

ARMENI NAMES K. MATSUSHITA DIMES CHIEF

Nisei Vet Is Chairman Of Drive in Our Community

Chairman for the 1951 March of Dimes in this community will be Kai Matsushita, it was announced yesterday by Don Armeni, leader in this area for the campaign.

Matsushita is an active member of the Nisei Veterans Committee of Seattle.

Funds raised during the annual March of Dimes are the only revenue of the King County chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The chapter cares for all polio patients who need help, regardless of race, color or creed.

In King County alone, March of Dimes funds cared for 375 patients in 1951 at a cost of more than $100,000. Because polio is one of the most expensive diseases to treat, four out of five victims need help for nursing, hospital and doctor bills. The chapter also buys hospital equipment for Seattle hospitals, such as respirator, hot-pack machines and treatment tubs. This equipment is free to everyone who needs it.

Although the last three years have been the blackest polio years in the nation's history, there are bright rays of hope in the significant advances made in scientific research financed with March of Dimes funds. The University of Washington is conducting a research project on the disease through a $26,903 grant made by the foundation.

"During the last two weeks in January, everyone can help replenish the funds needed for patient care, research and public education," Armeni said.

RULES GROUP RESTORED POWER TO PIGEONHOLE BILLS, IS REPORT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 10 (ADC)—The House has restored the power of its Rules Committee to pigeonhole bills.

A coalition of southern Democrats and Republicans voted to upset the two-year-old "21 day" rule which broke the power of the Rules Committee to block committee-approved bills longer than 21 days.

Mike Masaoka, national JACL ADC legislative director, said the effect of this action "only confirms the fact a conservative coalition is going to run both Houses of Congress."

