

NWA NOTES 810 PER CENT RISE IN U. S.-JAPAN CARGO VOLUME

Northwest Airlines disclosed today that air cargo volume between the United States and the Orient increased approximately 810 per cent in the first five months of the company's international operation.

At the same time, J. W. Mariner, director of cargo for NWA, forecast a tremendous increase in shipments in both directions when Japan is opened to trade with the signing of the peace treaty, probably next summer.

While international cargo showed the greatest increase during 1947, domestic freight and air express ran well ahead of totals for the previous year.

Income from air freight reached $378,181 last year, with Alaska and the Orient accounting for more than one third. Air express income was $636,908, more than $100,000 over the 1946 figure. Revenue from freight and express together exceeded $1,000,000.

Northwest more than doubled cargo loads on its Orient flights in successive months through November, Mariner explained, with peak volume in November when the airline hauled hundreds of Christmas gift packages between the two continents.

Highest volume items going to Tokyo, Seoul, Shanghai, Okinawa and Manila have been watches (from Switzerland), lace edges, artificial limbs, beer samples, tobacco samples, quartz crystals, white shirts, optical supplies and drugs.

Exports from the Orient countries have consisted principally of canned sea food, optical and photographic supplies, semi-precious stones, satins, linens, silks and laces, tea, cultured pearls, tiger-eye cameos, cigars, baby dresses, balloons and diplomatic pouches.

Mariner listed machinery, instruments, food and periodicals as the principal shipments to Alaska.

Northwest pioneered air transportation of fresh flowers and has continued to carry large volumes of blooms, not only within the United States, but between this country and the Orient.

Machinery, automotive parts, food and clothing constitute the greatest volume of air freight shipments on NWA's transcontinental route between New York and the Pacific Northwest terminals of Seattle-Tacoma and Portland.

"Air freight has been particularly profitable to apparel retailers," Mariner said. With overnight delivery from New York clothing houses possible by air, he explained, merchants have reduced the risk of large inventories.

Addition of Cleveland and Pittsburgh to the NWA routes within a few weeks will join two of the country's biggest industrial centers with the great markets of the Northwest states, Alaska and the Orient.

Northwest expects its cargo business to continue to grow, and is studying the feasibility of commodity rates on a number of items. Mariner indicated the company is also giving consideration to all-cargo planes.

He revealed NWA officials feel cargo volume on the Orient flights has exceeded their expectations at this stage of the route's development.

The Japanese are getting ready for the time when they will be free to resume trade with the United States," he reported. Some sample products are now being shipped to U. S. buyers. American businessmen have explored first-hand the market in Japan. Beyond question, the Orient represents the greatest potential market in the world for American goods."

Northwest has also taken steps to be ready for this business. Mariner said work is progressing on the fleet of mammoth double-deck Boeing Stratocruisers, biggest and fastest commercial plane in production, which will enable Northwest to carry cargo from New York to Tokyo in 24 hours. The first of these planes will be turned over to the company this year.

Housing Units To Be Inspected

The Seattle Housing Authority today began a fire safety inspection of all units in the temporary housing projects, it was announced by Executive Director Charles W. Ross.

Purpose of the inspection, Ross said in a letter mailed to all residents, is to halt the use of electric heaters which are "a primary threat to safety."

Ross pointed out to all residents that the wiring in the temporary projects, which were built during the critical war years, are not heavy enough to stand the load of electric heaters. "Continued use of heaters endangers every family in the temporary projects," he asserted.

A provision in the Authority's lease with tenants, which states that residents can not use "any facilities for heating except those provided by the project" could be strictly enforced, Ross pointed out. He explained that if the lease provision were to be strictly adhered to, the Authority could legally evict a tenant each time an electric heater is used.

Projects affected by the inspection are: Cedar Vale Homes, Delridge, Duwamish Bend, Holly Park Addition, Rainier Vista Homes Extension, Stadium Homes, Taylor Avenue Homes, and Minor-Fir.

The inspection will be made by two authorized Authority employees.

EX-GI CONFESSES SLAYING FATHER

REXBURG, Idaho, Feb. 21—Veteran Tommy Tsutomu Miura, 29-year old winner of the Purple Heart, was held Saturday in the Madison County Jail in connection with the fatal stabbing of his father, Zenro Miura, 72.

