

Manca to Speak At Yardville Fete

Mrs. Ruth Manca, executive secretary of the Jackson St. Community Council, will represent the City of Seattle at the "Report to the Nation" Yardville luncheon sponsored by McCall's Magazine next Wednesday, May 18, at the Drake hotel in Chicago, it was learned today.

The industrious local council leader will leave here at 7 a.m. Tuesday, May 17, via Northwest Airlines and return home the following Monday, May 23.

At the Chicago affair, Mrs. Manca will report on Seattle's proposed international Yardville, a project which calls for community effort in a given block to convert waste land to livable, usable extension of indoor home space.

The Jackson St. Council and the Neighborhood House, according to Mrs. Manca, have been asked by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and have agreed to sponsor such a project to spearhead the Seattle campaign for Yardvilles.

The Council-House Yardville project workers will be as follows: panel of experts—Benjamin F. McAdoo, Jr., architect, Thomas Chang, designer, and William Yorozu, landscape artist; lay committee—Charles Winston, Mrs. David Luke and Mrs. Gladys Allen of Jackson St. Council and Mel Thomas and Mrs. B. H. Oda of Neighborhood House. The advisory panel will include John D. Spaeth, Jr., director of city planning; Robert Huges, University of Washington School of Architect; and John Hanley, landscape architect.

The advisers will be George Coplen, home contractor representing the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, and Ralph Decker of American Institute of Architect.

Canadian Preacher to be Here For Series of Buddhist Talks

The Rev. Takashi Tsuji, Nisei minister of Toronto Buddhist church (Toronto, Canada), will be in Seattle during May 18 and 22. His lectures here are being sponsored by the local Buddhist temple.

Rev. Tsuji, one of North America's foremost lecturers on Buddhism, has made a tour of the Orient, has studied at the University of British Columbia and Toronto University, and has served in churches throughout Canada. Last year, he participated in the Eastern Young Buddhist League Traveling Minister Program. This year, he was invited by the Western Young Buddhist League to speak at its annual convention in Fresno and also to various Buddhist and American civic groups throughout California.

The Canadian preacher's appearance in Seattle will mark the close of a successful Pacific Coast tour sponsored by the Western Young Buddhist League.

A reception banquet in his honor will be given at 6 p.m. next Wednesday, May 18, in Gyokko Ken Cafe. As there will be a limited number of seating space, the Rev. T. Ichikawa of the Seattle Buddhist temple urges everyone to make his reservation early at the church office. After the banquet, Rev. Tsuji will speak to a combined Issei-Nisei congregation in Japanese at the church.

Rev. Tsuji is scheduled to be the main speaker at the Lotus YBA English service on Thursday, May 19, and at the Lotus Shoyu Kai English service on Friday, May 20. He will address the Nisei in English, and the public is cordially invited to attend all three of his lectures.

The Toronto lecturer also will speak on Saturday, May 21, at the Seattle Buddhist temple's Gotanye (St. Shinran's birthday) service.

Japanese Baptists Will Mark 50th Year of Their Church

Japanese Baptist Church members in Seattle and elsewhere will pause for one week, from May 22 to 29, to observe the 50th anniversary of their church.

Although the church was formally organized in 1899, the history of the Baptist mission among the Japanese in Seattle starts eight years earlier.

Toward the close of 1891, three Japanese young men in Seattle made known their desire for instruction in the English language and the Bible at the First Baptist Church, then on the corner of Fourth and James Street. Through the aid of the Rev. G. J. Burchett, and J. W. Sherwood, a small room was secured and a school was held under volunteer teachers three nights a week. In April, 1892, one night a week was given to Bible study, with Mrs. L. V. Ward as the teacher, and in May, four of the students were converted and baptized, the first Japanese baptized in Seattle.

In the fall of 1894, F. Okazaki and C. Y. Akidama, two of the original three who had asked for instruction in English in 1891, were ordained to the ministry. Both wished to carry the gospel to their own people in Japan, and the Rev. F. Okazaki sailed to Japan on Sept. 15, 1894, within two weeks of his ordination.

In 1899, after Rev. Okazaki had returned from Japan, the Seattle Japanese Baptist Church was organized with 11 members — the Rev. Okazaki as moderator; H. I. Kudo, secretary; Mrs. L. V. Ward, also as secretary to report in English; H. I. Kudo and T. Sakura as deacons; S. Hoshida, clerk, and T. Sakura, treasurer.

