Dear Kan and Mrs.

Thanks very much for the dinner last Sunday. I can't imagine how much trouble we caused you and Mrs.

We came home safely. I am now doing a little remodeling and painting job by the day. It may last two or three weeks, and I could relocate here if I am not too particular about my work. This is a village between Philadelphia and Wilmington. The buses goes to Wilmington every hour. It takes about fifteen minutes, and two and a half hours ride from Pennsylvania Railroad Station N.Y. to Wilmington. This place is something like where you live on, only has more big trees and less homes and gives me the feeling that I am living in big park, quiet and nice.

I am going to look around the philadelphia next week and the following weekend may come back to new york. I hope I see you then.

Well! Kan. as you see I hardly can't write but I'll write agin when something come up. Till then - good luck.

Dick
