

CLAIMS TOTAL
HERE TO DATE
SET AT $20,000

Between $20,000 and $25,000 in evacuation claims have been processed through the free-service "open nights" offered by the Seattle chapter of the Japanese American Citizens League, it was estimated today by George Okada, chairman of the local evacuation claims committee.

About twenty-five persons have filed claims the first two "open nights" but scores left without filing, just coming to seek information, according to Okada.

The next open night is scheduled for 7 p.m. today (Wednesday, June 17) in the dining room of the Seattle Buddhist temple.

Anyone who has suffered any material losses due to the wartime evacuation of Japanese is urged to take advantage of the local JACL unit's service which is free of charge.

Warning that everyone who has any evacuation claim at all must file by Jan. 2, 1950, Okada urged, "If in doubt, file."

A question often asked by claimants, Okada said, is "Do you think you could really get it?" Okada and his volunteer crew of workers do not guarantee any amount but they feel that more than likely all legitimate claims—at least a portion of them—will be paid off by the government.

Schedule for the next two weeks as announced by Okada follows:

Wednesday, Aug. 17: Friday Aug. 19: Wednesday, Aug. 24, and Friday, Aug. 26.

All "open nights" will begin at 7 p.m. in the dining room of the Seattle Buddhist church.

If more time is needed to process all evacuation claims, the evacuation claims committee will extend their "free-service" operation, Okada concluded.

CROWNED QUEEN — Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 17 (Special to Northwest Times) — Winning the title of Miss Nisei Festival Week of 1949 is 24-year-old Sansei girl who was born in Fresno, Calif. She was bestowed the coveted honor at a coronation ball held in the Riviera Country club last Saturday (Aug. 13) in Los Angeles where some 500 persons danced to the music of Tetsu Bessho and his orchestra.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Masaru Hokoda, Miss Hokoda was reared in Hollywood and "superbly cultured" in New York City. After matriculating at Central Academy (commercial art) in Cincinnati and at Pilgrim's Art, Inc. (fashion designing) in New York, she returned to California to further her career with Howard Greer, the famous designer of clothes for Hollywood stars.

Already recognized by those whose business it is to know beauty, Miss Hokoda has appeared on several occasions as the "cover girl" in a local weekly.

of six attendants invited the city of Los Angeles to participate in the week-long festivities of the ninth annual Nisei Week starting Monday and ending with an irresistible "ondo" parade on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 20 and 21.

Last midnight Saturday before 1,400 persons jammed at the Riviera Country Club ballroom, Terri Hokoda of the Downtown L. A. JACL chapter was selected to preside as queen of the 1949 Festival out of 19 other aspirants.

At noon Monday, Mayor Fletcher Bowron accepted an official invitation from the queen and her entourage.

The queen and her court today, Wednesday, will select the King and Queen of the Baby Show at Maryknoll hall, 220 South Hewitt Street. Newsreel cameras are expected to grind to record this event.

Saturday and Sunday are the climax-days of Nisei Week when thousands mill into Little Tokyo to witness a colorful Japanese tradition—the outdoor street dance or "ondo." Approximately 300 girls in kimono will parade up and down East First and San Pedro Streets. The "ondo" starts at 7:30 p.m. both days.

Closing ceremonies with the Mayor present on the grandstand at 119 North Central Avenue conclude unique and diverting Nisei fiesta next Sunday, Aug. 21.

Special demonstrations for the public in Japanese flower arrangement and tea ceremony have been scheduled by the Nisei Week Festival Committee.

Flower arrangement talks will be made Saturday, Aug. 20, between 2:30 and 4 p.m. at the Kow Nan Low, 105 North San Pedro Street. The origin of the tea ceremony and a demonstration is set for Sunday, Aug. 21, same time and place.

Proceeds of the Nisei Week Festival being held in Little Tokyo this week and concluding this Sunday, Aug. 21, with a gigantic "ondo" parade will be turned into the newly established Little Tokyo Community Center Fund.

No details of the community center have been issued, but it has been the dream of many in the area.

