

Tom Hayashi Re-elected Chairman Of Eastern JACL District Council At Leadership Training Workshop

NEW YORK, Dec. 5—Acceptance of Issei into JACL membership, subject to conditions as may be determined by the JACL national convention in 1948; stimulation of wider interest among the teen-age group in JACL objectives; and greater coordination in the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee's national fund raising campaign were recommended recently by the Eastern District Council, which wound up a successful two-day leadership training workshop at the McBurney YMCA in lower Manhattan. These three recommendations, along with several other resolutions on which decisions are expected shortly, will be forwarded to the national headquarters.

More than 45 persons, including seven delegates representing four chapters which constitute the JACL Eastern Council, and an observer from Boston, attended the discussion meetings. Five separate panels on membership, fund raising, community and legislative action, program planning, and public relations provided ample opportunity for the conferees to debate solutions to problems peculiar to the eastern seaboard chapters. Sam Ishikawa, Eastern regional director of the JACL ADC, in the closing address of the first Eastern workshop, expressed great personal satisfaction with the achievements and complimented those in attendance for their active and serious participation in the discussions. A luncheon and a dance last night marked the social phase of the two-day affair.

The workshop was formally opened with an address of welcome by Thomas T. Hayashi, chairman of the EDC and president of the New York chapter, which was the host. The entire workshop activities were held in the McBurney branch of the YMCA.

The sessions included lively discussions on the following topics: Membership with Hiroshi Ueyehara, official delegate of the Philadelphia chapter, as moderator, and L. E. Moore, boys work secretary of the McBurney YMCA, as the outside resource leader. Harold Horichi, president of the Washington chapter, and Miss Mitsu Takami, member of the local chapter, also served on the panel. Fund raising: Sam Ishikawa served as moderator with Miss Clara Clayman, professional fund raiser, formerly with the children's bureau of the Bureau of Labor, and an ex-WRA worker, as outside resource leader. Serving on the panel with her were Ken Iseri of Washington, and Garry Oye of Philadelphia.

Community and legislative action: Miss Ina Sugihara, member of the planning committee of the first Eastern District Workshop, acted as moderator, with Jules Cohen, Philadelphia lawyer and national coordinator of the National Community Relations Advisory Council, as outside resource speaker. Tetsu Iwasaki, ex-president of the Philadelphia JACL chapter, and Ira Shimazaki of Washington, an official delegate, served on the panel.

Program Planning: Mrs. Grace Ueyehara served as moderator, with Wesley Marshall, membership secretary of the Harlem Branch of the YMCA, as resource leader. Toshi Miyazaki of New York also served on this panel.

The last discussion of the series was on public relations. John Kitasako, well known Nisei journalist, served as moderator, while Miss Ethel Aaron, former public relations director of the China Aid Council, was the outside resource leader. Also serving on the panel were J. Everett Starr, assistant to the national advertising director of the National Realty Company, and Tetsu Yamasaki of the Washington JACL-ADC office staff.

The outside resource leaders, notably Cohen, who had had long experience with American Jewish problems, and Miss Aaron, repeatedly stressed the need for the Japanese Americans to associate with other minority groups if they desire to put their programs across. They emphasized that no single group can work alone. Miss Clayman voiced the opinion in the discussions on fund raising that professional fund raisers might be helpful if the JACL ADC embarked on a large-scale campaign for funds. The need for laying solid foundations and for careful planning was also stressed by the re-

It's OK to Send Up to $1,000 to People in Japan

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Dec. 6—The Bank of America announced that up to $1,000 a month may now be sent to any Japanese national in Japan through regular commercial banking firms with branches in Japan without special permit from the Supreme Allied Headquarters.

Mr. Bell of the Bank of America international banking department declared, however, that more than $1,000 may be sent but will require clearance of SCAP.

The fees attached to the sending of money to Japan will be a minimum of $1.50 up to $2.50 for $1,000 plus cable charges of $2.67 or air mail postage of 25 cents, depending on how the money is to be sent.

source leaders. The discussions brought out the need for closer liaison among the chapters and with the national headquarters.

