

TWO NISEI GIS REPORTED HELD BY N. KOREANS

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 23—(ADC)—Two Nisei GIS, presumably two who have been reported missing in action, apparently are prisoners of war, according to a story in the Communist China Daily News for July 19, the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee reported today.

The two listed in the Chinese newspaper are Pfc. Tomio Tadaki and Pvt. Tamaya Goichi. No other identification was given.

Apparently they are Pfc. Tadagi, son of Guno Tadaki, and Pvt. Goichi Tamayo, son of Mrs. Sada Tamayo, both of Kahalaui, Maui, Hawaii, and both of whom have been reported missing in action in Korea.

The China Daily News, published in China, carried a New China News Agency story listing the names of 115 GIS who, it alleged, have signed a statement calling for non-intervention by foreign elements in Korea and describing themselves as "prisoners of an undeclared war". The New China News Agency is a Communist newspaper service.

All 115 GIS who allegedly signed the statement were described as members of the 24th Division, now fighting in Korea.

The fact these men reportedly signed such a statement has little, if any, significance. It is a known Communist tactic to obtain signatures to such petitions by both subterfuge and under threat of life, or torture.

SACHI WEARS QUEEN CROWN IN L.A. FETE

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 23 (Special to Northwest Times)—Amid the pomp and circumstance only known in the coronation ceremonies opening Nisei Week each year, Sachi Kazunaga, 22, was selected "Miss Nisei of 1950" and queen of the tenth annual festival before an anxious crowd of 1,100 in the Zenda ballroom late last Saturday night.

Flanked on either sides by her attendants, Miss Kazunaga beamed in her cardinal red robe signifying her office and honor. News cameramen and photographers deluged the throne with lights when the procession had ended.

Mrs. Muriel Barnett, fashion editor of the Mirror, local afternoon tabloid, commented it was one of the loveliest parties she had the pleasure of attending. She took copious notes on what the Nisei milady wore at the coronation ball.

Attending Queen Sachi for the remainder of Nisei Week at the various functions are Ruby Ushijima, Grace Aoki, Grace Mayemura and Emy Miya.

Nisei Week Festival events last until next Sunday, Aug. 27, in Lil Tokyo which is on First and San Pedro.

Dr. Shigaya Heads Anti-TB Group

Dr. Paul S. Shigaya recently was elected chairman of a committee formed to tackle the Japanese tuberculosis problem, it was announced today by Otto Kuschner of the Seattle and King County Department of Public Health.

The anti-tuberculosis body has received the support of the Japanese American Community Service, the Seattle Japanese American Medical Society, nurses and former Filand patients.

This group, according to Dr. Shigaya, will hold its next meeting at 8 p.m. today (Wednesday, Aug. 23), in the Jackson St. Community Council office. Dr. John H. Fountain, chief of the tuberculosis division in the city-council public health unit, will be the principal speaker.

Walter Bill Runs Into Confusion

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 23—(ADC)—The Walter Resolution has been subject to more—much more—than its share of confusion.

Few pieces of legislation have been so badly mauled by the press, official journals and Congress as the resolution was after the Senate and House action on it last week.

The day Congress acted, Rep. Francis E. Walter (D., Pa.), wreathed in smiles, reported the bill's passage with the comment that now it needed only the Presidential signature to become law.

The following morning Rep. Walter first discovered a parliamentary technicality still had the bill tied up in the Senate, despite the fact the Upper House had approved the measure.

The technicality was this: After the Senate and the House in that order approved the compromise report on the resolution, Senate Majority Leader Lucas asked for reconsideration of the Senate vote. His motion was accepted. Not until it is acted upon will the way be cleared to send the measure to the White House.

Both the New York Times and Associated Press reported the bill's passage, without observing that it nevertheless still was tied up in the Senate. In addition, the stories said provisions of the naturalization measure were applicable only to immigrants who entered this country prior to 1926. Where that bar date came from still is a mystery.

The Washington Post noted that the Senate "approved conference report... but motion by Lucas for reconsideration blocked final action". The New York Herald Tribune's story was substantially as brief and the same as that carried by the Washington Post. These, however, were more accurate than stories carried by the Voice of America which reportedly announced the bill's unqualified passage.

The United Press did not carry a story on the Walter Resolution last Monday, Aug. 14. The situation, one

TRAVEL BUREAU OFFICE IN N.Y. WILL OPEN SOON

In view of the increasing number of tourists who have been visiting Japan lately, the Japan Travel Bureau has decided to open an overseas office in New York City sometime this fall or early next spring, with similar offices to be subsequently opened in Los Angeles and Honolulu, according to word received by T. Urabe, chief of the local Japanese Overseas Agency, this week.