The church was originally at 418 Jefferson Street, a large house of twenty-seven rooms. In 1909, the church was moved to 661 Washington and in 1923 the present church site at 911 E. Spruce was acquired for $40,000.

The Rev. Paul Gates became the first Nisei pastor in 1921 and served until 1925. During the succeeding years, until the Rev. Emery E. Andrews came in Sept., 1929, the Nisei group was served by the Rev. Fred W. Steadman and the Rev. F. W. Wrightman. Except for four years, from May, 1942 to May, 1946, when all church activities were stopped due to evacuation, the Rev. Andrews has been the Nisei pastor. The Rev. Masahiko Watanabe, the present Issei minister.

The week-long celebration will open on Sunday, May 22, at which time the Rev. Jitsuo Morikawa of First Baptist Church in Chicago, will address a joint Issei-Nisei congregation. On Monday and Tuesday evening services, Dr. Morikawa will speak before a Nisei audience. All of Dr. Morikawa's sermons is open to the general public.

The Nisei program will be climaxed at a Reunion Banquet to be held on Wednesday evening, May 24. Tickets are now being sold by various Baptist church organizations at $1.25 for adults and 65 cents for children. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Kim Nakamura by calling FRanklin 0862.

ADC Cites Need For FEP Measure

End of Bias Can Enable Our Country To Use Her Manpower Effectively, House Labor Sub-Unit Told

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14—The elimination of race and religion as factors in employment will bring about a more effective use of American manpower, increase the productive capacities of the nation and materially raise the national income and standard of living, the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee asserted today in a statement on the need for Fair Employment Practices legislation.

The statement was filed with the House Labor Subcommittee, headed by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., (D. N. Y.), which has started hearings on FEPC legislation.

A bill before the subcommittee prohibits discrimination because of race, religion, color, national origin or ancestry in interstate or foreign commerce, business or industry, and labor organizations where 50 or more persons are affected.

The JACL ADC statement was filed by Mike Massoka, national legislative director. He will testify before the committee personally tomorrow.

The JACL statement declared: "We know of no other legislation that will have more far-reaching consequences for good than this."

It discusses the employment history of both Nisei and Issei in the United States prior to the war, and then says, in part: "Even when defense industries were opened on the west coast and skilled help was badly needed, qualified Nisei... were rejected for jobs. Immediately after the establishment of the war-time FEP Committee however, because of corrective action, qualified Nisei began to be considered and accepted for employment in the comparatively 'high-paying' aircraft and shipbuilding industries."

"Because of this experience with FEPC, we are convinced federal legislation not only is necessary but that it will be effective." Agreeing that the "post-war" employment picture shows a tremendous improvement over the pre-war situation, the statement continues, "If joblessness increases materially it is quite conceivable that once again persons of Japanese ancestry may be singled out for discriminatory treatment solely on the basis of race and that on the west coast at least, Issei and Nisei may be the first fired."

The statement analyzes the current job situation for Issei and Nisei in the cities of Seattle, San Francisco, Chicago and New York.

In a review of New York, the statement observed that "since the establishment of a state (FEP) commission, cases of discrimination have been handled in such a fashion that the general discriminatory pattern which existed is being broken down all along the line. Thus, even where Japanese Americans have not had actual contact with discrimination, the existence of the law has helped open new fields of employment."

"As with other minorities," the statement noted, "it is not a simple task to discover exactly how extensive discrimination actually is against persons of Japanese ancestry. (Many) will not make an effort to obtain jobs in fields or particular plants where they have learned by word-of-mouth that racial discrimination is a policy. Others decide against certain vocations or professions because they fear employment opportunities are practically nil."

"Thus, many talented persons are forced into subjects for which they have little interest and less real ability. The end result is that the nation suffers."

"Because the right to work is synonymous with the right to live, JACL feels very keenly that FEP legislation is a clear and pressing need. Municipal and state laws are only a part of the answer. A substantial section of American business is interstate in scope, and only federal legislation would adequately cover this vast part of commerce and industry which would be partially, or negligibly affected by local FEP laws."

"Because we know... that FEP commissions can be effective and efficient, we endorse federal legislation defining fair employment practices and creating a commission to enforce those practices. Because we desire to share as full partners in this nation, we join with millions of others who are innocent victims of color and religious intolerance to urge the immediate enactment of FEP legislation, not because it will be an overnight panacea for all our ills, but because it will represent a tremendous step forward in implementing our democracy for millions of Americans," the statement concluded.

