REPATRIATE NEWS EXPECTED SOON

Ivan Williams, officer in charge of the Immigration and Naturalization Service detail here, announced today he has been informed by his headquarters office in Philadelphia questions regarding property and funds of persons to be repatriated, and also regarding arrangements for persons who may be ill or otherwise incapacitated, now are under consideration, and the information is expected to be forwarded to Tule Lake shortly. As soon as such information is received, Williams said, he will make it available to affected people here.

OCT. RELOCATION TOTAL HIGHEST

A record number of Tuleans relocated during October despite transportation difficulties brought about by a strike of Pacific Greyhound Lines bus drivers and unusually heavy requirements for movements of Army and Navy personnel. More Tule residents departed for resettlement in October than had relocated during all of the previous nine months of the year.

When the last bus pulled out the afternoon of Wednesday, Oct. 31, terminal departures for the month totaled 1219, and the total number of relocations since Jan. 1 was brought to 2057.

Indications are, said W. K. Holland, relocation program officer, that many more than the record October total of resettlers will depart for relocation in November, and transportation arrangements are being made to take care of them.

MOVING

NEWELL STAR's office now located at 001-CD will be transferred Monday to the former office of W.E. Dimon in the Personnel Mess building in the administrative area.

NEW ASST. PROJECT DIRECTOR

SHELLY TO EXPAND TULE RELOCATION SERVICES

Appointment of James Shelly as Assistant Project Director in charge of Relocation, Welfare and Evacuee Property was announced this week by R. R. Best, project director, as a move for major expansion of WRA's Tule Lake service to evacuees who must make their relocation plans by Dec. 15 and who must leave the center by Feb. 1.

Shelly comes to Tule Lake from the Gila Relocation Center at Rivers, Ariz., which is scheduled to close Dec. 1, and where he was Assistant Project Director in charge of Community Management. Before joining the staff of WRA, he was a businessman in Phoenix, and prominent in civic affairs of the Arizona Capital.

The three departments which Shelly will supervise will continue under the specific direction of W. K. Holland, relocation program officer, John Neal, head counselor of Welfare, and Sheldon Lowery, Evacuee Property officer.

At present detailed from the Washington office of the Relocation Division to assist in the expanded service of Tule resettlers are Dr. G. P. Young and Miss Eleanor Moore, and personnel is being added to the regular Relocation staff, said Shelly and Holland.

In announcing the appointment of Shelly, Project Director Best reiterated the recent statement

"M" CANAL PROJECT ABANDONED TUESDAY

Due to shortage of workers, the "M" canal project, undertaken early this year by the WRA for the Reclamation Department to furnish employment for the evacuees, was discontinued Tuesday with 70% of the project completed, revealed Homer Ricketts, senior engineer.

All workers were transferred to the Construction Section to alleviate the critical shortage of workers in the Shipping Box Assembling Unit.

of Dillon Myer, national director of WRA, that it is necessary for persons who are eligible to relocate to have their plans completed by Dec. 15 if they desire to resettle with WRA assistance, as it will be necessary to utilize the time between that date and Feb. 1, the center closing date, in scheduling departures of people whose plans have been made.

TULE LAKE CO-OP TO CLOSE NOV. 30

The General Assembly of Tule Lake Cooperative Enterprises, Inc., has adopted a resolution to close the Co-op canteens and services at the end of the business day of Nov. 30, it was announced today by Lionel Perkins, Business Enterprises supervisor.

Cashing of personal checks will cease after next Monday, Nov. 5, the assembly decided, but cashing of government checks will be continued through Nov. 30. Since yesterday, all check cashing is being done at one station, 717.

Patronage rebates for the quarter ended Mar. 31 will be paid beginning next Monday at the rate of six blocks a day, with payments in cash instead of the usual cash orders.

MUST MAKE 16,000 BOXES IN 30 DAYS

Stating that an acute shortage of workers exists in the Shipping Box Assembling Unit, and that 16,000 shipping boxes must be assembled within the next 30 days, Homer Ricketts, senior engineer, today appealed to the residents for help in the box-making unit.

TO SHOPPERS TIME TO REPORT TO I.S. STATED

In order to avoid interference with processing of persons departing on terminal and short-term leaves, it is necessary for evacuees going to Klamath Falls on shopping passes in the cars of appointed personnel, to report at Internal Security Headquarters not earlier than 10 a.m. and not later than 2:30 p.m.

