

Christmas, 1944

Dear Sally -

I was so glad to hear from you and to know you are in New York.
Do write and tell me all the news. I have never been in New Rochelle, but I know there are some lovely places

in New York.

Bob is in Belgium now and apparently his section is the target of some quite heavy air raids — so I have my fingers crossed. He is fine and seems quite light-hearted, although very sick of the army and war — as aren't we all? May 1945 bring us peace!

Incidentally, I hope when Bob does come home and we go to N. Y. that we can arrange a get-together. — I'd love to see you again.

I have sort of lost track of the Decorative Art Department, but I plan to see Bonnie soon after Christmas and catch up on the gossip! I'm teaching in Sebastopol now. It's quite an ideal situation although I wouldn't look forward to a lifetime of teaching! It's a small country high school and near enough so I come home every week-end.

I'm teaching clothing & typing.
You will probably laugh at the latter!

I hope you and your family have a very happy holiday season!
