

FORT DENIES GI's IN TOWN SATURDAY NIGHT

Pay Differences Peril Continuance Of Salmon Industry

Officials of several Alaska salmon-canning industry unions met yesterday afternoon (Monday) to consider the employers' proposal that the 1946 contract be continued through this year. The meeting was called by Joseph T. Jurich, international president of the International Fishermen's & Allied Workers' Union (CIO), after all unions were notified of the employers' proposal.

Possibilities that at least 20,000 persons employed by the canneries will not work this year loomed when I. A. Sandvigen, business agent of Hope Lodge No. 79, International Association of Machinists (Independent), said: "If we do not get a better offer, the men just would not go to work."

Sandvigen said his union had asked about a 15 per cent minimum-wage increase, with the increase in some brackets of employment as high as 30 to 40 per cent.

"There is no doubt the employers' offer, which provides no wage increases, will be rejected," said Sandvigen.

A spokesman for the employers who are represented by the Alaska Salmon Industry, Inc., said their action was necessitated by the uncertainty of shipping and economic conditions.

"There are some packers in the industry who do not feel they can operate this year under the 1946 labor contract, much less grand new wage increases," he added.

Adm. Nimitz Lauds Nisei's Loyalty During War II

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18 — Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations, praised the loyalty of Americans of Japanese ancestry to the United States during World War II when he testified recently before the House Public Lands committee. The Navy chief declared he knew of no cases of sabotage involving Nisei in World War II.

Declaring he could see "no objection from a military or naval standpoint to the Hawaiian Islands achieving statehood," Admiral Nimitz noted that he had "entertained some doubt before World War II as to the loyalty of Americans of Japanese ancestry in the event of war with Japan."

"From my observations during World War II, I no longer have that doubt."

ADMIRE NISEI AID
Admiral Nimitz added:
"During my service as commander-in-chief of the Pacific Ocean Area (Dec. 1941, to Nov. 1945, in Hawaii), I had an opportunity to observe the people of the Hawaiian Islands and I have great admiration and appreciation of the wholehearted cooperation they gave to the war effort."

"The citizens of the islands participated actively in the armed services in World War II and served with distinction. That includes many of Japanese ancestry."

LESS ABSENCE OF FIFTH COLUMNS
Answering questions, Admiral Nimitz said, "I know of no cases of sabotage or subversive activities during my entire service as commander-in-chief of the Pacific Ocean Area."

Rep. Fred Crawford, R., Mich., asked what was the necessity of martial law in the islands.

"The situation in Dec. 1941 was a crucial one," Nimitz replied. "And required every safeguard that could be instituted to advance security. Hindsight might indicate that it was not necessary."

NO INJURY TO U. S.
Again referring to a question involving Hawaii's resident population of Japanese ancestry, Admiral Nimitz declared:

"There were many opportunities for sabotage and espionage but to the best of my knowledge no information injurious to our interest passed out of the islands."

"I do not know even of minor incidents such as the cutting of telephone wires which were strung all over the islands."

STRESS SECRET
Delegate Bartlett, D., Alaska, asked if there was any reason why statehood would impair defense. "I shouldn't think so," Nimitz replied.

The admiral said the secrecy of the Japanese high command in planning the Pearl Harbor attack was so strict that "I don't think the Japanese consul-general in Honolulu had any idea of the nature of the attack and the time it was to come."

THINGS UNDER CONTROL
"There is no doubt that some Japanese in the islands were sympathetic to the Japanese national government but that did not extend to active sabotage and subversion after the war started," Admiral Nimitz added.

Rep. Peden, D., Okla., asked whether it made any difference from a tactical or defense view whether Hawaii was a state or a territory.

"I do not think it does," Nimitz replied. "Hawaii will still be our main base in the Pacific whether it is a state or a territory."

ONLY PERSONAL VIEWS
Nimitz said his statement contained only his "personal views." Previously the Navy Department has told the committee it has no objection to the enactment of legislation being considered by the group to make Hawaii the 49th state.

Gen. Charles B. Herron, retired Army commander in Hawaii from 1937 to 1941, testified that "civilian leadership was thoroughly patriotic" during his three years there and "the military was not obstructed in any way."

Four House members who introduced Hawaiian statehood bills also testified. Rep. Hale, R., Me., said the mixed racial strains in Hawaii "should be an argument for statehood rather than against."

VFW Council Backs Rights Of Nisei

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 18 — The Sacramento County Council of the Veterans of Foreign Wars this week passed resolutions urging the amendment of the California Alien Land law to protect the rights of American citizens to hold property and urging the amendment of present racial restrictions in the Federal law to provide for the naturalization of aliens on a basis of individual acceptability.