Semi-Classics Will be Heard This Sunday

In its final appearance of the season this Sunday, August 21, in Volunteer Auditorium, the Summer Symphony Orchestra will concentrate on semi-classical music, ranging from Johann Strauss to George Gershwin and Richard Rodgers.

Volunteer audiences have indicated a strong preference for semi-classical music in their replies to questionnaires distributed at concerts, and this performance is being given in direct response to that preference, according to Gustave Stern, conductor.

Featured vocal soloists at Sunday's concert will be Sylvia Woolfson, soprano, and David Herald, baritone, in selections from "Porgy and Bess" by George Gershwin. This is the second consecutive appearance as soloists with Summer Symphony for Miss Woolfson and Herald. Last Sunday they appeared on the concert from French and Italian composers, singing selections from "Carmen."

Orchestral selections on Sunday's program will include selections from "The Merry Wives of Windsor" by Otto Nicolai, "The Bartered Bride" by Bedrich Smetana, "Orpheus in the Underworld" and "The Tales of Hoffman" by Jacques Offenbach, "The Blue Danube" by Johann Strauss, "Three Bears" by Eric Coates and "Oklahoma!" by Richard Rodgers. The Volunteer concert series will conclude a week from Sunday, August 28, with the presentation of "The Merry Widow" by Franz Lehár. "The Merry Widow" will mark the last appearance this year of the 50-voice Seattle Summer Opera Company. Frank Kinkaid will narrate the story and action for the light opera as in previous opera concerts.

Forget-Me-Not Drive Told

Disabled American Veterans, Seattle chapter No. 2, will have its annual Forget-Me-Not drive from Sept. 8 to 10, it was announced today by Michael Ushakoff, chairman.

Forget-Me-Nots are sold by the DAV to the public to use the proceeds to help war-time disabled American veterans in rehabilitation and hospital work—especially in establishing claims against the government for those unfortunates who are thrown out of the usual routine and need time and money for their readjustment.

Daylight Saving Ends Oct. 1

Daylight saving in Seattle will end on Saturday, Oct. 1.

King County and cities and towns in the Pacific Northwest which went on daylight time also will return to standard time at 12:01 o'clock in the morning, Oct. 1.

Frank S. Bayley, Jr. vice president of the Civic Unity Committee, this week released a letter applauding the "courageous stand" taken by Mayor William F. Devin, University officials and civic leaders in regard to the recent housing problem of two University of Washington professors, one a Japanese American and the other a Chinese.

In the letter, Bayley also cited its experience in receiving calls from property owners in all parts of the city with offers to sell and rent.

Accompanying the open letter was an editorial published by the University District Herald on Aug. 4. The editorial follows:

FOR FAIR PLAY

Concerned about the reputation for fair play in our community, and for the good name of the University, the Herald presents herewith a statement by Mayor William Devin who, we feel, expresses the feelings of an overwhelming majority of our residents:

"As Mayor of your city, I am deeply concerned about this incident of discrimination where two distinguished professors from our University are being denied their right to purchase suitable housing in accordance with their positions because of unwarranted fears giving rise to racial discrimination. I regret that some citizens of our city have permitted their prejudices to cloud their democratic thinking to this extent.

"The people of our town have a deep sense of fair play, of recognition of the rights of others. But beyond that natural pride in human decency, here we have a clear-cut example of how discrimination can rob our city of two valuable citizens. Both these men are outstanding scholars, contributing daily to the wealth of our community, instructing young men and women so that we may better understand the people of the Far East and the world. Seattle will grow and prosper as these avenues of understanding are opened. Let's not let a handful of petty prejudices close these doors to us permanently."

WANTED: TWO PARTIES

By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

Looking Ahead

Most all of us in America have voiced our criticism of politics and political parties from time to time. This time I'm doing it. That is something we can do in America without getting thrown in jail or shot at. If we don't like this or that, we can say so in public. If we feel that no existing political party fills the bill, we can even start a new one. (Provided, of course, that we do not advocate overthrow of the government by force, as do the Communists.)

