

At Office
May 23rd - Monday

Dear Kan,

Hope you're staying comfortable in this dreadfully humid weather...

Was going to drop a note this weekend just to say 'hello' as I have been in deep seclusion writing. (When urgent, please call my office: [redacted] between 8:30-4:30; or better still at 6:30 a.m. or earlier.)

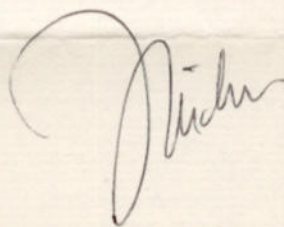

Caught the enclosed nasty article yesterday morning. The fight becomes nastier to discredit us for redress/ reparations.

Hope publicity went out announcing your chairmanship of fund drive without hitches.

You may have read that Peter Imamura, PC editor, whom you so generously entertained last summer with dinner in Chinatown and a ferry ride to Staten Island, is resigning earlier than he planned. My guess is that conservative pressure finally got to him. I'll write him a note of encouragement.

Have been invited again up to the Catskills for Memorial weekend. My article is getting better so I hate to let it go for partying; may hide in a cool movie house.

love,
