAL. — (Soundphoto) — The Lockheed Shooting Star (F-80) has a new look. This front view of the craft shows a large rocket protruding from the nose. Flame and heat from the rocket's thrust is dissipated through an opening in the underside of the nose. The pilot is protected by a special fire wall. It has been reported that the rocket has been fired while the ship was in flight. Plane also carried banks of smaller rockets under each wing.

Portland Vets Seek Games

PORTLAND, Oreg., March 12—The Portland Nisei Vet baseball club will have spanking new uniforms, white with red trimmings, this season, it was announced today by Dr. Ted Tsuboi of that group.

In all probability, the Vets will have two games, one entered in the Municipal league and the other in the Oregon Nisei Baseball league.

Right now, the Veterans here are negotiating for a night game with the Seattle Nisei Vets on either May 29 or 30. The site being sought by the Rose City outfit is Westmoreland park.

The Portland Vets also wish to invite a Seattle Buddhist team to tangle with the Portland Busses.

On those days, Hood River and Wapato also will be invited to join in the baseball merry-go-round which will not be a tournament but may turn into an elimination affair. Later in the season, the Portland Vets hope to tackle the Seattle Vets in a return game in Seattle.

WEEK'S HIGH

Singles—Shoichi Suyama, Sakuhara's, 247.
Series—Shoichi Suyama, Sakuhara's, 609.

Main Drug stayed within striking distance of Nisei Commercial League leaders, Northwest Times and Over the Top Beverage, by decisioning International Realty, 2-1, Tuesday night in Main Bowl.

The drugists' Herb Furuta and Nobu Takahashi hit the pocket for 568 and 544 series respectively. George Kimura, also of that squad, posted a 221 in the first game. Art Segimoto (555) and Fred Takagi (543) held up the realtors.

In the other matches Tuesday Puget Sound Vegetable Growers Association, urged by Ray Kiyohara's 572 series, dropped City Produce for the full 3-0 count, and Cathay Post 186 turned the same trick on 12th Ave. Service. Clift Goon (557) of Cathay and Toki Mizuki (554) of 12th Ave. were outstanding for their respective team.

Over the Top Beverage drubbed Higashi's, 2-1, and Sakuhara's, many thanks to Shoichi Suyama (609), shook down Shanty Inn, 2-1, the other week-end. Suyama's scores were 146-247-216.

Northwest Times and Puget Sound Laundry of Tacoma decided to play off their scheduled series later.

Florals and Stripes For Smart Effects

A bedroom should bear the stamp of its occupant, and the junior miss will want a room that suits her own feminine fancy.

A cheerful and inviting bedroom, one that will inspire pride and merit sufficient care and attention, can be very simply achieved. In the room shown, the solid colored bedspread stands out strikingly against patterned walls. Two wall papers have been combined for a different and dramatic look—a large floral design in contrast to trim, bold stripes gives the room real distinction. Wide ruffles on the spread, a thick matted scatter rug, a delicate arrangement of hanging ivy, are all in keeping with a love of glamour in interior decoration.

This is a room to be lived in and enjoyed. It will prove popular with the homemaker as well as being a boon to its young occupant. And its smart slightly tailored appearance will be a constant source of pleasure.

Bedroom decorative schemes should be designed to suit the individual taste. The wide and interesting selection of wall papers available today (especially during March which is Wall Paper Style Month) make it an easy task to do a custom-made redecorating job for every one of your rooms.

"Cross me off your list... but don't forget the other guys!"
"There was a time when I thought I'd be a Case History for keeps. A time when a dry laugh caught in my throat at the thought that I'd ever hold a job again."
"That was the time when a smile, a friendly word from a Red Cross worker was worth more than all the money in the world. The Red Cross believed I'd come through O.K. They made me believe it, too."

"Now I'm doing fine. But plenty of guys haven't been so lucky... yet. Let them know, won't you, that you haven't forgotten them? They're still counting on the Red Cross. And the Red Cross is still counting on you!"
