Letter to CARE from Japan

NEW YORK, N. Y., March 23—"Dear People of U.S.A." are the opening words of a letter from Japan, just received by the New York headquarters of CARE, the non-profit agency which delivers food and textile packages in Japan and 13 European countries.

The letter came from Shogo Shimomura, a young student in Tokyo, who, to supplement his income, worked for a period at the CARE warehouse. These are the words he wrote to tell the people of the United States the story of any package ordered from CARE, New York, or CARE Los Angeles:

"Dear People of U.S.A.,
In present day Japan, such words as 'albeit' or subsidiary occupation are heard on the lips of many students. The financial situation has become so acute, with every day finding the inflation expanding, that many families find it difficult if not impossible to finance their children's education. Many students to lessen the burden on their parents, occupy themselves in extra curriculum activities. I too, am included. In search of a suitable position, I was fortunate in obtaining an introduction to the Nippon Boeki Unso Kabushiki Kaisha (Japan Trade Transport Co., Ltd.) The position turned out to be a night-time job which would allow attendance in class during the day. The particulars were just what I had been seeking, but, above all, what surprised me most was the nature of the job.

"The Nippon Boeki Unso Kabushiki Kaisha is the firm designated by the Japanese Board of Trade to supervise storage and distribution of CARE packages. My job as night watchman was to care for these CARE packages which contain not only necessary supplies but the good will of the donors, come earth-ly or heavenly."

DELAY BY SENATE ON ENI BILL LOOMS; NEW YORK POST SCRIBE FEARS ROAD 'VERY UNCERTAIN'

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23—An indication of possible delaying action by the Senate on the Judd bill was reported this week in the New York Post.

Writing from Washington, Charles Van Devander, chief of the Post

Washington bureau, wrote:

"There were loud huzzahs a couple of weeks ago when the House of Representatives almost unanimously passed a bill to remove all racial barriers in existing naturalization laws and to provide immigration quotas for Asiatic and Pacific peoples. The measure was primarily intended to wipe off the statute books the Oriental Exclusion Act of 1924.

"The cheers over this liberal and enlightened action in the House seem to have been premature, however. The road ahead in the Senate is rocky and very uncertain. Chairman McCarran (D., Nev.), of the Senate Judiciary Committee hasn't decided what to do with the House-approved bill, but the chances are he will refer it to a five-man subcommittee which is considering a general rewriting of the immigration laws. That will amount to pigeonholing it for this session, since the subcommittee is not expected to report until next year."

While this is a probability, and not a remote one, either, it should be pointed out the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee, and numerous other organizations supporting the Judd bill, are hopeful HR 199 will not be referred to the special subcommittee.

Instead, they are seeking to have HR 199 treated as special legislation, with the principles of the act subsequently incorporated into a projected omnibus immigration and naturalization bill which the subcommittee is expected to write.

Rep. Judd's ENI Legislation Draws Comment from Two More Journals

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23—Two liberal journals, The New Republic, and The Commonwealth, a Catholic publication, have commented on the Judd act (HR 199) in their latest issues.

While the bill is termed "not generous" by The New Republic, nevertheless, the magazine declares that it "sets a general pattern for eliminating racial discrimination in all immigration and naturalization regulations."

Although the Commonwealth is critical of two sections of the bill, yet, it says that "for what it will accomplish it should be consistently backed until enactment is secured."

The New Republic article says, in part:

"After 25 years and two wars during which Japanese Americans proved their loyalty, a bill lifting the ban on immigration quotas available to Asiatics and Pacific peoples has passed the House... The proposed act is not generous. It would limit the annual number of immigrants allowed from the far east to less than one percent of total authorized immigration.

"Introduced by Rep. Walter Judd (R., Minn.), the bill primarily affects Japanese, Koreans and Polynesians, but sets a general pattern for eliminating racial discrimination in all immigration and naturalization regulations."

"The immediate effect of Judd's bill would be to make eligible for naturalization many legal residents of this country... disenfranchised because of race..."

The Commonwealth says:

"...If the Senate can be prevailed upon to pass the legislation... two things will have been accomplished. The stigma of racial inferiority will no longer be attached by American law to Oriental peoples, and some 85,000 Orientals long residents in this country will be eligible for normal processes of naturalization."

