

Soldier Brides Bill Passage Places ADC In Unwanted Role of Lonely Hearts Club

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 27 (ADC) — The JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee's Washington office never conceived itself in the role of a lonely hearts club. But it has found its hands full lately with affairs amour.

Since the passage of the Soldier Brides Bill, the JACL ADC has been flooded with inquiries about the law, and personal appeals from servicemen and veterans, both Nisei and caucasian, to help them find some way to take advantage of a law giving them the right to bring Asiatic wives to this country.

The law, introduced at the request of the ADC, became effective Aug. 17. It will admit, quota free, the legally-recognized spouse and children of a veteran or a serviceman if the marriage takes place prior to February, 1951. It was passed primarily to enable servicemen stationed in Japan—some of whom have been there several years—to marry and bring home their wives or families.

But the bill has its complications. Today, Mike Masaoka, national JACL ADC legislative director, called on Argyle Mackey, acting commissioner, and Paul Winnings, general counsel, Immigration and Naturalization Service, to lay at their doorstep some of the problems the JACL ADC Washington office cannot answer.

For example, Masaoka asked what could be done about several GIs, injured in combat in Korea, and now in Walter Reed Hospital in Washington and Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco, who have fiancées in Japan.

"Several are so seriously injured they will not be able to get out of the hospitals until after the expiration of the law, next February," he said.

"They want to get married by proxy or transpacific telephone ceremonies. Will those marriages be recognized as legal?"

The Immigration and Naturalization Service said definitely and finally: Proxy marriages are out. It was the added opinion of Winnings, despite his personal sympathy, that a telephonic marriage was in the same category as a proxy marriage. But he was careful to add that no court has yet ruled about the validity of such a marriage.

Not being a federal court judge, Masaoka withheld any judicial opinion on whether a serviceman could bring a "telephone bride" here under the terms of the Soldier Brides bill, although he said the government probably would oppose the admission of such brides.

He asked if anything could be done for servicemen and veterans who are not in this country but have fiancées in Japan and are unable to finance the cost of a trip back to marry their sweethearts. The answer was, as far as the Immigration and Naturalization Service is concerned: Nothing.

Well, he continued, can anything be done for GIs fighting in Korea who have fiancées in Japan? The service again suggested that the best hope for such men is to get furlough, go back to Japan and marry the girls, then return to their fighting outfits.

But the prize stickler is: In the eyes of the service, what constitutes a legal marriage? They've been pondering that question for years and still haven't come up with a final answer. And as regards servicemen in Japan, that's really a toughie.

Uncle Sam, being a rather finicky old man, authorized very few marriages between GIs and Japanese. So, like a lot of young fellows here at home, not a few GIs simply "eloped", married their Japanese sweethearts in religious or other type ceremonies, without benefit of Uncle Sam's blessing, and now insist these girls are their legal wives.

Are they? The JACL ADC cannot answer that question. Nor, as a matter of fact, can the service. Much depends upon the exact type of marriage that took place.

The best way for a GI to find out, Masaoka said, is to fill out an Immigration and Naturalization Service Form I-133, for the admission of a spouse of an American citizen, and let the Service itself rule on each such marriage.

In fact, Masaoka urged both servicemen and veterans who have wives in Japan, regardless of what doubts they may have about the type of marriage ceremony they were united by, to apply for admission of their spouses.

"The more inquiries the service receives, the more the service and the ADC will be in a position to introduce whatever amendments might be necessary to the Soldier Brides bill next year to correct obscure sections of the present law," Masaoka said.

And finally, Masaoka suggested that where the admission of a wife may be in doubt because of technical or legal problems, a good private immigration lawyer might be of considerable value.

He also reminded GIs that if they are unable to bring in wives under the Soldier Brides Bill, when Congress reconvenes next January private bills for their admission then can be introduced.

Claims Payments Expected Soon

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 27 (New Canadian Dispatch) — Payment of awards on Japanese Canadian evacuation loss claims by the government, is expected to start shortly, according to the Co-Operative Committee on Japanese Canadians. At the present time, the Co-Operative is mailing out the forms to claimants and they may expect payment after these necessary documents have been returned to the Co-Operative committee in Toronto.

Following the government's decision to pay awards to claimants as recommended by the Royal Commission, the custodian prepared a "release" form which the claimants are required to fill out in order to receive payment.

A covering letter from the Co-Operative committee is included in the mailing giving instructions regarding payment and details respecting his award and advice that if he wishes to make inquiries, he should get in touch with the Co-Operative committee legal counsel in his province.