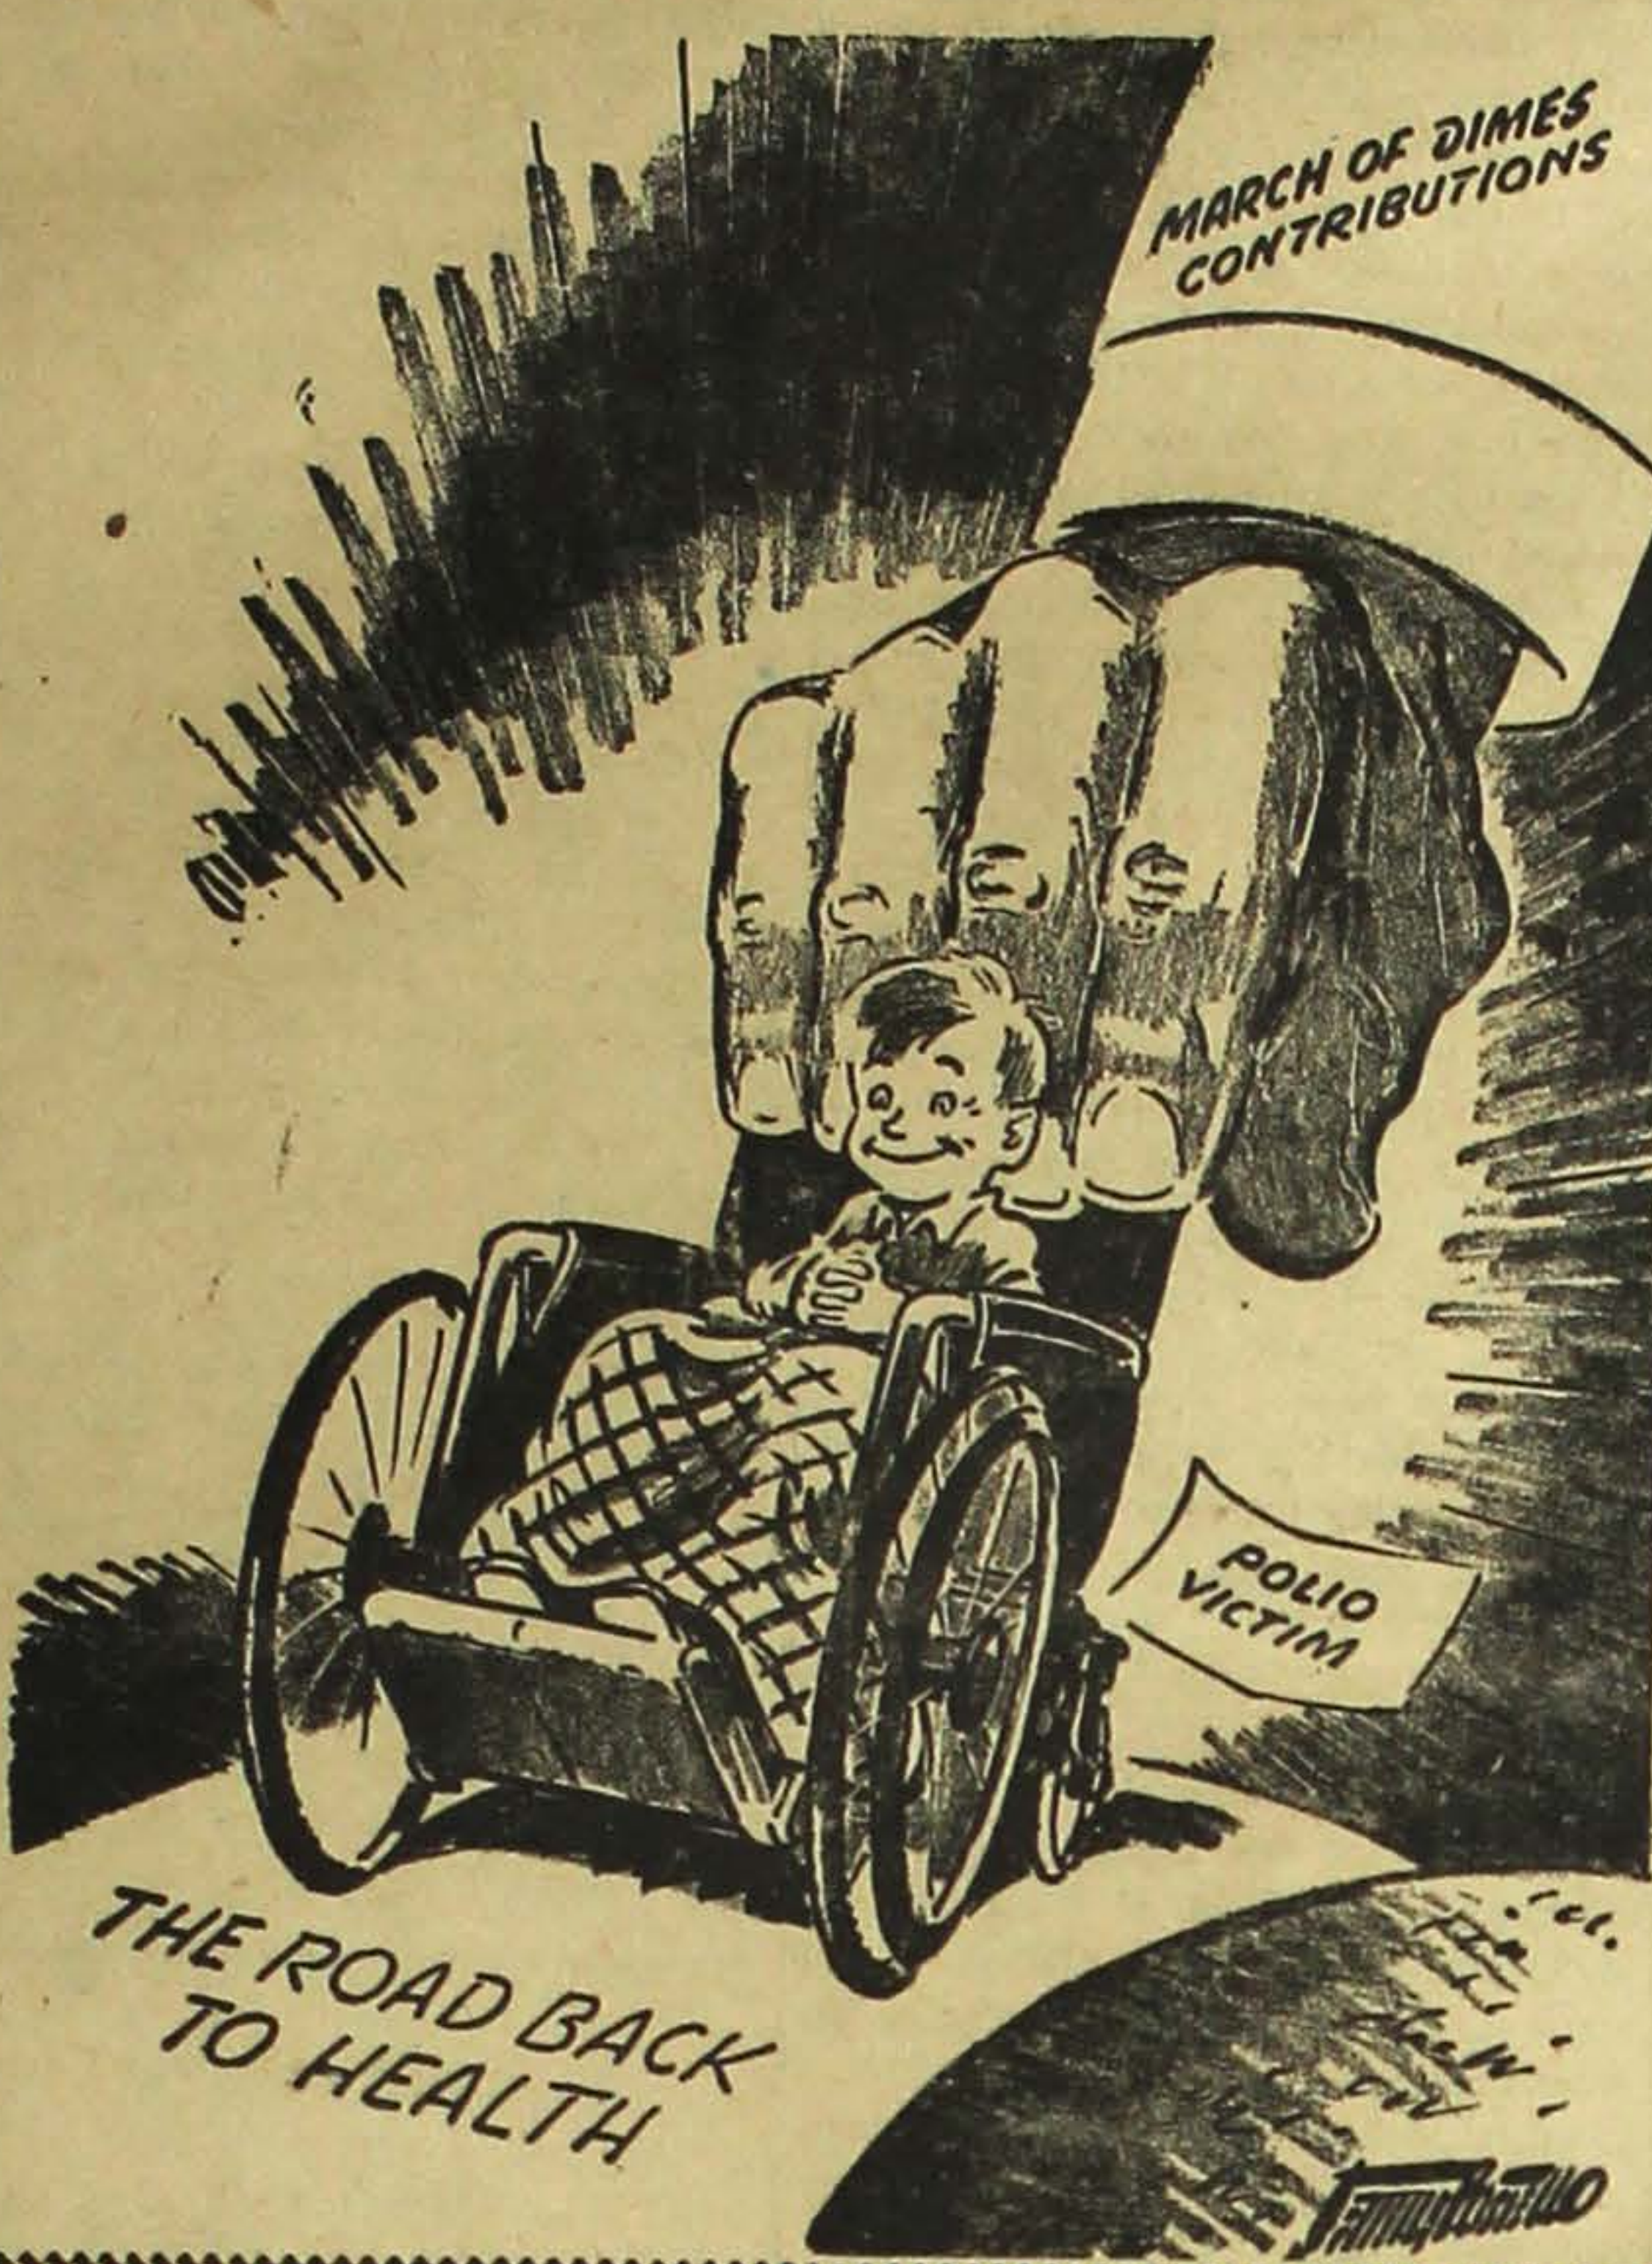

He pointed out that whenever legislation is felt by a standing committee to be controversial, the chairman of such committee must ask the Rules committee to permit the measure to come up for debate. The Rules committee may take as long as it wishes in reaching a decision. In some cases this has been months.

If, however, a standing committee feels a measure is non-controversial, it is assigned to the Consent calendar. A single objection to a measure on this calendar will prevent its passage.

Masaoka said he did not know what effect the change in House rules would have on legislation of interest to Japanese Americans, but added the Evacuation Claims bill, the Judd and Walter bills all required action by the Rules committee in the past before the House could vote on such measures.

Sen. McFarland Picked Majority Leader; Conservative Democrats Gain Control

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 3 (ADC)—The conservative wing has won control of Senate Democrats with the election of Sen. Ernest W. McFarland, (D., Ariz.), as new majority leader.