Politics has been called a "great game." It is that, and more. Some people do play the great game of politics for what they can get out of it. Too many. But there are many great public men who are statesmen and servants all the way through, and who are in politics because they find it an avenue of service to the whole nation. These men know that politics is still "the science of government" and they believe good government is one of the crying needs of our time.

Less Government

I do not say that "more" government is needed. We need better government, but less of it. In fact, one of the earmarks of better government is lack of government. The best governed is indeed the least governed. Strangely enough, the trend is toward more and more government. The question of the day is whether Uncle Sam is going to do everything for us eventually or whether we are to remain responsible citizens with a firm hand on the reins of government.

There's a huge difference in the two. A distinctive feature of the American way of life has always been that the government was a citizen responsibility. This nation was formed as a Republic, and the representatives of the people did the governing by "consent" of the governed. Politics, therefore, was our own making, and it carried a responsibility with it always. It was the finest kind of people's government. In no sense were citizens slaves of the state.

Copying The Socialists

In carrying out the functions of government, there were from the very start disagreements and clashes of opinion. It developed, then, that almost throughout our history as a nation, two major parties shaped our political thought by going to the people for support when issues arose. Usually the issues were clear-cut, with the two-party system offering clear choices to the people. But for almost a generation our two-party system has been dissolving.

During the past fifty years, but especially during the last decade, our two major parties have found it useful to adopt one plank after another out of the various Socialist platforms. Why? Well, politics got to be a game and the best way to win-out was to get elected. Getting elected meant promises, and politicians soon learned well the fine art of making promises. These promises involved doing things for certain people, especially with other people's money, obtained through taxes.

To Save The Republic

What has been the result? Both parties have decayed. Today they advocate few principles. They try to out-promise each other. They cater to any group that can deliver the votes in blocks. Both parties out-scramble each other for a place at the public trough. The rule is expediency, not principle. There are no clear-cut differences as to program or policy. For many years, the voter has had no chance to make real choices as far as parties are concerned.

America still needs a strong two-party system. That is the only way this Republic may be saved. A one-party system will surely lead to political slavery, the same as in any dictatorship. Whether out of the framework of today's parties, or out of new developments, we must soon get back to the two-party system. Politics needs new leaders, especially leaders who will stick to principle. Only under a strong two-party system can the people make their wishes known.

These five school children in Tokyo smile their pleasure at the prospect of some good dinners, better dinners than they have enjoyed in many years. Their good dinners are the result of a gift of CARE food packages to the Reverend and Mrs. Muranaka of Tokyo. The Reverend Muranaka is ill and unable to work. His wife supports him and their own two children by teaching school. These children are some of her 40 pupils, and she plans to share her CARE packages with them. The parcels are coming to her, one a month for a year, through the generosity of the American Veterans Committee of Hawaii, which has "adopted" the Muranaka family through CARE.

It Says Here Yoko Saegusa Is Destined To Become a Japanese Movie Star

Miss Yoko Saegusa is a young actress just turned 23 with the Dai-ichi Studios, one of the Big-Three movie companies. Her future in the movies appears very promising.

The way she got into pictures was very lucky. She still shakes her head and wonders if she would be in films had it not happened. Of course, five feet two inches, eyes of black, creamy white skin, and a few pounds over hundred, distributed beneficially by nature, has lots on the ball. Her high school chums were always telling her, "You ought to be in pictures."

Although the idea tickled her vanity she said nix on the picture stuff. She rather preferred a more secure means of livelihood, and so to utilize her good figure she went to work modelling, a job next to the movies calling for both physique and attractiveness.

Her friends were disappointed. So they purloined a photograph of Miss Saegusa and sent it to a movie studio. A couple of weeks later found Miss Saegusa the most surprised person in all Japan.

However she did not enter the picture game without any acting experience as most of those recruited in periodic drives are. At high school in Chiba the starlet was prominent on the stage and her drama coach had her tabbed for big time. Her heart did not skip a beat like the rest therefore when she first reported at the studios.

An index of a beginner's chance in the movies is the number of films she has appeared in. Miss Saegusa has appeared in 12 pictures, 10 of them last year and this in the space of only two years that she has been at the Dai-ichi Studios.

