Academy Still Seeks Savants For Japan Job

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20—The National Academy of Sciences informed the Washington Office of the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee this week that it will continue to accept for some months applications for positions as medical scientists and laboratory technicians for its research project in Japan.

Replying to a recent inquiry of the JACL ADC, the Academy's business manager, G. D. Meid, reported that qualified Nisei physicians (M.D.'s), trained in internal medicine, hematology, radiology and pediatrics, chemists with advanced training in biochemistry, and medical laboratory technicians are in demand. "For the immediate future our interest lies entirely with those applicants that will have scientific or technical qualifications," he said, closed to applicants for the position adding that the door has been of fiscal and property officer in Japan and possible medical translators in Washington.

Disclosing that a few applicants, after very careful screening, have already been chosen to go to Japan, Meid said the group of applicants as a whole presented good possibilities and "we have been most pleased with the results."

Loewy Employs Nisei Architect

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Jan. 22—Harry Katsuyama, Nisei architect of Sacramento and graduate of the University of Chicago, is now working with Raymond Loewy, nationally-known industrial designer, in remodeling Hotel Mark Hopkins of San Francisco, it was reported this week by the Nichi Bei Times.

Some of Katsuyama's most recent work has been done on Lucky Lager plant in Los Angeles, Lucky stores in the Bay region, and Hotel Shylock in Berkeley which is practically all glass.

Loewy has designed the latest models of Lincoln, Studebaker and Greyhound busses, and also the experimental locomotive for the Pennsylvania railroad.

Sloth makes all things difficult, but industry all things easy.

Currency Note

Residents in the United States are asked not to enclose paper money in letters to their relatives or friends in Japan with the idea of helping them out.

A recent recipient of a letter which contained currency was arrested by officials of the Allied Government for questioning since the black market monetary exchange rate is higher than the official rate.

Well-wishers who desire to aid their relatives in Japan financially may send up to $1,000 per month through proper banking channels. They are asked not to send money directly as such acts will only cause the receiver trouble.

Thief Smashes Window to Get Portable Radio

A bold thief last Sunday night about 8 o'clock cracked open the show window of Yesler Hardware & Plumbing Supplies store and fled with a portable radio worth sixty dollars, it was learned this week. Damage to the window was estimated at one hundred and fifty dollars.

The loss, however, was not covered by insurance, according to Hideo Mori, an employee of the store.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., As the wave of holdups soared to more than 100 during the last two weeks, Richard Ogawa, 1960 Bush St., also became one of the victims when he was robbed of about $1,000 in a clothing store.

L. A. Firm Signs 7-Million Pact For Steel and Coal with Japanese

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 20—Signing of a $7,000,000 steel and coal contract with the Japanese Board of Trade was announced last week by a Los Angeles import-export firm which interpreted the transaction as signaling reestablishment of large-scale world trade by Japan.

A spokesman for Yaras and co. said, "As far as we know this is the first major contract of its kind to come out of postwar Japan."

Nine Return To Northwest From Japan

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Jan. 22—Nine Pacific Northwest Japanese Americans, including the former Ayako Ikoma, 25, daughter of the one-time Nippon Yusen Kaisha branch official in Seattle, Wash., were among the passengers who returned to the United States last week-end on the General Meigs from Yokohama. Miss Ikoma, now the wife of a U.S. marine lieutenant, refused to reveal her married name. Traveling under her maiden name, she is heading for the state of Washington.

The other eight are Matsuyo Otsuki, Portland, Oreg.; Mardia Yoko, 23, and Mary Ikuko Ogata, 21, Pasco, Wash.; Mrs. Ruth Fujimura, 33, Robert Kanji, 14, June Mineko, 12, Irene Fuji, 9, and Shogo Fujimura, 6, Spokane.

Two British citizens of Japanese ancestry were also on board en route to Catholic colleges. They are London-born Ruth Tamako Narita, 20, Sacred Heart College, N. Y., and George Masao Narita, 19, Northwest Nazarene College in Nampa, Idaho.

BETTER STAY SINGLE SAYS CENTARIAN

TOKYO, Jan. 21—Seiichi Hayashi, who now claims he is 134 years old, this week attributed his long life to bachelorhood. Hayashi, who entered a Buddhist temple at the age of 18 to undergo ascetic training, said that one of the secrets of a long life was his belief in Buddha as well as intensive physical training.

U. S. SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS CIVIL RIGHTS OF FRED OYAMA IN CALIF. ALIEN LAND ISSUE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 22—The Supreme Court of the United States last Monday defended the civil rights of the son of a Japanese alien, reversing a lower court ruling, reported the International News Service.

Japanese Sues To Regain Loss Of Clam Shells

LONG BEACH, Calif., Jan. 22—A suit amounting to $5,124.39 was filed recently in the Los Angeles federal court by Shin Shibata, a local resident, to regain the loss of 70,000 pounds of broken clam shells seized in the Philippines a week after Pearl Harbor.

He said the cargo had been consigned to a buyer in Shanghai but the shells were confiscated en route to Cebu where U. S. officials halted the S. S. John Lykes, the boat in which the items were carried.

Shibata urged that there is an "implied contract" to reimburse him for the export damage.

YWCA at UW To Venture Into Culture

An "intercultural venture" will be sponsored by the University of Washington YWCA during the week-end of Feb. 6, 7 and 8 in Eagleson hall, it was learned today. The venture, which will be in the form of a workshop to study housing and employment of various ethnic groups in the city, will invite colleges and universities from this area.