The resolutions were presented to the County VFW by the newly formed Nisei Post No. 8935.

Kenneth Nishimura recently was selected as legislative chairman of the Nisei veterans' group.

Resolutions and letters for legislative action on problems affecting Japanese American veterans are being sent out by the Nisei VFW post to other VFW units.

Begins Fund Drive to Send Rev. Burgoyne to New York

By MITS TAKASUMI
HOOD RIVER, ORE., March 18—The Mid-Columbia JACL has undertaken a fund raising drive to send Rev. W. S. Burgoyne to the Thomas Jefferson dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York on April 13.

This honor was bestowed upon him in January by the American Council Against Intolerance and was determined after a survey by more than 1000 newspapers and 500 organizations throughout the country.

Rev. Burgoyne was instrumental in smoothing the way so that many of the Nisei could return to this valley. He stood up for what was right and when the feeling ran high against the Japanese return here he took a definite, staunch stand in the Nisei's behalf against the local American Legion, an outfit which stirred up race hatred in the valley and published several full-page advertisements in the local paper saying they wanted, "A valley without Japs."

He is one of five so honored. Among others cited for this award are Frank Sinatra, Ex-Governor Arnall of Georgia and Eleanor Roosevelt.

Ray 'Chop' Yasui is taking charge of arrangements for the trip and has contacted the National Headquarters of the JACL to aid him in planning and in getting other chapters along the route to act as guides for the Burgoyne when they stop over in their city. They are planning temporarily to leave Hood River on April 2 with stopovers slated for Denver, Chicago and Omaha and reach New York about April 11.

The New York Chapter will act as hosts during their stay there. On their return trip, they are scheduled for stopovers in Washington, D. C., Cincinnati, Ohio, New Orleans and Los Angeles. They are planning to reach home about the end of April.

Cites Rise in Relief, Needs, Tightening of Job Mart

A tightening job market and increased relief needs are revealed in a report on social service trends in 1946, made public yesterday (Wednesday) by the research division of the Council of Social Agencies, a unit of the Community Chest and Council of Seattle and King County.

On the basis of reports from the Washington State Employment Service (formerly U. S. Employment Service), the research division notes a decline in employment referrals from 5,767 in December, 1945, to 2,242 in December, 1946, and a drop in job placements from 2,073 to 1,243 in the same period.

A seasonal upswing in December over November, 1946, is largely a reflection of temporary placements for the Christmas season, according to the Council.

Reports of the King County Welfare Department show a consistent increase in public assistance grants from the start of the State biennium in April, 1945, through the end of last year. Both the total number of cases and the amount of money granted rose markedly during this period, but the dollar increased more sharply because of the rise in living costs.

With women war workers returning to their homes, there has also been an increase in the Aid to Dependent Children program, from about 600 at the end of the war to more than 1,400 last December.

Family casework services in King County have fluctuated between two thousand and 2,400 in the period August-December, 1946. During the past year, requests for

Masaoka Talks On Town Hall Study Program

Masaoka shared the platform with Hernando Abaya, Filipino journalist and author of "Betrayal in the Philippines."

This is the sixth annual session of the Peoples Congress, a series of ten weekly meetings each winter and spring. The general theme of this season's Congress is "Minority Peoples and Problems—A World View."

Invites Masaoka To Explain Views On Immigration

(JACL Dispatch)
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18 — Mike Masaoka, national legislative director, has been invited to testify at a special preliminary hearing of the Standing Sub-Committee on Immigration and Naturalization of the House Judiciary Committee on Wednesday morning, March 19, the Washington Office of the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee reported today.

The invitation to appear and explain the views of the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee on various legislative proposals affecting persons of Japanese ancestry in the field of immigration and naturalization was extended by Representative Frank Fellows (R) of Maine, chairman of the House Sub-Committee.

Some of the bills now under consideration of the Sub-Committee which Masaoka is expected to endorse in principle include the Farrington measure to remove the remaining racial bars to naturalization and immigration, the Judd, Miller, and Eberharter efforts to equalize deportation proceedings, and the various private bills to permit the entry of Japanese wives of American servicemen and veterans. He is expected to urge amendments to include those now ineligible to citizenship to bills extending special naturalization and other rights to parents of American veterans and to aliens who have resided in the United States continuously for 25 or more years.