The ex-GI drove 30 miles to Idaho Falls to surrender to police and admit the killing.

Sheriff Harold Matson and deputies later found the aged man dead in his bed at the family home on the farm three miles west of Rexburg. A hunting knife was found driven into the victim's throat.

MASAOKA CALLS ON CHRISTIANS TO HELP ON EVACUATION ISSUE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21—"Evacuation Claims—Justice Delayed," an appeal to outstanding Christians to help carry the JACL's incomplete fight for evacuation compensation to fruition is contained in the February issue of the Christian Register. The appeal, written by Mike Masaoka, is one of a number of articles on the subject of brotherhood, which the magazine is featuring in the February number.

Recalling that Christian leaders were among the first to recognize the injuries of evacuation and the first to demand the early restitution of losses suffered by the thousands of Japanese Americans, Masaoka called upon Christians "who are uneasy concerning this tragic episode in our nation's wartime life" to "ease their consciences" by helping to finish the Nisei's legislative campaign. He pointed out that the Lower House has already passed the evacuation claims bill and that it is now up for early consideration by the Senate.

The intangible damages, disruption of lives, loss of freedom and the attendant suffering can never be compensated for, said Masaoka, adding: "But the very least that can be expected of a working Christian democracy is that an effort be made to indemnify these people for economic damages suffered by no other segment of the American population."

Payment of accountable business and property losses which resulted from the evacuation is an obligation which President Truman, Secretary of Interior Krug, and other high administration officials have officially acknowledged, he emphasized, revealing that of the Japanese Americans who had anything to lose, ninety five per cent suffered loss. Those who had little to lose made out worst of all, for their bit of leased land meant life. He said that the War Relocation Authority estimated that evacuated Japanese left behind them in 1942 about $200,000,000 worth of real, personal and commercial property. Actual loss from evacuation runs into many millions of dollars, he declared.

The Nisei national legislative director of the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee said that only through Congressional action was there any hope of redress for the wrongs of evacuation. "It will be an act of justice long delayed. We therefore appeal to all Christians who are anxious to see that justice and fair play are carried out, to write their Senators now urging them to expedite passage of the evacuation claims bill."

The Christian Register is the monthly organ of the American Unitarian Association. Besides an article on another phase of brotherhood by Associate Justice of the Supreme Court William O. Douglas, the magazine features in its "brotherhood Number" items dealing with the Negroes, Jews and other minorities in this country.

Editorial

(Editor's note: Newspapers of Western Canada were united in their condemnation of British Columbia's recent employment restrictions against Japanese Canadians in the logging industry. The most notable feature was the Vancouver Sun's apparent about-face in its stand on Japanese Canadian issues. The Vancouver Sun's editorial is printed below.)

(From the January 28 issue of the Vancouver Sun)

Renewal of Victoria's ban on employment of Japanese in Crown leased or licensed timber operations is an act of deplorable discrimination. The provincial Department of Lands and Forests will cancel its order if justice and reason are allowed to influence its policies.

British Columbia has long since outgrown the kind of racism of which this order appears to be a reflection. C. D. Orchard, deputy minister of forests, cannot shrug it off by saying that "it has been done for 50 or 60 years." So what? This is 1948. Conditions which promoted racial antagonism have been changed since Pearl Harbor.

The Japanese whose livelihood in interior forests is to be taken from them: are part of the unwieldy mass removed from the Coast when Japan attacked the western democracies. They were relocated for an excellent military reason which time has vindicated. Their dis-personal also solved a social and economic problem, which the Japanese themselves are ready to admit.

Having broken up the coastal colonies, and having encouraged and assisted the Japanese to establish themselves in other parts of the country in assimilable numbers, the Dominion Government has the right to expect co-operation from British Columbia.

Ottawa has done almost exactly what this province has requested. About 4,000 Japanese who wished to return to Nippon have been repatriated. About 14,000 have been scattered, roughly in accordance with Prime Minister Mackenzie King's 1944 declaration that they should "be settled more or less evenly across Canada (because) the problem is one to be faced by the whole of Canada and not by B. C. alone."

