HEARS PLEAS FOR CLAIMS BOARD BILL

WASHINGTON D. C. June 3—With only one witness questioning the provisions of H. R. 2768, public hearings on the Evacuation Claims Commission Bill were held last week before the Gwynne Subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee.

Testifying in support of the bill were Oscar L. Chapman, Undersecretary of the Interior; Dillon S. Myer, former WRA director and now Commissioner of Federal Public Housing; Hito Okada, national president of the Japanese American Citizens League; Dr. Leonard Bloom, professor at the University of California at Los Angeles; Mike Masaoka, national legislative director of the JAACL Anti-Discrimination Committee; Elmer J. Hewitt, vice-president of the Meat, Cannery, and Farm Workers Union, Local 56, of the American Federation of Labor; Rev. F. Nelsen Schlegel of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and of the Family Service Association of Washington, D. C.; and Malcolm A. Pitts, former WRA regional director.

Representative Clair Engle, Dem., of Calif., while supporting the principles of the bill, suggested that certain amendments be made by the Subcommittee before the measure was reported out for House consideration. Representative Bertrand W. Gearhart, Rep. of Calif., was listed as a witness for the bill but did not appear to testify.

Chairman John W. Gwynne, Rep. of Iowa presided. Other Subcommittee members who participated in the hearings were Clifford F. Case, Rep. of New Jersey; Francis A. Walter, Dem. of Penn., and Joseph B. Bryson, Dem. of So. Carolina. Absent were Representative Angier L. Goodwin, Rep. of Mass., and Thomas J. Lane, Dem. of Mass.

CHAPMAN ENDORSES BILL

In urging the Subcommittee to favorably report out H. R. 2768, Undersecretary Chapman briefly explained the history of the bill and what its provisions would do. He declared in part:

"It is my sincere and deep feeling that this bill relates to a matter in which we as a nation have real and immediate obligation to meet, one which the American people and the Congress will, I am sure, recognize and accept. Its passage would go a long way toward discharging this obligation, involving the very integrity of our country, with fairness and decency to those who suffered that the country might feel itself more secure in those dark hours.

"Furthermore, the enactment of legislation such as H. R. 2768 would be notice to propaganda flooded nations across the seas that the United States keeps faith—would go far to bolster the efforts of our occupation officials to demonstrate that Democracy is a good way of life and not merely a word and, especially, should be helpful to General MacArthur in the splendid job he is doing in Japan.

Hearing on Claims Board Bill

"But, first and foremost," Mr. Chapman concluded, "we will be discharging a very definite moral obligation due to persons, most of them citizens, who, as I have said were guilty of no other crime than the accident of birth and ancestry."
Mr. Myer related some of the experiences of the WRA under his administration and answered questions relating to its property handling, both at the time of evacuation and afterwards. He spoke extemporaneously, explaining that while the WRA tried to prevent some of the things that happened they were late in the field and that adequate preparations had not been made.

Engle Recommends Changes
Speaking from a prepared statement, Representative Clair Engle, who last year prevented the passage of an identical bill by objecting to its consideration during the final days of the 79th Congress, declared that while he was not opposed to the bill in principle he felt that some drastic changes or amendments were necessary before he could fully support the measure.
He charged that the measure as written provided for the compensation of disloyal Japanese and Japanese Americans. Citing the reports of the Costello Subcommittee of the Un-American Activities, he charged that according to the loyalty questionnaire more than 25 per cent of the American-born Japanese were disloyal and would not swear allegiance to the United States. He urged the Subcommittee to make some provisions whereby these disloyal persons, both among the aliens and among the citizens be barred from claiming benefits under the measure.

Rep. Engle declared that while this bill did not provide for the compensation of others who suffered economic and other losses as a consequence of war it singled out only the Japanese for preferential treatment.
He presented as examples draftees, certain airport facilities, and gold mine operators. He was especially insistent that since gold mine operators were the only economic group singled out under special War Production Board orders and forced to close, thereby suffering great economic losses, the bill under discussion should be amended to include all persons who were the innocent victims of wartime discrimination based upon economic or race groups.
Engle constantly referred to H. R. 2768 as a race bill that extended special privileges to only the Japanese and the Japanese Americans. He lashed out at the Interior Department because the Department had refused to favorably recommend the passage of his bill to indemnify gold mine operators while it was aggressively lobbying for the passage of an evacuation claims commission.
He urged that the Subcommittee draft a bill that would not limit its benefits to a racial group but would also include economic and other groups that may have suffered as a consequence of the war.