In Japan there is no sure way to gauge the popularity of actors. Stage and screen magazines are not prone to make a downright critical review of the films. So outside of the public's taste, much of the success of pictures and also the actors is left to the whim of the directors. That Miss Saegusa is being contemplated for bigger roles is an indication her star is rising.

THE Sporting Thing

By SHIG FUJITA

A Report from Tokyo on Japan Swimmers

With all preparations completed, the Japanese swimming team headed by Murayama and accompanied by Diet member Professor Takizo Matsumoto left Haneda by Pan American for California on the 12th. High hopes are carried by the swimmers themselves, and the whole country is looking forward to their setting new records in a sport which before the war was dominated by the United States and Japan.

The feeling is prevalent here in Tokyo that since American swimmers copped all top honors at the London Olympics last year this actually will decide the world champions in the aquatic field.

Most of us here in Japan and probably many of you in the States first couldn't believe it when Furuhashi first began breaking all those records two years ago. Now we are wondering how he and the others will show against the top American swimmers who will compete with them in the Olympic Pool.

The swimmers are reportedly training under the supervision of former Olympic stars Koike, Makino and Yusa and are said to have gained close to 10 pounds each.

Much interest hinges on whether McLane and Smith will compete in the meet. Regardless of whether McLane, who won the 1,500 meters in London last year, competes or not, the Japanese team is pretty confident of taking first and second place. Tsuji, expert on swimming of the Asahi Shimbun, in a forecast of the meet said that the American swimmers are not even in the running and that it will boil down to a close fight between Furuhashi and Hashizume. If Furuhashi can really get into his stride, Tsuji thinks a record in the vicinity of 18 minutes 37 seconds is possible.

Hope is placed also on Tanaka, who recently swam the 1,500 in 19 minutes 15.4 seconds. This is better than any record chalked up so far except for Furuhashi and Hashizume.

The 400 meters, which America dominated at the Los Angeles Olympics in 1932 and which she continued to dominate, is the real test. Smith's 25 years and his reported weight are counted against him, and Tsuji considers that McLane, who lost to Smith at the London Olympics by two seconds, should be the one to watch.

Furuhashi's start is apparently not too fast, but former Olympic stars don't consider it too black a mark against him.

McLane is expected by forecasters here to swim the 800 at 10 minutes 20 seconds at his best and isn't expected to have a chance against Furuhashi whose best time is 9 minutes 41 seconds. Hashizume's best time is 9 min. 49 seconds, and if Murayama competes in this event with the aforementioned two and Tanaka, Japan may be able to cop the first four places.

If things go well, Hamaguchi and Murayama are expected to place one and two in the 200 meters, but in the 100 meters the Japanese swimmers are not too confident. Hamaguchi is the main Japanese hope, and he is expected to fight it out with Ris and Carter.

Victory in the 800 meter relay is taken by Tsuji as a foregone conclusion with the Japanese team finishing about 30 meters or so in front of any American team. Last year the team composed of Furuhashi, Hashizume, Hamaguchi and Maki negotiated the distance in 8 minutes 47.8 seconds. Now with Murayama replacing Maki, two more seconds will probably be chopped off that time. At any rate hopes are high that they will set new world record in this event.

Only time can tell whether all these hopes are justified. People here in Japan and the world over can tell for certain what the actual ability of the Japanese swimmers of the postwar is.

An interesting sidelight on the trip of the swimmers to the States is the following story. About a week ago Tokyo papers carried pictures of the swimmers being fitted for suits which are being made especially for the trip. Immediately the papers were deluged with letters of protest about the too flashy cut of the suits.

The officials in charge countered by saying that when they get over to the States they will look almost drab in comparison with the multicolored suits of the American competitors. Just by this little incident, you can understand how much interest is being shown in the first sports team to be sent overseas since the war.

GIANTS WIN; WHIP BOMBERS IN 18-0 TILT

George Iwasaki limited the Beverly Park Bombers to two singles and fanned four as he twirled the Western Giants to a whopping 18 to 0 victory in a Puget Sound Baseball League game last Sunday at Rainier playfield.