"We are most grateful for this unusual opportunity to outline our thinking and our reasons for various legislative suggestions to members of the Committee," Masaoka declared. He expects to ask for extended public hearings as soon as possible on bills extending naturalization and immigration privileges to all peoples now denied them, provided that the hearings indicate that the members of the Sub-Committee are sympathetic to the liberalization of the laws.

Preliminary hearings are held by congressional committees in order that their respective members may become acquainted with the various problems under consideration. They are generally informal in nature and the only witnesses are those specially invited by the chairmen.

Congressmen Walter H. Judd (R) of Minnesota, George P. Miller (D) of California, and Herman P. Eberharter (D) of Pennsylvania and Delegate Joseph R. Farrington of Hawaii have also been invited to appear and to question Masaoka if they wish, the ADC Office announced.

Besides Mr. Fellows, Republican members of the Sub-Committee are John Robinson of Kentucky and Louis E. Graham of Pennsylvania. Democratic members are Emanuel Celler of New York, Frank L. Chelf of Kentucky, and Ed Gossett of Texas.

Fields are won by those who believe in winning.—T. W. Higginson.

Nisei Defy Hawaiians At Risho Hop

Seattleites Complain
Island Boys Behave
Like 'Hoodlums'

FORT LEWIS, Wash., March 18. — "No Fort Lewis soldiers were involved in the incident between Seattle war veterans and Hawaiian-Nisei either last night or Saturday," Fort Lewis officials said yesterday (Monday) following preliminary investigations.

Two officers, according to headquarters, are continuing an investigation of the situation and four Nisei soldiers from the Second Division are "looking around" but have discovered nothing actually involving Fort Lewis men.

Defying the past "hoodlum" conduct of certain Japanese-Hawaiian soldiers from Fort Lewis in Seattle, a mob of organized Nisei last Saturday night gathered outside the Buddhist church where the Risho club was holding a dance. The gathering brought on a tension which was finally broken when police called off the dance and finally dispersed the crowd.

The Seattle Nisei's complaint on the forming of this band is that "uninvited" Japanese-Hawaiian soldiers had appeared on the premises and that they usually forced their way into social functions sponsored for local Nisei.

The Nisei here also took issue with the Fort Lewis statement that no fort soldiers were present Saturday night.

"They were all over the place," declared a Nisei veteran, who added that Seattle's Nisei are "fed up" with the soldiers' conduct.

It is the general feeling in Seattle that the soldiers involved represent "only a small proportion" of the Japanese-Hawaiians stationed at the fort.

Following the conclusion of the dance, some of the Nisei stormed Main Bowl. No incident, however, occurred.

Laws were made to restrain and punish the wicked; the wise and good do not need them as a guide, but only as a shield against rapine and oppression; they can live civilly and orderly, though there were no law in the world.—Fetham.

Law never does anything constructive. We have had enough of legislators promising to do that which laws can not do.—Henry Ford.

If Fort Lewis GI's Are In Wrong, Make Seattle "Off-Limits" to Them

Fearing that a riot might develop between Japanese-Hawaiian soldiers stationed at Fort Lewis and Nisei veterans and civilians here, police last Saturday night cancelled a dance two hours before it was scheduled to end in the Buddhist auditorium.

No bloodshed marked the incident—thank goodness!—but it is a downright shame that the law had to be called to curb what is described by Nisei veterans' representatives as "hoodlum" conduct in Seattle by a few Japanese-Hawaiian GI's. Summoning of police details at Nisei affairs before World War II started was almost unheard of.

If these soldiers who proudly wear the uniform of the United States Army are in the wrong as Seattleites say they are, then there is no reason why Seattle should not be made "off-limits" to them.

Only a few GI's are "no good," it is said. If that is the case, the others at the fort had better get busy and call their "bad 'uns" down for Seattle's Japanese community has just about lost its patience.

But if, as Fort Lewis authorities assert, there were no Japanese-Hawaiians from the fort Saturday night and that they were not involved in any of the latest incidents here, then it is high time Seattle checked up on the personnel engaged in these brawls.

Most Japanese Unaffected By Deportation Rule

(JACL Dispatch)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18 (JACL Dispatch)—Most Japanese aliens for whom private bills have been introduced will not be affected by the recent decision of the House Judiciary Committee to authorize the Immigration and Naturalization Service to proceed with the deportation of certain aliens even though private bills had been introduced in their behalf. Mike Masaoka, national legislative director of the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee, announced today following a series of conferences with Justice Department and House Judiciary Committee members.

