Dear Silly!

Maybe this will reach you at xmas time and be just a reminder that you are not forgotten out here in the "Far East" of New York. I wonder whether my last letter ever reached you. - It was addressed to Oakland. -

My stay this summer was very involved. We stayed with friends of mine and after a short and terrible illness one of them, Mr. Fisher died and we were left to take care of his wife and the giving up of her household etc. Meanwhile Willis was teaching every day and I had 4 hours classes Monday through Saturday and could hardly stand up under the strain of the hot weather anyway.

Even the Fall Semester was hectic with more classes and more difficult housekeeping. - Now, on Friday we are moving into another apartment which looks very nice. It seems just painted and I hope that I can fix it.

I plan to get some rest during your vacation. Willis, as usual, hopes to get a lot of work done. So far we are both well and that means a lot. I am still in rigorous treatment for thyroid and a lot of other minor disturbances of a functional nature. But things have been improving. With some rest and less cleaning in a new house things should not be so difficult.

I have often wondered what has become of you. Out of my own happiness I can only hope that you may have found things easier and have somewhere to stay where you can do some kind of congenial work.

How is your daughter? Do let me know about you some day so that I know where to think of you.

Be assured of our constant sincerest wishes.

Affectionately
Wanda.