"...Several factors are responsible for the almost universal support the legislation had in the course of its journey to the House floor. The superb record of the Nisei contingent in the American army won the greatest esteem... Out on the west coast there is today a great change of feeling. The industriousness of the Nisei is now appreciated rather than envied.

"An important element throughout has been the able educational work of the Japanese American Citizens League and their Caucasian friends determined to see justice done.

Commonwealth was critical of two sections of the bill: 1) That wives and children from countries having less than a 200 annual quota may not enter the U. S. quota free, and 2) That a colony would be restricted to using only 100 of its mother country's quota annually. It termed this a "bar" against citizens of the British West Indies.

"For what it will accomplish," the Commonwealth adds, the bill "should be consistently backed until enactment is secured."

'Modern Ways in Baby Care' Taught By Dr. Taylor in YWCA Course

Young mothers-to-be in this district may begin enrolling this week for a course on "Modern Ways in Baby Care" which will start April 6 at the Y.W.C.A., 5th Ave. & Seneca St. Registration may be made by calling Elliott 4800, ext. 6.

Other Y.W. classes which will start the first week in April range from textile and figurine painting to interior decorating, sewing, leather craft and many other subjects. Sports classes to be given during the spring months include swimming, ballroom and square dancing, golf, tennis and badminton. Registration for these courses should be made in person at the Central Y.W.C.A.

The class in baby care is sponsored by the Family Life Education program of the Seattle Public Schools. Sessions will be from 1 to 3 p.m. on Wednesdays for eight weeks, with Dr. Roberta S. Taylor as instructor.

"Mothers should be able to enjoy their babies," Dr. Taylor said. "The purpose of the course is to give each mother an understanding of the basic emotional needs of her newborn child so that she will have confidence in her ability to care for the infant and also will avoid certain common mistakes. Only then she can relax and take real pleasure in seeing her child develop."

Why do babies cry, what feeding schedule is best and how should a baby be weaned and trained are among the many questions considered in the course. The discussions deal primarily with the emotional health of mother and child, and concern the first year of life rather than the prenatal period, since women attending the class are already under obstetrical care.

During the course, several evening meetings will be held to brief expectant fathers on their role as parents. Films will be shown and qualified physicians will address the group.

Dr. Taylor has been conducting a similar course for prospective parents at the Union Bay Child Health Center, and will continue to direct another series there starting in April. Besides being the mother of three children, she has studied at Johns Hopkins University, the University of Minnesota and Vassar College under a two-year Rockefeller fellowship in child development.

NVC ELECTION

RICHARD H. SETSUDA is the new leader of the Nisei Veterans Committee for the coming year, succeeding ALBERT H. (LEFTY) ICHIHARA as Chairman of the organization. The popular and capable Setsuda, a leader in local vet circles since his return from service with the 442nd Infantry, was elected to office at the NVC's annual election meeting, held last Friday evening at the Buddhist Church.

Other elected officers were: Vice-Chairman, ELMER OGAWA; Treasurer, HIROSHI NAKASHIMA; Recording Secretary, HOWARD MINATO; Corresponding Secretary, GEORGE ABE; Publicity Chairman, HIDEO HOSHIDE; Athletic Chairman, AKIRA (POISON) KATO; Membership & Election Committee, DAVIS HIRAHARA (Chairman); MITS SATO, GEORGE HORI, ART KOURA, and TOM TAKEMURA; Sergeant at Arms, TED SHINODA; Chaplain, ART SUSUMI; Social Chairman, SABURO OGISHIMA; Historian, MAS FUKUHARA; Advisory Council, HIRO NISHIMURA and EDWARD (DUFFY) KIYOHARA.

Amendments to the Constitution and By-Laws were adopted by the NVC prior to balloting, creating the new positions of Vice-Chairman, Chaplain, and Historian. An amendment was also approved increasing the Advisory Council to a total of nine members, to include the four top officers of the organization, three ex-Chairmen, and two elective members at large.