Pointing out that most Japanese nationals subject to deportation are either the victims of circumstance or are denied the same rights as others, Masaoka urged that the "courtesy" of suspending the deportations of those Japanese for whom private bills had been introduced by friendly congressmen be continued. He stated that as far as the JACL-ADC was concerned the practice of having private bills introduced to suspend deportations was not a "racket" and that as far as he knew not a single Japanese deportee was a "criminal" in the sense of having violated any serious criminal laws.

"Unless the deportation of deportees is prevented by court action or by the introduction of private bills, many cases of gross injustice may occur," Masaoka said. "Japanese nationals who materially contributed to our war effort by assuming the most important and hazardous duties, certainly, should not be sent back as 'traitors' to Japan where they may face grave consequences. And those in the so-called treaty merchant category should not be treated on the same basis as illegal entrants, for they entered under the terms of a commercial treaty. When another such treaty is signed with Japan, as surely there will be," Masaoka argued that their former status would be automatically restored.

For Japanese nationals whose deportation would result in hardship to American citizen families, Masaoka declared that they should be given the same privileges as other deportees in the same situation, namely that the Attorney General have the discretionary powers to suspend and cancel such deportations.

"This Congress has now before it several bills which would correct these inequities and injustices," Masaoka declared, "and until Congress has decided what should be done, none should be deported. For once they are on the high seas or back in Japan, a congressional act correcting the situation that forced their deportation would have no value whatsoever."

To Justice Department officials, Masaoka pointed out that the authorizations of the Judiciary Committee did not in any way affect the previous pledge of Attorney General Clark that no Japanese deportee in either the "treaty merchant or hardship" case would be deported pending a decision in the courts on cases testing the constitutionality of the discriminatory features of our immigration and deportation laws and regulations.

Floral Show Set April 1 To Aid YW

One of the first events in the "City of Flowers Week" observance, April 1-6, is the Easter flower arrangement show to be given in the Women's University Club Tuesday, April 1, by Mrs. Thomas Balmer for the benefit of the YWCA National Interpretation and Support Committee.

This is Mrs. Balmer's first Easter demonstration. Well known for her Christmas displays and informal flower arrangements, she plans to present new and different ideas for Easter flower arrangements in the home. The event is scheduled for two o'clock in the afternoon, late enough to avoid conflict with the regular noon day of Holy Week. Tokuda's Bow To South End In 'A' Game

Main Bowl Plasters Tacoma, 38-22; High School Sinks Lotus

Yoshito Mizuta's South End Merchants rose to the occasion of being billed on the feature Class A game last Sunday afternoon in Buddhist gym by smashing Tokuda Drug, 40 to 27. Terry Kurimura, the Merchants' will of the wisp, proved to be the thorn on the vanquished quintet's side as he tickled the hoop twines for 12 points.

A fairly large crowd witnessed the Merchants' revenge their previous defeat at the hand of Tokuda's. The Merchants' superior shooting and ball handling were quite noticeable after the first half found them ahead by a 21-17 margin.

Only George Nakagawa's one-man stand saved Tokuda's from absorbing a more terrific disaster. Main Bowl, Class B champions, exhibited some "A" class basketball when it knocked over Tacoma's Bussei, 38-22, in the opener of the Sabbath Day attraction. Ray Ohtani, Main Bowl's ace guard, flipped in 12 points.

High School girls' titlists, had it easy in trouncing Lotus, 30-19. Tomo Iwasaki and Keiko Kitayama were the preppers' sharp-shooting threats.

SHEWO KAWRYE

—Tis Spring—
"She was peeved and called him Mr.
Not because he went and Kr.
But because just before
She opened the door
This same Mr. Kr. Sr.
Tis Spring."

It was when a young man's fancy turned to thoughts of the last few weeks of our Commercial League, and the forthcoming short Summer League featuring the initial appearance of the feminine bowling enthusiasts.

The Portland Keglers. To cement friendly athletic associations between the two cities and to renew old acquaintances as well as making many new friends, the Nisei community welcomed the appearance of the Lombard Food Center bowling team of Portland. Although their victories equalled the losses in their competition here, they showed every sign of being a top-grade team.

Led by the veteran Tosh Shimizu and Tak Akamatsu, the latter who was a prominent member of the formerly powerful Three Star Produce, they powered the local Star Foods, 3-1, but fell before the onslaught of the local all-stars. To the casual observer, out of this well-knit team, the most promising kegler posting one of the highest games during their brief sojourn here was Min Okazaki. His consistency was quite noticeable. "Tis rumored that several powerful local squads will invade Portland soon for a return match.