The Giants demonstrated their appreciation to Pitcher Iwasaki by driving three Bomber hurlers to cover with a rain of base hits which included a pair of circuit blows by Jiro Yoshitake. Iwasaki himself contributed two triples in the rout. Sixteen bases on balls issued by the opposing moundsmen aided the Giant cause.

The triumph was the Giants' eighth against nine defeats. The Giants face Rainier Beach at 6 p.m. this Thursday, Aug. 18, at Garfield for their final tilt of the season.

Prep Natators Ready to Churn

This Saturday, August 20, at 1:30 p.m. swimmers from Seattle's eight high schools will start churning the waters at Madrona Beach in what promises to be the largest and most spirited contest in the 17 years the High School Swim Meet has been held.

The event, usually held at West Green Lake, has been moved to Madrona because of construction work on the new swimming piers at the Green Lake center.

West Seattle, last year's winner, looks like a top contender again this season. Roosevelt is expected to enter the strongest team they have had since they last won the city championship in 1942, and some followers are backing them strongly to take top honors.

Franklin, winner in 1947, will have an especially strong squad this year. They have a girls' team that will be hard to beat, and a boys' squad that might well win them the title, particularly if their standout swimmer Dick Elliott gets back from California in time for the meet.

Lincoln which took three straight titles in 1943, '44 and '45 will be back in top form again this year and should be a real contender. Garfield, Ballard, Queen Anne and Cleveland which have not shown to the best advantage are looking stronger than ever before this year, according to a number of observers.

The meet will be open to the public and should be of real interest to all high school students and to all persons who are interested in competitive swimming.

ED NATORI, KAY YAMAGUCHI FINISH IN DEAD HEAT FOR CHAMPIONSHIP IN PSGC TOURNEY ON SUNDAY

By JAXON SONODA

Ed Natori and Kay Yamaguchi, a pair of hard-socking golfers, stormed across the finish line in a dead heat, each with a net score of 131, after 36 grueling holes in the championship flight of the Puget Sound Golf Club's annual tournament yesterday at West Seattle.

The two played consistently throughout the day in spite of the fickle weather which was so cold and damp during the morning round that the greens were leaden-heavy and so hot during the afternoon that the greens were lightning-fast.

Natori, who is just waiting around in Seattle waiting for settlement of the ship strike so he can move to Honolulu, had a brace of 37's in the morning for a 2-over-par 74. In the afternoon round he had 40-37 for a 77.

Only a stroke behind to win the third place trophy was "Doc" Lee, the left-handed Chinese sharpshooter who had a 79 in the morning but came back with a brilliant 73.

In the 1st flight Sat Miyahara, with his deadly approaches and putts, won handily with two rounds of 81's. Three strokes off the pace-setter was Bill Mimbu who finally came through in the big annual test after being "out of the money" for

Men Trundlers Will Convene

Team representatives and players in the Nisel Commercial league will assemble at 8 p.m. next Tuesday, Aug. 23, in Main Bowl to iron out matters relating to the coming winter season, according to a repeat announcement made today by Morrie Yamaguchi, league president.

The Merchants circuit, according to its president, Harry Takagi, will hold its meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 23, also in Main Bowl.

Both leagues plan to discuss and adopt a constitution now being prepared by a seven-man committee, and possibly draw up a season schedule.

Egashira of Jackson Cafe won the 2nd flight trophy with 89-86 for a net 137. He started out slowly with a 49 for the outgoing nine but came in with a 40 for the second nine.

Three men tied for second place, two taps behind Egashira. The trio—Bob Sakoda, Duncan Tsuneishi and Jaxon Sonoda—will play off this Sunday for second, third and fourth places.

Competition in the 3rd flight was close with Nomura edging out Jitodai for top honors. Barber Frank Tanigawa took the third place trophy.

Based on gross scores turned in Sunday for 36 holes, the eight qualifiers for match play in each of the flights were as follows:

FHA Cautioned On Proposal

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 17—(ADC)—The Federal Housing Admin. has been cautioned that a proposed policy of permitting local FHA authorities to build either segregated or non-segregated slum clearance projects is a "color-conscious, backward step."