The workshop which just closed was the first meeting which the leaders of the JACL Eastern District Council have held since its inauguration last summer. Philadelphia will be the site of the next meeting scheduled for spring. The official delegates to the workshop were: Seabrook Farms—Vernon Ichisaka; Washington JACL—Harold Horichi and Ira Shimazaki; Philadelphia JACL—Tetsuro Iwasaki and Hiroshi Ueyehara; New York—Thomas Hayashi and J. Everett Starr. Attending as an observer with a view to forming a JACL chapter in Boston was Harvey Aki, who is associated with an engineering firm in Boston.

Tom Hayashi, Harold Horichi and Hiroshi Ueyehara, during the business meeting which followed the last discussion session, were re-elected to the respective posts of chairman, vice chairman, and recording secretary of the Eastern District Council for the next year. Mitsu Kimura and Miss Ina Sugihara were elected treasurer and publicity director, respectively.

In closing the meeting, Ishikawa urged the delegates and the others who participated in the workshop to take to their respective chapters and localities the lessons and experiences gained by their workshop attendance.

Dr. Mika Hayano, 27, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Hayano of 89 Yesler Way, Seattle, has accepted a position as research associate in the department of biochemistry at Western Reserve University Medical School in Cleveland, Ohio, it was learned today. She is planning to leave for Cleveland sometime next week.

Besides being a scholar, Dr. Hayano is an accomplished pianist.

Thirty-four more contributions rolled into Andy's Friends Committee headquarters this week to swell the total for the Rev. Andrew's new 'Blue Box' to $802.50.

"We are grateful for the splendid backing of the community in this worthwhile drive," Grant Beppu, the committee's acting chairman, commented. "Although we will continue with our door-to-door soliciting drive in Seattle, we hope the contributions will continue to pour into our headquarters," he added.

JACL Joins Race Covenants Issue

RESTRICTIVE MEASURES FORCE NISEI BACK INTO 'LITTLE TOKYOS', BRIEF TELLS COURT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 5—With the long-awaited restrictive covenants issue to be argued before the United States Supreme Court during the week of Dec. 8, the Japanese American Citizens League has joined the growing list of organizations urging the nation's highest tribunal to declare racial housing restrictions invalid.

A friend of the court brief in the case of Hurd vs. Hodge, one of a number involving persons of the Negro race which are scheduled to be heard by the Supreme Court justices, was filed with the Supreme Court today by the Washington office of the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee on behalf of the National JACL.

The brief, prepared by the legal counsel for the JACL, Los Angeles attorneys A. L. Wirin, Saburo Kido and Fred Okrand, stressed the interest of the Japanese American Citizens League in the race covenants issue. It pointed out to the high court that while the JACL was "primarily concerned with assisting persons of Japanese ancestry—whose problems because of the evacuation program are necessarily varied and different from other racial groups—it sees only too well that discrimination or unfair treatment against any minority redounds to the detriment of all minorities and therefore to the nation as a whole."

The decision of the National JACL to enter the cases as "friend of the court" was made in accordance with the firm policy of the JACL to assist wherever it can in stamping out racial discrimination. Though the cases to be argued directly concern the Negroes, the problem is the same for all minority groups. The 12-page brief attempts to call the court's attention to how harmful race restrictive covenants affect the American Japanese.

The argument in the brief emphasizes that the public policy of the United States is clearly against racial discrimination. And then, by citing numerous examples throughout the country whereby persons of Japanese ancestry have been deprived of the right to live in the homes of their choice because of the existence of race covenants, it is demonstrated that this policy has been violated by the courts of the land enforcing the covenants.