Okada Speaks for JAACL
National JAACL president Hito Okada who flew here explained the interest of the JAACL in the bill, the pre-war status of the Japanese communities, the changes that the war and its subsequent events forced upon the Japanese and Japanese Americans; and the contributions of the Issei and the Nisei to the winning of the war.
He lamented the fact that the bill did not go as far as he would like to see it but urged its passage because it was the most liberal bill "that is possible at the moment."
His nine-page statement recited typical cases of family, business, and agricultural losses suffered by the evacuees.
"What is provided in this remedial bill," Okada said, "is not charity or indemnification. It is the establishment of a claims commission to adjudicate and compensate for some of the losses suffered by us unfortunate victims of war."
"We persons of Japanese ancestry recognize that in wartime every person suffers and sacrifices," the national JAACL president declared. "We do not now argue that many other Americans suffered and sacrificed less in World War II. But we do insist that what happened to us was unique and was visited upon no other group of Americans. For the losses suffered as a result of these unprecedented experiences of ours and for no others—we now seek redress through the enactment of the pending measure."

Okada concluded his testimony by quoting from President Truman's letter last July to Representative Hatton W. Summers, then chairman of the House Judiciary Committee on this same bill: "... it would be, in his (President Truman's) opinion a tragic anomaly if the United States were, on the one hand, to acclaim and decorate with honors the brave Nisei troops who fought so valiantly and at such sacrifices overseas, while, on the other hand, it ignored and left unredressed the very real and grievous losses which some of them, together with their immediate families, have suffered as a result of Government action in the midst of same."
He urged favorable consideration "in the name of common justice and fair play, in the name of 39,000 American soldiers of Japanese ancestry and their loyal parents."
Dr. Bloom Urges Lump Sum Payments
Dr. Bloom who supervised an independent study of evacuation losses presented a nine page statistical analysis with arguments in support of H. R. 2768 but suggested tentatively that perhaps it might be less expensive administratively if lump sum payments were substituted for the involved and costly claims procedure.
Speaking as an expert witness, he stated that: "There can never be compensation for the intangible, the loss of freedom, disruption of lives, and mental suffering. But the very least we can expect of a working democracy is an effort to indemnify them for economic damages suffered by no other segment of our population."
Citing specific case histories, he pointed out the inadequacy of the government from beginning to end. He charged: "The time table and plan of the evacuation were designed so that large economic losses were inevitable."

He also stated that while the Japanese Americans suffered losses in wages while in the relocation centers the nation suffered real losses in productivity which reduced our war potential. "This reduced productivity in turn is expressible in terms of casualties," he said.
Dr. Bloom raised an objection to the bill in that it did not provide for losses of earned income and earning power.
Suggesting that the Subcommittee consider what he termed "pre-emptive loss," he urged the payments of minimum grants of approximately one thousand dollars in lieu of a claim commission.
He concluded by stating: "The need for an evacuee claims bill is real and pressing. There is no evacuee who did not suffer real losses. . . . Whatever is paid will be a token payment. Its value diminishes daily."