Named party whip in the Senate was Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, (D., Tex.).

Both men had full support of the southern bloc, and in turn defeated two administration men, Sen. O'Mahoney, (Wyo.), and Sen. Sparkman, (Ala.), for the respective posts.

Mike Masaoka, national JACL ADC legislative director, said both Senators McFarland and Johnson have generally respected legislation dealing with aliens. Both come from States which include small groups of Japanese American residents.

Neither election was surprising, although the vote for Sen. McFarland over Sen. O'Mahoney, 30 to 19, was larger than earlier expected.

Masaoka said if anything can be construed as to policies in the Senate during the next two years from the elections it is that the future will reflect a general conservatism, and of course little hope can be held out that legislation labeled "civil liberties" will have much, if any, chance for passage.

On the other hand, he observed that Sen. McFarland is rather popular among both Democrats and Republicans, and should be able to maintain a sense of harmony among the Democrats, an important factor in a Senate where the Democrats have a razor edge of only two votes.

The House selected Rep. Walter K. Granger, (D., Utah), a long-time friend of the Japanese in the United States for one of three vacancies on the important House Ways and Means Committee.

The House also elected Rep. Sam Rayburn, (D., Tex.), for another term as Speaker, and Rep. John W. McCormack, (D., Mass.), as Democratic floor leader. Both have been rather firm supporters of the administration.

Rep. Francis E. Walter, (D., Penn.), leader of the Democratic caucus in the House last year, declined to accept the office again in the 82nd Congress.

3 LEGISLATIONS INTRODUCED TO CONGRESS—ADC

All of Them Propose To Eliminate Race In NI Laws

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 10 (ADC)—Three bills for equality in naturalization and immigration, which passed the House last year but died in the Senate, were reintroduced by Cong. Walter H. Judd, (R., Minn.), and was given the same number, H. R. 199, it had in the 81st.

Representatives Sidney R. Yates, (D., Ill.), and George P. Miller, (D., Calif.), also introduced identical bills for equality in naturalization and immigration. They were assigned numbers H. R. 438 and 246 respectively.

All three Congressmen introduced the same bills in the 81st Congress. Rep. Francis E. Walter's bill for equality in naturalization only, which was introduced last week, was assigned number H. R. 403.

Del. Joseph R. Farrington, (R., Hawaii), who introduced Hawaii Statehood in the last Congress, has reintroduced the same measure. Again it was assigned number H. R. 49, in keeping with hopes of Hawaii to become the 49th State.

Congress Gets Two Measures

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 10 (ADC)—The Walter Naturalization and the Judd bill were reintroduced in the House as the 82nd Congress opened last week.

The bills were placed in the House hopper again at the request of the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee. Both passed the House during the past session. Both finally died in the Senate.

The Walter Naturalization bill is simply designed to eliminate race in naturalization. The Judd bill, in addition to eliminating racial requisites for naturalization, also would restore immigrant quotas to those Asian countries still barred under the Oriental Exclusion Act of 1924.

Little action is expected on either measure for the next week or two. Both the House and Senate will be primarily occupied with reorganizing committees and settling the tasks of getting a new Congress underway.

Because of the increased Republican strength in Congress, both the House and Senate will have to increase Republican membership on the various standing committees.

The two bills were reintroduced last week by their original authors, Representatives Francis E. Walter, (D., Penn.), and Walter H. Judd, (R., Minn.).

The Walter bill fared somewhat better than the Judd bill in the 81st Congress.

As a resolution, the Walter measure passed both houses, although with security amendments which prompted a Presidential veto. The veto was not acted upon in the Senate.

A new Walter bill was introduced the opening day of the "lame duck" Congress. While it promptly was approved by the House, it died in the Senate.

The Judd bill passed the House early in the 81st Congress. The Senate Judiciary Committee never did act upon the measure.

A New Year and an Unpleasant Korean War Faced BY THE JAPANESE

By SHIG FUJITA
(Tokyo Correspondent)

The sixth New Year's Day since the end of the Pacific War saw the Japanese people better fed, better clothed and better housed than in the previous six years, but it also saw them faced with the unpleasantly close Korean war just across the narrow sea. It also saw an implied reversal of the war renunciation clause in the Japanese Constitution in General MacArthur's statement in which he said that "self-preservation" may require the Japanese to rearm and "mount force to repel force."

Nineteen hundred and fifty-one, the year of the rabbit according to Japanese tradition, dawned clear and cold with Jack Frost turning the earth to a thin blanket of white. The national flag, which has been conspicuously absent since the end of the war, was flown by quite a few houses, approximately half in my neighborhood.