How To Be a Good Bowler. This long-awaited item is the result of numerous requests by beginners and many league keggers whose "Bow Salty I am," is getting on Shewo's tender nerves, although his average doesn't make him the best bowler, his years and years of experience coupled with the fact that people call him an old timer, qualify him on this subject.

To anyone, bowling looks easy. Anybody can roll a ball along a wooden floor. This is a fallacy. Unless one learns the game properly, he is certain to acquire bad habits and never really play well. Once, however, one has mastered the better pointers he can be called a bowler — Briefly here they are:

1. Proper equipment—Footwork is very important, get proper shoes. The ball should not be too tight and not too loose. Care should be taken to determine the pitch of the holes that is best suited to one's hand. A ball should be selected in which the finger holes are so spaced that the ball can be held easily and naturally. It is also important that the beginner find out at the first what kind of ball is best suited for him, and then use this ball and no other. A person who intends to bowl regularly will want to own his own ball.

2. Proper Delivery — Watch the foul line and the 1-3 pocket. Distance for delivery is from 12 to 15 feet, depending on stride. Four steps is the most popular and three steps for power bowlers. The ball should be swung back easily and naturally. Rarely, if ever, should the arm rise higher than a parallel to the floor. Never force the ball either backward or forward. Let the weight of the ball do the work and take its own course. The ball should never be swung back in a curve behind the body. It should be swung straight back, then brought forward in the same accurate line. The back should be kept flat throughout the entire process of delivery. The hand forward is made with the hips and not with the back.

The ball should be released as to cause it to start rolling as soon as possible. This is not only a contributing factor to accuracy but also to its pin gathering tendencies. After the delivery walk back from the foul line before retrieving your ball. This is done so that one will not be guilty of being discourteous to the bowler in the next alley.

3. Direction and speed. It is commonly supposed by the beginner that speed is necessary to effective bowling. As a matter of fact speed tends to cause the ball to slide and then roll often scattering pins. The bowler should determine the amount of speed which controls the ball easily and naturally without undue effort.

Bowling is largely a matter of rhythm and timing. Pick a spot on the floor, observing the foul line approach and just prior to the delivery, lift the eyes to the pins to watch the action of the ball as it goes down towards the 1-3 pocket.

There are other minor details. The above observations, however, are the most contributing factors towards good bowling. Here's hoping this item proves in some small way a helpful guide towards bettering your game.

League Chatter. The team of the week was the City Produce, paced by Tak Shimizu's 594 series, and George "How good you are" Kimura's 223 game. They literally opened the door of Richard's Jewelry to the tune of 4-0. The incredible fea-

N. W. Times Selects Class 'A' All-Stars

Come spring, come sun, come rain and now comes the NORTHWEST TIMES' Class A All-Star selection for the Nisei Community Basketball League.

Isao Nishimura and Heat Heyamoto of the Lotus Troys and Main Drug respectively were given the top spots for the forward position. Nishimura, for his inspiring and single-handed play for the sparkless Troys, and Heyamoto for his stellar work on both defense and offense for the druggists.

All six feet three inches of gangling Manabu Fujino, Merchants' center, is our choice for the pivot position. Besides being the league's leading scorer, Manabu also handles the backboard well.

Joe Fujii of the Merchants, who has been playing center for his team, because of his fine ball handling and consistent scoring, was chosen for one of the guard slots. He is flanked by his younger brother Shobo of Tokuda's. Shobo is one of the best dribblers to come out of the Puget Sound area, and is always a scoring threat.

Members of this year's second team all-stars could easily be on the first team with a flip of a coin. Three members of the championship Tokuda Drug quintet make up the bulwark of the stars. Mote Yasuda, forward, Chuck Kinoshita, center, and Daibo Fujii, guard, are members of the druggist five. All three handle the casaba well and are good team players.

Sab Ogishima of the Merchants was a close second to Joe Fujii in the first team selection. Ogishima and his fire brand style of play did much to keep his team in the first division.

Willie Chinn, Main Drug's speedball forward, has sparked the Druggist all season with his sensational playing. Probably the shortest forward in the league, Chinn has consistently outplayed his taller opponents.

LOS ANGELES, March 18 — Colonel Gregory (Pappy) Boyington, winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor, said today he would send a deposition to be used by a defense attorney in a Tokyo war crime trial of James K. Sasaki, a Japanese who was an interpreter at the Ofuna prison camp. Sasaki, a law graduate of the University of Southern California, came to this country at the age of nine. Although Sasaki was in the Japanese army he did much to help Boyington and his fellow inmates.