Very well. There are about 6,000 left in B. C. This is about one-quarter as many as in 1941. Presumably they can be absorbed in the fast-expanding economy of this great province. So long as they follow diversified occupations and do not resort to their old tendency to monopolize certain pursuits such as fishing, they need not be a problem.

Probably some of them will even return to Vancouver when the coastal security zone is abolished. Their reception may be warmer than their welcome in certain quarters, but B. C. must be fair. British Columbians have asked other provinces to absorb a proportionate share and B. C. must retain its quota.

To deny them the right to work in the woods, which they obtained by federal wartime regulation, is a piece of needless aggravation. That merely cuts their new roots and induces them to drift back into their former haunts and habits.

Victoria's policy on this matter appears unconsidered. Unless and until the policy is abandoned, British Columbia will be shamed in the eyes of the whole Dominion.

NVC NOTES

The regular monthly meeting of the NVC will be held on Friday evening, Feb. 27, the usual time and place. Since this will be the last meeting before the annual agenda will include the matter of nominations and election procedure, as well as other business such as the memorial services for Nisei war dead and the final reports on the recent basketball tournament. All NVC members should plan to attend this important meeting.

Speaking of the March elections reminds us to urge all NVC men to consider very carefully the necessity of selecting strong and able men to fill the key positions in the organization. Especially is this true with respect to the office of Chairman, the top position in the NVC. Without any doubt, the job is a tough one, requiring a man who is a leader and an administrator, able to obtain the cooperation and best efforts of fellow members while at the same time he conscientiously represents the NVC to the public and keeps the work going for the betterment of the whole organization.

This correspondent takes his hat off to the present Chairman, Shiro Kashino, for the great job he has done for the NVC during the past year. The NVC will soon have to elect another Chairman to carry on Shiro's work. This may be difficult, but if the NVC is to advance and progress during the coming year, it behooves the organization to find the right man out of the membership to carry on as Chairman, then back him up to the limit. That's why we urge the veterans to consider the whole question very carefully before they cast their ballots for the man of their choice.

WAR MEMOIRS

Ever notice the growing number of non-fictional articles concerning the late war which are appearing in the popular magazines? For example, the accounts which have already been seen during recent weeks in such periodicals as the Saturday Evening Post, Collier's, Life, Esquire, and the like. Most of these articles are interesting as well as informative, although some veterans will disagree violently with the authors on various points.

It seems that the most popular single topic is the epic of the Third Army and its colorful leader, General Patton. This is understandable, since the late General always provided the most sensational news in some form or other while living, and continues to be the best "copy" even after his decease. However, other articles are commencing to appear which reveal that, after all, the Third Army didn't win the war single-handed.

TWELVE FULL OUNCES

"Pepsi-Cola hits the spot"—so goes the radio jingle; and the soft-drink company is really hitting the attention of the public with its gigantic nation-wide contest, in which the prizes total more than $200,000 with a first prize of a cool 25 grand. The mere thought of the dough is enough to make men and women drool.

While all this is going on, however, the neighborhood grocers are being bedeviled by the tiny tads who can't afford to buy Pepsies all day long, but who can (and do) pounce upon bottle caps left by an unwary purchaser of a Pepsi-Cola. This creates a serious problem, but then we suppose that, after all, no sacrifice is too great for "twelve full ounces."

FIRST PERSON to sign the VFW-sponsored initiative petition for a World War II veterans state bonus payment was Mrs. Gladys Elsberry, President of Seattle Chapter No. 1 of the American Gold Star Mothers. Holding petition form at right is Eugene Patterson, Department Adjutant while Walter Deebach, state service officer, looks on.

There was a trace of tears in the eyes of Mrs. Gladys Elsberry as she signed an initiative petition for a World War II veterans bonus in the V.F.W. State Headquarters, in Seattle, the other day.

And with the tears came thoughts of her son, Phillip, 23, who won't be able to collect his bonus if the initiative measure is successful on the ballot next November.

An Army Air Force Pilot, Phillip Elsberry was killed August 17, 1943, while flying over the Polesti Oil Field in Rumania.

But the flood of memories didn't halt the movement of Mrs. Elsberry's hand as she became the first official signator of the bonus petition.

"This bonus is something that the great majority of veterans desperately need," she told Eugene Patterson, state V. F. W. adjutant and Walter Deebach, service officer.