All the Japanese-language newspapers in Tokyo as well as the English-language Nippon Times gave General MacArthur's message top billing, carrying pictures of the General along with the message in its entirety. Following are some of the headlines used:

Asahi—"The Law of Self-Defense Takes Priority"

Mainichi—"Defense Against Aggression"

Yomiuri—"Ideal of War Renunciation Must Give Way to Self-Defense"

Nippon Times—"Meet Force with Force for Self-Defense"

The Japan News, an English-language daily, was the sole paper to give only the highlights of the message.

This question of rearmament has been occupying the minds of the Japanese for some time now and lively discussions have been taking place on radio broadcasts, in private panel groups, in classrooms and in barber shops. There are still a few die-hards who believe that withdrawing all occupation troops and being entirely defenseless will insure us from attack. They say: "Why not be neutral like the Swiss?" but they do not realize that Switzerland has a well-trained, fully-equipped army to see that her neutrality is respected. Of course, there is the fear, even among the Japanese themselves, that rearmament may lead to the militarism that prevailed prior to 1945.

Significantly, none of the papers carried pictures of the Emperor or any other member of the Imperial Family on their front pages as was the custom before and during the war on New Year's Day.

The Asahi Shimbun had a feature article with a bust picture of the Crown Prince on page seven of a 12-page edition, having to do with his future education. The Crown Prince, who turned 17 last month, will be graduating this spring and there are presumably three courses open to him. He can either go on to an ordinary university or take special education courses or else study abroad, probably in the United States and Britain.

The Mainichi Shimbun had a family scene of the Emperor and the Empress together with the Crown Prince on page seven also. The picture showed the three in their living room with the Crown Prince putting on classical records. The article dealt mostly with the Crown Prince himself, who is the captain of the riding club at school and who is said to be very popular with the girl students of the Peer's School.

The Yomiuri Shimbun carried a three-quarter page picture of the Imperial Family on the first page of an all-photo, four-page supplement. It was a very likeable photograph and could have been the picture of any large-sized family at home on New Year's morning. It showed the Emperor and the Empress, Crown Prince Akihito, Prince Yoshi, Mrs. Higashikuni (ex-Princess Naruko), with her three children, Mrs. Takatsukasa (ex-Princess Kazuko), Princess Jun and Princess Kiyo.

The Yomiuri also carried a question-answer type articles on the Crown Prince, who is quoted as saying that he wants to study abroad, that he likes riding and tennis as well as skiing and swimming.

Egotism is the tongue of vanity. —Chamfort.

Letter to Members by President Takagi Signals Opening of JACL Member Drive

In a form of a "personal letter," president Harry I. Takagi of the Seattle chapter of the Japanese American Citizens' league today fired the opening shot in the local unit's membership drive for the current year.

"We hope to make 1951 a 'banner year' for JACL in Seattle. To accomplish our aims (one of which will be the Pacific Northwest District Convention tentatively set for the Labor Day week-end), a strong and loyal membership is the first essential," Takagi said.

"Our membership dues for 1951 will be $2.50 per member. The slight increase in the annual membership fee," Takagi explained, "was voted for two principal reasons: (1) The increase in the amount of dues which must be sent to National Headquarters from $1 per member to $1.50, and (2) The financial state of our chapter treasury."

"For these reasons, also," Takagi continued, "the reduction in membership fees for additional members of the same family has been discontinued."

Stating that he is proud to call himself a JACL member, Takagi added that he felt that $2.50 as a membership fee is "a small price to pay for the privilege of being an active member of an organization such as JACL." "For whatever it faults, the JACL stands alone as a group which strives for American principles and the welfare of our people," he wrote.

Membership dues may be paid to either Takagi, 7325 Holly Park Drive, or Ted A. Sakahara, 318 Sixth Ave. South.

It Is The Road to Enlightenment

BUDDHISM

(Editor's note: To most people of Western civilization, Buddhism, which is the accepted faith of millions of Asians, is a mystery. In the following article, the Rev. T. Tsuji of the Toronto Buddhist church, Toronto, Canada, explains in rather understandable language Buddhism as the road to enlightenment. Buddhist or no, every reader should read Rev. Tsuji's interpretation of Buddhism.)

By THE REV. T. TSUJI

Buddhism is a faith of many aspects. There is an old saying in Buddhism which says that the Buddha delivered 84,000 sermons. This statement symbolizes the Buddha's compassionate heart. In order to accommodate all men of varying degrees of intelligence and of different personalities, the Buddha used diverse means to the Truth. To the philosophically-minded, he taught them the depths of Buddhist philosophy; to those suited to lead the quiet inner life, he taught the way of meditation; to the simple layman, he showed the way of faith. His great compassion would not allow a single individual to be excluded from salvation. Enlightenment.