The FHA told a meeting of half-dozen racial minority and labor groups, including the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee, that it proposed the inclusion of a provision in a public statement of policy which would permit the construction of segregated housing at the discretion of local authorities.

Robert M. Cullum, representing the JACL ADC at the meeting, said that "segregation is discrimination, regardless of how pretty the package is."

Thurgood Marshall, counsel to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he felt "that there should be the same housing policy in Maine as in Mississippi, and if the people of Mississippi, black and white, don't want housing the way it should be put up, I say let them do without until they can act in the American manner."

No definite plans were formulated at the meeting, but national FHA officials said they would utilize the information and views presented, though the FHA would be bound by no decisions of the informal group.

'I Crown Thee Nisei Queen'

1941, before a packed ballroom of friends and well-wishers that numbered well over 1,300 at the Riviera Country Club last Saturday midnight, highlighted a hectic contest of six weeks in Los Angeles that had the entire nation anticipating.

When the first strains of Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance" from Tetsu Bessho's orchestra struck the ears of the crowds thronged in the cramped room, floral guards knifed through to the center of the bandstand.

At minute intervals, the six attendants attired in white gowns carrying huge bouquets of red roses headed the procession. The expectations were decreased one by one as each girl stepped into view from the rear of the ballroom to the front.

First, Tami Shimahara; next, Yukie Sato; Margaret Kikuchi, beaming and thanking her many supporters alongside before stepping into the ballroom, was the third to aisle forward; Susie Shinohara followed, a bit nervous; tall and slender Fumi Iketani then came into view. When Joan Ritchie stepped onto the floor, there was no doubt that Terri would next file down in her bright cape of regal red.

From the listless crowd, a cry of a Hokoda fan was spontaneous "We did it!" and a long grin to remember the occasion by.

When the bandleader caught sight of Miss Hokoda, the crescendo of the march was at its highest and the crowd edged forward as she proudly ascended on.

Throughout the entire procession, bulbs of photographers illuminated the solemnity of the grandest Nisei affair. A Tokyo correspondent witnessing the spectacle couldn't believe his eyes. A motion picture bigwig felt the drama and thrill. Hearts of youngsters attending what seemed to be their first Coronation Ball were beaming. Old timers knew the gap between 1941 and 1949 was closed.

There were dots of people watching the ceremonies from the patio, knocking against the window every time it fogged up from the heat inside so that it could be wiped clear.

Throughout the week, Queen Terri and her court will be busy appearing at the Baby Show, the Fashion and Talent shows, the carnival, baseball tournament grounds, and in the "ondo" parade this coming Saturday and Sunday.

The brightest and biggest spectacle of the Festival is the "ondo". Upwards of 20,000 persons from all parts of Los Angeles and tourists from all parts of the United States will line up on the curbs of East First and San Pedro Streets in the evenings.

The ninth annual Festival officially opened on the City Hall steps Monday when Queen Terri extended Mayor Fletcher Bowron a scroll in which an invitation to participate is inscribed.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 17 (Special to Northwest Times) — Names of eight judges were disclosed today by Mrs. Merijane Yokoe, Nisei Festival Week queen contest chairman. Prominent art directors, illustrators and models made up the "secret" panel.

The judges were Alice Wallace, Wallace Earl, Powers models; Bob Wheeler, art director; Lyman Emerson, photographer; Ren Wicks, illustrator; Gertrude Hilbert, promotional manager of Earl Carrolls; Mmes. Ellis Dodd and Tracy, Iona Massey Cosmetics Studios and International Studios.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 17 (Special to Northwest Times)—San Fernando Aces and L. A. Nisei All-Stars bangle for the first Nisei Week baseball tournament championship next Sunday morning (Aug. 21) at Griffith Park diamond.

In the preliminary tilts Monday morning, a green West L. A. YBA lost 10 to 0 to Los Angeles Nisei All-Stars. San Fernando Aces eked a hot 5 to 4 decision from Harbor Skippers before 200 fans. Bob Mochizuki and John Endow were winning pitchers respectively.