The committee has included in the mailing Japanese translations which it has prepared of the forms and letter. The national JCCA is assisting the Co-Operative committee in this work.

When the evacuation claims payments are completed, the sum of $1,222,829.16, together with $150,000, awarded outside of the terms of reference, will have been paid out by the government to compensate for evacuation property losses. Some 1,300 Japanese Canadian claimants will share in the payments ranging from $2.50 up to $29,950.

NISEI COUNCIL AWAITS VISIT OF DR. KAGAWA

Plans for the much-awaited Seattle appearance of Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa and the annual Thanksgiving Day Union service were discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the interchurch Nisei council last Monday evening at the Japanese Baptist church.

Dr. Kagawa is scheduled to speak before the Nisei group from 8:30 p. m. on Tuesday, Nov. 7, in the Buddhist auditorium. Mrs. Kaz Naito will be the chairman with the Methodists in charge of the program, and the Congregationalists, the ushers.

All Nisei Protestant churches will gather in St. Peter's Mission on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 23, for a union service. It was decided by the council. The service will begin from 11 a. m.

It was announced that $49.10 was collected at the first outdoor union service held at Lincoln park last August 13. The council will send $40 to the Christian University of Tokyo, Japan, and turn the remainder into the council treasury.

Frisco to Seek 1952 Parley

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Sept. 27 —San Francisco's JACL chapter delegation will make a bid in Chicago this week, seeking to bring the 1952 national JACL convention to the city by the Golden Gate for the first post-war session of the league on the Pacific coast.

Before entraining for Chicago and the eleventh biennial national JACL convention, president Harry I. Takagi of the Seattle JACL chapter indicated that Seattle will not ask for the 1952 national meet.

A bid by Los Angeles or San Francisco will be received favorably by our delegation, Takagi said, since a Pacific coast city as the site for a national JACL parley would mean additional delegates from our town.

chapters adopted a resolution supporting San Francisco's bid at a recent business meeting here.

San Francisco made a strong try in Salt Lake City in 1948 to bring this year's session here for the state's centennial year, but yielded to Chicago. The Windy City delegates promised to back the Frisco bid for 1952.

The last previous national parley here was in 1934. The 1942 convention had been scheduled for Oakland when plans were disrupted by the war.

New Kind of Leadership Is Being Sought by Educators For Matured Teenagers in U.S., Women's Editor Finds

By TSUGI SHIRASHI
Women's Editor
Nippon Times

American teenagers are much more matured than the youths of some years ago. The problem is, therefore, what kind of guidance should be given so that they will be properly guided in adjusting themselves in the society of adults and become responsible citizens. Leadership which was adequate some years ago must undergo changes in methods and technique.

Today, the young people read newspapers and magazines and listen to radio programs more than they did some years ago. This accounts for the early maturity of young people. Introduction of television is said to have more influence on children and young people than moving pictures. Schools also conduct discussions on social, national and world affairs to get the young people interested in the world in which they live. The teenagers cannot remain indifferent to the events happening daily around them.

However, maturity sometimes is only superficial. They look sophisticated and act and talk like adults, but to the core they are still very young, not ready to participate in the society of adults.

Start Dating Early

The teenagers start dating very early, girls as young as 14 years old and boys at the average age of 15. The girls expect their boy friends to send them the party just as the adults would do. At one discussion group which I attended some 50 girls of 13 years of age discussed whether or not they should allow their dates to kiss them good-night when escorted home. To parties, the girls wear evening dresses whereas till some years ago they did not wear formal dress.

On one occasion when I went to a certain high school to speak, a couple of girls met me at the bus terminal and introduced me to the faculty members. The meeting was conducted by the students without help from the teachers. In the evening three girls took me to eat and later to the school party. The girls were not older than 16, but they acted like grown-ups and knew how to entertain and talk intelligently.

Marry Young

Because of the early maturity there is a tendency for boys and girls to marry young and their parents also favor early marriage. The average age for girls is 21 and for boys 22. It is not seldom that the girls marry as young as 17 and the boys just over 20. Many young married couples continue their studies at the college and in that case the parents of the brides and bridegrooms give financial help. Such a marriage is called rural marriage.

In the rural areas, however, a young husband works for his father and is able to support his wife. Sometimes, he rents a patch of land from his father and works for himself so that the young couple may feel independent of his parents. The fact that the farmers are much better off than before and during the war accounts for early marriage among the rural populace. In general early marriage is more frequent in the south than in the north.