"I'm both humble and proud to be the first person to sign this petition."

Mrs. Elsberry is president of the Seattle Chapter No. 1 of the American Gold Star Mothers and resides at 726 N. 61st St., Seattle, Wash.

The state-wide campaign to place the bonus measure on the November ballot is being sponsored by the Department of Washington, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Petition forms have been distributed to the 161 V. F. W. posts in the state seeking the signatures of 150,000 eligible voters favoring the action.

Actually only 50,000 signatures are required to place the issue on the ballot but the tripled figure will allow a "safe margin" in case any signatures are declared invalid.

The initiative, given No. 169, would pay a bonus at a rate of $10 per month for service in the United States and $15 for each month overseas to WW II veterans who served between Dec. 7, 1941 and Sept. 2, 1945. No limit on payments was set.

The measure would float a 100 million dollar bond issue to be retired by a tobacco tax at the rate of 1 cent on each ten cent sale of tobacco. It is anticipated that individual payments will average $350.

To be eligible for the bonus a veteran must have been a resident of this state at least one year before entering the service, have an honorable discharge and must have served at least the major portion of one month or 16 days.

Three Nisei Open Tavern and Cafe

Three Nisei—Jay Mitoma, Mas Kajioaka and Harry Kano—recently opened the Belltown Tavern & Cafe at 2207 First Ave. in Seattle. Jay is the son of Mrs. Mitoma of Portland, Ore., Mas is from Santa Cruz, Calif., and Harry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Seichi Kano of Lee Hotel. Belltown Tavern & Cafe, which is located on the northwestern part of town, is "where old friends meet and make new ones", according to the three Nisei proprietors. Beer and sandwiches are their specialties. If there be a crime of deeper dye than all the guilty train of human vices, it is ingratitude.—Brooke.

THE Sporting Thing by bf

This Just Had to be Done...

"Private opinion is weak, but public opinion is almost omnipotent.—H. W. Beecher".

The public opinion, at this writing, 2:40 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 19, is that the teams will finish in this order in the second annual Northwest Nisei Invitational Basketball Tournament which is now in progress in the Seattle Buddhist auditorium.

MEN'S DIVISION

- 1. Cathay Post 186 (Seattle)
2. Tokuda Drug (Seattle)
3. South End Merchant Reds (Seattle)

WOMEN'S DIVISION

- 1. High School (Seattle)
2. WWG's (Seattle)

Well, the public could be right.

Tournament Talk

...Bill Beach of the Comets will be the official scorekeeper, Tak Miyahara of Question Marks, official timekeeper, and Jim Mar of Cathay Post 186, one of official announcers... it'll be like old times for "Bullfrog" Suzuki when he steps onto the floor for Spokane's Beacon Cleaners; Suzuki showed for a few games with Tokuda Drug of Seattle during the early part of the season...

Sideline Topics

...instead of heading the Pacific Northwest way, the Southern California Appliance Saints, current leaders of the Los Angeles Nisei cage league, are tangling with Central California squads on their barnstorming tour... what's this we hear about Hank Matsubu of Hunt, Idaho, diamond fame, turning out for the Portland Beavers of the fast Pacific Coast league this season?...

Kashiwagi's Tailors Repulse Shanty Inn In Feature NCL Tenpin Match

NISEI COMMERCIAL LEAGUE STANDINGS

Table with 2 columns: Team Name, W L. Includes Kashiwagi's (66 34), Shanty Inn (60 40), Paramount Cafe (56 44), etc.

(Results in Brief) Shanty Inn 2, Kashiwagi's 2. Sakahara Insurance 4, 12th Ave. Service 0.

Paramount Cafe 4, Tad's Cafe 0. Tad's Cafe probably will have to wait until Kate or some other pulchritudinous creature comes along the next time its men meet Paramount Cafe in a Nisei Commercial League match.

Tad's lost to their Jinx opponent, Paramount Cafe, for the umpteenth time last Tuesday without scaring up a single triumph. Paramount 4, Tad's 0, was the final result.

Pruney Tsuji of Paramount Cafe displayed some of his old striking form by rolling a 201 and a 217 in the night's high singles series of 576. Bill Tanaka, the all-events star, and Jack Nitta assisted Tsuji capably for the victors.