THIS THING CALLED "ESSENTIAL"

What kind of thing is an "essential"? The question seems simple enough, but I am sure most single people do not really understand the full meaning of the term.

Not so long ago my wife and I disagreed on the classification of an item; she classed it as an essential, and I felt it was a luxury item, at least something of secondary importance. Before I describe how we arrived at a compromise, let me present some background material.

I grew up on a farm; I can recall year after year of our family just barely making ends meet. In fact, many were the years when our summer's crops merely paid off the winter's grocery bills, so that the following winter loomed before us without much financial cushion on our part.

In an atmosphere like that, one cannot help but learn frugality. Room, board and clothing are the basic essentials and anything else comes as extras, a luxury if you can afford it.

Now, my wife, on the other hand, comes from a family background of somewhat different emphasis. Like myself, she grew up with good lessons on frugality, because her father never was much of a money-maker. He was a man of many ideas; creative and interesting ideas for living came easy, but he was not much interested in making money.

He was busy volunteering for relief work in France, or helping to organize an earthquake relief crew for Mexico, or taking a group of high school kids on a boat for an educational trip to Alaska, or taking his family along on a nation-wide lecture trip. None of these ventures made money for himself, but it gave his family an unusual zest for living.

Room, board, and clothing, therefore, were to my wife merely tools for fuller living. There were other things just as essential, such as an 8 mm movie camera — the item which caused the disagreement mentioned above.

It is not that I don't appreciate having a movie camera; I like to have one as much as the next fellow. But I keep feeling that when one only earns enough to barely break even by being careful, and what's more, earns within the limits of the Yesler Terrace low-income housing project, one should confine his spending to essentials.

But, here we are again! My wife says an 8 mm movie camera right now is an essential for us. She argues that if we wait until someday in the future when we can afford it, the most valuable shots — those of our kids in their various growing pains — will be no longer available. Therefore, the camera is an essential.

Oh, but wait a minute, I would stubbornly begin to argue. By the way, have I told you about the beautiful 8 mm magazine-load Briskin camera that I now own? My wife surprised me with this beautiful gift. It seems that a shop downtown was having a sale on cameras about the time my annual birthday was coming around, and my wife always remembers her husband's important days. And for the next Father's Day, she has already presented me a leather case to go with the camera.

I don't want anybody to think that I don't appreciate the camera. I am very proud of it, and have already taken many rolls in Kodachrome (at $4.94 a roll; don't misunderstand now, I'm not complaining.) What disturbs me a little is the way we compromise on our differences. All too often, our final compromising solutions seem to be identical with my wife's original claims.

Some of you might have the idea that I'm hen-pecked. Well, I'm not! You should see the way I put my foot down and make her wipe the dishes. After all, I know what "essential" means.

New Glass Ends Television Bottleneck

DIRECT VISION
TELEVISION RECEIVER

PICTURE TUBE FACE PLATE
HERCULITE PROTECTION PLATE

PITTSBURGH, PA. — The halo-like object in pretty Caroline Tufts' left hand is one of the ultra new television tube face plates. It covers the end of the cathode ray tube (see inset) through which the televised images are reproduced.

Developed after nearly three years' research, the new bent face plate, made of a glass especially developed for television, has broken one of the major bottlenecks in producing television sets, according to E. B. Tucker, executive vice-president, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Bent television face plates were first molded into shape and then reception. Formerly, plates were first ground and polished operations. With the new finishing and bending operations devised by Pittsburgh, the face plates of special type glass are ground and polished while flat and then bent into perfect sphericity.

The new face plates were first used in the five-inch tube and will eventually be used in the 10-inch, 12-inch and even larger size tube faces.

WWG's Will Mend Clothes May 18

WWG's will meet from 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 18, in the social room of the Japanese Baptist church. The gathering will be a workshop meeting with the girls mending clothes and polishing shoes which were collected during the recent clothing drive held by the BYF.

Shiz Tsuji was elected president of the WWG's when they met recently. Her cabinet consists of: Tomi Kunitzugu, vice president; Eleanor Sadamori, secretary; Margie Tamura, treasurer; Mary Okazaki, historian; Irene Hikida and Lilly Todo, fellowship and membership chairmen respectively; Fumi Matsumoto, White Cross chairman; Naoko Hasegawa, educational chairman; May Kunatsu, devotional chairman, and Fukus Wada, song-leader.

