DEAR SALLY:

Say, Don't over exert yourself but I just received your latest letter which was short but one of the sweetest I ever got from you. Almost was going to ask how come but I won't. By now too, I suppose you have received the packages containing clothes for Spike & Mike. Gosh! I can sure get off cheap on Spike, but Mike comes up more. Its more like her birthday. If everything is O.K., I shall buy another set of overalls and also a play suit combination for Mike. I saw one in one of the department store which I passed up. Should have got it for her. Clothes I'll buy for them and small toys and such but nothing too large. I shall send another box of candy or cookies. Its pretty hard to have them arrive uncrushed etc. They must be handled real rough. Well the crumbs are all right too, I guess.

If everything goes well, I think you would be delighted with this house in Mt. Verum. 5 rooms — more like it, Eh! Well, if it does come through also my ban, well we shall move in. Don't worry you will have a chance to buy furniture but that was a swell idea of only buying a spring & mattress with head and tail boards. I don't know if they will sell it just that way but I'll try. When I make a decision on a house, would it be possible for you

2. to send me the tool box first under Government expense?

Say, these people going out on definite leaves for 4 or 6 months are making a mistake. You know what happen to me. I didn't get my travel fare. Be sure to tell anyone that comes to see you that best to have an indefinite leave unless they must come back before permanent relocation. When you get a job, you have very little time to go back especially from N.Y. or the East Coast. Yoshe is no fool. He knows whats best and he realized his mistake in not coming out earlier. He has a lot of sense altho he doesn't want to say Yes, or No, just maybe.

He phoned to a friend of his from Cleveland to N.Y. He said that Mrs Ota had passed away. Which Ota is it? He said he was going back to Amache for the funeral. You might see him in Amache. Did you give Sakae my address. I sure would like to see him here - Chip & Okusan too.

Eat over Rindys every other Wednesday. I don't know about tomorrow though. I sure eat like a pig there.

This job is very interesting. I'm getting along better with the chief designer.. He hasn't a very tactfull choice of words and gets me mad sometimes! But at least he respects my ideas and opinions which is swell. I really think on design quite a bit. More fun. I would like to practice rendering and fast perspective studies but I don't do much in the evenings because I write letters. When you come out, I'll be busier with the kid for awhile in the evening but it will be swell. Gosh! Tell me more about Miki's speech. Can you get further information on how to teach her to say word. Gosh! I can imagine her. ~~Kitt~~ too. Well, things will be much brighter if not hotter.

You ought to see my arms. They are almost white and since I don't wear a hat my forehead is tanned and shiny. Can't get rid of the shine. If you do send and bundle of clothes to me, please send a belt. I must be getting thin. There is a lot of space around my pants. I still do exercise in the morning. Keeps my legs in trim, but my arms are flabby. They start quivering after just a little exertion. Well until later,

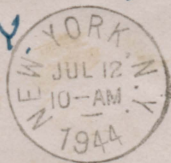

Love,
Don

P.S. Your letter marked #1, #2 came together. Eleanor Tanikawa wrote me a swell little "Thank You note"
