'51 BUSINESS WILL BE GOOD, MONTHLY SAYS

But Business Leaders Predict Increase Of Headaches

Business will be good in 1951, but it won't be "business as usual".

This is the general opinion expressed by 15 leading business authorities of Northwestern states in the annual "Outlook for Business" edition of Pacific Northwest Industry, a monthly magazine published yesterday by the University of Washington Bureau of Business Research.

The consensus of the experts is summarized in an editorial by Prof. Charles J. Miller, editor of the publication. He writes:

"The nation is going to have better business, but it will be accompanied by increasing difficulties and headaches. Businessmen may well long for the less prosperous, but more stable, pre-Korean days."

The special edition reviews the past year's progress and the coming year's possibilities in Washington, Oregon, Southern Idaho, Western Montana and British Columbia.

In the leading article of the magazine, Dr. Nathanael H. Engle, director of the University's Bureau of Business Research, warns that rising costs, rising price to an inflationary degree and rising taxes seem inevitable.

"The future economy will be strongly underwritten by heavy armament expenditures," he says. "Pump-priming on such a scale does away with the likelihood of a depression in the foreseeable future."

Despite heavy taxes and other governmental controls, inflation will be a serious foe at home and will complicate the problem of adjusting the economy to a full defense.

N. W. Buddhists Choose 'Triranta' As Confab Theme

ONTARIO, Oreg., Dec. 20 — With "Triranta, the Foundation of Buddhism" as its theme, the fourth annual Northwest Young Buddhist League convention has been tentatively set for February 23, 24 and 25 in Ontario.

Present plans call for a queen contest, basketball tournament and oratorical contest besides the regular discussions and meetings.

Northwest Young Buddhist League cabinet members will meet in Ontario, Oreg., on the weekend of January 6 and 7, 1951.

Chief point of discussion will be the fourth annual convention, which will have the Ontario, Oreg., chapter as host.

Line up, Kids! It's Free Show

A free movie for the kids this Thursday afternoon, Dec. 21, will be the Atlas Theater's Christmas present to the neighborhood again this year according to an announcement by B. C. Johnson, manager. Invitations have been given to all pupils of Bailey Gatzert school but other neighborhood children are also invited.

The show will feature a boy and dog picture, "The Boy From Indiana," and will include a cartoon. The free showing will start at 2:15 to allow children time to reach the theater after their 2 o'clock dismissal on this day, and will be finished about 3:30 so that they can be home before dark.

This is the third year that the Atlas management has sponsored a free Christmas show. This year's selection has been carefully chosen and the arrangements have been planned to assure parents that their children will be home early.

SEN. RUSSELL OBJECTS TO WALTER BILL

Legislation's Aiding Treaty Merchants Is Noted

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 20 (ADC) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, (D., Ga.), objected last Friday to Senate passage of the House-approved Walter Naturalization bill when it came before the upper house on the consent calendar.

He said he objected "because the bill would give treaty merchants the right to apply for naturalization," and added he would "continue to object to this bill".

This is the third time Senator Russell has blocked Senate passage of a measure to eliminate race in naturalization. Several months ago his objections to the similar Walter Resolution held up passage of that act. He finally offered an amendment to the old Resolution which, however, was further amended in a House-Senate conference and subsequently vetoed by the President.

After making his objection from the floor, Senator Russell subsequently told Gov. Ingram M. Stainback, who was visiting the Senate, that "I have no objection to this bill, not as it applies to the Japanese who came here before 1924, but it will cover treaty merchants".

Gov. Stainback said similar naturalization legislation for the Chinese approved a few years ago did not give Chinese treaty merchants the right of seeking citizenship, and it was the consensus that neither would the Walter bill. But Sen. Russell insisted "this bill will".

The bill came up on the Senate Consent calendar today after receiving unexpected Judiciary Committee approval yesterday. The bill will remain on the Consent calendar until the end of the "lame duck" session.