Buddhism Misunderstood

Because of these innumerable manifestations, the Western student, who had made only a cursory objective study, could not comprehend the living essence of Buddhism. It was unfortunate that these people were the very ones to publish books on Buddhism in English. Consequently, Buddhism has been grossly misunderstood in the West. The three outstanding misconceptions are: firstly, Buddhism is a heathen religion, whose adherents worship stone images and wooden idols; secondly, Buddhism is a pessimistic religion; and thirdly, the ultimate goal for the Buddhist is the complete annihilation of the individual.

Buddhist images have no objective value. They symbolize the love and compassion of the Buddha. For instance, the standing Amida Buddha with his right arm raised in a position of guidance and his left lowered for the salvation of man symbolizes the Buddha in action, guiding men to Eternal Life and Light. The sitting Buddha is a symbol of inner peace attained through meditation.

The second misconception arises from the wrong translation of the Sanskrit word, Dukkha. The word is generally translated as suffering or sorrow. When the Buddha taught that life was Dukkha, he was far from meaning that life was so miserable it was not worth while living. Certainly, there is suffering in life, but Dukkha means something more. Dukkha embraces disharmony, imperfections, and friction. The universe is a dynamic process; it does not stand still for a single instant. Just as one cannot step into the same river twice, because it is constantly flowing, so is the world in a constant flux. Consequently, disharmony and friction accompany every change. The Buddha's message was to deliver mankind. "This above all, I teach; Dukkha and the deliverance from Dukkha."

The third misconception arises from the misinterpretation of the Sanskrit word, Nirvana. Because Nirvana literally means extinction, Western students have concluded that the ultimate goal for the Buddhist was the annihilation of the individual. Nirvana means the extinction of all evil desires, of birth and death process and the final intervention of a transcendent state of bliss. This state is so far above the finite mind that it can be expressed only in the language of the imagination, such as the Pure Land or the Land of Bliss. If the significance of Nirvana was man's sinking into absolute nothingness, one third of humanity would never have found peace and joy and inspiration in the teaching of the Buddha.

Many Forms

Although there are many forms in Buddhism, they all attempt to present some glimpse of the truth and when one way is pursued with a sincerity of heart, it will lead to the summit of spiritual experience and enlightenment. An ancient Buddhist poet wrote:

Many the paths that twist and wind
Through stream-cleft vale or forest maze,
But those who reach the hilltop find,
Though they have climbed by different ways,
On the wide summit, clear and kind,
Just the same moonlight softly plays.

This spirit of tolerance has enabled Buddhism to live harmoniously, side by side, with the other great religions of the world. In its long history of two millenniums and a half, it has waged a single war against another race or nation because it embraced a different faith. In fact, a genuine respect for another faith or philosophy has been an important characteristic of Buddhism.

The term, Buddha, means the fully Enlightened One. Gautama, the Indian prince, who lived nearly twenty-five hundred years ago, became a Buddha after his Enlightenment.

Enlightenment is not just a cold intellectual attainment; it is perfection; the fullest realization of one's personality, the perfect harmony of wisdom and compassion, the perfect balance of one's mind and heart. The Buddha taught that the personality of man was sacred because every sentiment being possessed a potentiality of reaching Enlightenment or Buddhahood. This potentiality is known as the Buddha nature, which is identically the same in every man. The Buddhist ethical conduct is based on this principle. I must love my neighbor, not merely as much as myself, but genuinely identical as myself for he is myself.

This universe is sometimes referred to as the expanding universe as science builds bigger telescopes to search into space and finer microscopes to delve into the intricate forms of life. In Buddhism, the personality may be called an expanding personality, in which the individual attempts to gain a deeper identification with other beings and a greater universality in his emotional and rational life.

"Enlightenment," Kenryo Kanamatsu writes, "is the freedom from ignorance that darkens our consciousness by limiting it within the boundaries of our personal self and obstructs our vision of truth. Truth is all comprehensive. There is no such thing as absolute isolation in existence, and the only way of attaining truth is through the interpenetration of our beings into other objects."

IT'S YOUR HEALTH!

Prepared by the Staff of the
HEALTH SCIENCES DIVISION

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

ENJOY YOUR CHILD

The young mother may have many fears about pregnancy, childbirth, and care of her child.

She needs to understand that there may be difficult times while she is learning to care for her baby. She, as every mother, is bound to make mistakes which are not likely to be serious. She should relax and get some fun out of her child.

More errors are made because of the anxieties of parents than because of indifference, malice or ignorance. The parents should avoid following a formula read in a book or heard at a lecture as though it were gospel. This may result in the loss of spontaneous, affectionate, human relationship.

Parents may become confused by hearing conflicting opinions in regard to what they should do. Flexibility in handling situations is desirable. Trial and error will have to be used.

Such a common sense approach as that put forth by Benjamin Spock in his book, "Baby and Child Care," gives the parent a practical basis to go on and can do immeasurable good in improving relationships in the home so that the parent can enjoy his child.