Masaoka Refutes Engle
Speaking extemporaneously after filing his prepared five-page statement, Mike Masaoka national legislative director, challenged Congressman Engle's figures on the percentage of disloyal Americans, pointing out that the so-called loyalty questionnaires of the Army were not an accurate gauge of loyalty or disloyalty because they were misworded, misunderstood, and misinterpreted.
While pointing out that neither the JAACL nor the ADC held a brief for the disloyal, Masaoka argued that many who answered "no no" and thus are charged as disloyal by Representative Engle were loyal. He cited instances of volunteers for the 442nd who answered the first questionnaires in the negative who later won medals overseas.
Conceding that perhaps those who renounced their citizenship and who asked for repatriation to Japan had no moral claim on the government for claims, he declared that the ADC had no objections to provisions that would deny to the renunciants and repatriates the benefits of the proposed bill. If such a provision is needed to insure the passage of the bill, Masaoka said, "in order not to penalize the loyal Japanese Americans and Japanese aliens, in order that the great majority of the evacuees will not lose an opportunity to file claims for economic losses, in order that the most good will be done to the greatest numbers, we see no objections to an amendment excluding those who have taken overt action denouncing this government or requesting repatriation to Japan."
In questioning the need for redrafting the bill to include the gold mine operators, Masaoka declared that the ADC believed in the principle that every person, regardless of race or economic class, or any other consideration, was entitled to be heard and should be heard if he feels that he has a grievance against wartime government action. But, he suggested that these different problems should be treated separately in order that Congress could scrutinize each separately on the individual merits of each. He argued that such amendments as those urged by Congressman Engle tended to clutter up and confuse the intent and purpose of H. R. 2768, thereby lessening the prospects for its passage.

Masaoka pointed out that while draftees might have suffered great economic and other losses, the draftees were not singled out because of race. He also indicated that draftees had special government benefits and safeguards, but that the Japanese Americans had no such protective statutes.
"No other group of Americans were called upon to suffer bankruptcy and then to virtual jails," Masaoka stated in differentiating between evacuee losses and those of others.
After his testimony, chairman Gwynne read into the records the appreciation of his Subcommittee for the efforts of Masaoka in arranging the public hearing and the witnesses.
AFL Leader, Minister Endorse Measure
Elmer J. Hewitt, speaking on behalf of 1,500 Japanese and Japanese American members of his Union at Seabrook Farms, New Jersey, declared that "Since they were wrongfully evicted; we believe that as a matter of simple justice and good conscience this government owes a moral obligation, at least, to do everything possible to make up for that action (evacuation)."
"As a Union," the AFL spokesman said, "we deplore the low wages paid in the relocation center as an insult to our American standard of living. . . . That the government and not private industry was responsible for these labor and wage abuses does not lessen its repugnance to us."
Hewitt concluded by saying that: ". . . labor, along with other groups in American life, has a stake in extending justice to the Japanese American evacuee for the losses he may have suffered as a result of a questionable order."
The Rev. Schlegal in a prepared statement described his experiences with the evacuees in Washington and stated that common justice demands that the evacuation claims commission should be established, "if only to honor the men of the Nisei combat units who gave their lives for America."
"It is most becoming to the standards of social justice to which we adhere that we give this minority group the protection and the restitution it deserves," he concluded.
Malcom A. Pitts, formerly an assistant regional WRA director and FSA director in California, explained certain deficiencies in the handling of evacuee property by the WRA and other government agencies.
Most Questions Sympathetic
Most of the questions asked by the Subcommittee members were sympathetic inquires for additional facts regarding various losses. Others dealt with other possible remedies, including court action.
Of the Subcommittee members, Congressmen Case and Walter seemed to be most interested by their line of questioning and comments.
Dr. Boswell Barnes, Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America; Homer Morris, American Friends Service Committee; and Edward J. Ennis, American Civil Liberties Union, all filed their statements for the record.
Other statements filed with the Clerk of the Subcommittee included those from Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, the first director of the WRA and Governor Herbert B. Maw of Utah.

Shame on "bf"! His Memorial Day week-end diamond prognostications had no shine, no sparkle, no lust.

He guessed wrong twice in four tries. And that's bad, they say.

The bad news: Ashuras beat Clippers and Lotus M's beat Ashuras but Lotus M's also beat Travelers and South End Merchants walloped Eastern Fuel. In other words, Lotus M's and the Merchants did us wrong.

BOISE VALLEY VICTORIOUS, TIE FOR TOP POST

NAMPA, Idaho, June 3 (Special to N.W. Times)—The Boise Valley Nisei are now tied for first place in the Intermountain league by virtue of their third straight victory over undefeated Kuna, 9-5, last May 25. After relieving C. Ishimaru in the first inning, veteran Benny Yoshida pitched superb ball, limiting Kuna's to six widely scattered hits and retiring eleven batsmen via the strikeout route.

The Nisei were paced by Dyke Itami with a home run and a single, Tak Yamaguchi with a pair of doubles, T. Kiyokawa with a triple and a one-bagger, and Bill Nishio with a three bagger.