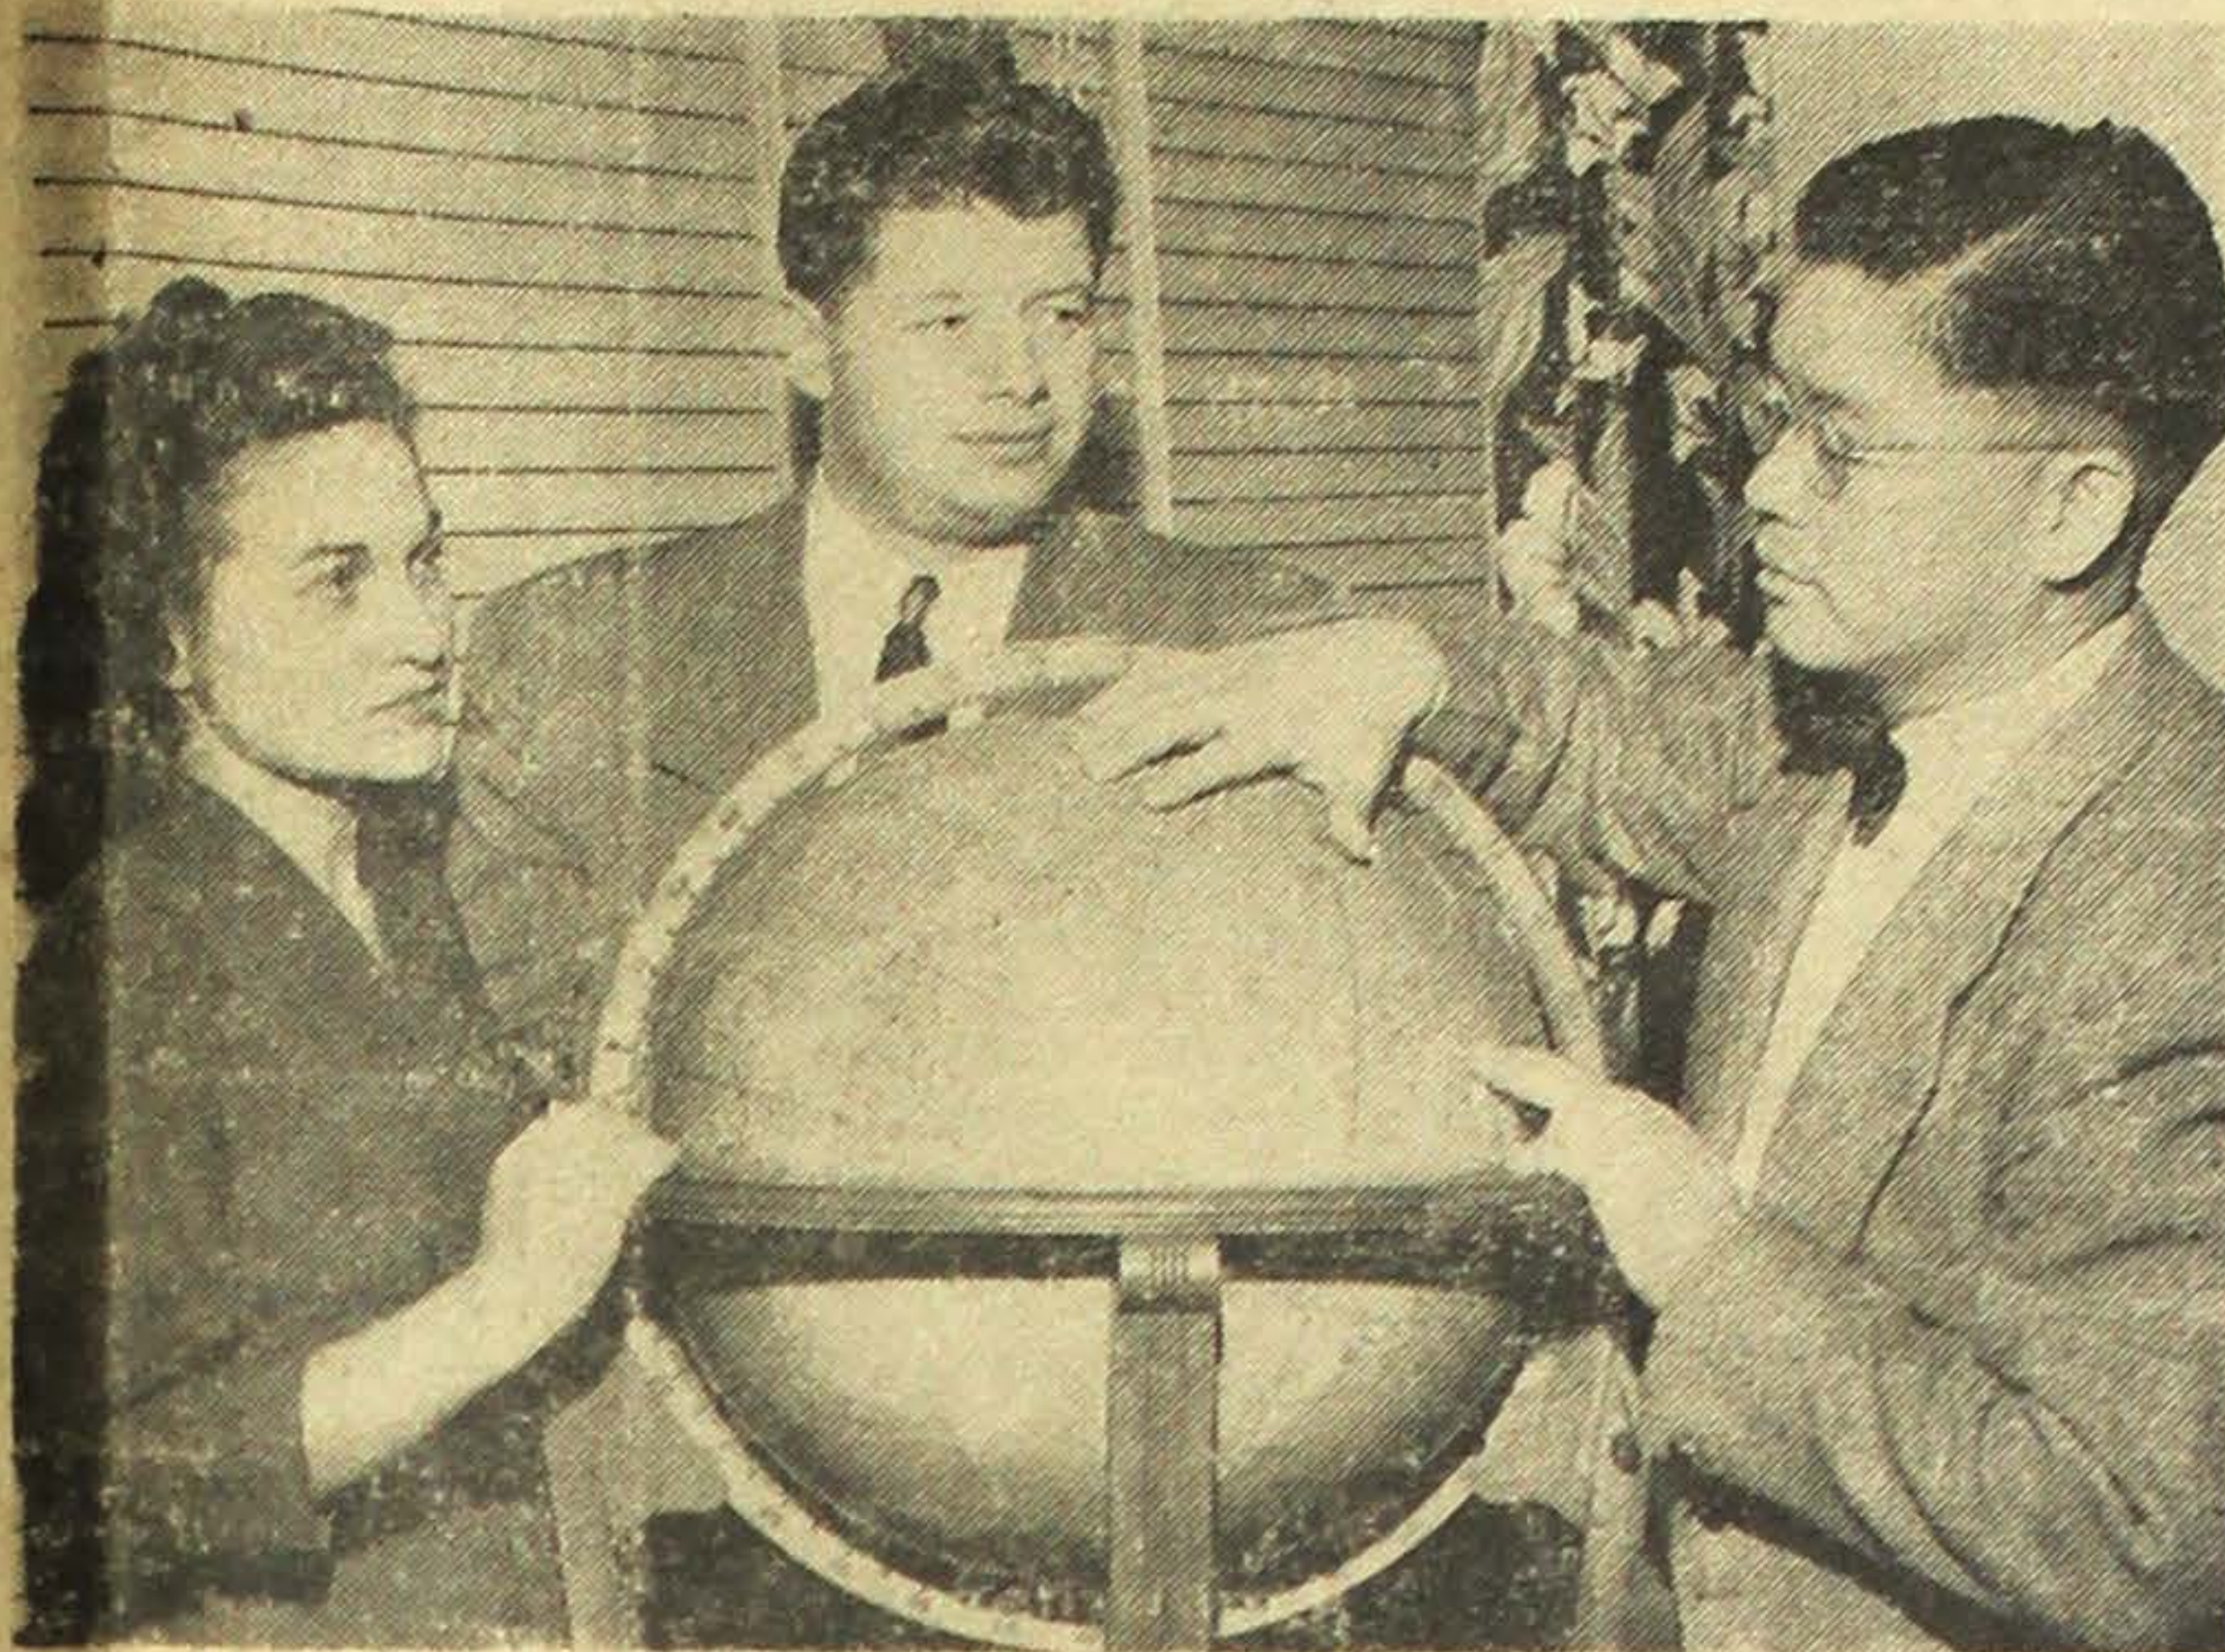

A Consent Calendar bill must receive unanimous approval to pass. A single objection will block passage.