OTHER MEETING NOTES
NVC members approved a motion to again sponsor a Nisei high school student for the American Legion's "Evergreen Boys' State" ... It was agreed that some token of appreciation should be extended to the Greenwood Post, VFW, for their cooperation in furnishing rifle squads whenever required for reinterment ceremonies. The gift will be decided upon by the Advisory Council ... "Dick" Setsuda declined to give a speech after his election as NVC Chairman. He'll do his speaking at the NVC's inaugural banquet to be held in April, which will be another "on the house" dinner for Nisei vets to look forward to ... Due to the absence of Art Susumi, who is attending school in the Mid-West, "Lefty" Ichihara will assume the duties of Chaplain of the NVC until Susumi's return. The outgoing NVC Chairman is familiar with the complex requirements of the reinterment program, most important of the present duties of the office of Chaplain. ... Vets are urged to pay their $3.00 NVC dues for the coming year to the new Treasurer, Hiroshi "Shadow" Nakashima. Three bucks isn't much, but it sure means a lot to the club when everybody pays up! ... Don't forget to attend the memorial services this Saturday for seven local Nisei vets who will be buried with full military honors following the services ... And that's about all for this time; see you all next week.

Would You Like to Rear a Child?

In King County there are 30 children, ages 6 months to 17 years, awaiting placement in foster homes at this time. They are under the care of King County Welfare Department whose staff is seeking the right kind of homes for them—homes that will give them loving protection and security. Some of these children have never known what it means to belong to someone and share a happy home life.

Take, for example, a little six-year-old girl and her brother five years old. They are pale, shy children, as frightened as little rabbits because they have never known security. Their need is to be together in a home for a long period to give them the feeling of belonging to someone.

Here's an attractive, husky boy of eight. His parents are not interested in him and as a result he has built up a defense of fighting with everyone. He is moved from place to place for this reason and needs someone's sympathetic understanding to overcome his defense.

A 16-year-old girl came to the Welfare Department herself because things were so unhappy at home. Her mother drank excessively and her father abused his wife. She needs patience and understanding to renew her faith in people, and to be happy herself.

Most of these children, for various reasons are not adoptive, but cannot live with their own folks. If you are interested in sharing your home with a child or children, write to King County Welfare Department, 327 Lyon Building, 3rd & James St., Seattle 4.

● Young Jimmy Also Called His Score

Remember back in 1932 at Wrigley Field, Chicago and the mighty New York Yankees were matched in a World Series game?

"Babe" Ruth, the Sultan of Swat of the Yankees, turned to a surprised crowd, pointed a finger at center field, and then hit a home run to his called spot?

An incident similar to that occurred last Thursday night in Main Bowl when young Jimmy Nakamura, southpaw bowler of Richard's Jewelry, came up to us and said in a serious tone, "Bud, don't forget to put my name in the headline. I'm going to hit a 600 series."

We smiled at Jimmy's remark as a youngster's determination to post a 600 series which is considered remarkably strong even in the major classics.

Well, Jimmy fooled us. He assembled enough strikes and spares to turn in a 614 series, the season's high. His tally was 218, 196 and 200.

Jimmy's name did not make the headline — Nakamura is a long count for any headline writer — but these paragraphs should serve the purpose — that of congratulating the youngster for his achievement, calling his shot, a la "Babe" Ruth.

Nisei Veterans Nine Entered in City Ball Loop

Skipper Joe Kesamaru of the Seattle Nisei Veterans Committee's baseball nine which this season is entered in the City league, told THE NORTHWEST TIMES that he will have very little change in the Vet roster. The City league opens play April 17.

Veterans from the '48 campaign are Poison Kato, Ted Shinoda, Mas Nakamichi, Edo Sasaki, George Shimizu, Ted Matsushita, Tak Yagi, Jimmy Yamaguchi, Chuck Kinoshita, Yosh Fujiwara and Sam Sakai. "Hea" Heyamoto, star shortstop, will be in the Vet lineup as soon as the University of Washington diamond year is finished.

At present, Kesamaru has Ray Saito, formerly of Ontario, Oreg., covering the short patch. New additions include Frank Hori and Frank Okazaki.

Roy Fujiwara will be the team's manager.

Calls ABC Ban 'Indefensible'

DETROIT, Mich., March 23—Mayor Al Feeney of Indianapolis and Mayor Edward T. Delaney of St. Paul have been urged to prevent the use of public facilities for the next two American Bowling Congress tournaments unless non-whites are permitted to compete.

Co-chairman Betty Hicks of the National Committee for Fair Play in Bowling, former women's national golf champion, said the ABC's ban on non-white bowlers was "morally, legally and socially indefensible."

Standard Hotel Wins Cosmopolitan Bowling Diadem

COSMOPOLITAN CLASSIC LEAGUE STANDINGS (Final)

	W	L
Standard Hotel	32	16
Seis	27	21
Cincos	25	23
Dos	23	25
Tres	22	26
Unos	15	33

Standard Hotel was declared the championship team of the Cosmopolitan Classic league in Main Bowl last Sunday night when the captains of the various teams met with league secretary, Jimmy Kuranishi, to end the circuit for the 1948-'49 season after 16 weeks of play.