Washington JACL, ADC Petition D. C. to Abolish Segregation

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14—The Washington chapter and the Anti-Discrimination Committee of the JACL today petitioned the District of Columbia to abolish segregation in all district operated recreational areas.

Pointing out the JACL is primarily concerned with problems of persons of Japanese ancestry, nevertheless the petition notes that its underlying principle: "Equal rights, equal opportunities for all" makes it appropriate for the league to take such action.

The petition says, in part: "Whereas, the present segregation policy of the District of Columbia Recreation Board is a system of racial discrimination which is inconsistent with the traditional and official public policy of the United States ... and is not now compelled by any law of Congress, and

"Whereas the abolition by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission of the racial designation on the District of Columbia Recreation System plan has eliminated the basis upon which the district has maintained that it is compelled to operate ... on the basis of racial discrimination

"Now, therefore, the JACL petitions the district Recreation Board to:

"I. Eliminate immediately all racial distinctions in its facilities, and

"Permit the JACL to present oral testimony in support of this petition if hearings are held."

The petition was signed jointly by Ira Shimazaki, president of the Washington chapter, and Mike Masaka, JACL ADC legislative director.

Gordon to be ADC's Delegate

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14—The Anti-Discrimination Committee announced today Herbert Gordon, Washington public relations director, would attend the National Public Housing Conference here May 17-18 as its official delegate.

CRACKER CRUMB

By Henry Yorozu

Memo to Bud:

To say the least, thanks for the honors paid me on page one of last Saturday's Northwest Times. Rest assured that I deeply feel the prestige bestowed upon me but to my readers I must and will readily admit that I can hardly be classed as an expert. Too many years of fishing must pass before one can be considered an expert and at 28 I'm only a young buck in the racket. To be speaking categorically, I'm hardly in a class with the gentlemen of the old school such as Eddie Tagawa, Frank Iwata, Linc Beppu and Fudge Fujii. 'Tis my fisherman's dream to line the shores of lakes and streams and cast my line into the water on equal par with the "experts". Then and only then will I feel that I've reached a close facsimile of an expert fisherman. To date, I'm still in the learning stage, just one of the many cracker crumbs. And, if I may, I'd like to add that too many have come to class themselves as authorities just because they boated a few more than others. To me they're nothing more than crackers with too much to learn and too much to say.

It pays to swallow a little ego and listen to the oldies. They know so much and we could learn so much. Well, so much for the heavy text. It seems so much easier to make predictions.

Now for a little report on the past weekend. To begin with, I must admit that for a first in the dope sheet, Bill Corum with Ponder, Capot, Palestinian and Old Rockport did better than yours truly. Bet No. 1 -- Point Defiance produced fish and plenty of them. Chinky Tsuboi, Ish Aoki, Seiji Hata, Hank Obata, and a host of other Nihon-jin fishermen caught more than their share of fish up to 15 lbs. To those who didn't do so well, (including yours truly) it makes me look bad, but just brush it off as a salty day. Possession Pt. with Mas Shibuya, Shig Sumioka, Sho Higashi and another big gang had fish up to 16 lbs. Hippo Kawahara of Seattle Fishing Tackle brought home a fat limit from Eglen. No Point failed to live up to past performances, but tackle men, Art Louie of Hab's and Juro Yoshicka of Tashiro's brought back fish. To be honest, I think the crowded conditions up there didn't help good fishing one bit.

In the lakes, Eddie Tazawa of Tashiro's reports the weather was too good, although Eddie, Skid Arita, Joe Nakatsu and Kaun Onodera got a few at Lake Sawyer. Don Suto brought in a good cotels of cutthroats up to 3 lbs. from Pass Lake. Lack of attendance and reluctance to give me the straight dope by some fishermen keep me from making a better report in fresh waters.

What's good for this weekend: Considering a big and fast outgoing tide, I'll pick Pt. Defiance again. There should be big fish off the point if the feed will hold them there. With a minus 2 tide, I'll predict plenty of action. Bring your own bait... they rationed it out last week. Spot No. 2 fades from Sekui to Possession Point. Sunday reports force me to swing back to my old stamping grounds. One thing most of you will have trouble with is a fast tide. You may have trouble getting down to the bottom, but once you're down there, you shouldn't have any troubles landing the lunkers.