While legislation placed on the Legislative Calendar is subject to debate and a vote, and can pass by a simple majority, Mike Masatoka, national JACL ADC legislative director, said "it is extremely doubtful that the Senate will be willing to take up its remaining time by debating this bill".

He added he was not sure of the future legislative strategy, but said "we will try to work something out over the weekend".

COMMUNITY COUNCIL PUTS UP XMAS TREES ON JACKSON ST. HILLSIDE

THREE COURSES ON FAR EAST OFFERED BY U. W.

By JOYCE MEYER

Next quarter, the University of Washington will offer three evening courses designed to help Seattle adults better understand what is happening in the Far East.

These courses about Asia will start Tuesday, Jan. 2, in the University's downtown Adult Education Center, 2208 8th Ave. Any interested person is invited to register.

Dr. John M. Maki, well known in Seattle Nisei circles, will discuss "International Relations in the Far East" in his class each Tuesday and Thursday.

An assistant professor of Japanese government and politics at the University, Dr. Maki is recognized as an authority in his field. He studied in Japan from 1936-39, later served as an administrative analyst with the occupation forces in 1946.

The second course, "Current Problems in the Far East", will meet at 8 p.m. each Wednesday with University faculty experts like Dr. Maki, Dr. Frank Williston and Dr. George Taylor.

This new lecture series was arranged by the University's Far Eastern and Russian Institute after the international situation became critical in the Orient. At each class meeting, a faculty lecturer will present background material on some aspect of the Asiatic problem.

The third course, "American Foreign Policy in the Far East", will be taught by Dr. Frank Williston each Monday and Wednesday. Both Dr. Maki's and Dr. Williston's courses carry five-hour credit toward a University degree. Anyone, however, may enroll regardless of previous education.

Registration may be made next Tuesday, Dec. 26 through Saturday, Dec. 30, at the Adult Education Center or in 318 Administration Building, campus. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Gay Streamers Hung On Light Poles In Area

Christmas decorations were put up on Jackson Street this week by the Jackson Street Council's Civic committee and local business men. The feature of this year's display is the illuminated sign and Christmas trees on the hillside between 9th and 10th Avenues which proclaim greetings in English, Japanese and Chinese. Large cedar swags with gay bows and streamers are hung on light poles between 5th and 14th avenues.

For the third year the Community Chest-supported council has organized the project and mobilized the necessary volunteers to provide a holiday atmosphere at a minimum cost. Funds were collected by an independent committee, headed by Louis Todd and Frank Hattori, and were turned over to the council for the decorations.

In contrast to the $3,000 to $5,000 spent by other districts, the decorations budget this year was $238.65, the amount raised from nominal voluntary contributions. All of the swags were made and hung by volunteers, using materials purchased at wholesale thru local merchants. The largest single item of expense was for the greeting sign, designed by James Hata, and constructed so that it can be stored and used again next year with a new design.

Contributors to the fund include:

- Colored Waiters, Porters $10.00
- Cooks Club

ALONG ...
San Francisco's famed Chinatown, largest Chinese community outside the Orient, people fear today that the intervention of the Chinese Communists in Korea might bring about "unpleasant repercussions," reported the Nichi Bei Times of that city.

The Chinese World in an English editorial touched cautiously on the inevitability of animosity against Chinese Americans by some parts of the Occidental community, the Nichi Bei added.

Albert Chow, unofficial mayor of Frisco's Chinatown, reportedly said that of Chinatown's 27,000, less than one per cent could be suspected of Communist leanings.