The winning outfit has two Filipinos, Joe Cacho and Chris Cardenas, and three Japanese Americans, Kaz Yamazaki, Budd Fukey and Shig Urakawa.

Besides earning a trophy which will be due sometime next week, Standard Hotel also received cash prizes for hitting the highest team frame (995) and the second highest team series (2781).

Kaz Yamazaki, Standard Hotel's cracker-jack leadoff man, had the second highest individual series of 652, Gene Augustine of Tres having the highest, a 676.

High game honors were won by Sammy Tamayo and Hero Nishimoto, both of Unos, who posted 278 and 264 games respectively.

The Tres squad lashed out with the highest team series (2825) and the second highest team game (992).

Standard Hotel, as winner of the fast Cosmopolitan Classic loop, is the first team to qualify for the Main Bowl house championship tournament next month, according to Fred Takagi, Main Bowl manager.

The Cosmopolitan Standard Hotel will compete against the Nisei Commercial, Nisei City Merchants, Serv-U-Meat, Blue Monday, Seattle Letter Carriers, Commercial, Local 28 Postal Clerks, and Seattle Foundry league champions in that meet.

TOKUDA, HARLEM, HAWAII TABBED 'TEAMS TO BEAT' IN UTAH MEET

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, March 23—For the 14th consecutive year, the Salt Lake JACL annual Inter-mountain Invitational Basketball Tournament goes into action Thursday night with Tokuda Drugs of Seattle, Washington, defending champions, putting its crown on the block against a field of seven other Nisei quints from four states and one territory.

Though a favorites' role is not a pleasant one, this has been accorded the Tokuda Drugs, Harlem of Salt Lake, and the darkhorse entry from Honolulu, the Hawaii All Stars.

The druggists from the Queen City represent the top team in the Pacific Northwest and 3rd ranking oriental team in the nation, having won both the Northwest League and Tournament titles, and having taken third in the recent National All-Oriental Tournament. Ordinarily, their top players are Sei Adachi, high scoring guard and the most outstanding player in the recent Oriental meet, and the former University of Washington star, Al Mar. But neither Adachi nor Mar will make the trip. However, they still have the team that won the championship here last year, including Shobo Fujii, tricky ball handling guard, and Chuck Kinoshita, last year's most inspirational player in this meet.

Harlem of Salt Lake is the perennial power in Utah and is again led by high-scoring Fumio Kasai and Tozie Katsuyama, the picture of smooth ball-handling. With the acquisition of Roland Alo, another student of ball-handling finesse, the Harlem five presents a formidable crew. It might be added that Harlem is still after that third and final leg of the long coveted JACL perpetual trophy, for permanent possession.

Hawaii is seeded third only because of its unknown strength. The islanders bring with them the best in the Hawaii Nisei Senior League and AAU circles, all veterans who have cavorted and starred for McKinley, Farrington, Hilo, or Weimea, high schools. Their mainstays seem to be a couple of 6 footers by name of Harold Tome and Michael Sugai. Tome is reported to be the most respected player in Honolulu and was high scorer and most valuable player in the Senior League. All others hold some sort of title or record, but two more that may bear watching are Frank Fukunaga, a tricky one-man floor show, and Tom Inafuku, who in his first year in the senior league scored 75 points in a three-game round robin series.

Tokuda Drugs and Temple Noodle of Salt Lake meet in the opener at 6:30 p.m. this Thursday, March 24. Though the Seattleites are the favorites, the young Noodlers could be tough with the right combination, especially with the addition of George Hiramatsu, holder of the local league and tournament scoring records.

The second game pits the Hawaii All-Stars against the Pocatello JACL. Poley is the best in Idaho, but it might not be enough.

The 8:50 p.m. game finds Harlem, champion of the local league, clashing with the Denver Nisei League champions, the Manchu Grill Bears. This tilt might be termed as the Rocky Mountain championship game, but no favorite, inasmuch as the actual strength of the mile-high city boys is uncertain.

In the final battle Thursday, the Murray Taiyos, Idaho Invitational Tournament champs, meet the Honeyville Mustangs, northern Utah league and tournament titlists.