The brief referring to provisions in the Constitution and in other laws as well as in treaties to which the United States is a party, such as the United Nations charter and the Act of Chapultepec, emphasizes that it is "crystal clear" that enforcement by the courts of land covenants based exclusively on race contravenes those laws and treaties as well as the Constitution. It adds that "it seems plain that when a Christmas Seal's raise funds for court lends its arm to enforcement of covenants prohibiting persons of Japanese ancestry from using their own land solely by reason of the accident of birth, they are acting diametrically contrary to these principles." The forced segregation of the Japanese into racial ghettos and how the fact that being segregated was used against them at the time of their evacuation from the west coast is brought out by a brief, which points out that race restrictive covenants again are forcing the returned evacuee to "Little Tokyos" himself. He is thus again placed in the position of being criticized for being "clannish" and "unassimilable."

Race covenants have worked innumerable hardships on returning American veterans of Japanese ancestry who fought for the ideal of ridding the world of the pernicious doctrine of the "Master Race." But, the brief goes on, the Nisei "finds that there is more prevalent in this country than ever before. But an even greater blow is for him to find an official arm of his government, the very courts themselves, aiding in and making possible the further spread and growth of this cancer."

The brief lists a number of cases in which veterans were unable to obtain housing accommodations because of a restrictive covenant. It shows how areas in California by the use of restrictive covenants have prevented the evacuees from returning to their former homes. "Couple this experience with the restrictions placed by the Alien Land Law and we see a picture of an integral part of our population driven from desirable areas and pushed into cramped and overcrowded ghettos solely because of the accident of their birth," the brief adds.

The brief notes that use of the word "ghettos" to describe the areas to which the Japanese and other minority groups are pushed because of the covenants are "not our own." The President's Committee on Civil Rights in its report has described these areas in just that term. It makes reference to reports appearing in the Pacific Citizen, to the Department of Interior's publication on the return of the Japanese Americans, "People in Motion," and to the testimony of Mike Masaka, legislative director of the JACL ADC, before the President's Committee on Civil Rights as illustrations of the hardships created by the racial housing restrictions.

It concludes: "Originally punished because he was 'clannish,' 'unassimilated' and lived in concentrated areas—a situation to a large extent brought about by reason of the restrictive covenants—the Japanese found himself subject to the forced migration of the Evacuation. Returning therefrom and attempting to become assimilated, he found himself effectively kept out of area after area and tract after tract and forced back again into the 'Little Tokyos.' By reason of this he is once more criticized as being 'unassimilable.' To all this, the court enforcement of racial restrictive covenants has given aid and comfort. A clearer case of action that is contrary to our avowed public policy could hardly be found.

"We have passed laws condemning racial discrimination; we have signed treaties to the same effect; this court has struck down laws which accomplished such discrimination; this court should now, in the same view, prevent the courts of our land from violating that policy."

Canada Extends Deadline for Filing Property Loss Claims to Dec. 31

TORONTO, Canada, Dec. 5 (New Canadian Dispatch)—Deadline for the filing of property loss claims by Japanese Canadians has been extended by Commissioner Bird to Dec. 31 for British Columbia and Jan. 15 for other provinces.

This announcement was made recently by George Tanaka, executive secretary of the National Japanese Canadian Citizens Association, who has been negotiating with Commissioner Bird for the extension of the Nov. 30 deadline.

Co-operative Committee lawyers, Andrew Brewin and R. J. McMaster, were present at the preliminary hearing last Wednesday in Vancouver when matters of procedure were discussed.

The first oral hearings on the claims will be held next Monday, Dec. 8, where some 30 claimants who have already filed claims will be allowed to give evidence.

"This extension (of deadline) will be of great benefit to claimants to obtain competent assistance and to comply with the Commissioner's instructions for statutory declaration," Tanaka said.

Tanaka, however, cautioned that claimants in larger cities and centralized areas should make every effort to file their claims at an early date, since the extension is primarily intended for claimants who are unable to file their claims in time.

NVC MEETING

For the benefit of those veterans who could not attend the NVC meeting held on Monday, the first of December, we herewith present our exclusive report on the proceedings:

The meeting was opened with the usual reading of the minutes by Recording Secretary Haruo Kato, followed by the financial report given by Treasurer George Abe.

Corresponding Secretary Tak Momoda read an interesting letter received from the 442nd Veterans Clubs of Hawaii, concerning the possibility of movies for the NVC.