Search for Security

This search for early marriage is partly the result of search for security by the young people. Because of the war and the unsettled conditions since, after the war the youths have felt a sense of insecurity. During the war families were broken up and many young people who were then in their early teens experienced the bitterness of financial as well as spiritual insecurity. In marriage they feel they can find security.

Also because of fear of another war and constant talk about the dangers of war prevalent the world over, young people rush into early marriage so that they can have a good time while they can. They do not want another war and are ready to work hard for peace, but at the same time they are aware of the dangers about which they read in the papers and hear over the air.

The teenagers, being so matured in their behavior, are often regarded and treated as adults and thus expected to share responsibilities with adults in the community.

Becoming Inadequate

Should they take equal responsibilities as adults? What kind of guidance should be given? There is no denying that the kind of guidance which was adequate years ago is not the kind of thing that the young people need today. A need of a new kind of leadership has become pressing. At this age of transition leadership seems to lag behind the rapid growth of teenagers.

Cases of juvenile delinquency have decreased as compared with the years immediately following the war, but such crimes as were formerly committed by much older men are today perpetrated by juveniles. There is no doubt that a new kind of guidance is needed.

Besides schools there are YMCA's, YWCA's, 4-H Clubs, Camp Fire Girls, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and churches of all denominations which are engaged in the education of teenagers. In some cities these welfare agencies are coordinating their programs while in others, programs are being conducted independently of one another.

The YWCA's, Camp Fire Girls and Girl Scouts are active in urban areas while the 4-H Clubs are sponsoring very extensive work among the farmers' sons and daughters. In small cities and towns churches are the center of community life. Kitchen facilities, halls and conference rooms attached to the church buildings are in constant use by different organizations which do not own their own facilities.

In carrying out their programs the welfare agencies try to obtain cooperation from the parents. Mothers often act as leaders and advisers so that better understanding will be

McCarran Ignores Veto of Walter Bill, Assures Solon of New Legislation

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 27 (ADC) — Sen. Pat McCarran, (D., Nev.), in a last-minute maneuver last Saturday shortly before Congress recessed, refused to call up the President's veto of the Walter Resolution for a vote. Instead he gave assurances to the Senate he would introduce a new bill to eliminate race in naturalization when Congress reconvenes in November.

Immediately after the Senate voted to override the President's veto of the McCarran Subversive Control Bill, 57-10, Sen. Maj. Leader Lucas asked the Nevada Senator about his intentions on the Walter Resolution.

Sen. McCarran said the McCarran Subversive Control bill contains the same type security provisions applicable to aliens as are contained in the Walter Resolution and "the need to override the President's veto (of the resolution) is no longer necessary".

He described the provisions of the Walter Resolution eliminating race in naturalization "as a completely separate matter".

Then he said he intended to introduce new legislation in November to eliminate race in naturalization. This was all the original Resolution was designed to accomplish until the security regulations which prompted a Presidential veto were added by a House-Senate conference at the demand of Sen. McCarran.

Sen. Lucas said as long as he had the assurance of Sen. McCarran that the Judiciary Committee chairman would introduce such legislation, this was satisfactory with him.

Mike Masaoka, national JACL ADC legislative director, pointed out the ADC specifically did not reintroduce the Walter Resolution after the President's veto because of McCarran's insistence the Senate wanted to override the President.

Masaoka said that with McCarran taking this view, "it would have been completely futile to attempt to introduce new legislation which would have had to go through Sen. McCarran's Judiciary Committee before reaching the Senate."

"We had to go along with this, McCarran lead us to believe he would try and have the Senate override the President's veto of the Resolution".

Masaoka said he was "hopeful that McCarran will do as he says. If the Senator does introduce the bill, and takes the lead as its sponsor, it should be possible to complete action on the new Walter Resolution during the last session of the 81st Congress in November".