This philosophy is in contrast to that of the books on child care of a few years back which stressed prohibitions. For example, it was said that every effort should be made to prevent thumb-sucking which would not only lead to a deformed mouth, but might be a forerunner of insanity.

In the light of modern knowledge, we know that the child sucks his thumb because he is not getting enough sucking, diversion or love, and that if these needs are met, the thumb-sucking is temporary and no great problem. Studies have also indicated that the shape of the mouth is influenced by hereditary and dietary factors, rather than being influenced to any great degree by thumb-sucking. Denial of satisfactions is followed by frustration and conflict. These may be the basis for the development of later personality disorders.

Parents have often been taught that children had to eat spinach or would suffer dire consequences from iron deficiency. We now know that some other foods are actually richer in iron. So why make spinach the center of a deadly struggle? If the parent feels that it is vital that his child eat spinach, he can employ a new twist on an old idea: tell him that he can have his spinach if he promises to eat his ice cream!

The main thing is to take it easy, use common sense, and enjoy your child.

UPSETS MARK CAGE BATTLES

Lotus Mercury Sinks Savoy, 39 to 35, In 'AA' Game

Mild upsets were featured in last Friday and Monday community basketball league play as the teams neared the half-way point in their season's schedule.

Lotus Mercury earned a share of the AA loop leadership by taking undefeated Tokuda Drug Savoy into its camp, 39-35, last Friday. The Buddhist five was led by Kay Saito who potted 19 for the victors. Shobo Fujii kept the Savoy in the game with his 16.

In the other AA tussle, Main Bowl Challengers, with Chuck Kinoshita added to their roster, dumped defending championship Cathay Pos., 41-30, in a rough battle last Monday. Dick Wong paced the "bowl" with his 12, while Eddie Wong canned 11 for the Chinese.

U. W. Coeds got back into title contention in the girls' division with victories over Lotus Jrs. and Tacoma YBA. The Coeds defeated the Seattle Buddhists, 32-29, with Nori Komorita and Florence Hayashi leading the attack, and the Tacoma Buddhists, 25-21, with Betty Shioyama and Nori Komorita scoring their 13 and eight points.

Marian Namba scored 20 for the Lotus Jrs., and Mid Tanabe dropped 18 through the hoop for Tacoma, as they tried desperately to keep their sextet matching baskets against the Coeds.

Lotus Lancers climbed into second place in the A circuit with a 39-26 victory over Tacoma YBA last Monday. Toby Watanabe and Jits Oyabe led the Lancers with eight and seven, respectively.

PORTLAND, Oreg., Jan. 10 — New Tokyo Cafe, spurred by Tio Kiyokawa's 600, crushed Maletis Bros. three times for a 3-0 victory to edge closer to league-leading King's Insurance in the Oregon Nisei Men's Bowling league last Friday in the Hollywood Alleys. Only one game separates King's from New Tokyo.

Kiyokawa's counts were 172, 234 and 194. He received fine support especially from Hugh Kasai, leadoff ace who tumbled 558, and Tom Osasa, anchor man who finished an otherwise so-so total with a sturdy 201 game.

Sam Akagi did well for Maletis by rocking the woods for 546.

King's Insurance, on the other hand, were taken by Kern Park, 1-2, in a closely-fought series. George Hijiya held up King's with a 584 which included a 227, Irving Yamasaki's 235 and Tosh Okazaki's 219 in the third tilt were the deciding factors in the Kern Park triumph.

In other matches, the results were: Nishimoto Insurance 3, Motor Clinic 0; J. K. Kida 3, Dragoners 0; Russellville 2, N. W. Insurance 1. George Sakamoto's 567 and Tom Shiki's 547 were top marks in these struggles.

Almost 30 Pin Teams Ready to Roll In N. W. Nisei Classic This Week Here

Nisei Grill, West Coast Printing Rate As Favorites from Seattle Area; Dance to be on Sunday Night

The welcome mat is being laid out flat at the entrance of Main Bowl today.

For it will be the fifth annual Northwest Nisei Classic this Saturday, Jan. 13, and Sunday, Jan. 14, on the local drives.

For sure, the classics will find twenty outfits ready for action. Heading the list will be Nisei Grill from the Renton Majors, boasting the top pin stars in this area. Nisei Grill, winner of the last Oregon Nisei Classic in Portland, Oreg., will floor captain Kenny Arita, Shig Urakawa, Joe Cacho, Gene Augustine and Tony Rambonga. This team easily averages 875, and will go into the Seattle meet a heavy favorite.

From the Commercial loop, the contenders will be led by league-leading West Coast Printing which has on its roster such hard throwers as Fred Takagi, Frank Yokoyama and David Wong.

But in a tournament, anything can happen in a three-game stretch, and a surprise "dark horse" may come in the money, is the general consensus.