And Gilbert Woo, editor of the Chinese Pacific Weekly, was quoted: "As citizens, Chinese Americans will automatically back American policy in the Far East or anywhere else."
In Seattle, however, things have been rather quiet in Chinatown, which is located for several blocks on King St. Of course, a few thoughtless Americans just had to make asinine remarks about the Chinese and just had to talk of reprisals against the Chinese, but business has been "as usual."

The Chinese in San Francisco, a reliable source informs us, believe that they are living in China and they act and think more like Chinese than they do Americans. Their residing in a concentrated area along Grant Avenue in a Chinese-first atmosphere may have something to do with their attitude.

Possibility that the Chinese Americans will be marched off to war relocation centers in the event of war between China and the United States, was hinted by columnist Larry Tajiri of Pacific Citizen, the official Japanese American Citizens' league organ.

Frisco's Chinatown, Tajiri pointed out, is "particularly sensitive" after seeing the number of Japanese American businesses along Grant Avenue close following the 1942 exodus.

But unlike December, 1941 and the early months of 1942, when hysteria broke out throughout the Pacific coast against anything enemy, especially the Japanese, the situation now is very much different.
To us, the alarm spreading in San Francisco's Chinatown is understandable but hardly one to be taken too seriously.

And herewith we present our reason:

During World War II, the Japanese Americans were used as "guinea pigs" in the most stuporous loyalty experiment on record in our country. They were uprooted from their homes (lock stock and barrel), whisked to concentration camps (barbed wires and soldiers) which were later transformed to relocation centers, called to serve in the armed forces of a nation which had little, if any, faith in our kind at that time, and then relocated to strange Midwestern and Eastern areas for the duration of the war.

And all this happened amidst stinging cries of "We don't want the Japs", "Once a Jap, always a Jap" and "Deport them to Japan".
And to add insult to injury, the two other Oriental groups had the audacity to wear buttons to indicate that they weren't "Japs" although they themselves were Oriental faces which are difficult for white Americans to distinguish.

And the local metropolitan newspapers didn't help matters much as they didn't have the guts nor the courage to speak up in defense of a helpless minority which had nothing to do with the sinister workings of the Japanese military minds. The newspapers, to put it bluntly, were victims of mass hysteria and lost much prestige.

Portland and Spokane Japanese Americans, however, were more fortunate. Portland and Spokane's newspapers, being highly rated chronicles that they are, took a tolerant and understanding attitude toward their Japanese Americans.

And because the Japanese Americans proved themselves beyond a shadow of doubt that they were good Americans both at home and on the various battlefronts, we feel confident that our government would be lenient in its action against the Chinese, lest it errs again.

The Japanese American Citizens' league, it is understood, will vigorously oppose any mass movement of people based upon race or ancestry. And we are thankful and glad that the JACL will do so without giving the matter a second thought.

Oh yes, we have heard from some quarters: "Why don't we let the Chinamen (to use their harsh words) suffer as we did? They didn't back us up when we were down and out. In fact, many of them were happy to see us go because they could see more dollar signs in their eyes."

We, however, cannot support such narrow-minded views. We should like to go on record that the Chinese Americans should be treated as Americans unless proven otherwise, that they should not have to experience the terrific economic and social setbacks suffered by us, and that loyal Chinese Americans should be defended by all means.

basis, he believes.
"The purchasing power of the dollar has reached a new post-war low, and in terms of the 1939 dollar is rapidly dropping toward 50 cents," he declares.

Dr. Engle does not think curtailment of civilian supplies will become serious during 1951 "if panic purchasing by civilians can be avoided and if military requirements can be kept free of duplication and waste."

BOOK SCOFFS AT 23 RUMORS OF SABOTAGE

Nisei, Issei Absolved Of Wartime Spy Accusations

Twenty-three rumors about sabotage by residents of Japanese ancestry in Hawaii at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack on Dec. 7, 1941 are debunked in a new book, "Hawaii's War Years" by Gwendread Allen which was published this month by the University of Hawaii in Honolulu.