PIN . . . Pruney Tsuji and Kenny Arita didn't win any prize in the Main Bowl singles classic last Sunday, but they did well in hitting their '49-'50 average (Tsuji, 181, and Arita, 175) as some of the "big names" from uptown had trouble throughout their six-game stretch . . . newcomer to the Main Bowl drives is Sam Sugitachi who relocated to Chicago during the war and returned home; Sugitachi made his debut in fine style, rolling a 543 for Yo Maekawa's Jackson Grocery . . . scores trickling in from Portland tell the story that girls like Yoko Hishikawa and Sachi Nakata are back in form . . . the acquisition of Tak Akamatsu, the Portland ace, makes Puget Sound Vegetable Growers' Association tough, indeed, in the Nisei Commercial . . . don't underestimate the power of a woman, is the Ladies Home Journal advertisement slogan; it could be applied to the trundlers of the SNGBO (Seattle Nisei Girls' Bowling Organization) which, perhaps, is one of the fastest Nisei girls' pin circuits in the country . . . the last round held Saturday in the Seattle Woman's Bowling Association elimination tournament ousted Fudge Sakanashi, YoYo Ishii and Miye Ishikawa, but Mary Maniwa is still in there pitching the three-holed ball for the next round of play . . . a comer in the NCL is Sab Yamashita of Royal Amusement; experience is all he needs to make him an excellent kegler . . .

● SIDELINE . . . if practice means anything, one can expect good ball from the Nisei Veterans Committee-sponsored football machine when it begins its season shortly . . . what to expect during the '50-'51 basketball season may be learned when Al Mar, NVC-appointed cage czar, holds an organizational meeting on Wednesday night, Oct. 4, in the Seattle Buddhist church . . . a sports show you shouldn't miss: the NVC's smoker on Friday, Oct. 13, in the Buddhist auditorium . . . Niseiville has only one outstanding man in the local prep pigskin parade; its people, however, should be proud to know that Toby Watanabe, the hustling Nisei ball packer for Franklin, is a leading candidate for all-city backfield honors . . . now the New Canadian (a Canadian Nisei chronicle) hints that Tor Yamato, the Canadian grappler who is expected to appear on the local wrestling show soon, could be none other than Toar Uyeda of Vancouver, B. C. . . and rassling again: Sugy Hayamaka (what a billboard name!) hails from Honolulu, it says on the program sheet; about six months ago, he was from the Midwest . . . we're almost tempted to tell some of our friends "we told you that the Yanks will win the American league pennant!" but the time is not ripe yet . . . the Seattle Times salmon fishing derby attracted many Issei and Nisei fishermen, but the prizes weren't for them this year . . .

Here's a Reminder: Cage Meet, Oct. 4

To outline his general plans for the coming '50-'51 community basketball season, Al Mar, NVC cage director, will meet with the managers and representatives of all teams planning to enter the league.

This important meeting will take place from 8 p.m. next Wednesday, Oct. 4, in the Buddhist auditorium, Mar reminded the casaba enthusiasts.

To be formed are the AA, A, B and Girls leagues, with the opening league games tentatively set for the middle of November.

Mar warned the teams that failure to attend the meeting may mean that they will be left out of the league.

Watanabe Tallies For Winning East

Hard-running Toby Watanabe of Franklin high school started the touchdown march of the Eastern eleven in the annual East-West Seattle high school football jamboree last Friday night in the Memorial Stadium. The East—represented by Cleveland, Franklin, Garfield and Roosevelt—earned a 25-6 decision.

Watanabe scored the first touchdown of the contest in the first quarter. He and Bob Mendel paced the Quakers in their goal-line drive against Queen Anne.

Ted Tadich and Earl Johnson, Duncan, 1181; Pete Gattani, 1179; both of Tacoma, Wash., finished one and top cash in the Main Bowl six-game singles classic last Sunday night on the local alleys. Tadich totaled 1226, and Johnson, 1217. Others finishing in the money were: Count Kronfield, 1197; Lee Torre, 1196; Leo Rollick, 1190; Joe Ugrin, 1189; Doc Maczen and Joe Al Nelson, 1178; Max Hillsberry, 1177, and Tom Sullivan, 1174. Pruney Tsuji and Kenny Arita, only Nisei entered in the stiff competition, failed to place.

Yonamine Receives Bid to Try out Again For O'Doul's San Francisco Seals in PCL

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Sept. 27 (Nichi Bei Times Dispatch) — Wally Yonamine, Nisei outfielder for the Salt Lake City Bees, will get a try-out with the San Francisco Seals again next spring.

It was reported that he was asked to report to the Seals' spring training camp. The local nine is scheduled to train next spring at a camp on Maui.

Yonamine met Manager Lefty O'Doul of the Seals who told the Nisei that he was among eight young players recalled from farm teams already on the squad.