The marks set by the keggers in the '50 meet are expected to tumble — and tumble hard — as bowling on the Nisei front has improved somewhat since last year.

For instance, the men's all-events total of 1649 set by Roy Hashitani of Ontario will probably be broken easily. Frank Yokoyama, West Coast

The Contributors

Trophies donated by various businesses in Seattle for the fifth annual Northwest Nisei Classic sponsored by Main Bowl, are as follows:

FOR THE MEN

Team — W. Nakamura Jewelry.
Doubles — Seventh Ave. Service and Tenkatsu.

Singles — Sakahara Insurance.

All-Events — Main Bowl Fountain.

Sweepstakes — Maneki Cafe.

FOR THE WOMEN

Team — Gyokko Ken Cafe.

Doubles — New Richmond Hotel and Frye Hotel.

All second-place trophies and medals for team winners will be donated by Main Bowl.

Printing's thunder, smashed it in the same meet but missed out on the prize simply because he didn't post a dollar for the award.

The men's singles score of 620 by George Doi of Ontario, and the men's doubles count of 1158 by Bill Tanaka and Tak Shibuya of Seattle, however, appear to be difficult to bust.

The men's team total, 2733, by Foster Cafe of Portland is in danger of being cracked this time.

In the women's bracket, only the team tally, 2145, by China Import & Export is sure of being on the way out. The other scores — Ontario's Katie Hashitani's 565 in the singles and 1510 in the all-events, and Seattle's Yo Nakata and Sue Lew's 995 in the doubles — may be sufficient amount of pinfall for victory.

In addition to the classics, the men tossers are pointing to the six-game singles sweepstakes which will be on Friday night, Jan. 12, will be rolled across twelve alleys, alley manager Fred Takagi said.

All fees were to have accompanied the entries which were closed last Monday.

The social side of the two-day (or three days, if it counts the sweepstakes) tournament, will be the dance sponsored by Main Bowl on Sunday night, Jan. 14, at Spanish Castle. Frankie Roth's popular band will furnish the melodies. Dancing hours, Takagi added, will be from 8:30 to 12:30.

The fortunate winners in the ten-pin classic will receive their awards during the intermission of the dance.

Tuberculosis . . . Can be Beaten

By JOHN H. FOUNTAIN, M.D.,
Director, Division of Tuberculosis
Control, Seattle and King County
Department of Public Health

Tuberculosis is losing its foothold as a major threat to human lives. More people are learning that it can be arrested if discovered early. Right here in King County, the TB death rate decreased 38% in 1949.

The community wants those who are found to have tuberculosis to get the best care possible. Firland Sanatorium, supported by the taxpayers of King County, provides sufficient hospital beds and excellent medical care.

Great strides in the treatment of TB have been made in the last five years with the discovery of streptomycin and other new medical procedures. Persons with tuberculosis know that their best chance for recovery is in a tuberculosis hospital. They know also that, by entering a hospital they will prevent the spread of their disease to their family and friends.

For tuberculosis is not inherited. It is caused by a germ. It is spread from one who has tuberculosis to one who is well. After a person recovers and leaves the sanatorium, however, he can no longer spread the disease to others.

In spite of our progress, tuberculosis still remains a serious problem. A total of 790 new cases were uncovered in King County in 1949. With the prospects for recovery so good, however, the important job is to find all the cases in Seattle and get them under treatment immediately.

One of the best ways of finding tuberculosis is through an x-ray of the chest. An opportunity for obtaining this x-ray will be given the people of this area on January 26 and 27, when the x-ray machine of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of King County will be stationed at 826 Jackson St. Everyone should take advantage of this opportunity.

Cafe Owner Earns Major Film Role

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 10 (Rafu Shimpō Dispatch)—Frank "San-chan" Kumagai, owner of Palms Cafe in Lili Tokyo, last weekend grabbed himself a major role in Hollywood cinema.

The troupe leaves for Tampa, Florida, on Jan. 15 for a 6-week shooting. Kumagai's contract with the Allied-Artist Productions in "I Was an American Spy", was bought up by Paramount, it was reported.

Howard Chuman, who also gained recognition in "Tokyo Joe", will be featured in the Allied film which will call for more than fifty Japanese American men in the picture.

that it was the only sport event scheduled for the day. The East team which had been considered slight favorites trounced the visiting West team by the score of 27 to 6. Squat Californian Tai Hattori, passing-kicking-running fullback of the league champion Keio team, was in there doing his bit.

In the crowd watching the game were quite a few former Nisei grid stars, like Ken Oki, Kats Nagamoto, Min Yasuda and others, as well as other Nisei fans, among them Ann Nakabayashi, Mrs. Yasuda (nee Dorothy Washimoto), George Masamoto and Bobbie Hirai.

The outcome of the Korean war, which is of vital concern to us here, may prove to be the key to what lies ahead.