The author notes categorically that Japanese Americans and resident Japanese aliens in Hawaii were not involved in prewar or wartime sabotage and espionage and that "all the investigative agencies are agreed that espionage in Hawaii before the war was carried on only by the Japanese consular staff, and one other person, a German".
The book also describes the participation of the Hawaiian population in the war effort in World War II, including the part which Hawaiian Nisei played in the 100th Infantry Battalion and the 442nd Regimental Combat Team.

The book is based on official records and reports deposited in the University of Hawaii during the war and was ordered published by the Hawaiian legislature.

The book emphasizes the role of Hawaii's civilian population in the war.

The author presents documentation to prove the falseness of widespread and widely accepted rumors involving Hawaii's Japanese American population at the time of Pearl Harbor. These rumors include such stories as that residents of Japanese ancestry in Hawaii had foreknowledge of the raid, that they were warned by newspaper advertisements set in Honolulu papers, that there were direction fires and other signals set for Japanese fliers by Hawaiian Japanese and that American officers were so incapacitated on Sunday morning, Dec. 7, because of liquor parties given by Japanese that they were unfit for duty.

In Rainbow Room

The Nisei Veterans Committee's Christmas Day dance will be held as planned on Monday, Dec. 25, Ed Kiyohara, social chairman, announced today.

With Palladium ballroom damaged by fire last Friday, the dance is now scheduled at the Rainbow Room, 1916 1/2 Fourth Ave. The Rainbow Room, which was formerly known as the VFW Hall, is located across the street from the Security building.

Kiyohara stated that the Rainbow Room has all the conveniences of Palladium. The hall will accommodate 200 couples and the public is urged to attend early to be assured of a table. Mixers and ice will be on sale.

The dance will be held from 9 p.m. until 12 midnight, but the hall will remain open until 2 a.m. Joe Adams and his eight-piece orchestra will furnish the music.

Named Navy Ensign

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 20 (ADC)—A Texas Nisei, Joe L. Akagi, 22, has been nominated to be a naval aviation ensign and is believed to be the first Nisei ever commissioned as a pilot in the navy, the JAACL Anti-Discrimination Committee reported.

Akagi is attached to the navy's Pacific fleet. Naval public information here said he was transferred to San Diego after completing flight training at Pensacola, Fla.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Torata Akagi, Ems. Akagi was graduated from Jefferson Davis high school in Sheldon, then attended Texas A & M for two years where he was a member of the NROTC.

Preacher in Mishap Is on Probation

WALNUT GROVE, Calif., Dec. 20—Methodist church minister Yasaburo Tsuda, formerly of Seattle, recently was found guilty on the hit-and-run charge in the unavoidable death of Natha Singh on Oct. 1 and was placed on a three-year probation.

Tsuda was hurrying to a sermon in Florin when he ran into the man on the highway. Without reporting the accident, he hurried to Florin for his engagement.

The preacher resigned from the church on Nov. 15.

There's Time to Aid Needy People Yet

There's still time to help a needy and hungry family with a Christmas basket.

The Christmas Bureau sponsored by the Health and Welfare Council, a Red Feather service, will help individuals and club and church groups get in touch with individuals, families, hospitals and children's homes who need them.

By providing a clearance service, the bureau prevented 150 duplications last year, thus helping extend Christmas to 150 additional worthy needy families.

"The bureau itself," Mrs. Elmer B. Christie, volunteer chairman, explained today, "does not solicit funds or supplies. We channel individual or organization gifts of money, toys, food and clothing through established agencies or direct to the needy families."

"It's both a free and confidential service," Mrs. Christie said, "By coordinating the Christmas projects of various clubs, churches and organizations, the Christmas Bureau is able to compile a list of those institutions and agencies, such as hospitals and children's homes, for which no plans have been made. Donors requesting suggestions for Christmas projects, or wishing to contact a needy family, are referred to this list."