The bureau, which has applied to the Japanese government for reinstatement of its activities in the United States, is being given the support of the Tourist Industry Division, Ministry of Transportation.

Since resumption of tourist trade in July, 1948, the Japan Travel Bureau has been advertising Japan tours by sending publicity material to overseas travel agents and carriers. The opening of offices in the United States, staffed by JTB travel experts, is expected to restore tourist travel to prewar standards.

U.S. Money May be Changed in Japan

Unlimited amount of U. S. dollar bills may now be carried into Japan as exchange medium into Japanese currency, according to word received by T. Urabe, chief of the local Japanese Overseas Agency.

A new regulation stipulates, however, that the amount in possession must be declared in the passport to the customs officials at the port of entry. When exchange is made at the banks, the amount withdrawn will be entered in the passport.

Any amount left over at the time of departure will be allowed to be taken out of the country following inspection of the passport.

Japanese currency as yet cannot be reconverted into American dollars.

Unipresser said, is too "fluid". The Washington Times Herald would have been completely accurate in its story except that the paper identified the resolution as a part of the "immigration" instead of "naturalization" laws.

The quasi-official Congressional Daily said "Conference report on legislation removing all racial barriers... passed by both the House and Senate yesterday and sent to the President."

The most inexcusable error was in the official Calendar of Business of the Senate of the United States. It observed, Tuesday morning, the report had been filed and agreed to in the Senate, but not yet acted upon by the House.

With such confusion extant over the status of the bill, it is perhaps understandable why both Sen. McCarran's office and the House Subcommittee on Immigration and Naturalization each announced that the House and Senate finally had given their unqualified stamp of approval to the resolution conference report.

Column's Right

By HARRY I. TAKAGI

CARNIVAL POST MORTEM

Well, the first International Carnival is now history, and it's no secret that it proved to be a tremendous success, exceeding the fondest expectations of its sponsors, the Jackson Street Community Council and associated groups.

That the Carnival resulted in such a success was, of course, due to the work and planning of Mrs. Ruth Manca, Nat Kuznetz, Ralph Shimbo, and many others too numerous to mention, all of whom contributed their energies and ideas toward the community enterprise.

This column salutes all the public-spirited individuals who gave so generously of their time and ability in order to put on a show which none of us who saw it will ever forget. They deserve the thanks of the entire community for proving, once and for all, that the differing racial groups within the Jackson Street area can indeed work together harmoniously and with effectiveness toward a common goal.

THIS 'N THAT

Still on the Carnival theme, we must remark that little old Jackson Street never before saw such a crowd as watched the opening procession last Thursday evening. The throng was estimated to have been from 75,000 to 100,000 people, and frankly, we don't believe that either the sponsors or the police department were expecting such a huge gathering for what started out to be a neighborhood affair. . . . To our way of thinking, the International Carnival gave the Seafair just the "lift" that it needed to raise the Seafair from the category of an ordinary civic celebration. Actually, what sets Seattle apart from other cities in the nation is the fact that it is a seaport and a cosmopolitan city, the proud gateway to Alaska and the Orient. Had it not been for the Jackson Street celebration, the exotic international flavor would have been missing from the Seafair, and what a pity that would have been! . . . Do Nisei girls look better in kimonos than in Western dress? This is a question which could be argued from now until Christmas, but the winsome beauty and appeal of Queen May and her attendants, Betty, Marian and Takae, in Japanese costumes was a fact not to be denied, as they made their nightly appearances at the International Carnival. . . . We hate to even mention it, but one slightly sour note was sounded by a small clique within one community group, which attempted to feature its queen and court with just a little more prominence than that received by queens representing the other community groups. As long as it isn't permitted to happen again, the incident is best forgotten, since it was, as mentioned before, the working of a small clique, roundly condemned by many others of the same community group. . . . An idea for next year: If a suitable location could be found, a "taxi dance" might do good business at the International Carnival. Not the kind with "fifty beautiful hostesses", you understand, but a place where a lady and her escort might spend fifteen minutes or a half-hour at dancing to good orchestra music, before moving on to the next attraction. Tickets could be sold, for example, good for a group of three dances or so. We figure that a lot of people who wouldn't spend two or three dollars for a whole evening of dancing, might put up fifty cents or so for a shorter period of dancing. Some of the hep-cats might put on a good show, too, so spectator tickets might also be sold. Anyhow, it's a thought.