Chairman Kashino then directed the meeting toward a discussion of the coming All-Oriental Basketball Tournament. The activities of the various committees was discussed and coordinated. Heads of the various committees were announced as follows: Tickets, Kallio Suguro; Finances, George Abe; Advertising, Dick Setuda and Howard Minato; Publicity, Lefty Ichihara; Ushers, Harry Yanagimachi.

Hiro Nishimura reported on the pre-tournament date to be held on December 6, 1947, stating that tickets would be paid for at the gate, and that no ties would be allowed. Nishimura recommended that the girls be informed that they should wear "jeans", as the dance was to be very informal. Prices of tickets were announced as $2.00 per couple, $1.25 for stags.

Howard Minato brought up for consideration by the membership, the possibility of cooperating with other agencies and organizations in the community with respect to legislative matters in which there is a common interest. After considerable discussion, it was decided that the prevailing policy of the NVC be continued in such matters: to support all worthy legislation in any proper way, but never to allow the NVC to be used by other groups to the detriment of the organiza-

THE THREE GITS...

This week's LIFE magazine carries a short article about those amazing entrepreneurs of war-surplus goods, "George, Don and Bradford" (the 3 GITS), which is all the more interesting to Northwest readers because their business is located in Seattle.

Starting on a shoestring in February, 1946, these three veterans built up a business which gave them a profit of $100,000 in a year. Their familiar advertising, slightly on the wacky side, apparently gets results as well as laughs; and without much doubt, their business is the most spectacularly successful one thus far started by ex-GITs in this locality.

OUR PICK

Knowing how eagerly the fans await this column's exclusive football predictions, we pick Notre Dame over Southern California this Saturday—but it won't be a landslide. Yes, we know that Notre Dame will go "all out" to pile up such a big score that Michigan won't be able to match it on New Year's Day, but USC isn't going to show up at the Coliseum just to go through the motions. The score will be fairly close (it says here), and if you can bet 14 points on USC, brother, take it!

Chairman Shiro Kashino brought up the question of what the NVC should do as to burial of Nisei war dead brought back from overseas. After discussion of the subject, a motion was passed that the NVC go on record as offering full support in every way as to funeral arrangements to the Gold Star parents, including financial aid to the parents if necessary.

KEEPING UP WITH THE TIMES

by Hideo Hoshide THE UNITED STATES AND THE UNITED NATIONS

AS EARLY AS 1942 and 1943, the then Secretary of State Cordell Hull, in his addresses and other public statements, discussed again and again the need for organized international relations after the war.

"The nations that stand for peace and security must now make up their minds and act together—or there will be neither peace nor security," Hull emphasized, thus bringing up the most crucial problems in the whole field of postwar international organization.

The system of organized international security, created after the first World War through the establishment of the League of Nations, was gravely defective because of the nonparticipation, at one time or another, of some of the major nations of that period. The United States, was among those who were absent from the League membership.

THUS, the central problem in the summer and fall of 1943 was whether or not all the nations which would emerge from the war as the major nations of the world would be willing to play their part in the creation of a postwar system of collective security, operating through a general international organization.

At the Moscow conference of October, 1943, the Big Four—the United States, Great Britain, the Soviet Union and China—issued a joint four-nation declaration that the international organization of the future should be open to adherence by all peace-loving states, large and small. The implication of this declaration was that the maintenance of peace and security in the future should not be considered as the responsibility of the four great powers alone but should be recognized as a joint task of all nations able and willing to accept that responsibility.

WHY DID WE work so vigorously to lead the world in the direction of organized international cooperation? There were numerous reasons why the United States took a leading role. 1. We had learned that unless all nations are willing to renounce the right to use force as a means of settling international disputes or as a means of attaining national aims, there was not going to be peace or security in the world.

2. We had learned that, when, in spite of such renunciation, threats to the peace develop or breaches of the peace occur, only joint action by the peace-loving nations is sufficient, in the world of today, to deal with those situations.