The running score follows:

| R | H | E |

Batteries: Ishimaru, Yoshida and Shimizu, Kuroda; D. Young and Smith, Messick.

Wapato, H. R. Split Twin Bill

WAPATO, June 3—The Wapato Nisei ball team split a twin bill with the visiting Hood River nine in a Memorial Day tilt in Wapato. The first game was won by the Hood River nine 6-5 and the second by the local team, 16-6.

Only six hits were allowed by Mas Wada and Kay Inaba, Wapato pitchers. Of these Y. Hori and Y. Kiyokawa got two apiece, K. Kiyokawa a single, and T. Omori, former Wapato player, a home run. Of the nine scattered hits off the veteran K. Kiyokawa, Hood River hurler, H. Kondo and T. Kondo got two apiece.

The second game was a somewhat one-sided affair with sixteen hits garnered by Wapato off Akiyama and K. Kiyokawa who came in as relief pitcher in the sixth inning. Wapato's leading hitters included Y. Umemoto with two hits, one going for a double, T. Umemoto with two singles, and S. Sakamoto with a three-bagger. Tom Sakamoto and K. Inaba who came in the sixth inning gave only five hits to lead his team.

Wapato Nisei Club Drops One, 16-8

WAPATO, June 3—Wapato Nisei nine was handed its first defeat in the Mt. Adams league two Sundays ago by the Harrah team which is composed largely of former Wapato high school ball players. The final score was 16 to 8.

Heads-up ball was played by the Nisei until the seventh inning when Harrah found its hitting strength, collected six of their 12 hits and pounded out four Wapato hurlers: K. Inaba, Joe Umemoto, S. Kondo and T. Umemoto. Jimmy Umemoto caught for the Nisei.

T. Umemoto smacked a home run and two singles to lead the losers.

Postponed Tilt

Due to a mixup in correspondence, the Valley-Eastern Fuel game in the Northwest Times Baseball League was postponed Memorial Day at Washington park.

It will be played at a later date, according to league director Frank Yama.

HEADPIN'S VIEWS

By SHEWO KAWRYE

Hello again!
'Tis my honest contention that the only difference twixt the journalistic ventures of two weeks and that of the immediate offering is that of differences of personalities. Names always make the news, my friends.

Names in the Men's League
Seemingly incredible in a league which the veteran bowlers dominate, we find a team composed of newcomers leading the parade this week.

The handicapped 5 led by "Lightning" Tada's 540 and Tom Hidaka's 561 series easily convinced the Nameless by snatching four well earned victories.

The Hot Shots set a sizzling pace to take three from the gutter balls whereby boosting their moral into the No. 2 spot. Manabu Fujino 527, Roy Tanagi 535, Pruney Tsuji 538, Tom Namba 555, and the other members' score which due to Shewo carelessness could not be found at the time of this writing, practically welcomed a new record.

The Salty 5 tied for third position after taking three on the chin from the Alley Cats. Their victory, however, was earned the hard way as they had to go into the 2500 total series to achieve their goal. For the winners, the laurel goes to Tom Hirai, "Grims" Yamaguchi and "Where's the Opener" Inashi's 551 series. For the vanquished, it was Hero Nishimoto with a 547 sayless.

A newcomer almost achieved the goal of all keglers by hitting a near 600 sayless. Junks Ikeda had games of 217, 232. However, feeling the pangs of saltiness in the last game, he fell short of the expected goal by fourteen pins.

Names in the Girl's League
The vaunted power of the Bowlerettes finally came to fore two weeks ago with a new team series record of 2117 in which Aki "How good I am" Fujino starred with her boisterous 461 series. This week we find them perched on top by handling the strong Anna Kay's quintet a four-game defeat. The standing performer with a high game of 165 and a 431 series was Kiki Yamamoto.

Elsewhere in the Girls' league was Jean Numoto with a 431 and a high game of 174, giving the Bowlerettes to split even with the Duchesses. Jo Ann Furuta's consistent kegling helped Pin Topplerettes to take three games from the furniture gals. For Crown's, Tak Yokoyama anchored her team's efforts for a 403 series.