TRADE GROWTH FORECAST BY TWO JAPANESE

(MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 23 (UCL News Bureau) — Continued growth of commercial trade and travel between Japan and the United States in spite of the Korean conflict was forecast this week by two Japanese officials visiting the Twin Cities.

They were S. Hayakawa, president of the Nippon Express Company, Ltd., and S. Tsukasaki, foreign relations manager of that company, who are in this country to study American business methods.

The Japanese transport executives pointed out that travel to their country has not been seriously restricted since the outbreak of hostilities in Korea and that American airline firms, including Northwest Airlines on which they were flying, are maintaining their regular passenger and cargo schedules.

Many Japanese products are adaptable to fast air shipment to American markets, they said, and with a solution of currency problems and easing of trade restrictions, such commerce will have rapid growth. Examples of these products, Tsukasaki stated, are such lightweight but valuable items as cameras and cultured pearls. These already are carried in appreciable quantity by Northwest's eastbound flights from Japan.

The Nippon Express company, which the two officials represent, is the Japanese equivalent of the Railway Express Agency in this country. Organized 70 years ago, it covers Japan, with almost 4,500 offices throughout the country.

Hayakawa, head of the company recently paid a visit to Europe to (Continued on Page Four)

Nakao Upsets Nagamatsu, 3-2, to Oust Titalist Out of PSGC Diadem Picture

By JAXON SONODA

Yone Nakao, Bambino of the local fairways, pulled the major upset in opening day matches for the Puget Sound Golf Club championship when he blasted Sumio Nagamatsu, defending champion gunning for his fourth straight title, right out of the championship picture with a stunning 3-2 win at Jefferson golf course Sunday.

In another upset Z. Shimoishi of Tacoma derailed Kuni Nakamura, present Northwest open champion, to the sidelines with a 4-2 victory. Two other 1st flight matches ran true to form with Ed Natori, a finalist last year, whipped George Louie 3-1, and Min Yamaguchi knocking over George Shimizu 2-1.

Nakao 2-up at Turn

Nagamatsu, who was supposed to win without half trying, couldn't even get started against Nakao. After halving the first three holes, Nakao won the 4th and 5th with a birdie and a par giving him a two-up advantage. That was the way the first nine ended as they split the next four holes.

The defending champion won his first hole when he took the 420-yard par-4 11th with a par. Nakao, however, won the 12th and 13th to go 3-up. They halved the next three holes giving Nakao the one-sided upset win.

Z. Shimoishi, the veteran Tacoma man, dropped the first hole to Kuni Nakamura, but he won the next three with a par, par and a birdie to earn a lead which he never relinquished. At the turn Shimoishi was 1-up. He made it 2-up by taking the 10th, won the 12th and 13th, and ended the match by halving the next two. Shimoishi finished out the round with 37-38-75.

Nakagawa Winner

Nobushi Nakagawa, who got into the 2nd flight playoff only because Bob Sakoda withdrew, knocked out Toshi Tsuboi of Tacoma 1-up in the best-played match of the day. All even at the turn, Nakagawa went 1-up on the 10th with a par but Tsuboi evened the match with a birdie on the following hole. They parred the next five holes and Nakagawa took the 17th with a par. They both parred the 18th to give Nakagawa the win.

Remarkable was the fact that both Tsuboi and Nakagawa scored 1-over-par 38 for the second nine on the West Seattle course. Frank Fukano, the top-heavy favorite in the second flight, won by default over Kaz Yamasaki who was away in Portland on his vacation.

Nisei Veterans Take Two More on Chin; Bow to Fort Lawton GIs, 7-3 and 6-5

Nisei Veterans dropped both ends of a twin bill to Fort Lawton last Sunday by the scores of 7-3 and 6-5 in the City league contests.

In the first game, Joker Shimizu kept the soldiers in line until the sixth when a homer and four singles netted Fort Lawton its four runs to soften any further Nisei resistance. Tak Yagi led the Vet attack at the double with a single, a walk, and a double. Joe Kesamaru punched a triple into center field for one of the longest blows of the afternoon.

Fort Lawton pounced on Edo Sasaki early in the game to take the second contest by a run margin. Sasaki shut out the GI's the last four innings, but the Vets could not rally enough runs over to save the game. Nisei diamond artists outthit the soldiers in the second tilt, but left the men stranded on the bases.