3. We had learned out of bitter experience that, unless there is an orderly system of regulation of armaments by mutual agreement, the world is going to run into one of two very grave difficulties: either there will be an armaments race; or there will be a situation in which some nations will be arming but others will remain disarmed, which will be an invitation to aggression.

4. We had learned that economic warfare in time of political peace is a destructive and disrupting process, which paves the way for military conflict.

5. Finally, we learned that in all these fields international institutions are of the greatest importance.

The Sporting Thing

by bf

Another week, and bf goes out on a limb again. Choosy bf this week predicts the following winners in the NVC basketball leagues:

U. W. COEDS-CHICKS (Girls)—We'll call on the Coeds again.

MERCURY-INTERNATIONAL (B)—This is a toughie, Mercury by a few scant points.

Wednesday, Dec. 10

At Buddhist Auditorium

TACOMA-CHINESE (Girls)—Tacoma can do it.

TACOMA-CHINESE (A)—The Chinese are too good.

SOUTH END "B"-QUESTION MARKS (A)—The doubtful boys have a chance to post their first victory.

Friday, Dec. 12

At Buddhist Auditorium

COMETS-ST. PETER'S (B)—A streak of comets should convince St. Peter's that they are the underdogs.

HIGH SCHOOL-STARLETS (Girls)—The Starlets' best hope is for a low-scoring evening. P.S.: H.S.

TOKUDA DRUG-MAIN DRUG (A)—Careful, Tokuda's. Main Drug might get exceedingly hot but we'll string along with Tokuda's.

Sunday, Dec. 14

At Buddhist Auditorium

S. E. MERCHANTS JRS.-CHINESE (B)—Bromo Seltzers for the Juniors.

S. E. MERCHANTS A-MERCURY (A)—We like the Mercury youngsters because they run so fast.

MAIN DRUG-GREENHOUSE (A)—This is about the time of the year, Main Drug starts rolling.

Down Tenpin Alley

Tuck Tada who was "drafted" by Shanty Inn of the Nisei Commercial League is drilling the one-three pocket quite consistently and, as Tak Shibuya puts it, is "an added punch in our lineup" and now they inform us that Gim Taguchi, one of the experts on the much-publicized Chicago Husky squad, also is a keen trundler, rapping the maples up in the 170's... the MAIN place to BOWL, Shewo Kawrye chants to us, has one of the best alleys in town, and the MAIN place to BOWL has the cleanest scoresheets among teams reporting to this newspaper and the metropolitan dailies... in any sports, there are "money" players, those who come through in the clutch; Shig Urakawa and Herbie Furuta both are of that type... the honeymoon is over; Tommy Namba who devastated the tenpins for a 205 average in the men's doubles during the Turkey holidays posted a 516 the other night...

DP's (Displaced Persons) in the City Merchants League as a result of the games played last night (Thursday) in Main Bowl were members of Kashiwagi's Kubs. The Kubs were displaced from the league throne which they occupied for several weeks.

International Realty, the conquering unit which overthrew the Kubs, 4-0, took over, sending the Kubs down to third in the standings.

Three 500-plus series forced the Kubs to abdicate its royal rating. And they were thrown by Art Segimoto, Fred Takagi and Hiromu Nomura. Dr. Frank Kanemori passed the 500 mark by a pin for the Kubs.

The Northwest Times rose to great heights to trample Main St. Service, also by a 4-0 count. Bill Seejima was the Times' tenpin headliner.

In other games, 7th Ave. Service whipped Nisei Recreation, 4-0; Karikomi's Insurance decimated Main Drug, 3-1, and Jackson Grocery tied Tad's Gardening, 2-2. Hi-30's were rolled by Shobo Ideta of 7th Ave. Service, Ed Horieuchi and Tom Hidaka of Karikomi's Insurance, Sab Tsuboi of Main Drug, Shig Sumioka of Tad's Gardening, and George Fujiwara and Yo Maekawa of Jackson Grocery. Biff Inashi of Jackson Grocery touched off the hottest series, a 604, which included a 227 and a 220.