Mobile Service finally broke through with a rash of victories at the expense of the Lucky Strikers by sweeping four games, Kimi Miyamoto hit a high 170 game and a 412 series.

Names in Barresment
Cavorting around the maplaways during the short-lived summer season is a new team composed of picked candidates from the "Big Ten" which has no affiliation with any league. Its chief aim is to set new records and it is the "Terrific 5."

Twos one of those few cool evenings when they boastfully challenged the Alley Kittens of the Girls' league. Although they came up with a respectable 828 series, they were set back on their round heels by the Kittens who bashfully retaliated with a 832. For putting the stronger sex? on the same level with the weaker sex, the credit goes to the following members of the Alley Kittens—Suzie, Alko and a newcomer to the Girls' league—Moriko!

Names in the Mixed Doubles League

Rolling weekly these fine Monday evenings, we find the smallest organized league the number of participants being just one third the size of any other league. For sheer team play, cooperation and really bowling for fun, the Nisei Mixed Doubles League is really something to witness. Frankly, if last week's results are any indication, it seems the best kegling results are obtained when one is surrounded by charming atmosphere

There were seven 200 games, rolled with Jack Nitta of the Kit n' Wolves combination rolling a 193, 186, and a 222 for a record 601 series enabling them to take three from the Hi-Lo's. For the losers, Shorty Fujino was high with his 542.

Following on the heels of Nitta's accomplishments, we find "Grims" Yamaguchi starring for the 4 Aces with his games of 166, 213 and 217 for a neat 596 sayless. For the opponents, Fred "How long I haven't hit a good sayless" Takagi came up with a 211 game and a noticeable series enough to boost his average well into the "Big Ten" of the Mixed Doubles League.

The only quartet that has yet to taste defeat took another four games, this time the victims being the Kaputs. The Arrividerci was led by Tak Shibuya who hit games of 173, 176, and 228. His teammate, Nobu Takahashi, wasn't exactly helpless as indicated by his 515 series. To their worthy opponents goes considerable credit for their efforts: Sumio Nagamatsu 524, and William Tanaka's 209 game and a 60 series.

My friends, if you have noticed the conspicuous absence of feminine monickers in this particular report it was due primarily to the inspirational display of kegling talent on the men. However, there's always the next time... So help me...

Ex-Cannery Men Listed by JACL

The Seattle chapter of the Japanese American Citizens League is compiling a list of persons who are interested in working in the Alaska salmon cannery industry, it was announced today by George Minato, local JACL chapter president.

This list, according to Minato, will be presented to the Cannery Workers & Farm Laborers Union, Local 7, to further negotiations to get more Japanese in the industry.

At the present time, the JACL chapter is negotiating a basis of reinstatement of former union members who were evacuated. As things stand now, Minato said, all evacuees have been dropped from union membership because they did not pay dues during the evacuation period.

As time is the factor, those who are interested are urged to express their desire immediately to Minato, 714 Seventh Ave., Seattle, stating their age, address, phone number, whether a former Local 7 member, whether experienced or not in the salmon canning industry, and when available for work.

District Council Meets June 7-8

Pacific Northwest District Council of the Japanese American Citizens League will elect officers, adopt a new constitution, and honor the Rev. W. Sherman Burgoyne of Hood River when its members convene Saturday and Sunday, June 7 and 8, in Portland.

The Rev. Burgoyne recently was given the Jefferson award in New York City for his courageous stand on the Japanese American question in Hood River.

Lotus Girls Elect

Lotus Senior girls elected Miye Ishikawa as their president when they held their election recently.

Other officers are Suzie Shimizu, vice president; Sally Makishima, secretary; Yoshiko Deguchi, treasurer, and Mitsui Ideta, social chairman.

The group's first activity will be a bicycle party on Sunday, June 22, at Green Lake. All members are urged to meet at the Buddhist church by 1:30 p.m.

Col. Thorpe said that men with some familiarity with Japanese will be given the opportunity to enlist or the sole purpose of studying Japanese and subsequent service in Japan in capacities vital to the success of the occupation. The teams will interview prospective candidates and explain to them the program offered by the school and the nature of duties to be performed after graduation.

The four teams are made up of Nisei soldiers, most of whom have seen service in Japan. The men going to New York City are 2nd Lt.