Nisei coeds who will participate are Connie Handa in the program committee, and Jean Ishida and Toshi Yukawa in the meals committee. Miss Handa is a cabinet member of the Eagleson group.

The court upheld, 6 to 3, the right of Fred Oyama, California Japanese American youth, to regain property which was taken from him during World War II because his father was a Japanese alien.

The high court, however, avoided ruling on the constitutionality of a California law which bars alien Japanese from owning land in the state. It merely held that the son, a citizen, had been deprived of his rights, and added that "these rights may not be subordinated because of his father's country of origin."

"The only basis for this discrimination against an American citizen was the fact that his father was Japanese and not American, Russian or English," declared the majority opinion.

In a dissent, Justice Jackson held the majority opinion was illogical because it did not go further and invalidate the California alien property state.

Although concurring, Justice Black and Douglas also expressed the opinion separately that the California law is unconstitutional and "stands as an obstacle to the free accomplishment of our policy in the international field."

Don't Forget to Register

Just because the metropolitan newspapers have slipped up on their civic obligation by not emphasizing the importance of registering for the 1948 municipal elections, that is no reason citizens should forget to register.

Registration in Seattle closes this Saturday noon, Jan. 24, in the County-City Building on Third Ave.

If you are a citizen and if you wish to vote in the city primaries and finals, it is high time you rushed down to the County-City Building and registered pronto.

THE NORTHWEST TIMES urges the Nisei especially to register so that they may fulfil their duty as good citizens to vote in the coming elections.

In the last election, according to information received by this newspaper, only 100 Nisei registered and voted. In noting that there are more than 1,000 eligible Nisei voters, 100 is a puny turnout, to say the least.

A 100 per cent registration would confirm the fact that Japanese Americans can not only fight on the battlefield as Americans but also vote on the home front as Americans.

Don't forget to register, everybody.

Tad's Cafe 3, Oriental Cab 1
Sakahara's 3, Paramount Cafe 1

Shaking off their Northwest Nisei Classic jitters, Kashiwagi's returned to Nisei Commercial League play last Tuesday night in Main Bowl to smash 12th Ave. Service, 4-0. Every member of the league-leading squad passed the 500 mark with Manabu Fujino, anchor man, setting the pace with a 541. Paramount dropped a 3-1 decision to Sakahara which featured Herb Furuta's high 601. Handicap committee, of which Hattori also is chairman, consists of George Shimizu, Harry Iwata, Natori, Dick Momoda and W. Mambu.

All members of the handicap and tournament committees are requested to attend a meeting to be held from 7:30 p. m. today, Thursday, Jan. 22, in the W. Nakamura jewelry store.

The most significant news of the week, as far as the Nisei and Issei are concerned, emanated from the nation's capital, where on Monday the Supreme Court ruled that Fred Oyama of California had been deprived of his rights under the Constitution of the United States. We intend to add our gratuitous remarks on this important decision, prefacing our comment with the fact that we haven't had the opportunity to read the actual court opinion in its entirety, but have had to gather facts from newspaper reports.

The Oyama case concerns, of course, the famous (or infamous, as you wish) alien land law of the state of California and the attempt of the state to confiscate the land which was purchased in Fred Oyama's name by his alien father. In a 6-3 decision delivered by Chief Justice Vinson, the court held that Oyama had been deprived of his civil right solely by reason of his nationality. It declared that:

"The only basis for this discrimination against an American citizen was the fact that his father was not American, Russian, Chinese or English."

The Oyama decision thus gives cause for considerable satisfaction on the part of all democratic and liberal-minded people. In view of the fact that, many years ago, the Supreme Court upheld the validity of a state alien land law, the present decision represents, if we may say so, a true advance in the application of constitutional protection to all persons, regardless of race or nationality.

On the other hand, the elated feelings of Nisei leaders should be tempered by the realization that the victory before the Supreme Court, although substantial in form, was also only a partial one. The court did not, as it was hoped, declare the alien land law unconstitutional. It simply held, in effect, that Oyama had not been given fair treatment under that law, because he had not been treated in the same way as other persons of other nationalities would have been treated.

Thus, it is possible that the Oyama case will again be tried in the California courts, although this time the state of California will be forced to prove its allegations of fraud and intent to evade the law by evidence to that effect, instead of relying upon a legal presumption. It could well be that this difficulty would be sufficient to cause the state to drop the Oyama case and others like it. However, this is only conjecture at this point.

If California persists in its attempts to enforce the alien land law against Orientals and the controversy is brought before the Supreme Court upon the direct question of constitutionality of the law, there is positive reason to hope that the law will be declared invalid. Justice Black and Douglas, for example, indicated in their concurring opinion that they thought the California law unconstitutional. Moreover, the three dissenting justices thought the majority opinion illogical in that it did not declare the alien land law unconstitutional. Of course at the present time, no one can say whether they or the six majority justices (exclusive of Black and Douglas) would go to the full extent of declaring the law invalid upon a direct posing of the question. However, it appears to be a good chance to take, and for this reason, it would not be the worst possible fate for the Nisei cause should California again seek to enforce the alien land law in spite of the Oyama decision.

On the last day of the derby Sunday, S. Iwai's 11 lb. 8 ounce was tops despite the good fishing conditions. Kaz Yokoyama wound up second with an 8 lb. 13 ounce fish, and H. Kubota, third, and Tuke Okamoto, fourth.