Eglen and No Point should produce and I'd say that Double Bluff for the Ten Horse motors and up should be a good bet. If any of you readers have doubts as to where to fish at these spots, just drop into your favorite tackle shop and ask. They'll be more than glad to tell you. If they sell you anything, it's up to you.

In the fresh water, Hippo tells me that Pass Lake should be the hottest spot. The close-in spots still produce and I'm still plugging American Lake for you silver fishermen.

Lure of the week:
For lakes, try a flat fish, one of the top baits for trolling. Trout, bass or Crappie hit the crazy things. From Seattle Fishing Tackle, a plug for Heiland Fleug which is a little spoon that's trolled for rainbows. Your pet fly or egg will always do the trick. If they don't, they cease to become your pets.

In salt water with plenty of big herring available, a good cut spinner is okay. If you don't know how to cut them, drop in at any tackle shop, and ask the dealer for a free demonstration. Buy a knife from him if you have to. It's worth it for there's nothing more discouraging than a poorly-cut bait that won't spin.

Even if you think you know how, I'd still suggest you learn from the old-timers until you're sure you know how. And while you're at it, learn how to hook it up, too. Let me give you a passing shot at a couple of helpful hints. If your line has a tendency to get caught between the spool and the frame, get your kid sister's fingernail polish and dope the crack. Keep turning your spool as you apply it so as not to let it dry, covering the open space. If you don't spin it upon application, after it dries and you had spun the reel, the coating will crack and chip all the polish off.

Another fishing must. When playing a fish, keep your rod up. Try to maintain somewhat of a right angle between out-going line and your rod. Don't try to "shoot" your fish. The principle is to take less direct strain off your line and let the pole take more of it. Don't let anybody kid you, but more fish have been lost by crackers because they forget just that little thing.

So much for now. Gaze over Po-Po's dope sheet and don't let me find your name on the "skunked" list which I'm putting out next week.

NISEI GIVEN SKI TROPHY IN PORTLAND

By TSUGUO IKEDA

PORTLAND, Oreg., May 14 — Chosen by a faculty-student committee, Hanji Akiyama, a junior at Lewis and Clark college, was presented the coveted Wesley Jones Memorial trophy at the 39th annual May Fete of that school last May 6.

Akiyama was treasurer of the Trodse Ski club, chairman of the Trodse and Intercollegiate ski meets, and a conscientious snow bunny (unexperienced) skier who gained the admiration of his fellow skiers. He originated a waterproof score-keeping device as well as a time-saving scorer.

Inscribed on the perpetual trophy was the following paragraph:

"To the skier: whose zest for life drives him to the freedom of the snowy hill; whose spirit of comradeship inspires the helpful hand, nor shirks responsibility; whose love of adventure calls him to break new trail, nor fears the unexpected in the way; whose quest for excellence makes him despise the mediocre in himself, and strives to lift today's accomplishment above the past."

Your Army and Your Air Force need young men with an instinct for leadership... Don't delay... see your recruiting representative today.

Seattle Nisei Vets dropped their second loss of the week, and the fourth in a row, last Tuesday evening at Sedro Woolley by being on the short end of a 12-8 game. Last Sunday, Joe Kesamaru's charges dropped a 11-10 game at Roslyn.

Next Sunday, May 15, the Nisei nine will seek its first win of the City league at Ft. Lawton against the Army diamond stars, the game to start at 2 p.m.

Trailing 4-0 in the first two innings, the Nisei Vets came to life in the third when 3 solid basehits netted 4 runs. Edo Sasaki opened the inning with a walk. Fujiwara followed with a single and Kinoshita doubled off the left field fence. Matsushita tripled into centerfield to drive in Kinoshita. Matsushita tallied the fourth run on a squeeze play when Hori beat out his bunt for a single.

The Nisei Vets added four more runs in the fourth inning when a triple by Ray Saito drove in Fujiwara and Kinoshita, and Matsushita bunted Saito in. Matsushita later scored on Yamaguchi's single into leftfield.

Edo Sasaki, who had held the opponents to 4 hits, suddenly found himself in trouble in the fifth. A couple of walks and a single filled the bases. George Shimizu, who rushed in to relieve Sasaki, was touched for a triple by Rasler, followed by a single to account for four Sedro Woolley runs.