Internal Security's time is required before 10 a.m. and after 2:30 p.m. in processing of persons leaving on the O. C. & N. busses for Reno in the forenoon and Klamath Falls in the afternoon, and in certifying the passes of passengers on the special shopping bus in the morning.

Shoppers who intend to take the special bus, both Internal Security and the Relocation Division reiterated, must pick up their passes at 8 a.m. at the 720 Relocation Office, and proceed immediately to Internal Security Headquarters, so the processing of the shopping passes can be completed by 8:30.

WARNING VOICED ON MISUSE OF PASSES

Warning that WRA credentials must be used only by those persons to whom they specifically are issued was voiced by the Administration this week after two young men, found guilty at a project hearing of attempted misuse of a 24-hour shopping pass, in violation of War Relocation Authority Regulations and Tule Lake Project Regulations, had been sentenced to serve 60 days in jail each.

It was testified at the hearing that one, a citizen, had been issued a 24-hour credential, to which he was entitled, for the stated purpose of shopping in Klamath Falls, and that the other, a renunciant not entitled any such credential issued by WRA, was seeking to use it when apprehended.

WANTED: Clerk for Motor Pool.

ESTABLISH HOUSING PROJECT FOR 500 NEAR SACRAMENTO

A new Federal Public Housing Authority project established at Camp Kohler, 12 miles northeast of Sacramento, with a capacity of 500 persons, now is ready for occupancy, the Administration has been informed.

Harold Choate, relocation officer of the Sacramento district, has advised that rates are $2.50 per week for single persons, $15 per month for family of two, $17.50 for family of three, $19 for family of four, and $20 for family of five when all individuals are members of natural family group, with individuals not members of a natural family group being charged $2.50 extra if they are not wage earners and the regular single rate if they are wage earners. Children under three years of age are not charged rental, and the rates do not include meal costs.

A community mess hall is operated on a cooperative, non-profit basis, and Choate advises that resettlers should take only necessary personal effects with them, since bedding, cooking and eating facilities are provided.

Families assigned to the project should have certificates of assignment from the Project Director and the Sacramento office must be notified in advance.

Freight and express should not be shipped to the housing project address, which is Route 6, Box 1639, Sacramento, as the housing may be occupied only until the families arrange permanent housing. They will be assisted in obtaining both permanent housing and permanent employment by the Sacramento Relocation Office.

AT SALINAS

CALIF. PEACE OFFICERS HEAR ASSISTANT DIRECTOR SPEAK

"The First Yank in Tokyo" didn't need any plastic surgery as depicted in the film story currently on movie screens of the nation, R. B. Cozzens, assistant director of WRA told the 25th annual California Peace Officer's convention at Salinas recently.

Speaking to more than 200 police chiefs, sheriffs, constables and district attorneys, Cozzens said:

"The first Yank in Tokyo didn't need any plastic surgery -- he and many of his kind had Japanese faces with American hearts and minds, with American courage and deep devotion to our flag and our institutions."

California peace officers must take over those phases of the relocation job WRA is not empowered to handle -- the task of protecting the fundamental rights of returnees as citizens and law abiding aliens and the task of safeguarding their persons and properties from the attacks of race baiters, hoodlums and vandals, Cozzens said.

"We now face the post war problems when tensions will be strained further by personal crises of some of the new groups in the state. These problems will come under the headings of race and color and in some cases, even creed. Those of us who recognize the constitutional demands for political and economic equality of all men must also recognize that there are elements among us who adhere to a long-rejected doctrine that this is a white man's country. Our two-front was fought to defeat the conflicting theories that this was a white man's world on the one hand or that it was a Japanese world on the other. Both theories having been blasted out of existence, it is assumed that we are now in a world that makes no color distinction," he concluded.

Lt. Col. Wallace Moore, who as an Army intelligence officer with Gen. Eichelberger in the Pacific came to know the Nisei well, confirmed Cozzens' statement and appealed to the officers to see that the 20,000 Nisei veterans and their families received fair play. Col. Moore, who formerly taught at the University of California, told stories of the contributions of the Nisei in uniform in the Pacific to the war efforts and stated that they saved thousands of Caucasian American lives through the interpretation and translation work as well as in many other ways.