The Nisei plans to play football for an Island pro team this fall.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 27 — Although the official Pioneer league averages will not be released until sometime this winter, Hawaii's Wally Yonamine finished in fourth place in the league batting race on the basis of unofficial compilations. The sharp-hitting centerfielder of the Salt Lake Bees had 165 hits in 491 times at bat in 123 games. He led all the first-year men in the league in batting with .336.

Yonamine's popularity was demonstrated at an "Appreciation Night" at Derks field in Salt Lake City on Sept. 8 when he received several gifts from the fans. Nisei ball fans in Salt Lake chipped in to get him a "transoceanic" portable radio, while Issei followers gave him a cash gift as well as a pen and pencil set.

In one of the special events that night, Yonamine, fastest of the Bees, was matched against John Romonosky, Pocatello pitcher and one of the speediest runners in the league. Yonamine lost but he toured the bases in 143 seconds, while Romonosky registered 14 seconds flat.

In the final four games of the season, Yonamine's average dipped as he faced four of league champion Pocatello's five southpaws. He lost the league championship for most hits to Eddie Moore of Billings who had 166 to 165 for the Nisei star. Yonamine was third in runs with 118, while Ernie Shuerman, Pocatello's leadoff batter, had 133. He was second with 30 stolen bases to Jim O'Brien of Boise who had 35 for the year.

All told, Yonamine had 217 total bases for the year and 24 doubles, ten triples, three home runs and 59 runs batted in.

First, event will be worshipping in the main chapel, a move necessitated by the growth in the congregation during the past year. Secondly, they will be celebrating world wide communion which will be observed by most Protestant churches throughout the world.

A special anthem, "The Silent Sea", will be rendered by the silent choir led by Carl Niwa. Communion meditation will be taken care of by the Rev. Paul Hagiya.

Ray Hikida was elected president of the Methodist Duzzers at an election meeting held last Sunday.

Assisting him will be Sam Mitsui, vice president; Amy Chikamura, secretary; and Lloyd Omura, treasurer. Retiring officers are Tsuguo Ikeda, president; Shig Tada, vice president; Phyllis Unosawa, secretary; and Ray Hikida, treasurer.

Duzzers will begin making final preparations for their part in the coming Methodist bazaar when they meet from 7:30 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 1, in the church.

Chairmen Art Yoshioka, Ray Hikida and Lloyd Hoshide will assign their work.

MYF members will meet at 4:30 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 1, at the church to attend a theatre party. Martha Kawaguchi is chairman for the affair.

Get into Swim At Local YW

Have fun and get into the swim. That's the word from the YWCA health education director, Helen Snyder.

Although the program officially started Monday, there are still some openings in swimming, ballroom and square dancing and badminton classes. Anyone desiring further information about class schedules should call the YW, ELiot 4800, or stop in the central building, 5th and Seneca. There are both daytime and evening classes.

Appointments should be made in advance with Miss Snyder for the protective physical examination which is required for all classes except the dancing and the sun lamp treatments.

Badminton may be taken in combination with light gym or just badminton instruction. It is taught by the health education staff.

Beginning and advanced ballroom dancing is open to both men and women. Mrs. Evelyn Ryer, the instructor, has traveled to South America to learn many of the authentic South American dances to teach her YW classes. Most popular with her pupils are the rumba, tango and samba. The fox trot and waltz are also taught.

JBC WILL NOTE COMMUNION AT JOINT SERVICE

Japanese Baptist church will observe World Communion Sunday from 11 a.m. this Sunday, Oct. 1, with a joint Issei-Nisei communion service. The Rev. M. Wada and the Rev. Emery Andrews will be in charge of the worship.

In line with other churches in the American Baptist Convention, a special Japan opportunity offering will be taken at the close of the communion service.

Baptist Lightkeepers will hold their regular meeting from 8 p.m. tonight, Wednesday, Sept. 27, in the home of Mrs. Toyoko Hayashi, 138 23rd Ave. So. Mrs. Shigeko Uno, president, urges all the members to be present.

The Okazaki class, a Bible study group, is now meeting from 8 to 9 p.m. on Mondays at Fujin Home, according to Eleanor Sadamori, secretary. The class, under the direction of Mrs. F. R. Leach, is studying the lives of the disciples. It is still not too late to join the class.

The JBC choir, with Mrs. Jean Herbert as director, meets every Tuesday for rehearsals for the Christmas Cantata to be presented on Dec. 17. More voices, especially male voices, are needed. Choir rehearsals are from 7:30-9 p.m. in the Japanese Baptist church.