The Red Feather Christmas Bureau Committee is headed by Mrs. Christie and includes Mrs. Ruth Manca, Jackson Street Community Council.

Senate Receives Walter Measure

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 20 (ADC)—The Walter Asiatic Naturalization bill was favorably reported out last Thursday for Senate action by the Judiciary committee when it held an unexpected and unscheduled meeting that afternoon, the JAACL Anti-Discrimination Committee learned from Committee members.

The unanimous report by the Senate Judiciary committee was on the House-passed measure that would extend naturalization rights to some 90,000 Asians, mostly Japanese and Koreans, who have been heretofore barred from this privilege.

The Walter bill was reported without amendment and with a strong recommendation that the Senate pass it.

Mike Masaoka, national legislative director of the JAACL ADC, announced that he would ask Senator Pat McCarran (Dem., Nev.), chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee, and Senator Scott W. Lucas (Dem., Ill.), Senate majority leader, to request unanimous consent to consider and to approve this legislation immediately.

Under Senate rules, a bill reported out by a committee must lay over at least three legislative days in order that other senators may study it before action can be taken on any measure. Since three days will not have passed after the Judiciary committee reported it out, the only way in which the Walter bill may be considered is to secure unanimous consent to consider the bill out of order.

"Even though a single objection will prevent its passage at this time, we cannot afford to waste any opportunity to press for action on this bill," Masaoka said. "Time is running out on this special session and we can't wait for it to be placed on the Legislative Calendar where it can be debated and voted. We'll just have to take our chances now."

Kohga Members' Pix Accepted by Salon

The second travelling salon of the Kohga Photographic Society is now making its tour throughout the state and is now being shown by the Washington Council of Camera Clubs before the various camera clubs of the council. The members, who have contributed prints to make up this salon, are as follows: Clarence Arai, Yoshio Noma, Tomojiro Kushi, Ritsuo Sato, Shoji Wataoka, Henry Takayoshi, and Al Smith. The first results to come in so far is the vote of the Seattle Photographic Society. This club votes as follows: first, "Quiet Debut" by Clarence Arai; second, "One Foggy Day" by Yoshio Noma; and third, "In The Cove" also by Yoshio Noma.

At the last meeting, the society unanimously decided to meet once a month, that is, on the first Wednesday night of each month. The next meeting will be held at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Jan. 3, in the Jackson Street Community Council offices in the Tacoma Hotel building.

Yoshio Noma has received word that his new print, "South African", has been accepted by the Springfield International Salon of Photography. This salon will be held from Jan. 2 to Jan. 21, 1951, in the George Walter Vincent Smith Art Museum at Springfield, Mass.

LOOK FOR THE LABEL

Labels deserve greater respect and attention. They are a protection for the buyer and should be of marked benefit to the manufacturer of durable goods. Yet women tend to ignore labels and then feel cheated or resentful when purchases turn out to be inferior.

Suppose a cotton dress shrinks badly. The "Sanforized" label was probably lacking and the buyer was shortsighted. Possibly the salesperson knew that this manufacturer does not use Sanforized materials but the buyer never asked. The name of a well-known manufacturer usually gives a guarantee of quality. Often the label will give cleaning or washing precautions which must not be disregarded.

You cannot insist nowadays on all wool, pure silk or all nylon. Textile manufacturers say the improvements brought about with mixing textile fibers are remarkable. So don't let a little learning be a dangerous thing. Accept the word of an intelligent salesperson. If buying blankets, moth resistant usually means just that. Some rugs recently treated and made moth resistant are guaranteed for ten years after testing at the University of Washington.

Women are notorious for not reading instructions. Manufacturers of electric equipment say that their service calls result from neglect of instructions plainly attached to the equipment.

Women should know what thread count on sheets means. Fine sheets with a high thread count may be far more beautiful, but may not wear as well as the coarser sheet. Is the sheet for the guest bed or the boys' double deckers? Labels properly interpreted indicate use and durability.
